Mayor McCauley:

'We'll Face Problems And Solve Them'

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley opened his term as Quincy's 27th chief executive Monday with the pledge that he will try not to blame the current ills of the city on previous administrations.

"At 10 o'clock this morning," he told his inaugural audience, "the responsibility of Arthur Tobin for running this city came to an end and the clock started ticking on the McCauley administration."

"It has been customary in recent years for the incoming mayor to spend some of his time laying a little criticism on his predecessors. I do not plan to take that approach this morning."

"We're going to approach the problems; we're going to define them; and then we're going to solve them. I think that's the best thing to do in the years ahead."

There were few specific pledges, promises or bits of hard information in McCauley's first speech as mayor before an inaugural crowd of some 700 in the Vocational Technical School gym.

Highlights of his off the cuff talk included:

- He planned to meet yesterday (Wednesday) with municipal finance experts "who are going to present to me a critical analysis of the financial operations of the city of Quincy... and some recommendations."

"I've been in the banking business for 25 years and I know it's easier to get into financial difficulties than it is to get out but we're going to make a beginning this year."

- Arthur Foley, his administrative assistant, will act as liaison on the Norfolk County Advisory Board, which has the new responsibility of passing on the county budget.

"We will be meeting on Jan. 27 of this year and I will be voting on the budget."

- Paul N. Anderson, who becomes commissioner of Public Works on Feb. 1, will be McCauley's personal representative to the MBTA Advisory Board, on which Quincy has 3.79 weighted votes.

Anderson "is under instruction to attend each and every meeting of that advisory board and to speak out on the issues concerning residents of Quincy where it involves the MBTA."

- He scheduled a meeting the day after his inauguration with School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P.

McCauley Names Three To Hospital Board

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, in one of his first official actions as chief executive, Tuesday named three members, one old and two new, to the City Hospital Board of Managers.

They are David B. MacIntosh, 58, a reappointment; and Rosemary Wahlberg and John W. Kane, 59, who succeed Ruth Janis and Simon Fireman. Each was named to a five year term.

McCauley said the old terms expired at 10 a.m. Monday, the same time as former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin's term, and it was never fully determined which mayor had the authority to make the appointments.

"I met with Mayor Tobin before Christmas," said Mayor McCauley, "and he told me that, since I was going to be mayor for two years, I should have the appointments. The matter was never researched."

"With the new building program coming at the hospital," said McCauley, "these appointments are very important. They can make a positive contribution to the Hospital in years to come."

The mayor said that he received the resumes of seven applicants for the three unpaid posts, one of them from Mrs. Janis seeking reappointment.

"She was interested in returning," said McCauley, "but we talked and she understood my position. The fact that I did not reappoint her is no reflection on Mrs. Janis' years of fine service to the Hospital."

Michael Kitchen, director of the hospital for Hospital Corp. of America, the management firm, said that he was very pleased with the new appointments.

"It demonstrates to us that Mayor McCauley is interested in

License Board Members Pursuing 2 A.M. Closings Roll Back

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
Roll back of 2 a.m. closings at Quincy liquor establishments may have reached an impasse in 1981, but at least two members of the Quincy License Board are determined to pursue the matter in 1982.

"I feel that the board made a mistake issuing any 2 a.m. closings," said Building Inspector Allan MacDonald at Tuesday's board meeting.

"I regret having done it, and I'd like to 'undo' it," Offering support to his fellow board member was Fire Chief Edward Barry who said, "I'm positively opposed to 2 a.m. licenses and I have been since the board passed them against my wishes."

Records at City Hall show that the first 2 a.m. license was granted Sept. 16, 1969 to China Star, 105 Sea St.

Barry also pointed out the accidents involving drunken drivers recently which he thought emphasized the need for a decrease in the hours liquor can be served at establishments.

The board had been scheduled to reconsider 2 a.m. closings in Quincy Dec. 15, but the hearing was cancelled after a ruling by then Assistant City Solicitor Laurence W. Cowley.

Cowley had ruled that the board must show cause to revoke 2 a.m. closings, and that the establishments with the late closings must be considered on an individual, not a group, basis.

At this week's meeting, MacDonald said he would like to discuss the matter with the new city solicitor.

MacDonald also suggested putting the roll back question on the ballot.

City Clerk John Gillis said that the License Board can request that the City Council put the question on the ballot of the next city election which is in 1983.

Later during the meeting, Barry pointed out that other cities and towns have rolled back closings hours.

But Gillis said the roll backs had been for cause.

Gillis also maintained that the problem stems from liquor purchased at package stores and consumed at house parties.

MacDonald said he considered people who "sit in joints, sopping up booze" as the cause of the problem.

In two related matters, the board extended Quincy Bay Inn's 2 a.m. closing to April 6, with Barry opposed, and allowed Luke's Lounge, 51-57 Granite St., to withdraw its request for extension of its temporary 2 a.m. closing after neighbors objected.

The board extended the inn's temporary 2 a.m. closing until a more definite policy on the closings is established.

Atty. Richard Barry also mentioned to the board that the inn's restaurant will soon be changing its menu and decor to an old English style, similar to that of Charlie's Eating & Drinking Saloon in Braintree.

Higgins withdrew his request for the 2 a.m. closing extension after neighbors complained of disturbances from the establishment, and presented a petition of opposition signed by 39 residents.

"It will hurt me, but I understand," said Higgins. "I want to have a good rapport."

Brewers Corner Study Public Meeting Jan. 14

City Department of Planning and Community Development in conjunction with Dufresne-Henry, Inc. will hold a neighborhood public meeting at Faith Lutheran Church Center, 65 Roberts St. to discuss the beginning phase of the Brewers Corner Revitalization Study.

Interested area residents and merchants are invited to attend the 7:30 p.m. meeting Thursday, Jan. 14.

Having completed the Inventory Phase of the Study there will be a slide presentation and open discussion of the study area conditions and problems.

Ward 4 City Councillor James Sheets said: "The City and Consultant have gathered quite a bit of useful information on Brewers Corner, but they need citizen input at this point in order to result in a useful study."

The meeting will be the first of three designed into the study process.

A Brewers Corner Business District Survey will be partially completed by the City at the time of the meeting.

MDC Crossing Guards Return To School Posts

Quincy youngsters returning to school after the Christmas vacation had to contend with rainy weather but not with crossing busy streets unattended as MDC School Crossing Guards were returned to their jobs Monday.

The MDC restored 55 laid off crossing guards to their assigned posts after Governor Edward King adequately funded the Public Safety account.

There had been seven locations covered by the crossing guards in Quincy.

However, Officer Robert

Harrington of the Old Colony MDC said that the need for a Tirrell St. crossing guard has been eliminated due to school closings.

Harrington said the Tirrell St. guard has been reassigned to Squanto Rd. Quincy Shore Drive. The Squanto Rd. guard has not returned to work.

"I'm very pleased with the solution they've come up with," says Mrs. Betty Swanton of 10 Samoset Ave., a concerned mother of three school age children who had contacted the governor's office and others for help with the situation.

While Mrs. Swanton said the patrolmen who filled in for the crossing guards were "very good", "almost anything was a reasonable excuse" for them to be called away.

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell and other legislators within the Metropolitan district had worked closely with the governor and MDC since August to restore the school guards who were terminated due to inadequate funding in the fiscal 1982 state budget.

City Councillor Leo Kelly and State Senator Paul D. Harold had also worked towards a resolution of the problem.

CROSSING GUARD Patricia Bresnahan helped youngsters from the Furnace Brook School safely cross the busy street, as one of 55 MDC guards who returned to their jobs Monday.

Tsongas 'Town Meeting' Here Jan. 16

Senator Paul Tsongas invites residents of Quincy, Braintree, Dorchester, Milton, Randolph and Weymouth to an open "Town Meeting" Saturday, Jan. 16, from 10:30 a.m. to noon in the Conference Room at Quincy City Hall, Quincy Sq.

More than 150 residents attended Tsongas' recent "Town Meeting" in Watertown. They asked the Senator a wide range of questions, from foreign relations to hazardous waste to defense policy to social security to Presidential politics.

The "Town Meeting" in Quincy is one of many Tsongas holds throughout the state each year. The session is informal with questions on any topic -- local, state, regional, national or international. Tsongas says that the get-togethers are a chance for people to obtain the latest information about legislation, votes in Congress, and the work he is doing on behalf of the state and nation. In addition, it is a good opportunity for the Senator to sample current opinion about issues of concern to Massachusetts residents.

Tsongas serves on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the Energy Committee and the Small Business Committee.

License Board's First Night Meeting Jan. 12

The Quincy License Board will hold its first evening meeting Tuesday, Jan. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room of New City Hall.

The evening meetings are to be scheduled once a month to allow input from local residents who may not be able to attend the regular 10 a.m. hearings.

Scheduled on the agenda are requests from:

- T.J.'s Red Carpet, 12-16 Brooks Ave., for change in the roll back of hours to an 11 p.m. closing;

- Pizzeria Regina, 627 Washington St., for transfer of the common victualer wine and malt license from Pizza Hut of New England, Inc.;

- Cathay Pacific, 111 Hancock St., for a 2 a.m. closing.

'Era Of Good Feeling'

In American history, the administration of President James Monroe (1817-24) was known as "the era of good feeling" that marked the end of a decade of feuding and bickering between rival Democratic-Republicans and Federalists.

Will the administration of Mayor Francis X. McCauley become known in Quincy history as "the era of good feeling" that marks the end of a decade of feuding and bickering between rival factions in the city? Could be. It's off to a good start in that direction.

Mayor McCauley, who could be the leader of one faction if he were of such a mind, made a heartening gesture Monday in his inaugural speech when he said: "It has been customary in recent years for the incoming mayor to spend some of his time laying a little criticism on his predecessors. I do not plan to take that approach this morning."

Former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, who has been the leader of the other faction and could keep the feud going if he wanted to, made a similar sign in a yearend interview with The Quincy Sun when he said:

"I don't think Mr. McCauley needs any undue criticism from me. I said to Frank the other day, 'The last thing you need right now is people to criticize you. You need help.'"

And, to back up what could be empty words with positive actions, the mayor-who-was and the mayor-to-be refused to fight over what could have been the clouded appointment of three members of the Hospital Board of Managers.

"There was a question of who had the authority to make the appointments," said McCauley. "Mayor Tobin said 'You are going to be the mayor for the next two years. You should have the appointments.'"

What a stark contrast to the bitter transition periods between the administrations of Mayor Tobin and Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia and, to a lesser extent, between the administrations of Mayor LaRaia and Mayor Walter J. Hannon!

Tobin is handing over to McCauley a city that is in pretty good shape, considering the times. The mess at City Hospital appears to have been straightened out. More than $200 million new development will soon be added to the tax rolls.

True, the city's bond rating has slipped from Double A to BA, and Mayor McCauley pointed that out in his inaugural address. But he resisted the temptation to place blame, which, in truth, belongs to many previous administrations.

"Era of good feeling." The words have a nice ring to them. Let's hope they mean nice things in the future for the city of Quincy.

Quincy Quiz

No winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin has been nominated for clerk-magistrate of the Quincy District Court. Who held the job until he died last year?

2. In what section of the city is Tuscany St.?

3. What is the name of the clerk of courts for Norfolk County?

4. True or false: The proposed Quincy Adams MBTA station is located in South Quincy.

5. The section of Quincy Shore Drive between Black's Creek and Sea St. used to be known as: Adams Highway? Shawmut Trail? Pilgrim Blvd.?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Robert F. Denvir Jr. will be city purchasing agent in the administration of Mayor McCauley.

2. Hillcrest Rd. is in the Squantum section of the city.

3. False. Thomas S. Burgin is the oldest living ex-mayor of Quincy.

4. In addition to Quincy Center Plaza, the South Shore Bank, or the Granite Trust Building, is the second 10-story building in downtown Quincy.

5. The population of Quincy first went over the 75,000 mark in the United States census of 1940.

Things You WON'T See In 1982

Well, it's that time again when all the so-called experts like to tell you what to expect in the year ahead.

But, not me. With all humility and modesty I confess I'm not an expert even though some people think I'm an opinionated know-it-all.

However, if you insist, I can fairly well predict what won't happen during 1982. For example:

You won't see Arthur Tobin writing a book about Quincy even though he has a few stories he could tell.

You won't see Frank McCauley breaking ground for an east-west connector.

You won't see any member of the Licensing Board cutting the ribbon for a downtown Quincy video game parlor.

You won't see Randy, Arthur Tobin's pet dog, around City Hall much anymore.

You won't see former Mayors Thomas Burgin, James McIntyre or Walter Hannon running for mayor again. But you might see Joseph LaRaia having another go at it.

You won't see John Quinn staying in political retirement.

You won't see Eleanor Reidy, Mayor McCauley's personable and pleasant secretary, going five minutes without a friendly smile.

You won't see the Red Sox win the pennant.

You won't see the Bruins win the Stanley Cup. And, if you're lucky, you won't see the Patriots.

You won't see new Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson yearning for a snowstorm.

You won't hear any cheers or applause when the revaluation figures are sent out.

You won't see much improvement in tagging illegally parked cars on Nut St.

You won't see anyone with more courage and spirit than former Congressman Jim Burke.

You won't see anyone as young-at-heart as Quincy Furniture's Max London who is enthusiastically entering his 101st new year.

You won't see Ted DeCristofaro making long speeches in the City Council.

You won't see Joanne Condon going back to her old hair-do.

You won't hear Chris Kennedy say an unkind word.

You won't see the meter maids writing parking tickets in invisible ink.

You won't see the price of anything you are now eating, drinking, or wearing going down.

You won't see Fr. William McCarthy turning away anyone in need.

You won't see everyone making it in Massachusetts.

You won't see the MBTA offering a reduction in fares or winning an "E" for efficiency.

You won't see a day without motorists ignoring the pedestrian lights at Hancock and Temple Sts., Temple and Washington Sts., and in front of City Hall.

You won't see a day without smashed beer bottles in the Hancock Parking lot.

You won't hear a TV meteorologist apologizing after scaring the hell out of everyone with a bum forecast of a big storm.

And, one thing you can be sure of: you won't ever see 1981 again.

Harold Urges Full Funding For RSVP

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

For the first time in the history of Massachusetts, county budgets will no longer be presented to the legislature for approval, but instead will go to the county advisory boards.

That budgetary process is already underway for the coming year, and one program in Norfolk County which deserves full funding is RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer Program). Unfortunately, there have been indications that this program may be reduced; but an examination of the facts would show this to be a false economy.

The county's share of $27,000 (to pay for two parttime employees and rent for the Norwood office) is a necessary match for the $81,000 provided by the federal government. Last year alone, 490 persons participated in the program, contributing 92,541 man-hours to 82 agencies across the county, at a cost of 88 cents per volunteer hour.

Looking at a bottom line alone should be enough to support this program. But besides the financial and budgetary considerations are the numerous personal rewards to the volunteers, themselves, which is one of the most important aspects of the program. They have an opportunity to stay active, while making a real contribution to their fellow citizens.

Over the past few years, as a member of the Senate, when the legislature had responsibility to pass on the county budget, I, along with my colleagues in both the House and Senate from Norfolk County supported RSVP for these reasons.

I urge the County Advisory Board members to weigh these same considerations in their deliberations over the next few weeks, and the vital importance of this program to our senior citizens and the 82 public and non-profit agencies they serve.

Best Wishes To Clement O'Brien

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

It is my hope that you will publish the following in the Quincy Sun:

"Best wishes to Mr. Clement A. O'Brien for a job well done during his 13 years as Executive Director of the Quincy Housing Authority.

If the articles I have read in the local newspapers are accurate with regard to the circumstances surrounding Mr. O'Brien's resignation, namely: being pressured to resign, then that is a shameful reward for a dedicated, knowledgeable, professional administrator and a good and gentle man."

"Arthur, along with Planning Director James Lydon, will be working very closely with developers who wish to relocate in our city.

"In areas of downtown, Arthur has been directed to work very closely with the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association as well as the South Shore Chamber of Commerce."

"I'm basically an optimist," McCauley concluded, "otherwise I wouldn't be here this morning."

Crime Rise Concerns Temperance Worker

Dr. Anna Dorr Bryant, state superintendent for social morality of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, told members of the Wollaston branch that she was concerned about the rise in crime in America.

"We are told that there never was such an age of criminality and that the United States produces more criminals than any other country in the world," she said at the Wollaston Methodist Church.

"We feel that our courts of justice have lost their grip on things. Why are criminals so plentiful? We are not enforcing our laws as we should."

"A great many who should be restrained are let out on probation too many times and while they are out they commit crimes over and over again."

BEACH UNDERPASS SOUGHT

Mayor Thomas J. McGrath testified in support of a bill filed by Sen. Henry L. Kincaide to construct an underpass under Quincy Shore Reservation from the bath house to Wollaston Beach at Sachem St.

Sen. Kincaide told the hearing that from 15,000 to 20,000 people cross the highway daily at that point in the summer and crossing the four lanes of traffic is particularly dangerous for children and old people.

Waits of 10 to 15 minutes to cross the street are not uncommon, he said.

BUTLER POND RESCUE

Arthur C. Dunham, 23, of 56 Spear St., dove fully clothed into the waters of Butler Pond to rescue Peter Kondos, 3, son of Charles Kondos of Merrymount Rd. from drowning.

Dunham was driving by the pond in the rear of Central Junior High School when he heard the child screaming for help. He dove to the bottom, grabbed the boy and pulled him up. Both were covered with mud.

The Text Of Mayor McCauley's Address

Following is the complete text of Mayor Francis X. McCauley's inaugural address.

"Good morning. I'd like to both welcome you and thank you for attending my inauguration as 30th mayor of the city of Quincy this morning as well as the swearing in ceremony of the Quincy City Council and the members of the School Committee."

"I'm making a big change this morning. I'm coming from the private sector to the public sector. Of course, I've always had some reservations about the public sector. I'm going to tell you a little story about what happened on Thursday. I had a final meeting with Dr. Lawrence Creedon and John Gillis regarding the final arrangements for this inauguration ceremony and I was going to take the rest of the day off when I received a communication from City Hall that said my personnel file was not up to date. It said that I had not filled out an application for employment in the city of Quincy. I said, 'Gee, I thought I was the mayor and I got elected on Nov. 3,' but I was told if you're going to work fulltime for the city that you have to have an application for employment. So I said, 'Well, send one down.'"

"So they sent it down and the first question is: 'Position desired.' I wrote in 'Mayor.' The second question was: 'When available for employment?' I wrote down, 'Jan. 4, 1982.' The third question was, 'By whom referred?' I thought about that for a minute and I wrote Arthur Tobin's name down. The application also required two personal references and I didn't have time to make any calls so I hope Joe LaRaia and Paul Harold didn't mind my using their names."

"I would like to offer my congratulations this morning to the newly elected members of the Quincy School Committee and the Quincy City Council. I'm looking forward to working with both bodies during the coming two years. I had the privilege of serving some eight years on the City Council and some six years on the Quincy School Committee."

"We have some very important guests on the rostrum this morning and I'd like to take a very brief few minutes to introduce them to you."

"I'm very privileged and honored that all the former mayors of the city of Quincy are here this morning. I'm going to introduce them to you, ask them to stand and when they're all standing let's give them one good round of applause, these gentlemen who served and guided our city in the past."

"I will introduce them in the order of their seniority in the Past Mayors' Club and I'm pleased to first introduce the Honorable Thomas S. Burgin, mayor of Quincy, 1935 to 1942, and then again in 1950 and 1951. Tom is celebrating a very important anniversary this morning. This morning is the 57th anniversary of his being sworn in to the Quincy City Council as councillor from Ward 1. His career spanned five decades through 1962 when he served in the Massachusetts Senate."

"I'm also privileged to introduce this morning the Honorable James R. McIntyre, mayor of Quincy, 1966 to 1971. I am privileged to introduce the Honorable Walter J. Hannon, mayor of Quincy, 1972 to 1975. I'm privileged to introduce the Honorable Joseph J. LaRaia, mayor of Quincy, 1976 to 1977. Joe is still laboring in the political trenches as a councillor at large this morning. I'd like to introduce the immediate past mayor of the city of Quincy, the Honorable Arthur H. Tobin, mayor of Quincy, 1978 to 1981."

"I would also like to publicly thank Mayor Tobin for the cooperation he has afforded me and my transition team in the past nine weeks. We've had a very smooth transition of government and it's going a long way for me to get off to a good start here as mayor this morning."

"We also have members of the Great and General Court on the rostrum this morning. I included them because the members of the legislature, both the state senator and the state representatives, are going to be very important in the McCauley administration. We will be dealing with legislation at the state level that will affect the city of Quincy and we're going to cooperate very fully with these gentlemen. I'm pleased to introduce State Sen. Paul Harold. We also have with us this morning State Rep. Thomas F. Brownell . . . and State Rep. Michael W. Morrissey."

"It was suggested that we send invitations to all those individuals who served as city councillors, state representatives and school committee people. That was a little difficult to do because many

MY APARTMENT HAS AN OLD BLACK & WHITE TILE BATH, HOW CAN I GIVE IT A NEW LOOK WITHOUT SPENDING A FORTUNE.

A black and white bath is probably the easiest to decorate -- I would start with a black & white print wallcovering, then use a pure primary color for curtains, towels, rugs, etc. Keeping the background basic you can change your decor in minutes with new accessories.

Bonnie Comes Home After Lost 5 Months In Maine Woods

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Bonnie, a diminutive five and a half year old purebred Shetland Sheep Dog, may not have made it home for Christmas.

But, she sure gave her Wollaston owners something special to celebrate New Year's Eve when she was found, unharmed, Dec. 29, after being lost in the Maine woods since Aug. 4.

"We gave up around October," says Mrs. Helen Metcalfe who explained that she, her husband, Russell, and Bonnie had been vacationing at a cabin in Oxford, Me., last August when their 30 pound "mini Lassie" ran off.

Shy with strangers, Bonnie had apparently been frightened by some adolescents and escaped into the woods.

"She must have lost her sense of direction," says Mrs. Metcalfe who noted that Bonnie had accompanied the Metcalfes to the cabin in past summers and was not prone to wandering away.

For the next three weeks, the Metcalfes searched the area, placed ads in local papers, passed out handbills, and checked with animal shelters.

Even after they returned home to Wollaston, the Metcalfes called Maine periodically to see if Bonnie had turned up.

As more time went by, it seemed less and less likely that Bonnie would be found.

Then came the phone call around noon Dec. 29, from the S.P.C.A. in Maine.

Bonnie had been spotted in Auburn, about 15 miles from where she had been lost. They were able to trace her owners using her Quincy tags.

"They said they were sorry they didn't have Bonnie for us for Christmas," says Mrs. Metcalfe, "but actually they called the day before my birthday."

After a three hour drive that same day, the Metcalfes were reunited with their dog after a 21 week separation.

Mrs. Metcalfe reports that despite her ordeal, Bonnie recognized her owners.

"She walked over, and raised her paw," says Mrs. Metcalfe, "and then she got excited."

Bonnie's veterinarian calls her a "lucky dog" and reports that she hasn't suffered nutritionally.

"She got food somehow," says Mrs. Metcalfe who added that Bonnie has eaten more voraciously since her return.

She'll be checked for heart worm in the spring to be on the safe side.

For now, Bonnie's only problem is adjusting to a new member of the household, Megan, a Sheltie puppy.

"It's a little difficult," admits Mrs. Metcalfe, "each thinks the other is an outsider."

Chances are, if Bonnie can handle almost five months on her own in the woods of Maine, she can handle anything.

BONNIE, right, a 30 pound purebred Shetland Sheep Dog, is safe and sound in her Wollaston home after being lost in the Maine woods for almost five months. Owners Helen and Russell Metcalfe report Bonnie's only problem now is adjusting to a new member of the household, Megan, left.

Obituaries

Roberta M. Crowley, 73, Retired City Treasurer

A funeral Mass for Mrs. Roberta M. (Kennedy) Crowley, 73, of Quincy, a retired city treasurer, was held yesterday (Wednesday) in Blessed Sacrament Church.

Mrs. Crowley died Saturday at her home after a short illness.

Active for many years in Quincy politics, she was the wife of the late Mr. David J. Crowley, a former city councillor.

Mrs. Crowley had lived in Quincy for 45 years.

Born in Somerville, she had also lived in Boston where she attended public schools.

Before becoming treasurer, Mrs.

Crowley had worked in the city treasurer's office for 20 years.

She retired as treasurer in 1975.

Mrs. Crowley was a charter member of the Rock Island Cove Improvement Association and the Houghs Neck Community Council.

A founder of the Quincy Democratic Women's Club and the Peninsula Women's Club, she was an active member of the Democratic Civ Committee in Quincy.

She is survived by a son, David J. Crowley, Jr., of Wollaston; two daughters, Mrs. Mary R. Gregoire of Quincy and Mrs. Jean Siebert of Sandbridge, Va.; a brother, former state treasurer John F. Kennedy; and nine grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Nunziata Giovannangeli, 97

Private funeral services will be held for Mrs. Nunziata (DiBona) Giovannangeli, 97, of Quincy, a retired bookkeeper, who died Monday.

Mrs. Giovannangeli was born in San Donato, Italy.

After she moved to Quincy, she attended the Willard School and was graduated from Quincy High School in 1905.

For many years, she was employed as a bookkeeper for several Quincy granite industries.

Wife of the late Mr. Felice Giovannangeli, she is survived by three daughters, Gloria Marini and Stella Tocchio, both of Quincy; and Isabelle Desantis of Norwood; four grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Mrs. Giovannangeli was also the mother of the late Mr. Hugo Giovannangeli.

Funeral arrangements are by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals. Visiting hours have been omitted.

Burial will be in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

William P. Campbell, 51, Former Hockey Friends President

A funeral Mass for William P. Campbell, 51, of Quincy, former president of the Friends of Quincy Hockey Association, was held yesterday (Wednesday) in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

Mr. Campbell died Saturday in Quincy City Hospital.

He had lived in Quincy for 15 years.

Born in Boston, he had also lived in Dorchester. He was a fossil fuel mechanic for Boston Edison where he was employed for 29 years.

He is survived by his wife,

Gladys P. (MacDonald) Campbell; three sons, Paul G. Campbell, John P. Campbell and Robert M. Campbell, all of Quincy; two daughters, Jean M. Shearing and Carol A. Campbell, both of Quincy; a brother, Charles J. Campbell, Jr., of California; two sisters, Dorothy O'Connell of Cohasset and Anne Kelley of Quincy; and two grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave. Burial was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Charles H. Pray, 72, Retired Railroad Supervisor

A funeral service for Charles H. Pray, 72, of Quincy, a retired supervisor for Fore River Railroad, was held yesterday (Wednesday) at Church of the Holy Trinity, South Weymouth.

Mr. Pray died Saturday in South Shore Hospital, Weymouth, after a long illness.

He had lived in Quincy for two years.

Mr. Pray had worked on the shipyard railroad for 36 years before retiring as superintendent seven years ago.

Born in Weymouth, he was a member of the Weymouth Senior Citizens and Church of the Holy Trinity.

He is survived by his wife, Marian (Alexander) Pray; a daughter, Pamela Blades of Pembroke; two sisters, Barbara Llano and Myrtle Turner, both of Florida; and three grandchildren.

Burial was in Village Cemetery. Donations in his memory may be made to the Church of the Holy Trinity or 1000 Southern Artery, Quincy.

12:30 P.M. Mass Sunday

Fr. William McCarthy To Celebrate 30th Anniversary

Rev. William R. McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church will celebrate the 30th anniversary of his ordination at a Mass of Thanksgiving Sunday at 12:30 p.m. at the church.

A reception will follow in the lower church.

Fr. McCarthy was ordained at Holy Cross Cathedral by the late Richard Cardinal Cushing on Jan. 10, 1952.

He has served as pastor of St. John's since Feb. 1, 1977.

Along with his duties as pastor, he has been involved with organizations such as St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Chairman of the parish council, he is spiritual director of the Christian Service Commission, Parish Activities Commission, and the Quincy Catholic Club.

Fr. McCarthy was appointed chaplain of the Quincy Fire Department in January, 1978.

Appointed a commissioner of the Quincy Housing Authority in June, 1978, he served as chairman of the authority from 1980-1981.

A member of the board of directors of the South Shore Council on Alcoholism, he is a member of the advisory boards of the Woodward School for Girls, Archbishop Williams High School and Granite Place.

He is also chaplain for senior citizens at Town Brook House, Martensen St. and Granite Place.

Born Dec. 9, 1926 in Haverhill, Fr. McCarthy is the son of the late

Mr. and Mrs. John J. McCarthy.

He is the brother of Mrs. Hector F. Perrone and the late Rev. John J. McCarthy, who served as pastor of St. Francis of Assisi Parish in Braintree, and died in December, 1974.

Fr. McCarthy attended Haverhill public schools, St. James High School, and briefly, St. Charles in Cantonville, Md.

He entered St. Clements Hall, Brighton on Feb. 1, 1945 and St. John's Seminary in September, 1946.

His first assignment was at St. Rose Church, Chelsea. During that assignment, he was involved in parish activities such as CYO, St. Rose drum corps, St. Vincent de Paul Society and Single Ladies Sodality.

He was spiritual director of St. Rose Grammar and High School, and also served on the faculty.

Fr. McCarthy was chaplain of the Chelsea Police and Fire Departments, Knights of Columbus and the Irish Club.

He was transferred to St. Gregory's Church, Dorchester, in February, 1963, and served as an associate pastor.

His parish activities included the sodality, CYO, St. Vincent de Paul Society.

He instituted St. Gregory's Social Organization, and participated in grammar and high school activities.

New Year's Service At Squantum First Church

The congregation of the First Church of Squantum held a joyous New Year's Service Sunday morning.

The Chancel Choir sang Samuel Wesley's hymn "Lead Me, Lord" as the offertory.

The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, spoke to the children about "Faith and Salt". He preached on the topic, "1982: An Adventure For You?"

Greeters for the morning were Joan and Katherine Hansen.

Betty Ellis and Edna Swanson hosted the Fellowship Hour.

Next Sunday's service begins at 10:15 a.m.

Feast Of Lights Sunday At Sacred Heart Church

The sixth annual ecumenical Epiphany Feast of Lights service will be held Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

The event, which has been growing in popularity, is under the sponsorship of the Inter-Church Council of Wollaston and North Quincy, which lists nine member congregations.

Open to the public, the service will feature several choral works performed by the Eastern Nazarene College a capella choir, under the direction of Professor Greg. Larkin.

The college's Brass Ensemble, directed by Professor Robert Howard, will also share in the service.

Rev. Arthur Curtis, pastor of Atlantic Memorial Congregational Church, will deliver a brief homily. Clergy and laity from all member churches will participate. A social hour will follow the service.

A candle-lighting ceremony is a central feature of the event, representing the light of Christ entering the world and "gradually spreading through time and space," according to The Rev. William D. Underhill of St. Chrysostom's Church, one of the council members.

"The candle-lighting ceremony climaxes with each worshipper holding a lighted candle to carry forth into the world," he said.

Members of the Inter-Church Council include Atlantic Memorial Congregational Church, Sacred Heart (Roman Catholic) Church, Union Congregational Church, First Church of Squantum, Wollaston Church of the Nazarene, Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, as well as St. Chrysostom's (Episcopal) Church.

The committee planning the service points out that this Feast of Lights is for the entire community and open to the public. There will be ample room for all who wish to attend.

TAX TIPS

by David J. Liben

FILE EARLY

It's in your best interest to file your tax returns as soon as you can. Budgetary cutbacks at the IRS will probably slow the processing of returns. Filing a few days earlier could mean you'll have your refund a few weeks earlier. If your paycheck stubs show year-to-date information, your return can be prepared from the last one you received in 1981. The other information you need to complete your return can be found on statements you already have, or can be obtained by phone.

If you expect to owe the IRS, beware! Should you owe more than one-fourth of the taxes you've already paid in, you'll be hit with an underpayment penalty. Figured like interest, the penalty rate is scheduled to jump from 12% to 20% on February 1. So in most cases you'll benefit by paying your balance by January 31. If you find yourself in this situation, see if you meet one of the four exceptions to the penalty and file Form 2210 with IRS, Form M-2210 with the state.

THE TAX CLINIC CHALLENGE

Bring us your completed return for a FREE REVIEW.

Your return is reviewed by an experienced tax consultant and attorney who know the tax laws inside and out, and take the time to work with you to legitimately minimize your tax. You pay our regular fee — based on the complexity of your return — only if we save you tax dollars. For an appointment or more details call or visit...

Insure Your IRA

You know that this year all employees can contribute up to $2,000 yearly to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) and deduct it from Federal taxable income. ($2,250 if non-working spouse is included; $4,000 for working couple.)

You also know that interest earned by your IRA is sheltered from all income taxes until you retire.

But do you know that the best IRA is with a bank that insures your fund, helps you to select a high interest investment, and charges no fee.

Quincy Cooperative is that kind of bank, and its friendly staff will be glad to answer any question you may have about setting up your own IRA.

Board To Reconsider Danny's License Request

The Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission has reviewed and remanded to the Quincy License Board an appeal by Danny's, 126 Quincy Ave., which was denied a wine and beer license by the board Nov. 10, 1981.

In addition to sending the matter back to the local board for another hearing, the ABCC also recommended that the license be granted.

City Clerk John Gillis said the ABCC is interested in a traffic count for Danny's, since traffic problems were among the reasons for the license being denied.

There was also opposition from the Ward II Civic Association at the November hearing.

Police Chief Francis Finn said he doesn't have the manpower to conduct a traffic count.

Fire Chief Edward Barry suggested that the ABCC conduct the traffic count, and a letter to that effect will be sent to the commission.

The License Board denied Danny's request on a 4 to 1 vote. Gillis voted in favor of the license.

Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Allowed to be withdrawn a request from Quincy Junior College, 34 Coddington St., for two video games. City Clerk John Gillis said the college's board of directors will discuss the matter at a meeting.

- Granted, for one year, a second hand license to the Boston Harbor Marina Antique Craft & Flea Show.

- Placed on file a matter involving a lodging house at 74

Bigelow St., being operated without a license. The matter will be referred to the wire, fire and building departments.

- Granted the North Quincy Swim Team Boosters Club a one day all alcoholic license for a dance Friday, Jan. 22, 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall. A representative from the group said that money raised will be used for a banquet and for scholarships.

- Granted transfer of the common victualer, Lord's Day and three video machine licenses for Jenelle International Gourmet, Inc., 764 Hancock St., from Gloria George to Gregory Pearce of Quincy. Police Chief Francis Finn told Pearce that youngsters are not to play the video games during school hours.

4 Quincy Women Receive B.U. Degrees

Four Quincy women recently received degrees or certificates at graduation ceremonies held by Boston University.

Moiria L. Cavanagh of 27 Prospect Ave., received a B.S. degree from the School of Public Communication.

She majored in journalism.

Deborah-Jean Kvam of 270 Franklin St., was awarded a certificate of advanced graduate studies from the School of Education.

Miss Kvam's major was special education.

Martha Jean Mellon of 122 Centre St., received a bachelor of liberal studies degree from the Metropolitan College.

Her major was English.

Margaret M. Messenger of 35 Verchild St., received a bachelor of applied science degree from the Metropolitan College.

Miss Messenger majored in business studies.

OATH OF OFFICE is administered to School Committee members Nicholas Verenis and Mary Collins (left) by Mayor Francis X. McCauley while School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon (seated) looks on. Mrs. Collins was elected vice-chairman.

The School Committee: Collins Vice-Chairman, Sullivan Fills Vacancy

The School Committee got a new chairman, a new vice chairman, a new member and an old member all at once Monday.

It also got a lecture on education from its oldest, most experienced member, 83-year-old Frank Anselmo.

And the legality of the election of the old member, John J. Sullivan, was questioned by one of those who sat on the panel that elected him.

Sullivan, who failed to be re-elected to a third term in last year's election, was chosen by a convention of the City Council and the School Committee to replace Patricia Toland, who moved to the Council.

The vote was unanimous, with the exception of City Councillor Richard J. Koch, who voted "present".

"I'm not questioning the support of Mr. Sullivan," said Koch, "but I'm questioning the validity of our session. I don't know that we were in session at all."

"I'm sure Mayor McCauley can bring the joint convention together but there was no 48 hours notice given to comply with the open meeting law and that's my question."

"I want to get a ruling from the city solicitor."

"But," he added, "there's no question that the runnerup in the election, Mr. Sullivan, deserves the vote. I would have voted for him if I were sure it was legal."

In seconding the nomination of Mary Collins as vice chairman, Anselmo took "full advantage of my age and experience of going on to 21 years on the School Board ... to impart a little counselling."

"We speak of reorganization," he said. "We speak of budget reductions. Please, in wisdom, for our own preservation of an honest community, do not cheat the kids who are entitled to an education."

"In the long run, as I look at the chief of police, he can tell you that it's cheaper to educate than later on to pay to keep a youngster who has gone astray in an institution."

"As the slogan says, 'If you think that education is expensive, try ignorance.' A warning to my colleagues."

In her address as vice chairman, Mrs. Collins appealed to her opposite numbers of the City Council not to deal too harshly with the school system when it comes to making up budgets under Prop 2½.

"Should the School Committee be forced to cut the required 15 per cent per year for the next two years, the result would be a system that is unrecognizable," she said. "The picture could be grim."

"We will be dealing with painful situations in preparing the budgets for the coming fiscal year. Nothing less than total commitment to working together on this will suffice."

"There should be no sacred cows in our city budgets."

The new Committee member, Nicholas Verenis, was sworn in as was Joan Picard, who was re-elected to a second term last November. Mayor McCauley is chairman of the Committee by virtue of his office.

Sullivan told the Committee that he was looking forward to serving with McCauley as chairman.

"We will return the leadership that we have not had in a while, but I hope to God we will remove the blanks of the past and have a great two years," he said.

This was an apparent reference to the fact that Arthur H. Tobin, the outgoing mayor and chairman who was at odds with the rest of the Committee over the budget, did not attend a meeting in nearly a year to avoid constant confrontation with his colleagues.

Lydon Elected President, Pledges Reformed Government

By TOM HENSHAW

John J. Lydon Jr., the four-term councillor from Ward 3, to the surprise of no one, was elected president of the City Council at Monday's organizational meeting.

Lydon, starting his fifth two years term, told his colleagues that voters on the national, state and local levels have delivered the message that "government has become unwieldy and they want that trend to stop."

"As consumers we have been restricting our patterns of consumption," he said. "It is now time for government to do likewise."

"No longer can we rationalize the seemingly endless growth of government. No longer can we allow management practices which foster waste. No longer can we make the mistake that bigger is better."

The task before the new City Council, he said, is a "reformed government."

"A government which is less cumbersome but a government that, by its very nature, must provide the products and services which our constituents and our city requires," is the goal, he said.

Lydon followed Mayor Francis X. McCauley in making a pitch for an end to the political feuding and divisions that have plagued the city for the past decade.

"We must be responsive," he said, "as that is our first duty."

"We cannot afford to be a reflection of an administration nor can we afford, especially in these difficult times, to be a disruptive force in government."

He closed with a quotation from the late President John F. Kennedy:

"United there is little we cannot do in a host of cooperative ventures. Divided there is little we can do to meet the powerful challenges."

The Council then proceeded to re-elect Jeanne Riordan to the post of clerk of committees -- twice.

Through a miscalculation of the agenda, she was first elected before the Council was sworn in; then, when the error was realized, she was again voted in by the legal Council.

The Council also re-elected William McDonald and John McGowan to the Adams Temple and School Fund Board of Managers and chose Councillors Joanne Condon and Stephen J. McGrath to another term on the Hospital Board of Supervisors.

Dr. Luleen Anderson was nominated for another term on the Board of Managers of the Woodward School and the nomination was tabled for two weeks as required by the rules of the Woodward Fund.

In other items of business, the Council:

Sent to the Finance Committee a request to amend a previous City Hospital bond issue since many of the items requested are no longer needed.

Requested a hearing by the Planning Board Tuesday, Feb. 9, at 7 p.m. on zoning changes involving public and private access ways.

Text Of Mayor McCauley's Address

of them have left the state, are in retirement in other areas. But we do have three former city officials with us this morning and I'm going to introduce them to you.

"Pleased to have former City Councillor Carl W. Anderson with us. Carl served a then-record of 20 years in the Quincy City Council, both as Ward 2 councillor and councillor-at-large. We also have with us a gentleman who just completed 24 consecutive years on the Quincy City Council. Councillor-at-large John Quinn. And we also have with us this morning former State Rep. and City Councillor Joseph E. Brett. I'd like to thank them all for coming.

"We always have members of the clergy with us. Three, four members of the clergy will be participating in the program and I'd like to thank them.

"Father James Hart, pastor of Blessed Sacrament Church in Houghs Neck. The Rev. M. Alicia Corea of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church is with us this morning. No inauguration or fete of this type would be complete without the presence of Rabbi Jacob Mann of Temple Beth Israel in Quincy Point. Rabbi, we're very pleased to have you here today. We also have on the rostrum the Rev. Fr. John McMahon, pastor of St. Mary's Church in West Quincy.

"I invited as my special guest Msgr. Peter F. Hart, pastor of St. Clements Church in Somerville. Some of you may be wondering why a priest from Somerville would be participating in the inauguration of a mayor in Quincy. Those of you who were here 10 years ago would remember that Msgr. Hart delivered the prayer at Walter Hannon's first inauguration. Msgr. Hart will be celebrating his 45th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood this year. He came to the Houghs Neck church, Blessed Sacrament Church, on his first assignment back in 1936 and he stayed there for some nine years and he had a very positive, an enormously positive influence on the lives of those who were growing up in Houghs Neck at that time. Three of his proteges of that era are here this morning, of course former Mayor Walter Hannon, and we also have with us the present city councillor and immediate past president of the City Council, councillor Leo Kelly. So, Msgr. Hart, we're very pleased to have you with us here this morning.

"Last but not least, we set up a little something new this year. For the first time in my memory, we have asked the wife of the incoming mayor to be present with him on the platform. I hope this is a custom that will continue to be in effect during the years ahead, the mayor bring his wife or husband -- because Henry Bosworth fully believes that Frank McCauley is the last man to serve as mayor of Quincy. He figures that after McCauley the women are taking over. So if it's a woman mayor bring her husband up. But I'd like once again to introduce to you my wife, Sandra. I wouldn't be here this morning without the help she has given me. Let's give her a round of applause.

"I'm under strict orders not to introduce my children. Unlike their father, they don't enjoy the limelight. So I will not introduce my sons, Michael and Robert, and my daughters, Melissa, Julie and Jennifer, who are seated in the front row.

"As I stand here this morning to deliver an inaugural address, I have thought back on some of the addresses that have been given in the past. It has been customary in recent years for the incoming mayor to spend some of his time laying a little criticism on his predecessors. And that criticism sometimes spills over into the early days of the administration. I do not plan to take that approach this morning.

"There have been 27 men who have stood at the rostrum here to be sworn in as mayor. Since 1917 those mayors have had exactly two years to work. We all start out with the same amount of time. I don't plan to spend any time here this morning or any time in my administration holding press conferences or writing press releases blaming my predecessors for any of the problems facing the city.

"At 10 o'clock this morning, the responsibility of Arthur Tobin for running this city came to an end and the clock started ticking on the McCauley administration. So we're going to approach the problems, we're going to define them and then we're going to solve them. I think that's the best thing to do in the years ahead.

"Since my election on Nov. 3, I have spent some hours with City Auditor William Grindlay and City Treasurer Robert Foy for the purpose of getting a starting point in my administration. I've asked them to provide me with some figures, financial figures involving the city of Quincy, free cash position, the bonded indebtedness, things of that sort, so that we will know where we stand as we take office this morning. It is no secret that the once strong financial standing of the city of Quincy has declined in recent years. The double A credit rating has slipped continuously until now we have one of the lowest credit ratings in the state, a BA credit rating.

"This Wednesday I'm meeting with some municipal financial experts, whose job it is to monitor the operations of municipalities. We'll be meeting Wednesday and they are going to present to me a critical analysis of the financial operations of the city of Quincy and they're also going to be making some recommendations to me and my administration. I've been in the banking business for 25 years and I know it's easier to get into financial difficulties than it is to get out but we're going to make the beginning this year.

"As your new mayor, I also inherit a unique situation. For the first time since the fiscal year was changed to the July-June 30 dates, the incoming mayor does not have a tax rate set. This is due, in fact, to the fact that the revaluation figures, which were due last March, are still not out. The latest report was that they would be ready on Dec. 30. I have not talked to the Board of Assessors since that time. But what we're going to be faced with in 1982 is the implementation of the revaluation and the getting out of the final tax bills so that we can collect our taxes that are due on May 1 and I'm going to work very hard, and my administration will work very hard with the Board of Assessors in implementing that revaluation.

"When I took office, or when I was elected, I found out very quickly that I received a number of hats, a number of jobs to perform. They're called ex officio positions. For those of you who did not take Latin, ex officio means additional duties without additional pay. Shortly after my election, I had the occasion to meet with Mr. Robert Johnston and he informed me that in addition to being mayor, I'm also chairman of the Board of Managers of the Woodward School for Girls. He was pleased to give me a very positive report on the progress that the school is making.

"A number of days after

McCauley Is 27th Man, 30th Mayor

Francis X. McCauley is the 27th man to hold the office of mayor of Quincy.

But he is the 30th mayor because three chief executives, Gustave B. Bates, Charles A. Ross and Thomas S. Burgin, served split terms in office.

There have also been three acting mayors since three men who were elected to the post failed to serve full terms. John L. Miller died in office and Ross and Burgin left office before their time was up.

Here is a list of mayors and acting mayors of Quincy and the years in which they served:

1. Charles H. Porter	1889-90
2. Henry O. Fairbanks	1891-93
3. William A. Hodges	1894-95

The second semester Quincy Junior College Division of Quincy Junior College Second Semester Brochure Available

Continuing Education brochure is now available, announces Richard Mula, Dean of Continuing Education.

"Over 120 credit and non-credit courses are being offered this next semester. The Saturday morning program continues to grow and be popular for those unable to attend the College at other times or for those who want to accelerate their program," he added.

"Also, to assist students who find it difficult to attend the Quincy Junior College main campus in Quincy Square, we offer courses at our extension centers at Scituate High School, Hanover High School, Weymouth Naval Air Station, and North Quincy High.

Among the Associate Degree programs available at the College are Hotel/Restaurant Management, Criminal Justice, Early Childhood Education, Liberal Arts, Electronics Technology, Computer Science, Secretarial, Business and Health Careers Preparatory. Students may take courses leading to a degree or choose a random selection for their own interest or career advancement.

Business courses continue to be the College's most popular according to Mula. "More women who are returning to school have decided that business is a good career for them," he added. "Many have already had business experience through managing the home, doing the budgeting, assigning tasks, etc. Business students can major in Management, Marketing, Retailing and Accounting, Real Estate/Insurance and Hotel/Restaurant Management."

Another area of recent interest at the College is the preparatory health career program. This is designed for students who want to prepare to enter a health career program but need additional course work before admittance into such a program. Students would take courses in Biology or Anatomy and Physiology, Chemistry, Psychology, Basic Math and English. Students interested in this field should consult with an advisor at the College.

Most evening credit classes meet one night a week from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. for 15 weeks. Among the course offerings are those in Psychology, Sociology, Government, History, Math, Science, English Literature, Business, Language, Fine Arts, Law Enforcement, Secretarial Science and Early Childhood Education.

Non-credit courses meet one night a week from 7-9 p.m. for 8 to 12 weeks. Courses in this area include Key punch, Typing, Bookkeeping, Assertiveness Training, Hypnosis and Self-Hypnosis, How to Start Your Own Business, Massachusetts Real Estate Salesman's Course Level I, Speed Reading, Complete Relaxation among others.

Students may mail in their registration now or register in person January 11-14. Information and brochures are available by calling Dean Mula at 786-8741. Advisors are available during the registration period for new students needing guidance. Classes begin January 25, 1982.

Training Workshop At Brain Injured Children Center

The South Shore Center for Brain-Injured Children will hold its fourth training workshop Tuesday, Jan. 12, at 8 p.m. at the center located at the Eldridge School, 46 Lincoln St., Braintree.

All interested persons are invited to attend.

Linda Mulley, a communication consultant, will discuss techniques for developing communication systems with non-verbal children.

Steven Knudsen Completes Training

Pvt. Steven H. Knudsen, son of Roger Knudsen of 27 Northfield Rd., Quincy, and Nancy J. Johnson of 82 Lindale Ave., North Weymouth, has completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

During the training, students receive instructions in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

NEED AN EXTRA $74,949?

Deposit early instead of late!

Let's say you're planning to take advantage of the liberal new tax laws by opening a tax deferred individual retirement account (IRA) for yourself.

To avoid the tax on your 1982 tax return you must open the account before you file—sometime previous to April 15, 1983. Now that seems like you've got forever to think about it. Almost!

Example:

If you're 29½ years old and you deposit the maximum amount ($2,000) per year for 30 years and have an average earnings of 12% . . . by making your deposit on January 2nd you'll actually earn $74,949 more interest at retirement than if you waited until December 31st to make your deposit.

Remember, we're not talking about a different deposit amount; we're just talking about your timing of that deposit . . . a $74,949 difference!

Your spouse can open a second account to double the difference to $149,898. (All working people are now eligible).

So, don't wait. If your timing is good, you and your spouse will have an extra $149,898 to spend at retirement.

Tell our New Accounts Department you want to open a 1982 IRA. They'll do the rest.

Dental Corner by

Lee A. Welky D.M.D.

TREATING TEETH OF VERY YOUNG CHILDREN

Dentists like to see children brought in for examination early, about age three. Hopefully, the child's baby teeth are present and normal, and no treatment is necessary.

However, even very young children may require treatment, whether due to cavities, accidents or congenital problems. These children often are surprisingly cooperative patients. They don't know they're "supposed" to be afraid of the dentist - so they aren't.

If the child isn't cooperative enough, he or she may be given medication or put to sleep before treatment. Some dentists are equipped to give general anesthesia in their offices. If the necessary treatment is extensive, or if the child has medical problems, the dental treatment can be done in a hospital.

Parents should know that it's possible to do extensive dental treatment, if necessary, even on very young children.

Mini-Courses

At Lincoln Hancock Pool

The Quincy Recreation Department will conduct registration for several mini-courses held at the pool in Lincoln-Hancock Community School.

The first course is a program for adult non-swimmers. The program is held on Wednesday evenings at 8:00 p.m. and features small class size so that individual attention is given to adult non-swimmers.

The second course offered is a beginner diving course. This course is held on Wednesday evenings at 6:00 p.m. Participants should be 8-12 years old and have no previous diving instruction. Participants must be capable of swimming one length of the Pool.

The third course is a Mother and Tot's swim program for youngsters age 15 months to six years. This course will be held on Wednesday evenings at 6:00 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. This program is designed to teach youngsters and parents the fundamental movements of swimming skills and help the youngster adjust to the aquatic environment.

Registration for these courses can be made in person at the Pool Office beginning immediately. Registration is done on a first come first serve basis and enrollment is limited. All programs start on Wednesday, Jan. 20, and will run for five weeks. Additional information is available by contacting the Quincy Recreation Department.

Quincy Comes Back To Win Hingham Title

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's basketball team lost a 10-point lead in the final period last Saturday night but came back to squeeze by Suburban League rival Weymouth North, 48-46, and win its second straight Hingham Christmas Tournament title.

The Presidents (3-3), who avenged a loss to Weymouth North earlier in the week, played North Quincy Tuesday. They will host Weymouth South Friday at 8 o'clock and will be home to Brookline next Tuesday at 3:30.

Quincy has had trouble holding leads and in the tournament finale the Presidents began to tire in the late stages as Coach Joe Amoroso, playing without four players out with injuries, had to go all the way with five players.

"This was the first time in my nine years of coaching that I've played five men all the way," Amoroso said. "We just don't have the depth this year. So many of our young players are not ready to fill in and I just can't put them in key situations."

Quincy had a 43-32 lead in the third period but Weymouth cut the gap to 45-36 at the end of the period and Quincy's shooting went ice cold in the final period.

The Presidents missed six of seven free throws and Weymouth moved to within a point, 47-46. Quincy's Bob Mudge sank a free throw with 30 seconds left. Weymouth had two chances to tie but missed two shots.

Jim DePietro, the tournament's MVP, had 17 points for Quincy and Peter Papile who came through with several key points, added 14.

DePietro and Papile were named to the tournament all-star team.

Earlier in the week the taller Weymouth North team scored 12 unanswered points in the final period and defeated Quincy, 54-42.

Quincy led, 24-21, at the half but Weymouth came back in the third period to outscore the Presidents, 13-8, and take a 34-32 edge into the finale and had a 20-10 edge in that period.

Quincy had a bad shooting night as it hit only eight of 23 shots from the floor in the first half and seven of 25 in the second half. It stayed in the game with eight for 10 from the foul line in the second period.

DePietro again paced Quincy with 15 points, while Paul Gibbody and Kevin Riggs had nine each.

QUINCY'S Jeff Morrison attempts to get a pass away while closely guarded by Tom Crowley of Weymouth North during the Hingham tournament.

North At Brookline Friday

The North Quincy boys' basketball team took a 3-3 record into Tuesday's game with Quincy after being walloped by undefeated Waltham last week.

The Raiders will play at Brookline Friday and at Brockton next Tuesday, both Suburban League games starting at 8.

Waltham's big, veteran team proved too much for North last week, rolling, 64-44.

Wes Paul sparked the Raiders with 10 points, while Chip Bunker and John Furland scored eight each.

In their previous game the Raiders had edged Newton North, 49-47, on junior forward Bob Flynn's jumper with five seconds left in the game.

With North trailing, 45-43, Jim Kelly put in an offensive rebound with 1:30 left to tie the score. Newton picked up a basket on its next possession but Flynn, who finished with 10 points, hit from outside with less than a minute left to tie it at 47.

The Raiders' defense held, got the ball to Flynn for his winning basket.

Bunker sparked the Raiders' scorers with 13 points.

Junior High Championship Wrestling Meet Next Week

The junior high wrestling city championships will be held Wednesday and Thursday Jan. 13-14 at 3 p.m. at Broad Meadows Junior High School.

Eighty wrestlers from Broad

Meadows, which has dominated the meet in recent years, Atlantic, Central, Point and Central will be participating.

Broad Meadows Coach John Bogan will be the meet director, assisted by the other coaches.

North Icemen Defeat Waltham, Cambridge

The North Quincy hockey team rebounded from three straight defeats and won two games last week to improve its record to 3-3.

The Raiders, who played Brockton yesterday (Wednesday), will meet Weymouth South Saturday at 2:40 p.m. at the Pilgrim Arena in Hingham and will host Quincy next Wednesday at 6:40 p.m. at the Youth Arena.

Kevin Lewis' North team edged Waltham, 3-2, last Saturday as the defense continued to show marked improvement. Co-Capt. Bill Bradley, sidelined since the start of the season with a knee injury, returned for limited action and helped bolster the defense. He played well as did Kevin White, Billy Nee, Bob Lynch and Steve Dannelsbeck.

Sophomore Keith Smith scored two goals in the first period and another sophomore, Scott Messina, who has been playing extremely well, scored the winning goal in the second period on a power play with assists from Mike McNeice and White. Kevin Duff assisted on both of Smith's goals.

"The line of Duff, Rich Stevens and Smith has been outstanding," said Lewis. "We put everything together against Waltham, killing penalties well and doing well on the power play."

Earlier in the week the Raiders defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 6-3.

Stevens had a goal and an assist and Duff scored once and had two assists. McNeice and Dannelsbeck each had a goal and an assist and Tom Lester and Dave DiCarlo had a goal apiece. Goalie Dan Newcombe played well in his two periods of action, allowing just one goal.

Kevin Jago's North junior varsity remained unbeaten (2-0-1) Saturday with a 3-2 win over Waltham. Robby Reidy scoring the winning goal.

The Raider jayvees defeated Weymouth North, 5-2, with Richie Horgan exploding for four goals, and they tied Brookline, 1-1.

Quincy Wrestlers Defeat Needham For 6th Win

The unbeaten Quincy wrestling team easily defeated Needham, 45-15, last week to improve its record to 6-0.

The Presidents faced Catholic Memorial yesterday (Wednesday), will host Scituate Friday at 4 at the Vo-Tech gym and Saturday will compete in a tournament at Milton Academy.

Quincy's winners against Needham were Dave Coulter at 100 pounds, Mike Notarangelo

The Presidents held their annual sit-a-thon last Saturday and raised $800 to be used for jackets, the annual banquet and YMCA memberships.

The 33 wrestlers, coaches and alumni who participated did a total of 50,796 sit-ups. Individual totals ranged from 1000 to a high of 2800 by senior Jim Mullin. The totals were excellent considering each boy had only an hour in which to reach them.

Each contributor was allowed to guess how many total sit-ups the team would do. Francis Gaudiano guessed 50,787, thus missing the actual total by only nine, thus winning the $50 first prize. Second prize went to Helen Campbell with a guess of 50,900.

Quincy Finds Rough Ice

The Quincy hockey team continues to find the going rough and has only a 1-4 record going into Saturday's 7:50 game with Newton North at the Youth Arena.

Next Wednesday the Presidents will face North Quincy at 6:40.

Bob Sylvia's Quincy club lost to Suburban League power Brookline, 5-1, last Saturday.

Earlier in the week the Presidents bowed to Weymouth South, 6-4, with Mike Chennette scoring two Quincy goals.

Glen Fitzgerald had a hat trick for Weymouth, including a goal into an open net with time running out.

The first indoor ice skating rink was built by Thomas L. Rankin at Madison Square Garden, New York City in 1879. It had 6,000 square feet of surface.

Quincy's Greenhalgh Sends Brockton Down To Worst Court Loss

Bones Greenhalgh scored an unbelievable 19 points to lead the finest Quincy High School basketball team in years to a 45-11 rout of Brockton, one of Brockton's worst defeats ever on its home court.

Coach George A. Clark's Quincy team so dominated the game that Brockton failed to score in the third period and tallied only three points in the whole second half despite a fine performance by Capt. Semino.

Quincy opened the season with a 55-20 drubbing of the Massachusetts Nautical School as Greenhalgh poured in a fantastic total of 25 points. The Presidents led, 38-6, at halftime.

Then the Clark-coached team proceeded to overwhelm Milton, 49-10, with Greenhalgh collecting 22 points and Comparato 10. Quincy was in front 15-0 at the end of the first quarter.

The great victory over Brockton inspired Greenhalgh and his teammates to go on to a 46-13 walloping of Weymouth and a 30-14 win over Norwood, in which Greenhalgh was held to only 10 points.

SLAVIN VISITS HOME

Jimmy Slavin, the Quincy bantam weight boxer, visited his home town to tell about his six months in New York as a professional fighter under the management of Mel Perrin and Jack Lewis.

Slavin lost his first pro fight to Mike Marcell of Rochester, then ran off a string of three victories over Mike Andrews and Johnny Paulino in Rochester and Terry Roth in New York City.

The Quincy bantam weight said he was training regularly at Stillman's gym on Eighth Ave., Manhattan, and recently had an opportunity to meet such fighters as light heavy weight champ Tommy Loughran.

CHECKERS WIN OPENER

Dorey scored 19 points and Listman added eight to lead the North Quincy Checker Club to a 29-25 victory over the Plymouth Cordage Club in the North Junior High School gym.

The Plymouth team, said to be one of the finest semi-pro aggregations to visit Quincy, led at the end of three quarters, 20-18, but Dorey came up with five straight baskets and North was never headed.

The Checker Club lineup included: Listman, Dorey, forwards; Jacobson, center; Topham, Clark, Philbrick, Mannigan, backs.

GANZEL HITS .437

Foster Pierre "Babe" Ganzel, who first played baseball on the sandlots of Quincy, led the Washington Senators in batting during the 1927 season, according to statistics released by the American League.

Ganzel, who was brought up from Birmingham in the Southern Association in September, played in 13 games for the Senators, batted .437 and made 21 hits, including four doubles two triples and a home run.

"Y" BEATS SOMERVILLE

Fancher tallied 15 points on seven baskets and a free throw as the Quincy YMCA basketball team beat the Somerville Y, 27-24, in an Eastern Division game of the Two State League.

The Quincy lineup included: Fancher, Campbell, Curtis, forwards; O'Connell, Reid, centers; Jenkins, O'Brien, backs.

RECORDS BROKEN

Francis Ciminiello broke every major Quincy Industrial Bowling League record with strings of 103, 131 and 156 for a total of 390 as his Hibbett and Sons team easily won four points from Casna-McLeod.

ADAMS RE-ELECTED

Charles Francis Adams, the mayor of Quincy from 1886-97 and former commodore of the Quincy Yacht Club, was re-elected commodore of the Eastern Yacht Club of Marblehead at a meeting in the Harvard Club.

SPORTS BITS '28

Greenhalgh had 13 points and Gabriel 10 as Christ Church whipped South Braintree Methodist 38-12 to take over first place in Division A of the Quincy Interchurch Basketball League. . . Fred Thayer and Charley Crowley won the four-ball, best-ball golf tournament at the Wollaston Golf Club with a medal score of 73. . . Capt. Irene Hall threw in 18 points as the Quincy Young Women's Community Club basketball team triumphed over Phi Sigma Phi of Dorchester, 31-24. . . Quincy sportsmen Joseph Angelo, Paul Mayo, Percy Lane and Dr. Richard Ash journeyed to the Mechanics Building in Boston to watch Roberto Roberti, the heavy weight champion of Italy, knock out Monte Munn, the Nebraska giant, in the feature bout on the Argonne AC card. . . Charlie Caldwell, the star pitcher for the Fore River team in the Greater Boston Twilight League, was named baseball coach at Williams College.

The Riley Club defeated George's Tailors, 3-1, with Dan Robison scoring twice and Ben Klingenstein once. Mike Doran, Chris Meyer, Roy Carignan, Billy Cappelis and Mark Campbell had assists. John O'Calaghan scored for George's unassisted.

In the Pee Wee Division Colonial Federal continued unbeaten (6-0-0) with a 2-1 victory over Bike 'n' Blade. Brandon Farrell and Matt Hurley scored the goals and Robert Gannon and Keith Tangney had assists. Brian Ready scored for B 'n' B unassisted.

Dunkin Donuts edged Keohane's, 1-0, on Jim Leonard's goal. Brian Campbell had an assist. Jeff Bina played an outstanding game in goal.

Ideal Elevator walloped JDA, 7-1, with Mike Zompanti, Derek Hunter and Joe Tosone scoring two goals each and Scott Reptelis one. Mike Rose, Hunter, and Reptelis had assists. Steve Manolakis scored for JDA with Keith Newcombe and Ryan Newcombe having assists.

The standings: Colonial Federal, 6-0-0; Dunkin Donuts, 5-1-0; Ideal Elevator, 3-2-1; JDA, 2-4-0; Bike 'n' Blade, 1-4-1; Keohane's 0-6-0.

D D's Rolls Along In Pee Wee House

Dee Dee's continued to extend its Pee Wee House League lead and holds an eight-point lead over Mug 'n' Muffin following a 6-3 win over M 'n' M.

Scott Sterling and Paul Adams had two goals apiece, John Arnstein a goal and three assists and Shawn Craig a goal. Paul Hanscom, Kevin Lynch and Mark Rudinsky scored for M 'n' M.

Keohane's topped Bersani Brothers, 6-4, with Brian Mosh, having two goals and two assists and Bill Dineen, Tom Walsh, Chuck Quigley and Joey Jackson one goal each. Rich Ames had a goal and an assist and Brian McManus, Bobby Bunenick and Greg Chambers a goal each for Bersani.

The standings: Dee Dee's, 8-1-2; Mug 'n' Muffin, 4-5-2; Bersani, 4-5-2; Keohane's, 2-7-2.

Raiderettes Should Make Tourney Easier This Year

A year ago the North Quincy girls' basketball team had to wait until its final game to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament for the first time ever.

From all indications the Raiderettes this year will be among the earliest qualifiers as they took a 7-0 record (4-0 in the Suburban League) into the game with Quincy yesterday (Wednesday).

Coach Paul Bregoli's North girls will host Brookline Friday and will be home to Brockton Tuesday, both games at 3:30.

The Raiderettes won three games in as many days last week, defeating Waltham, 51-24, in their latest game, a league contest.

JoAnn Runge scored 17 points and had seven assists to lead the North girls, while Karen Bridges had 10 points, 10 rebounds and three blocked shots.

Mary Holleran had nine points and Maureen McAleney and Tricia Meehan turned in outstanding defensive games.

The day before, after their big win over defending state champion Newton North, the Raiderettes topped Mt. St. Joseph's, 47-34, in a non-league game.

Runge, senior tri-captain, and junior forward Christine Choukas had 11 points each to lead the Raiderettes.

Mary Ellen Timmins had a fine game with eight rebounds, seven assists and five points.

Mite A's Win Hingham Hockey Tourney

The Quincy Mite A team won the Santa Claus Hockey Tournament at Hingham last week with a 4-3 overtime victory over Braintree in the title game.

Tony Spinelli tied the score with 1:20 left, assisted by Tim Collins and Joe Bevilacqua. Ronnie Last scored the winner unassisted on a breakaway. Steve Carroll and Bevilacqua had the other goals.

Quincy earlier romped over Canton, 9-0, with Spinelli having a hat trick and bombed Abington, 14-0, with Spinelli having another hat trick Collins and Jason Radzevich also having hat tricks and Last having three assists.

The team defeated South Boston, 6-1, with Bevilacqua having a hat trick and Spinelli four assists.

Jeff Bertoni and Ritchie Brooks were outstanding in goal and Matt Kelley, Bryan Adams, Bobby Daggett, Sean McArdle, Joe Zona, Matt Riley, Carrie Hughes, Scott McClory, Bryan Nagle and Mike Lally all played well.

The Mite A's edged Randolph, 2-1, on goals by Collins and Spinelli. Bevilacqua, Collins and Last has assists and Brooks, Zona, Hughes and McClory all played strong games.

Quincy also rolled over Weymouth, 10-1, with Spinelli and Carroll having two goals apiece and Hughes, McArdle, Collins, Bevilacqua, Nagle and Riley one each. Spinelli, Collins and McClory had two assists apiece and Carroll, Hughes, Bevilacqua, Last and Zona one each.

McGinn Regains Lead From Sun

McGinn Sunoco regained the Bantam House League by a point over The Quincy Sun by edging The Sun, 6-5. Brian Canavan had two goals, Paul Lally a goal and an assist, Keith Freeman a goal and assist, Dennis Doherty and Larry Mahoney a goal each and Bill Connolly three assists for McGinn. Baskin Robbins and Doran &

Horrigan played to a 3-3 tie. Scoring for Baskin were Gerry Layden, Bob Salton and John Cataldi. Doran's scorers were Brett Henney, Mike Miller and Tom Donovan. Johnson Motor defeated Burgin Platner, 8-5, with Matt Paul having two goals and an assist, Tom Donovan two goals and two assists and Pat Duffy and Billy Murphy a goal each. For Burgin David D'Antona had two goals, Steve Gardner and Frank Mortell a goal and assist each and Bill Stacy a goal.

The standings: McGinn, 8-1-2; Quincy Sun, 8-2-1; Baskin Robbins, 5-5-1; Burgin Platner, 5-6-0; Johnson Motor, 2-8-1; Doran & Horrigan, 1-7-3.

Feeney's Widens Mite - Squirt Lead

Feeney's Devils increased their Mite/Squirt House League lead to four points with a 7-2 victory over Balducci's. John Shea and Steve Carroll has two goals apiece and Kelly Moran, Sean McArdle and Jeff Freeman one each. Robert Ierardi scored both Balducci goals.

Lydon Russell upset Bo-Car Printing, 6-4, with Mark Kelleher having two goals and two assists, Dan Morrell, Jason Radzevich, Matt O'Toole and Jim Cosgrove had the other goals. Ronnie Last had a hat trick for Bo-Car and Jeff Connor the other goal.

The Paul Harold Club edged UCT, 3-2, with Tom Gleason having two goals and Steve Jewell the other. Arthur Cangemi scored both goals for UCT.

The standings: Feeney's, 7-2-1; Bo-Car, 4-3-3; Balducci's, 4-5-1; UCT, 4-5-1; Lydon Russell, 3-4-3; Harold Club, 2-5-3.

Crime to Ease Burglar's Task

One city has reversed the trend toward rising crime rates against businesses. Oakland, California has made it a crime for a businessman not to burglar-proof his establishment. The result has been a drastic reduction in burglaries.

Requirements include non-removable door hinges; force and pick resistant locks; heavy screens on rear and side windows; anti-break-in skylights and transoms; and burglar alarm systems. Penalty for non-compliance is up to six months in jail and a $500 fine.

The success of the program has gone far beyond any expectations. Burglaries are dropping at the rate of 8 percent a year against commercial businesses while everywhere else in the country, these statistics are rising steeply.

In a study of 34 businesses that did not comply with the regulations, in 169 burglaries, 148 points of entry would have been closed off if the owners did comply.

Texas Woman Named Cable TV Program Director

Ann Mundy, former program director of Austin, Tex., Community Television, has been named program director for Quincy Cablesystems Corp., the city's cable TV franchise holder.

She is currently director of the media department at Huston-Tillotson College in Austin.

Mundy's responsibilities with Quincy Cablesystems will include working with residents to stimulate the production of local programs for the community access channels.

This year a video tape that she produced won the Hometown USA Festival, sponsored by a national cable organization, and is now touring the country as an example of the best in community access programming.

A 1968 graduate of the University of Texas, Mundy is a published photographer with experience in editorial and instructional photography. She has been active on national cable programming and video executive boards.

"Her immense knowledge of community TV production and creativity will make Quincy's local channels come alive with community issues, ideas and events," said David Keefe, general manager of Quincy Cablesystems.

Young Tot And Water Babies Swim Programs At YMCA

The South Shore YMCA is now taking registration for the Young Tot Swim Program for three to six year olds and the Water Babies Program for parent and child 6 months to two years of age.

Classes start the week of Jan. 11. Register at the main desk of the South Shore YMCA or call 479-8500 for further information.

Sharon Ryan Winner In U. Mass Competition

U. Mass-Amherst has selected Sharon T. Ryan of Quincy High School as a winner in the 1981 Chancellor's Academic Talent Award Competition conducted in June.

Miss Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Ryan, will be provided with a four year waiver of tuition if she enrolls at U. Mass.-Amherst.

Candidates who receive this recognition are outstanding Massachusetts high school juniors who have demonstrated high achievements in academics, according to the university.

Limited Openings For Ice Skating Program

The Quincy Recreation Department has limited openings for its Instructional Ice Skating Program.

This instructional program is co-recreational and is open to children ages 6 through 16. Instruction is offered according to skating ability under the direction of Mrs. Anne Eagles, a United States Figure Skating Professional. Classes are based upon the U.S.F.S.A. standards and testing is at the conclusion of each nine week program.

The program is conducted at the Quincy Youth Arena with classes beginning immediately.

The classes are available at the following times: Monday 3:10-4:00 p.m., and 4:10-5:00 p.m. and on Wednesday 3:10-4:00 p.m. and 4:10-5:00 p.m.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annswell

WEEK OF: JANUARY 7

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Independent Aquarius becomes increasingly interested in joint ventures as the year gets under way. You also become more conventional in your thinking - which leads to a financial upswing.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Avoid workers who are interested in leaning on you without doing much to help themselves. The direct approach wins points at home and on the job. Don't mince words now.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

You share moments of love and laughter with an affectionate and generous friend, but there's also a practical angle to the week. Diligence on the job brings tangible rewards.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Educational dreams edge a little closer to reality if you're willing to make financial adjustment. Liveliest events happen very close to home, from Friday through Sunday.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Delays that are not your fault slow down projects and lead to rescheduling of events. Travel dream needs reshaping. Shared ventures should be discussed before funds change hands.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Career or academic gains favored, but a lot depends on the commitment you're willing - really willing - to make. Wherever you go now, a feeling of excitement seems to be in the air.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Employer is raising his expectations, which means that you'll be raising your standards. Loved one sees your point of view and becomes highly supportive on important family matter.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Events this week revolve around your interests in community affairs. Neighborhood gatherings offer opportunity to expand social circle. Relatives vie for your attention.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Strained relationship may not survive additional pressures, so tread lightly. Financial expectations are becoming more realistic. Career path takes interesting new turn.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

A sampler week in which you try out new ways for spending leisure time. Don't act prematurely in implementing moneymaking plans. Rivals at work are willing to sign a treaty.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Supervisors are interested in bouncing ideas off you and you can look forward to intangible rewards. Weekend plans undergo last minute shuffle. Competitive events are your forte.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Younger relatives add liveliness to your week. Plans for travel and moving are positively accented. Professional organizations are interested in recruiting you and/or partner.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Achievement is your byword, and this year the upward climb is steep - but direct. By nature you're practical, traditional, self-sacrificing and a joiner. Status in the community improves by June or July.

BORN THIS WEEK

Text Of Mayor McCauley's Inaugural Address

meeting with Bob Johnston, I received a call from a gentleman who identified himself as Mr. James Jeffers, chairman of the Board of Selectmen in Medway. He said, 'Mayor McCauley, I want to congratulate you on your election as mayor of Quincy.' And I said to myself, 'Wasn't that nice of him.' Here's a fellow down in Medway congratulating the mayor of Quincy. But I soon found out it was not a social call. Mr. Jeffers wanted to know how I was going to vote on the Norfolk County budget? And I said to him, 'What budget?' I said I thought George McDonald took care of those things in the county.

"But Mr. Jeffers informed me that due to recent legislation the responsibility for passing the Norfolk County budget now lies with the representatives of some 26 towns and the city of Quincy and that that budget will be acted upon on Jan. 27. Let it be said that we will take a very active role in the Norfolk County Advisory Board. I'm designating Mr. Arthur Foley, who is taking over this morning as administrative assistant in my office to act as liaison between me and that board. There are some occasions when I will have to sit on that board or vote on that board and we will be meeting on Jan. 27 of this year and I will be voting on that budget.

"Another area of involvement that the mayor of the city of Quincy has is with the MBTA advisory board. I spent an awful lot of time in train stations during the recent campaign, shaking hands with voters, to know that the citizens of Quincy have some very severe criticisms, and rightly so, of the service involving the MBTA. Quincy has some, I think it's 3.79 votes on the advisory board and let it be known this morning that the McCauley administration will participate fully in all activities of that advisory board. I am designating Mr. Paul N. Anderson, who will take over as commissioner of Public Works on Feb. 1, to be my personal representative on that board. He is under instruction to attend each and every meeting of that advisory board and to speak out on the issues concerning residents of Quincy where it involves the MBTA.

"One area that I'm pretty familiar with in my responsibilities as mayor is that I will very shortly be presiding at my first meeting as chairman and voting member of the School Committee. I believe I'm one of the first modern day mayors to have prior service on the School Committee. I served on that body from 1972 to 1977 and I will fulfill a campaign pledge in the years ahead and that pledge was that I would attend every single meeting of that committee, every regular and special meeting and budget session, especially the budget sessions.

"The School Department has had some very severe problems in recent years, both with declining enrollment and with the imposition of legislation that restricts the amount of money that can be raised; first the 4 per cent tax cap and most recently, Proposition 2½. One of the big strengths that I think I can bring to the School Department as mayor of Quincy is to be a bridge between general government and school government. I think that in the past there have been jealousies, a lack of knowledge or a lack of understanding of the issues on both sides of the street.

"The School Department in many cases and the School Committee have felt that they have borne an unnecessary share of the burdens of Proposition 2½. As your mayor and School Committee chairman I'm going to try to be very fair when I'm addressing the budget this year, a budget that will have to reflect another decrease of some $10 million in the property tax levy. And while I'm mindful of the sacrifices that have been made by the School Department, I have to remind them that we have less flexibility for cutting on the general government side. Some 40 per cent of that budget is pretty well fixed; pensions, debt service cannot be cut.

"One of the priorities of my administration, and in my capacity as chairman of the School Committee, will be the implementation of a school reorganization plan. This matter has been discussed for some one or two years by the outgoing School Committee. In November, Dr. Lawrence Crendon submitted some six plans to the School Committee for their perusal. I am scheduling a meeting tomorrow morning in my office at 10 o'clock with Dr. Crendon and the person who will be selected this morning as vice chairperson and we've got an agenda covering several school issues and the top of that agenda will be school reorganization. I'm hopeful that Dr. Crendon will be able to make a recommendation to the School Committee at its next meeting on Jan. 20 and that that recommendation will be acted upon by the School Committee no later than the second meeting in February.

"In 1981, Mayor Tobin's administration took two actions that drastically changed the operation and direction of the Quincy City Hospital. On Jan. 5, 1981, a year ago tomorrow, Mayor Tobin entered into a contract with Hospital Corp. of America to operate and direct the City Hospital. HCA is one of the largest hospital management firms in the country.

"In February, Mayor Tobin introduced to the City Council a so-called home rule petition, that would provide for the operation of the City Hospital on a so-called enterprise account. What that basically would do would be to remove the hospital from the general city government. Revenues that usually flowed into the city treasury and expenditure that would be made out of city treasury funds would be concentrated in the hospital. In other words, the hospital would have to be self-sufficient.

"Since my election I have met on two occasions with Mr. Michael Kitchen, director of the hospital, and his immediate superior, Mr. Don Strange. Mr. Kitchen informs me that all is well with the hospital enterprise account. He tells me not only will the hospital department meet its expenses out of current revenues but they will be reimbursing the city of Quincy some $2,350,000 in funds that were the result of a shortfall in revenues in fiscal 1981 under the old system of hospital structure.

"At the second meeting with Mr. Kitchen he presented me plans for the construction of a brand new City Hospital. This structure would be constructed directly behind the present building. It's a very ambitious program. It will cost some $99 million. But, as Mr. Kitchen points out, hospitals compete with other hospitals, just as private business firms compete with other business firms, and it is important that we stay competitive because we're facing some very severe competition, with Boston hospitals as well as Milton and the South Shore Hospital.

"He asked for my permission as mayor-elect and I granted him this permission, to file what is known as a certificate of determination of need. This is a rather voluminous document that will be presented to the proper state and federal authorities and they will go over it with a fine-tooth comb and they will make some kind of a determination in the latter part of this year. Mr. Kitchen informs me it takes some 10 months for this determination of need to be acted upon. In the interim we will be keeping the Quincy City Council, the public at large and especially the community that resides in the vicinity of Quincy City Hospital informed. Public hearings will be established so that all citizens can put their input into this very ambitious program.

"Assisting Hospital Corp. of America in the carrying out of its duties at the hospital is a nine-member board of managers, comprised of Quincy residents. These people serve for terms of five years and are subject to appointment by the mayor of the City of Quincy. The terms of office of three of those appointees come due today. After an awful lot of consideration I have made a selection of three individuals to serve on that board for the next five years. I will be announcing those names at a radio-press conference in my office in City Hall at 1:30 tomorrow.

"During my two tours of duty on the Quincy City Council I always had a very positive attitude toward economic development in our city. Economic development means jobs. No. 1, and tax revenue. No. 2. During my service in the Council in the 1960s I voted favorably on a number of resolutions and orders that led to the construction of State Street South. During my most recent tour of duty on the Quincy City Council, I supported a number of revenue bond petitions that would expand business, create new business, and I also supported the resolutions, the so-called Urban Development Action Grant resolutions, UDAG, whereby federal funds are combined with private capital and borrowings to create projects in the city of Quincy.

"Shortly after my election as mayor, I had to make a decision on the Crosstown Connector and consistent with statements I made at a public hearing in July of last year I ordered Planning Director James Lydon to halt all further construction on that project. It was my feeling that the Crosstown Connector was a very expensive and destructive project to have in Quincy Square and that the minuses far outweighed the pluses. At the same time, I reaffirmed my strong support of the Burgin Parkway Extension. This is a vital road that will extend the parkway from Granite St. through South Quincy to Capens Bridge.

"For the past 10 years we have had a position in the city budget known first as downtown development coordinator and most recently as economic development coordinator. This job that paid up to $18,000 at one time, has been held by Rev. Bedros Baharian for the past four years, serving in the position for the nominal fee of $1. I do not expect to fill that position in my administration. Economic development projects and coordination will be the responsibility of Mr. Arthur Foley in the mayor's office. Arthur along with Planning Director James Lydon will be working very closely with developers who wish to relocate into our city and in areas of downtown. Arthur has been directed to work very closely with the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association as well as the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

"By way of conclusion today let me tell you a couple of stories that happened a year apart.

"The first occurrence happened in November, 1980, shortly after the national elections. I was entering my office at the Presidential Cooperative Bank and Walter Hannon happened to be going by and I invited him in and we started to talk a bit. When you get two politicians in Quincy together the conversation inevitably swings to city politics and Walter said to me, 'The big question, Frank, is whether or not you're going to run for mayor in 1981.' Then Walter proceeded to tick off some eight or nine very good reasons why no sane person would want to be mayor of Quincy in 1982 and 1983. He stopped for a minute and then he looked at me and he said, 'But, Frank, somebody has to be the mayor.'

"The second occurrence happened on election day, Nov. 3, 1981. I spent most of that day at the Morrisette Legion Post in West Quincy soliciting votes. It was a rather cold day and, from time to time, I would go into the Legion Post and have a cup of coffee and try to warm myself up. On one such occasion, as I stood watching people coming in to vote, an elderly gentleman spotted me and he came over to me and he said to me, 'Mr. McCauley, I just voted for you for mayor and I believe you're going to be elected today and just remember we're all expecting great things of you as mayor in the years ahead. Somebody has to be the mayor. We're all expecting great things of you as mayor.'

"I think it's going to be incumbent on Francis X. McCauley, because I'm going to be the mayor in 1982 and 1983; it will be incumbent not only on me as mayor but also on the members of the City Council and the School Committee maybe to do those great things so we can meet the problems and the challenges in the years that lie ahead.

"I'm basically an optimist, otherwise I wouldn't be here this morning. But I feel that all of us working together, that we can make Quincy a better place to work and to live as we proceed through the 1980s. Thank you very much."

LEGAL NOTICE

The Metropolitan District Commission is presently conducting a Step 1 Facilities Planning project for the Nut Island Wastewater Treatment Plant. To resolve issues related to future treatment requirements for the entire MDC service area and existing site conditions at both Deer Island and Nut Island, this project will be two-phased. Currently in progress, Phase I is a site options study to determine the most cost-effective and environmentally sound location(s) for providing future treatment needs. Phase II will begin after regional siting decisions have been made and will finalize facilities planning at Nut Island based on its future use in the adopted treatment scheme. The final public meeting will be held on February 17, 1982 at 8:00 p.m. in the Winthrop Junior High School Auditorium, Pauline Street, Winthrop and February 18, 1982 at 8:00 p.m. in the Atlantic Junior High School Auditorium, North Quincy. A formal Public Hearing will be held in April to present the recommended plan. The objectives of this meeting are to present revised costs and impact evaluations for siting alternatives at Deer Island, Nut Island and Long Island. Anyone interested in obtaining further information should contact Ms. Jean Haggerty (727-5259), Director of Project Planning and Management at the MDC. 1/7/82

3 Named To Hospital Board

helping us to improve the hospital," he said, "that he plans to work with HCA in every way he can."

McCauley said he discussed the appointments with HCA, but, he added, "as the appointing authority, I could not let any group dictate my appointments. Mr. Kitchen did not try to do that. He believes in a strong board."

The new appointments, he added, "are up there to help the Hospital, not as my agents."

MacIntosh, son of former Quincy mayor David McIntosh, has served on the Hospital Board since 1977. He was chairman from 1977 to 1979.

A graduate of Harvard, he was purchasing manager at Armstrong World Industries, Braintree, until his retirement. He is chairman of the board of directors of the South Shore Cooperative Bank, Weymouth.

Mrs. Wahlberg, the mother of eight children, has been executive director of Quincy Community Action Organization, Inc., since 1973.

She is a member of the Quincy League of Women Voters, the Health Planning Council of Greater Boston and a former member and chairman of the Quincy Housing Authority.

Kane is the retired president of the Shawmut Melrose-Wakefield Bank and Trust Co. and was a trustee of the Melrose-Wakefield Hospital for several years. He lives in North Quincy.

He was McCauley's appointment to the City Council's Blue Ribbon Committee that studied City Hospital two years ago.

'No Matter Who They A First Time Drunk Drivers Face Jail Starting Friday

"I think," said Judge Albert L. Kramer, "we have an obligation to protect this community from the enormous amount of damage, injury, carnage and needless deaths that occur."

"Drunk drivers are going to have to be prepared to spend two days in jail, no matter who they are."

"We are going to start tapping into a lot of people who drink and drive, your neighbor, your friend, the guy down the street who think they can have six drinks and try to make it home."

With that, Judge Kramer announced a stiff new policy of dealing with drunken drivers who are brought into his Quincy District Courtroom for the first time.

Warning signs are scheduled to go up tomorrow (Friday) in the seven communities, including Quincy, that are covered by the court warning. "Drunk Drivers Will Go to Jail in this Community."

Kramer met with officials from the Cities and Towns in his district Monday night and they committed their licensing boards to have the signs placed in all bars in their communities.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley of Quincy said he plans to have the signs placed at the major entrances to his city.

The new guidelines of judges in Quincy District Court will go into effect tomorrow and Kramer said the first cases will be arraigned Monday and the first conferences will be held a week later.

The guidelines for sentencing are simple and strict:

First offense -- 30 days in the House of Correction, with a minimum of three and a maximum of nine days committed to be served on weekends when appropriate.

The remaining sentence to be suspended upon the defendant completing an alcohol education or other rehabilitation program as prescribed by probation.

Payment of a $200 fee for the rehab program, with individuals who cannot afford the fee assigned to community service work at a detox center or an alcohol program.

Loss of the right to operate a vehicle for 30 days.

Second offense -- 90 days in the House of Correction, with a minimum of nine and a maximum of 30 days to be served on weekends where appropriate.

The balance of the sentence to be suspended upon

Tobin Support For Clerk's Post Impressive

Former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin's nomination for clerk-magistrate of Quincy District Court was scheduled to come before the Governor's Council yesterday (Wednesday) with impressive support behind him for the post.

Should the Governor's Council fail to act on the appointment yesterday, it would be held over for a week.

Among those expected to testify before the Council in Tobin's behalf were Atty. Gen. Francis Bellotti and Judge Samuel Zoll, chief justice of the Massachusetts District Courts.

Judge Albert L. Kramer, presiding justice of Quincy District Court and Judge Lewis Whitman, special justice, are among 12 judges who have submitted letters in support of Tobin.

Others expected to testify Wednesday were Atty. Joseph Welch, immediate past president Norfolk County Bar Association; Atty. Edward Masterson, president of the Quincy Bar Association board of governors; Weymouth Town Counsel Francis Kelly, Quincy City Solicitor Robert Fleming, Carl R. Johnson, Braintree selectman and former assistant clerk at Quincy District Court; Rep. Thomas Brownell of Quincy; Rep. Joseph Manning of Milton, Quincy City Clerk John Gillis, Atty. Louis Cassis; Holbrook Selectman Frank McGaughey, Rev. William McCarthy, pastor St. John's Church and member of the Quincy Housing Authority.

Among other letters was one from James McIntyre, former mayor and senator, now state Senate counsel.

Jens E. Thornton of Orchard St., Squantum indicated he would appear at the hearing in opposition to the appointment.

Revaluation Blamed New Delay Seen In Tax Rate

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday the city may not have a tax rate for fiscal 1982 in time to meet the traditional May 1 deadline for payment of property taxes.

The culprit: Revaluation, once again.

The result: Possibly more short term borrowing to meet day-to-day expenses.

"We have the new valuations in the assessors' office," said McCauley. "Now we have to go to the state for approval. Then the notices go out and property owners have 60 days in which to appeal."

The two jokers in the deck are that no one knows how long the state will take to approve the new valuations and the possibility of so many appeals that they will go beyond the expected 60-day period.

"We have no idea how long it will take the state to get to Quincy," said the mayor. "I expect there is a long list of towns that are up for approval of valuations."

"Also, we have never revalued before and there could be a tendency for a lot of people to be shocked by the new values. It's possible there will be more appeals than expected."

Normally, property taxes are paid in two installments, the first due Nov. 1 or one month after bills go out, and the second May 1, or again a month after the second bills go out.

Due to hangups in revaluation that delayed the tax rate, the bills sent out in the fall of 1981 were estimates based on last year's bill, with the difference to be made up in the spring of 1982.

"It is going to be hard to meet the May 1 deadline," said McCauley, "if state approval is delayed or we have to go beyond the 60-day appeal period."

"It's going to be extremely difficult to meet the deadline in the 2½ months with all that we have to do."

McCauley was referring to an April 1 deadline for the mailing of tax bills so that they will be paid by May 1.

If there is no tax rate by then and there is no money coming into the city's till, then Treasurer Robert E. Foy III will have to go on the short term loan market at high rates of interest.

City Census To Start Saturday

Quincy election workers will start taking the annual city census of residents 17 years of age and over Saturday, Jan. 16 and will continue for about two weeks.

Thomas Burke, chief of the Election Office, said each worker will carry identification in the form of a badge with his or her name and the city seal prominently displayed.

Burke said the annual census of children attending school will be taken at the same time.

McCauley Spent $52,021 To Win Mayor's Office

Francis X. McCauley spent a total of $52,021.74 to be elected mayor of Quincy last November, according to a final financial report filed with the Election office at City Hall.

His opponent, Daniel G. Raymond, had not filed his final report as of Tuesday, four days after the Jan. 8 deadline established by the state.

However, his last report filed eight days before the election indicated that Raymond had spent $56,379.81 at that time.

McCauley's final report showed that his campaign took in $48,303.80 in contributions.

Quincy Quake Quivers Quiet

While some South Shore areas reported pronounced tremors the two earthquakes felt in Quincy last Saturday and Monday were relatively mild and quiet.

Quincy Police said only one telephone call was received at the station following the quakes. One man called to say that he was concerned because his television set appeared to move in place late Monday afternoon. No calls were reported by police on Saturday.

Fred Reynolds of Mechanic St., Quincy, however, said he very definitely saw a huge Christmas wreath, that adorns the altar at St. John's Church, swing and sway about 7:54 a.m. Saturday morning as he was waiting for the eight o'clock Mass to begin.

Strong vibrations were also felt at St. John's Rectory just about the same time.

The magnitude of the after-shock of the Saturday earthquake registered 5.9 on the Richter Scale. The Monday tremor which was felt around 4:54 p.m. registered 5.4.

There were no reports of damages of injuries locally although residents did detect windows rattling in their homes.

The Saturday earthquake was reported by seismologists to be one of the most powerful earthquakes felt in the northeast coastal region in this century and may have equaled the magnitude of the tremor of 1775, the largest ever felt in these areas.

The epicenter of both quakes was located in New Brunswick, Canada, according to information compiled by the National Earthquake Information Center.

Families, Friends Pray For Quincy Girl's Fiance, Victim In Brutal Beating

By JOHN NOONAN

Joseph J. O'Brien, 21, of Boston, the fiance of Elizabeth Saluti, 23, of 33 Lurton St., Quincy, remained in critical condition yesterday in the intensive care unit at Boston City Hospital following his brutal attack by three assailants in Boston, hours before he was to be married at St. John's Church, Quincy.

Mrs. Alfred Saluti, Miss Saluti's mother, said "both our families are hoping and praying that Joseph will respond to the treatment being given by the doctors at the hospital. We are optimistic and praying for his recovery."

O'Brien was driving his bride-to-be's car on his way to visit his sister's home in Hyde Park last Saturday morning when he was severely injured in the head by a rock thrown through the car windshield.

He was then set upon by three thugs who stole his wallet containing $400, a jacket and some other belongings which he had planned to take with him on his honeymoon.

O'Brien and Miss Saluti were scheduled to be married last Saturday by Rev. Joseph Byrne in St. John's Church. A wedding reception for the young couple was planned later at the Quincy Neighborhood Club. Both events were postponed as members of both families kept a vigil at O'Brien's bedside hoping for his return to consciousness and eventual recovery from what was a senseless assault and robbery.

O'Brien is employed as a machinist at the West End Iron Works in Cambridge. He underwent an operation lasting several hours to relieve brain pressure due to internal bleeding caused by the impact of the rock.

Office Park Project Proposed In West Quincy

The Boston real estate firm of Meredith and Grew has acquired 200 acres of land in West Quincy from the Old Colony Crushed Stone Co. as a possible office park development, including a hotel.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley and Planning Director James Lydon announced the purchase at a news conference Friday.

Negotiations began during Mayor Arthur Tobin's administration.

Lydon said if the company decides to go ahead with the plan, development will start in 18 to 24 months with the Old Colony quarry to continue in operation until that time.

The city would be opposed to any retail development on the site in competition with the downtown area, Lydon said.

At the same time, McCauley announced that Macomber Development Associates of Boston will join Dickinson Development in building a $15 million, eight story office building in North Quincy.

The building would be constructed over the MBTA parking lot at the North Quincy station. It would perch on columns 18 feet above ground to preserve the parking space.

A $1 million urban development action grant (UDAG) has been granted by the federal government to build a parking garage adjacent to the site.

Byron Gilchrist of Macomber Associates said no problems were expected in filling the building, which would rent at $19 a square foot, $4 to $10 cheaper than Boston.

BUILDING ON STILTS planned by Macomber Development Associates and Dickinson Development over the MBTA parking lot in North Quincy is shown in this artist's sketch. New plans for enlarged building call for eight stories instead of the six shown in drawing.

Reikard Offered Rent Grievance Job Back

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday that he has offered Jane Reikard her old job back as executive secretary of the Rent Grievance Board but she has not yet decided to take it.

Mrs. Reikard was laid off last summer for former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin despite the fact that there was $5,795 in the fiscal 1982 budget to cover her salary.

"We met last week," McCauley said, "and I offered her, her old position. She said she wanted time to think about it. She has not called back."

During the campaign for mayor, McCauley all but promised to return Mrs. Reikard to her job, which he said "an important job for the amount of money we spend on it."

The mayor said the Rent Grievance Board has asked for $8,745 in its budget requests for fiscal 1983 to pay an executive secretary but he hasn't reviewed the request yet.

"We will fund her in the '83 budget," he said.

QCAO Gets Additional $225,280 For Fuel Aid

Hospital Thanks Groups For Making Holidays Brighter

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Bearing in mind that being confined to a hospital bed during the holiday season is a most difficult time, the staff and patients at Quincy City Hospital would like to publicly thank the following groups:

The Salvation Army, Mary Dumas of North Weymouth, Santa's News, Anonymous Donors, Bryant V.F.W. Post and Women's Auxiliary, Quincy Police Association, Merrymount Group O.E.S. and the Quincy Chapter #88 O.E.S., and Quincy Central Junior Student Senate for presenting gifts to the patients.

The Union Congregational Church of Wollaston, Quincy Central Junior School, and the Student Union of North Quincy High and Quincy High Vocational Technical School serenaded the patients with Christmas Carols.

For covering some of these events with heartwarming stories and pictures, our special thanks to all of you.

Sincerely,
William F. Henderson, III
Director of Community Relations and Marketing

Hoping For A Big QHS Class of 1942 Reunion

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

How about planning for a really "Big" 1942 Quincy High School Reunion this year?

This will be the first reunion that my husband, Al, will be able to go up to one with me.

I understand the "1941" reunion was a really big one - let's see if "we" can outdo them.

When I was up your way for the last reunion, 1977, there was some talk about having a week-end reunion at the Cape.

Some other schools had done that and it was a success. Seems like a good idea.

Seems one night you can't get all your "howdy's and hi's" to all you'd like too. Happy New Year to all!

Quincy Quiz

Two winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Marian Joyce of 89 Hamilton Ave., Montclair, and Brian Conlon, of 77 Brimfield St., Wollaston, win T-shirts.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week and no person is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of Mayor McCauley's executive secretary?
2. True or false: Rep. Thomas F. Brownell is the dean of Quincy's legislative delegation in point of service.
3. In what section of the city is Essex St.?
4. The Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers has: 5 members? 7 members? 9 members?
5. What Quincy landmark is located at 797 Quincy Shore Drive?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Dennis F. Ryan was clerk-magistrate of Quincy District Court until he died last year.
2. Tuscany St. is in the Quincy Point section of the city.
3. John P. Concannon is the clerk of courts for Norfolk County.
4. True. The proposed Quincy Adams MBTA station is located in South Quincy.
5. The section of Quincy Shore Drive between Black's Creek and Sea St. used to be known as Pilgrim Blvd.

A person uses up about 36 calories an hour driving a car.

The Next Mayor . . .

Most people go to mayoral inaugurations to see the new mayor take his oath and listen to what he has to say.

Others go for the same reason but while there, find their minds wandering — and wondering — even as the new mayor speaks.

Like last week, with Francis McCauley just minutes into his administration, there were those listening to him and wondering: "Who'll succeed him?"

That's politics. Brand new mayor. Who'll be the next one?

The best place to look for the next mayor, of course, was on the rostrum at the Vo-Tech School gym.

Was the next His Honor or the first Her Honor somewhere on that crowded rostrum? Who among them might make a run for it two years from now or four?

Let's see now. There were:

John J. Lydon, Jr., the new City Council president, who would have to be rated a strong possibility for a future mayoral bid.

Mary Collins, the new School Committee vice-chairman, Ward 6 Councillor Joanne Condon and new Councillor at-large Patricia Toland are all possible future mayoral contenders.

SHEETS

Certainly Ward 4's James Sheets will make a move one of these years soon. Former Mayor Joseph LaRaia wants to complete his political comeback by returning to the mayor's office.

Ward 5's Steve McGrath must entertain thoughts of a future mayoral bid.

Ward 1's Leo Kelly doesn't appear to be very interested. New Ward 2 Councillor Ted DeCristofaro has no mayoral ambitions. Councillor Richard Koch, Jr. is young enough (26) to have years to think about it.

Let's see now, who else was on the rostrum that day?

Former Mayors Thomas Burgin, James McIntyre, Walter Hannon and Arthur Tobin were there. Scratch Burgin and McIntyre. They won't run again. Neither, probably will Hannon. Tobin? Not if he gets the Quincy District Court clerk-magistrate post as expected.

Senator Paul Harold can't unless he gives up his senate seat. He made that promise when he ran for the senate. Rep. Thomas Brownell and Michael Morrissey are possible candidates — some day.

QUINN

Two other possibilities who may have been overlooked: former Councillor John Quinn and City Clerk John Gillis.

And how about those sitting in the audience. Well there were . . .

THAT PHOTO OF the six mayors on Page 1 of last week's Quincy Sun is an historic one. Taken by The Sun's Mary O'Keeffe, it is believed to be the first time in the city's history that a current mayor and five former mayors have ever been photographed together. Shown in the photo are Mayor Francis McCauley and former Mayors Thomas Burgin, James McIntyre, Walter Hannon, Arthur Tobin and Joseph LaRaia.

SPEAKING OF MAYORS, Tom Burgin dropped into City Hall to see Arthur Tobin shortly after the dedication of the Capt. William McIntyre mall.

"You know," Tobin said, "I got a real dressing down a few days ago from a lady who was very much upset that I introduced you as a senior citizen. She thought that was entirely un-called for."

Tobin said he told her he had introduced Burgin as "Quincy's elder statesman" — a term of deep respect and friendship. But explained that Burgin, in acknowledging the introduction responded with modesty: "Thank you, Mayor, for referring to me as a senior citizen."

The lady then told Tobin she was sorry she had misinterpreted his remarks. "You know," she added, "although he is in his 80th year we still think of him as our young mayor."

Burgin who calls himself "The Old Grey Mayor", laughed and said: "After all, you're only as old as you feel."

SMILE DEPT: Helen Duff, administrative assistant in the Public Works Department, recalls a recent snowstorm when a woman called to complain that one of the city's plows had ripped up her lawn.

"Well," said the man at the garage, "we do have some bombardiers out."

"I didn't call to talk about World War II," snapped the woman and hung up.

Bombardiers, the man never got a chance to explain, are the small plows that are used to clear the sidewalks.

Prayer By Clergy To Open Council Meetings

Meetings of the 1982-83 City Council will be opened with a prayer by a Quincy Clergyman, starting Monday, Jan. 18, with Msgr. James Scally, pastor of St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.

In the recent past, prayers to open the bimonthly meetings were read by either the Council president or City Clerk John Gillis.

"We are going to try to involve as many clergymen as we can, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish," said John J. Lydon Jr., the new Council president.

Msgr. Scally is pastor of the church Lydon attends. Other councillors will choose the clergymen for future meetings, Lydon said.

City Councillor at-Large

Concerned Over Public Safety Toland Sees New Spirit Of Mayor-Council Cooperation

By TOM HENSHAW

Newly elected City Councillor Patricia M. Toland, only the third woman ever elected to the Council in Quincy, sees a new spirit of cooperation coming between the Mayor and the Council.

"I'm not as conservative as Frank McCauley," she told The Quincy Sun in an interview, "however, I do think that the city is in the situation where it has to be run in a very responsible manner."

Under the strictures of 2½ there has to be some changes. We're all going to have to address ourselves to supporting the mayor in whatever way he has to to balance the budget."

Mrs. Toland said she feels that the factionalism which has plagued the city politics for the past decade is going away.

"I think Mayor McCauley is less divisive," she said. "He's the head of that other side, so to speak. But he is a much less controversial character than Joe LaRaia was."

"I worked with Frank on the School Committee for a couple of years. I know Frank fairly well. I think there is a common purpose which the Council had better address themselves to."

Mrs. Toland also made these points in the interview:

• She doesn't think she was elected to the Council as a woman. "I don't think there's a woman's vote per se in this city. I think people are looking for responsible public officials, whether man or woman."

• She is concerned about public safety. "I don't think we can go below a certain minimum level of safety. Whether we're at that level now I don't know."

One of the first ordinances she may file is one restricting the size of political signs. "I'm as guilty as anyone else for putting them up. I've hidden whole houses with my signs."

Here is the text, edited for reasons of space and easier reading, of the Sun interview with Mrs. Toland:

SUN - After all these years on the School Committee, why did you decide to run for the Council?

TOLAND - For a couple of reasons. After you've been in one aspect of government for a while, you become interested in the entire picture. By inclination and profession, I am interested in education but having dealt with so many severe financial problems over the last few years, I became very interested in the financial picture of the city as a whole and in ways the city could live with 2½. It's a process of growing, too, as a person. Your horizons widen and you're eager to learn more about the process of government. The other reason is, of course, the School Committee lost fiscal autonomy and I did feel that the School Department should be dealt with even handedly along with all other departments. There should not be any department that takes a very severe cut so that other departments can continue on as always.

SUN - What do you feel you accomplished in your six years on the School Committee?

TOLAND - The most important topics on people's minds are the cost of education and the quality of it. I think I addressed those two problems while I was on the School Committee. As vice chairman, I introduced a process called "goal-setting" for the School Committee. The idea is that we all talked and found a commonality of ideas worth advancing as far as the educational system went and we all set forth some ideas for goals. One of the first goals I set, with the consensus of the committee, was a zero growth budget on the expense line. That was before the 4 per cent tax cap. That was in answer to the public's cry to cut expenses of the School Department. On top of that came the 4 per cent tax cap. It didn't hurt us but there were other problems with that. Secondly, the quality of education, I think, begins with the teachers. They are in the trenches. Good teachers are the backbone of the school system. I think that you have to monitor them. Therefore, my other goal was to implement an evaluation of tenured teachers so that there was an ongoing monitoring of the quality of education delivered. It really was a major deficiency in the system. It's being implemented now and I think that that is very important because it speaks to the quality of the teachers.

SUN - What do you feel you

Parking Hinted On Library Lawn

Colleagues on the City Council looked askance at a proposal by Councillor David J. Crowley to construct a parking area for 150 cars on the lawn of the Thomas Crane Public Library.

Councillor Carl W. Anderson, who usually voted with Crowley in what had become known as the Anderson-Crowley Axis, announced his strong opposition to destroying one of the few "beauty spots" in the City.

"To profane this beautiful building by turning its spacious lawn into a parking lot would be a serious error," said Councillor Edna B. Austin.

Crowley noted that the "cold-blooded" Council did not hesitate to destroy "the birthplaces and hearthstones of Quincy citizens" for parking and "human beings deserve more consideration than a lawn."

The Council voted to send Crowley's proposal to City Solicitor Arthur I. Burgess, who gave a preliminary opinion that the city could take the lawn but library trustees also could sue for damages.

CAR IN QUARRY

Quincy police could find no evidence of foul play in a 1950 sedan with a bullet hole in the roof which was found in New Fallon's Quarry, West Quincy, less than an hour after it was reported stolen in South Boston.

Capt. William Ferrazzi said investigation disclosed that the radio and clock were missing from the car indicating that robbery was the motive for its theft and abandonment in the water-filled quarry.

It was discovered at 1:30 a.m. by Patrolmen Gordon Parry and John Malvesti, who also found two empty but still warm shells from a German luger pistol a short distance away on Quarry St.

MANY SIGNATURES

City Manager William J. Deegan Jr., Alexander Smith, director of finance, and Treasurer Mildred L. Tyler were faced with the prospect of having to sign their names 1,950 times on a new bond issue.

The bond issue, which was called the largest single issue by the city in more than a half century, was to raise $1,950,000 to cover the first phase of a $5 million school construction program.

Each bond had to be picked up, unfolded, signed by each of the three city officials, blotted and placed in a stack.

FUND QUESTIONED

Dartmouth College petitioned Norfolk County Probate Court to determine the present status of income accumulated under the will of Ebenezer Woodward, founder of the Woodward School for Girls.

Under the will, if the Woodward School ceased to operate as a school, the trust fund of several hundred thousand dollars would go to Dartmouth.

Struggle With '83 Budget Begins Monday

The long and agonizing process of hammering out a city budget for fiscal 1983 under the restrictions of Proposition 2½ begins next week in Quincy.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has summoned department heads to meet with him and acting Auditor William Grindlay next Monday, Wednesday and Friday to back up their budget requests.

Notably absent from the meetings will be the Fire, Police and Public Works Departments, whose budgets make up the vast majority of the government (non-school) side of the budget.

The schedule for the meetings, which will start at 8 a.m. Monday and Friday and at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday, includes:

Monday - Wire Inspector, Plumbing Inspector, Sealer of Weights and Measures, Building Inspector, Assessors and the Rent Grievance Board.

Wednesday - Planning Department, Health Department, Veterans Services, Treasurer and Tax Collector.

Friday - Mayor's office, City Clerk (including City Council, Election Department and License Board), Auditor, Personnel, Law Department.

McCauley said that, in view of the fact that the budget must be cut by about $10 million from last year to meet the requirements of Proposition 2½, he has asked each department to cut 15 per cent.

"This is just to get a starting point for the '83 budget," said McCauley. "Obviously, we know that some departments are not structured to sustain such a cut. But others can make it with something to spare."

Due to the uncertainty of the amount of state aid, he said, "the key word is flexibility. We will reduce items but we are not sure what the offsets will be."

Just about the only offset remaining to the city is state aid, now that City Hospital and its receipts have been removed from the budget and put into an enterprise account.

"Taking the hospital out of the budget is going to be a big help," said McCauley. "It has always created problems in the past. Traditionally, hospital receipts were overestimated and that caused trouble at the end of the year."

"Now with the hospital on its own it has a balanced budget and it is even going to reimburse us $2.3 million from last year."

Dental Corner by

Lee A. Welky D.M.D.

YOUR DENTIST AND YOUR MEDICAL HISTORY
When you visit a dentist for the first time, he or she will ask about your medical history. For your protection, it is important that you answer all questions about your health as honestly and completely as you can. Even things that seem trivial and unrelated can have a relation to dental treatment.

Your general health can affect your teeth. For instance, diabetics tend to have very severe gum problems. Your dentist may need to consult with your physician regarding treatment.

On the other hand, dental treatment can affect your general health. Certain people with valvular heart disease need to take medication before dental treatment, to prevent severe re-infection of their hearts.

The dentist who is concerned about your total well-being will take a complete health history, and work closely with your physician if necessary, to see that you receive the best possible care.

Toland Sees New Spirit Of Cooperation

bring to the Council.

TOLAND - First of all, I have six years experience in handling a multi-million dollar budget. I have some experience in dealing with personnel. And I think I do get along well with people. I think that I have enough perception so that I can see fairly clearly what kind of goals we ought to set for ourselves. I think that I will be a positive addition to the Council.

SUN - Do you feel you were elected as a woman?

TOLAND - No.

SUN - How great a role do you figure the women's vote played in your election?

TOLAND - I don't think there's a woman's vote per se in this city. I think people are looking for responsible public officials, whether man or woman. It doesn't matter so much any more whether you're a man or a woman. If people perceive you as someone who really is capable and competent, they'll vote for you. There are some people who will vote for a woman. There are loads of men who say they'll vote for a woman before a man but, in general, I got the people's I'm serving all the people.

SUN - Would you like to be mayor some day?

TOLAND - I can't imagine right now my being mayor, but I couldn't imagine myself two years ago running for the City Council either. So I would never say never. On the other hand I think it's much too early for speculation on who the first woman mayor will be. I don't think it's a good idea to contrive situations. It will evolve naturally over the course of years. I think it's too early to talk about such a thing.

SUN - The city has for the past

10 or more years been divided into two factions. Are you a member of either one?

TOLAND - No. I'm a friend of both, I hope.

SUN - Do you see factionalism a problem on the new Council?

TOLAND - No, I think it's going away. I think Mayor McCauley is less divisive. He's the head of that other side, so to speak. But he is a much less controversial person than Joe LaRaia was. I worked with Frank on the School Committee for a couple of years. I know Frank fairly well. I have no feeling about there being sides now. I think there is a common purpose which the Council had better address themselves to.

SUN - You've heard McCauley expound his philosophy at times. How much do you agree with him? Do you think you'll get along with him on the Council?

TOLAND - His philosophy as far as financial solvency of the city I agree with wholeheartedly and he will have my wholehearted support moving in that direction. I'm not as conservative as Frank McCauley, however, I do think that the city now is in the situation where it has to be run in a very responsible manner. Under the strictures of 2 1/2 there has to be some changes. There's no getting away from that. We're all going to have to address ourselves to supporting the mayor in whatever way he has to to balance the budget.

SUN - The city is more or less run by 2 1/2 now. Do you think it's a good or a bad law?

TOLAND - That's really a hard question to answer. It's a law that has some negatives to it that we have to eventually be straightened out. I speak specifically to the 2 1/2 per cent growth limit once we reach the 2 1/2 per cent assessment of the city. I think that's a real problem. But I have to say that as bad as it may be and as difficult as it is on people, the elected officials had to be jolted into reality and this was the way for people to do it. The burden of taxation was so great that this was the message sent to the legislature. But if you want to look on the silver lining it does give us a chance to sort of streamline our government and our financial procedures. It's sort of a new leaf. It's a way to get ourselves back to a stable financial situation.

SUN - Some communities have made an attempt to get an exemption from 2 1/2. Would you like to see Quincy exempt?

TOLAND - Given the fact that it was over 60-40 ratio of voting for 2 1/2, I would not be able to give you an answer on that now. I think that's up to the people. The people in this city wanted 2 1/2. That decision has to be respected. However, I do think that it would be wise to go back to air that topic and get people's feedback. We have to let the dust settle for a while and see just where we are before we decide whether to try to exempt ourselves. I don't think the people of Quincy want that yet. They want to see it as it was proposed.

SUN - One of the big issues rising out of 2 1/2 is public safety. There's going to be another 15 per cent cut coming up. What can be done about public safety in the face of that?

TOLAND - It seems to me that we should look first of all at comparison charts of other cities our size nationwide and see how we measure up. And then, of course, we have to take into consideration what our city looks like geographically. I don't think that we can afford to go below a certain minimum level of safety. I am not prepared yet to say that we should cut anything in the Police or Fire Department because I don't really know actually in what state we're in.

SUN - Police, fire and school budgets are where the money is.

TOLAND - I know it.

SUN - If you're going to cut money, that's all that's left.

TOLAND - I don't know yet. We have got to be concerned with public safety. You can't go below a certain level that would be dangerous. Whether we're at that level now I don't know.

SUN - If there's no money how can you avoid going below it?

TOLAND - Then I suppose

we'll have to find other places to cut. I think there's going to have to be some studying done on how they can consolidate their departments and keep it functioning at a proper level for safety. I don't know. I really don't know on that one.

SUN - One issue that is going to come before the Council very quickly is a sewer use charge. What are your thoughts on that? What type of charge do you favor?

TOLAND - From my understanding, there could have been a combination ad valorem - sewer use charge. That sounds to me as if it would be satisfactory to the city. My understanding is that the sewer use charge would charge people who don't pay now and the ad valorem would just break it out on the tax rate.

SUN - How do you feel about the future of parking meters in Quincy?

TOLAND - I don't know a lot about parking meters but to me if they're going to be a thorn in the side of shoppers we ought to get rid of them. Maybe there are statistics somewhere that prove me wrong but I think they are a nuisance to most people. So I would say if they got rid of them I wouldn't mind.

SUN - What would you like to see to control parking?

TOLAND - How about stickers like they give to people at beaches? You could give them to Quincy residents who are going to be shoppers and just going to park for an hour or two. If someone didn't have one then they could be tagged. There must be a way to control it.

SUN - The past four years have been a period of very aggressive development in Quincy. Would you like to see it continue?

TOLAND - I am in favor of redevelopment. I haven't done the research to understand how redevelopment is going to be affected by this 2 1/2 growth limit. If that means more plumbing in the city, I don't know how we're going to resolve that because if there are more buildings with more people in them certainly there would have to be more plumbing and I suppose there would be more traffic and policemen, those kinds of things. I'd like that to be discussed a lot so we can understand how far we can go before we won't have money. I am in favor of redevelopment but not a lot of high rise buildings. I believe in long range planning. What do we want Quincy to look like 10 years from now? Let's plan now. We want a tasteful, wholesome environment in this city and we ought to plan for that. We're not Boston. We want some nice shops that make an attractive main street because that's the face that we present to the world. We ought to keep the character of this historic city.

SUN - The East-West Connector seems to be dead now. How did you view that?

TOLAND - There was a problem with the East-West Connector in that there was not enough understanding about it, even with the merchants downtown. But I do think that there is going to be a traffic problem and there is going to have to be something done within a few years to handle the traffic. What it's going to be, I don't know, but I do think that is a problem because, where the Burgin Parkway Extension is coming through, there is a traffic problem at any busy hour today. I think there is going to have to be some kind of a road to dilute the traffic from that point. I probably would have been in favor of the East-West Connector but I do think there were problems with it. When there are changes at the last minute people get nervous and they think it's not really well planned. I think that was part of the problem.

SUN - What's the first ordinance or resolve you're going to file? Do you have any in mind?

TOLAND - Yes, I do have one. Cut the size of political signs. Political signs are a costly pain in the neck.

SUN - Then it's for economic rather than aesthetic reasons?

TOLAND - For both. I'm as guilty as anyone else for putting them up. But I found the whole thing to be rather unsettling. People coming into the city who did not live in Quincy could not believe all the signs that were all over the place. And the size of them. As I say, I am as guilty as anyone. It may not be my first one but I will give some consideration to modifying our political sign ordinance. You're stepping on people's civil rights when you say they can't put them in the neighborhood. But I think the size of them in the neighborhood ought to be limited. I've hidden houses with my signs. People couldn't see out of their windows from September until November.

Economic Experts Cautiously Pessimistic

Three economic authorities — a banker, a developer and a high tech man — were cautiously pessimistic in their economic forecasts for 1982 at a South Shore Chamber of Commerce breakfast last week.

"The recession is going to spread and we're looking for more unemployment," said Peter J. Blampied of Hingham, executive vice president of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank.

"We're not looking for any major recovery in the home building business," said Thomas J. Flatley of Milton, president of the Flatley Co. of Braintree.

"High technology in Massachusetts will continue to prosper in the short term but in the long term I'm concerned," said John Cullinane of Westwood, president of Cullinane Data Based Systems, Inc.

"Instead of planning for 750 people between now and April 30 we are planning on 650."

And, to cap off a pessimistic week for the Chamber, Cong. Brian Donnelly told its Public Affairs Committee that the jury is still out on President Reagan's economic recovery plan.

"We should see some results by mid-1983," he said. "If it works, we'll see it continue. If it doesn't work, then we're in for some hard times."

Even if there are eventual benefits from the Reagan program, said Donnelly, "we are in for a very rough first year."

Blampied warned those who attended the breakfast at the Lantana in Randolph not to make any longterm plans based on what they heard at the breakfast.

"The experts don't know what it's going to do over the course of a year," he said. "They'll only gamble for six months and those estimates are all over the lot. There is no longterm forecast."

"Right now more than half our industry is decreasing its output. Demand in the market place is falling faster than production so we can look for more unemployment."

"Some administration folks are beginning to drop words like 'vigorous recovery.' We don't see vigorous recovery in the picture yet. Recovery when it does come is going to get off to a slow start."

"In Massachusetts, we're poised for a much quicker start and a much quicker recovery because of the diversity of our base. That's the good news."

Flatley forecast that "home building will continue to be low." "But," he added, "you must remember how good it has been in the past. We are fortunate to have an enormous amount of housing. It was done with cheap money. That day is gone."

"Four years ago you went in and got a mortgage for 8 or 9 per cent. Today it's 16 or 17 per cent. About 90 per cent are removed from the home-buying field, either by choice or by economic decline in their disposable income."

"We have taken a specific employee in the last five years and taken a breakdown and found that 15 to 20 per cent of his disposable income had vanished."

Cullinane said Massachusetts is better off than most states because of the high tech industry, even though its phenomenal growth rate may not continue at such a pace.

He said the high tech industry has contributed four-fifths of the 90,000 new jobs the state has gained between 1975 and 1980.

"In the future," he said, "you're going to see a lot more defense-oriented spending. The high tech industry is going to benefit from that."

"The thing I don't like about that is the industry is going very well with a heavy commercial orientation, which gives it stability. When you get dependent on defense business, any cutback will swing away from that."

Cullinane said that balancing the federal budget "is probably the most significant thing that we could do."

"From great economic strength evolves great military strength," he said, "not the other way around. We are cutting back social programs and putting a great deal of money into the military. That is really No. 2 in order of preference."

"The net result will be a dichotomy between those that have and those that don't have and more people don't have. On the South Shore, there are a lot of people on the not side and that's going to have an impact for all of us."

Dr. William M. MacPhee, 83, Retired Physician, Surgeon

Memorial services for Dr. William M. MacPhee, 83, of Scituate, a retired physician and surgeon who had been associated with Quincy City Hospital for 50 years, were held Sunday in Fort Sq. Presbyterian Church.

MacPhee died Jan. 5, in South Shore Hospital, Weymouth, after a three day illness.

He had lived in Quincy for many years before moving to Scituate. He retired four years ago.

Born in Prince Edward Island, he was a graduate of Prince of Wales College and Dalhousie University, Canada.

He was a member of Norfolk County and Massachusetts Medical Societies and American Medical Association.

He is survived by his wife, Lorna (MacBeth) MacPhee; a son, Dr. William M. MacPhee Jr. of Denver, Colo.; two daughters, Ariel McLeod of Abington and Lynne Iberg of Sudbury; two sisters, Jean Kleinfelter and Margaret Ripley, both of St. Petersburg, Fla.; and seven grandchildren.

Rev. Robert Duncan officiated at the memorial services.

Funeral arrangements were by Deware Brothers Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St., Quincy.

Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to Missionary Fund, Fort Sq. United Presbyterian Church, Quincy.

John J. Sweeney, 91, Owned Plumbing, Heating Co.

A funeral Mass for John J. Sweeney, 91, of Quincy, former owner of J.J. Sweeney and Son Plumbing and Heating Co., Quincy, was held Jan. 4, in Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

Mr. Sweeney died Jan. 1, at University Hospital, Boston, after a short illness.

He had lived in Quincy since 1917.

Mr. Sweeney took over the plumbing and heating company from his father in 1915. He worked there for more than 40 years until his retirement 25 years ago.

His son, Lt. Gen. Charles W. Sweeney, USAF (Ret.) of Milton dropped the atomic bomb on Nagasaki.

Born in Lawrence, Mr. Sweeney also had lived in Andover.

A charter member of the North Quincy Knights of Columbus, he was a former member of the Quincy Lodge of Elks and a member of the Master Plumbers Association.

Husband of the late Mrs. Mary B. (Murphy) Sweeney, he is survived by four children, Charles W. Sweeney, Arthur D. Sweeney of Easton, William F. Sweeney of Weymouth and Marilyn Burns of Milton; 29 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

He was also the father of the late Mr. John J. Sweeney III and the late Mr. Paul W. Sweeney.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to University Hospital Oncology Department, care of Dr. Peter Deckers.

Former secretary of the Norfolk

County Registrars of Voters Association, he was also former chairman of the Ward 2 division of the Red Cross Drive, former member of the Italo-American Voter's League, and St. John's Holy Name Society.

In 1979, some 400 relatives and friends attended a surprise 75th birthday celebration for Mr. Faiella given by his wife, the late Mrs. Catherine (Migliozzi) Faiella.

He received citations and awards from the mayor, city officials and others.

He is survived by a brother, Edward Faiella of Quincy and many nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave., Quincy. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery.

Atty. Joseph M. McDonough, 79, Former OPA Regional Director

A funeral Mass for Atty. Joseph McDonough, 79, of Quincy, a military and criminal law specialist, was held Jan. 8, in St. Joseph's Church, Boston.

Mr. McDonough died Jan. 5, in Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston.

He had lived in Quincy for the last few years.

A graduate of Suffolk Law School, he had tried numerous court martial cases throughout the country.

Mr. McDonough has been associated with the Boston firms of Callahan and McDonough and McDonough and O'Connell.

He later had his own law office on Beacon Hill.

Mr. McDonough was a former regional director of the old Office of Price Administration.

A World War II Navy veteran, he was a 50 year member of the Massachusetts Bar Association.

Mr. McDonough is survived by his wife, Ida (Colpoys) McDonough; a daughter, Ellen Good of Dover; two sisters, Mary Hare of Pennsylvania and Barbara Evans of West Dennis; and five grandchildren.

Burial was in New Calvary Cemetery, Mattapan.

James Q. Blinn, 48, Served With Air Force

A funeral Mass for James Q. Blinn, 48, of North Quincy, who had served with the Air Force in England from 1962 to 1964, was held Saturday in Sacred Heart Church.

Mr. Blinn died Jan. 7, when he was stricken at his sister's home in Everett.

He had lived in Quincy most of his life and attended Quincy Schools. Born in Newton, he was a disabled veteran.

Husband of the late Mrs. Jane (Fleming) Blinn, he is survived by two daughters, Joyce Blinn of England and Jennifer Blinn of Maine; his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth (McGowan) Blinn of Quincy; and four sisters, Mary Tracy of West Haven, Conn.; Grace O'Hearn of Pelham, N.H.; Barbara Hulstrom of Everett and Patricia A. Windsor of Delaware.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Fr. William McCarthy Marks 30th Anniversary

PRESENT AND FORMER priests of St. John's Parish and special guest clerics joined in the 30th anniversary celebration of the ordination of Rev. William R. McCarthy. Following a concelebrated Mass the priests joined some seven hundred parishioners and friends at a reception held in his honor. The priests included (left) Rev. William Walsh, Quincy Hospital Chaplain; Rev. Gerard Dever, Associate, St. Gregory's Parish, Dorchester, Fr. McCarthy's parish prior to coming to St. John's; Rev. Thomas Oates, representing the Personnel Board of the Archdiocesan Chancery; Rev. Joseph Byrne, St. John's Associate; Rev. Joseph Connolly, former Associate at St. John's; Fr. McCarthy; Rev. David D'Olimpio, newly ordained and life long member of St. John's; Rev. John Stagnaro, St. John's Associate; Deacon Charles Sullivan, St. John's; Rev. Leonard Tighe, visiting Associate, and Rev. Daniel Graham, St. John's Associate.

REV. WILLIAM R. MCCARTHY, pastor of St. John's Church, addresses several hundred parishioners, friends and relatives at a special concelebrated Mass Sunday commemorating the 30th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood. He paid special tribute to the "people of St. John's Parish for the tremendous spirit you have" over the years.

Squantum Church In Tribute To Rev. Dr. King's Life

The congregation of The First Church of Squantum celebrated the life of the slain Christian leader, Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Sunday during the morning worship service.

As a prelude to the service, pianist Mary Ruth Scott played the black spiritual "Go Tell It On The Mountain"; the American freedom song, "We Shall Overcome"; and another black hymn, "He's Good To Me" by Jeff Gutcherson.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, told the children of the church the story of Dr. King's life, particularly his goal of social justice for all and non-violent means.

Dr. Langevin called the black leader "a man for Jesus" and a Christian martyr.

Scripture for the morning was taken from the 10th chapter of the book of Acts in which it is revealed to Peter that God does not discriminate between races: the promise of the gospel is available to all.

The Chancel Choir sang "Precious Lord, Take My Hand" in a special version with words by Joyce Merman and music by Allen-Ringwald. The Choir dedicated this anthem "to the honored memory" of Dr. King. Dr. Langevin preached a sermon, "Paul's Letter to American Christians," one of Dr. King's own sermons.

Greeters for the morning were Jim and Sandi Sumner with their sons Jimmy and Matthew.

The fellowship hour was hosted by Barbara Frazer, Kay Kelly and Marie Reister.

The service next Sunday morning will begin at 10:15 a.m.

TAX TIPS

by David J. Liben

BREAKS FOR TAXPAYERS WHO DON'T ITEMIZE

(First in a series)

You can deduct certain auto/travel expenses on your tax return - even if you don't itemize your deductions. If you use your car for your employer—other than commuting to and from work—you can claim a deduction. Even if your employer reimburses you at 20¢ a mile—or more—you can often deduct some of the expenses. If you work more than one job, or at different jobsites, work and attend school, or look for work, you usually can deduct your related car expenses. Public transportation qualifies, too.

And if you bought your car (or truck) after 1977, you may be entitled to a rebate—from the IRS—of up to 10% of the purchase price.

DeCristofaro Honored By Park-Recreation Board

Theodore P. DeCristofaro was recently honored by his colleagues on the Park and Recreation Board at the final meeting where he served as a member.

DeCristofaro, vice chairman of the board since February, 1979, will officially resign effective Dec. 31.

He will be sworn in as newly elected Ward 2 Councillor at inaugural ceremonies Monday, Jan. 4, at the Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Park and Recreation chairman Gerard A. Coletta Jr., presented a citation to DeCristofaro in recognition of his eight years of service to the board.

The citation was also for implementing recreation programs and expanding and improving playground facilities during his tenure.

A Park and Recreation Board resolve was adopted and signed by the eight remaining board members praising DeCristofaro for his dependability in performing his duties as a member and officer of the municipal commission.

The original resolve was framed and presented to DeCristofaro and a copy entered as part of the records.

A gift certificate was also presented to DeCristofaro from his fellow board members and Park and Recreation Department Administrators in appreciation for his congenial and friendly manner.

DeCristofaro's successor will be named by Mayor Francis X. McCauley Feb. 1.

State Finds Quincy Court Audit 'Impossible'

Some financial affairs and paperwork at the Quincy District Court so fouled up that State Auditor John J. Finnegan has determined that it is impossible to conduct an audit of the court under current conditions.

Finnegan, in a Dec. 18 letter to Judge Arthur M. Mason, chief administrative justice of the district courts, asked for a review of the Quincy court by the Fiscal Affairs Department of the Trial Court.

Until the court's financial procedures are corrected, he said, his office will not even try to audit them.

Finnegan's letter contained no accusations of wrongdoing in the "deficiencies and weaknesses" in the clerk-magistrate's office and the probation office at the court.

Judge Albert L. Kramer, presiding justice of the Quincy District Court, told The Quincy Sun that he has "no big disagreements with the auditor at all."

"We called this to Judge Mason's attention long before the auditor made his report," he said.

"We think it is the dramatic shortage of personnel that exists in the clerk's office, which does an enormous amount of business without the benefit of computerization.

"Also we had an unfortunate situation where the clerk was disabled for a long period of time before his death. It was a very difficult period for the office."

Among the "deficiencies and weaknesses" listed in Finnegan's letter were:

- Unprocessed, unrecorded and non-deposited revenue totaling $36,424 on hand with about 80 per cent of the amount forwarded from the Probation office to the Clerk's office beginning in July, 1981.

- Bank reconciliations not prepared since July, 1981.

- Receipts of bail funds not recorded since 1974 to the bound "Record of Bail," but noted on case papers and a running total maintained on loose sheets of paper.

- Daily cash register tapes and signoff sheets forwarded from cashier to bookkeeper missing for the months of July and August.

- A high volume of bad checks but no bad check register since March, 1981, and "it appears that no action is taken to recover these funds."

- Complaints marked "paid dismissed" instead of "remitted" when "Earn It" work program requirements have been satisfied in lieu of payment.

- Numerous complaints filed as completed when in fact they are still active and awaiting payment through the probation office.

- Several complaints incorrectly validated as paid and monies for the complaints erroneously credited to complaints of other individuals.

- The cash journal balance maintained by the probation office $1,605 over the bank balance as of April, 1981.

- The probation office is in possession of $10,338 in partially collected suspended fines for cases in which defendants cannot be located.

- The probation office is also in possession of $17,838 in restitution payments which are due individuals who cannot be located.

(The above funds have been accumulating since 1969.)

- A review of accounts receivable shows that defendants having both a suspended fine and court costs payable to the court have paid the suspended fine but not the court costs.

Kramer said he felt the report might be helpful in his attempts to get the Quincy court additional personnel and a new computer system.

"I talked to the man who heads data processing for the state," he said, "and we may be chosen to be a model court for a new computerization system. We'll know in a month and a half."

"If that happens, we'll be able to deal with the enormous amount of work. We have cases to be documented that we just can't keep up with."

He said it's unlikely that the court will obtain additional personnel with a freeze on hiring in effect for the past year.

Bethany Church Observing 150th Anniversary Year

Bethany Congregational Church will begin its 150th Anniversary celebration Sunday.

The 10 a.m. worship service will focus on the anniversary theme through hymns, prayers and scripture readings.

A special "Sesquicentennial Moment" will be observed every Sunday during 1982. Significant events from Bethany's past will be highlighted.

The first "moment" will be given this Sunday by Dr. Henry F. Paterson, Jr.

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of Dana M. Robinson, will present two anthems: "Rise Up, O Men of God" by Reed, and Friedell's "Draw Us In The Spirit's Tether".

Associate minister, Rev. Elden D. J. Zuern will serve as liturgist. Rev. J. William Arnold, pastor, will preach the sermon, "Bethany", relating it to the Biblical place where Jesus often went for rest and renewal and was always welcomed.

Beginning at 11:30 a.m. there will be a covered dish dinner in the social hall.

Following the meal, the Annual Congregational Meeting will be convened at 12:30 p.m.

It will be chaired by the moderator, Howard S. Willard, Sr.

There will be a memorial for deceased members, annual reports from committees, adoption of a 1982 budget, election of officers, and presentation of anniversary celebration plans.

Senior High Fellowship members will provide baby-sitting and child care during the meeting.

Bethany congregation's beginnings go back to 1832. The United First Parish "Church of the Presidents" was originally Congregational.

By the late 1820's, a majority of its members and the minister were espousing Unitarian doctrine.

Some persons wished to maintain a more Biblically orthodox faith and transferred to Christ Episcopal Church. But, they found the polity and liturgy there too formal.

In the winter of 1831-32, a series of religious lectures was held in Quincy Town Hall. These were well attended due to the continuing controversy surrounding Unitarianism. Among the lecturers was the well-known Boston clergyman, Lyman Beecher.

As a result of these religious meetings, a group of 21 persons from First Parish and Christ Church covenanted to form the "Evangelical Congregational Society in Quincy" which was formally recognized as a Congregational Church in August, 1832.

Later, the name was changed to Bethany Congregational Church. It is now an active congregation in the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ.

Bethany Church has had three buildings at as many locations. The first was at the corner of Hancock and Revere Streets, with the sanctuary erected in 1834.

The second church building was constructed in 1871 where South Shore Bank now stands.

The present edifice, at the corner of Coddington and Spear Sts., was dedicated in 1928.

Its highly visible stone tower with the largest gargoyles on any building in Massachusetts, has long been a community landmark.

Through the years, Bethany has sought to minister faithfully to the needs of its members and the entire community. It now houses the Bethany School, a Teenage Mother's Class, and the South Shore Indochinese Refugee Service Center.

condition that the defendant attend five Alcoholics Anonymous meetings a week for 30 weeks and pay a fee of $200 for supervision of such program.

Loss of license from 30 weeks to one year.

Third and subsequent offense -- Guilty finding and incarceration in the House of Correction for not less than 90 days nor more than one year.

Loss of license from one to five years.

Kramer called the jail time "shock sentencing" -- like the old story of hitting a mule on the head with a hammer to get his attention.

"We figured it would be hard to get people to complete the rehab program unless they served some time and had the feeling they would go back to jail unless they took the program," he said.

"The answer is in the rehabilitation but jail is the motivator."

Kramer said the Quincy District Court has had similar guidelines for second offenders since April 22, 1980 and it has resulted in 436 offenders sent to a rehab program with an 80 per cent completion rate.

"Of that 80 per cent," he said, "only five, or 1.5 per cent, in 19 months committed another offense."

"That means if we can get eight out of 10 people to do this kind of program it can have quite an effect."

"However, one thing it has not stopped is the number of people who come in here on the arrest rate."

"We had 1,120 drunk drivers arrested in 1981."

"The judges in this court decided to take what we had been doing with second offenders and do it to first offenders. This is an extraordinary step."

The jail sentences, he said, can be served weekends or at some other appropriate time.

Kramer said he plans to get together with Sheriff Clifford Marshall, whose Dedham House of Corrections is badly overcrowded, to work out some schedule of accommodations.

"I'm sure Sheriff Marshall will do all he can to cooperate with the court," he said.

Quincy Reps Seek Insurance Drop

All three members of the Quincy delegation in the House of Representatives have signed a petition backing Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti in his efforts to roll back car insurance rates.

Insurance Commissioner

Michael Sabbagh recently set the 1982 rates at an average 12 per cent across the board increase. Bellotti has been trying to get the increase reduced to 10.5 per cent.

Reps. Michael W. Morrissey, Thomas F. Brownell and Robert A. Cerasoli signed the petition supporting Bellotti's efforts and asking that he appeal Sabbagh's decision to the courts.

Parker Council To Meet

The Francis W. Parker School Advisory Council will hold its regular meeting today (Thursday) at 9:30 a.m. in the school media center.

All parents of children in the school are invited to attend.

Women Voters League Begins Finance Drive

The Quincy League of Women Voters kicked off its annual finance drive recently at a committee meeting at the home of Mrs. Ilga Wohlrab, president.

Members Mrs. Clara Yeomans, Mrs. Mary Flavin, and Mrs. Ruth Paven prepared to send fundraising letters to a limited list of local civic-minded business and professional people.

The league is a non-profit volunteer organization. No officers or directors are salaried. About one third of league income comes from dues, another third from members' contributions, and a third from public-spirited non-members.

Local league work includes voter registration and distribution of information about candidates for office. The league is also active on state and national levels and the Quincy League budget includes financial support for those activities.

In Massachusetts, LWVM worked for court reform, better control by the Advisory Board over budget, service and fares, on the MBTA, and passage of the bottle bill.

The League of Women Voters believes that democratic government depends upon the informed and active participation of its citizens.

Any citizen interested in the League's activities is welcome to join. Information is available from Mrs. Mary Flavin, Membership Chair, at 479-6863.

Bunker Leads North To Wins Over Quincy, Brookline

Chip Bunker, North Quincy's 6-foot-10 center, is becoming one of the more dominant players in the Suburban League now that Cambridge's 7-foot Pat Ewing is a freshman at Georgetown University and tearing up the Big East Conference.

Bunker last week enjoyed his two best games of the season and led the Raiders to two victories to improve their record to 5-3 (4-2 in the league).

North, which played Brockton Tuesday, will be home to Weymouth North tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m. and next Tuesday will be at Weymouth South at 5.

In early games this season Bunker didn't do too much scoring, but was a big factor for the Raiders with many blocked shots and rebounds. During that time Wes Paul took up the scoring slack and was the top scorer in most games.

Last Friday Bunker had 26 points, 12 rebounds and several blocked shots as North Quincy came from five points behind in the final 34 seconds to hand Brookline its first league loss, 58-57.

It was Paul who scored the winning basket, hitting an eight-foot jumper after driving the length of the court with just two seconds left. He finished with 16 points.

Bunker and John Phelan scored baskets down the stretch.

Eddie Carroll, 6-5 forward, was taken to the hospital with a head injury after a third-quarter collision. He had scored three points and grabbed nine rebounds.

Earlier in the week Bunker had scored 32 points, taken down 12 rebounds and rejected several shots as the Raiders pulled away from Quincy in the final period for their fifth straight win over the Presidents in regular-season play, 67-52.

Before that game Bunker had been averaging only 13 points a game but had been intimidating with his rebounding and blocked shots.

"We decided to get the ball to him," said Coach Eddie Miller. "Here we have a guy 6-10 and that's a big weapon in this league. Obviously we can't go to Chip the way we did tonight in every game, but we had to take advantage of Quincy's lack of height."

What pleased Miller even more was the unselfishness shown by other players. Paul, in double figures in every game, frequently passed into Bunker instead of shooting from the outside. Although he scored only three points, and had a dozen assists, Miller shuffled nine players into the game by the half and gradually wore down the undermanned Presidents, who had some key players out of action.

Quincy took a quick 10-2 lead and held a 19-11 edge after a period. But North came back, outscored the Presidents, 20-7, in the second quarter and took a 31-26 halftime lead.

After an even third period, which saw North outscored, 16-15, the much taller Raiders, Bunker scored seven straight points early in the finale and North pulled safely away.

Several players played key roles in the win. Phelan and Tim Ryan filled in well for starters Paul and Dan Marsters, while Jim Kelly, Bill Gray and Bob Flynn stepped in to capably replace Bunker, Carroll and John Purland.

NANCY O'NEILL will be one of the instructors at the ice skating classes being held at the Shea Rink in Quincy beginning Tuesday, Jan. 19, at 3:30 and 4 p.m. The classes, under the direction of the Bay State Skating School, will be held for 7 weeks for children 4-12.

North Girls Rebound After Loss To Quincy

The North Quincy girls' basketball team had its seven-game win streak ended by Quincy last week but came back last Friday to defeat Brookline, 49-34, and took an 8-1 record (5-1 in the Suburban League) into Tuesday's game with Brockton.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes will complete the first half of their league schedule tonight (Thursday) at Weymouth North at 8 o'clock. They will host Weymouth South next Tuesday at 3:30.

The North girls held only a 32-30 lead over a scrappy Brookline team after three periods, but exploded in the final quarter to outscore the losers, 17-4.

JoAnn Runge led North in the early going and, despite an injured back, went all the way and scored 19 points. Karen Bridges, with six points, including four foul shots; Chris Choukas, who scored 13 points and starred down the stretch; and Mary Holleran, who scored nine points, including five for six from the foul line, sparked the Raiderettes' last quarter drive.

Earlier in the week the Quincy girls North its only setback, 55-35.

"This was our poorest game of the season, but the Quincy girls played a fine game," Bregoli said. "We shot very poorly, both from the floor and from the free throw line. We also missed Tricia Meehan, one of our sparkplugs, who was out with an injury."

The Raiderettes ran into foul trouble early. Runge, usually the team's top scorer, was held to six points.

"Simone Koch and Mary Holleran played excellent games, each scoring nine points, but we just had a poor game all-around," said Bregoli.

Quincy Girls Stop North, 55-35

The Quincy girls' basketball team hit its peak last week and handed North Quincy its only loss of the season thus far, 55-35, to improve its record to 5-2.

Maryann Agres scored a game high 17 points and took down 11 rebounds to lead the First Ladies to their big victory.

Nancy MacDonald added 14 points and Ellen Deady scored 12 points and had 11 rebounds. Cindy Morrell played an excellent game on defense and held North's high scorer, JoAnn Runge, to six points. Kathy Duggan also turned in an outstanding defensive performance.

The First Ladies will host Brockton tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock and next Tuesday will play at Newton at 3:30.

North Icemen Come Back To Tie Weymouth, 4-4

North Quincy's hockey team tuned up for the game with Quincy yesterday (Wednesday) by coming back late in the game to tie Weymouth South, 4-4, last Saturday, making the Raiders' record 3-4-1.

Kevin Lewis' North team is idle Saturday and next Wednesday will host Newton North at 6:40 at the Youth Arena.

The Raiders took a 2-0 lead over Weymouth South on second period goals by Keith Smith (from Rich Stevens) and Kevin White (from Dave DiCarlo and Tom Lester).

Weymouth came back and took a 4-2 lead but Dick Tapper scored with seven minutes to play with Don Reidy and DiCarlo assisting.

Lewis pulled his goalie and Kevin Duff won a faceoff and fed Dean Phillips, who scored the equalizer with just 31 seconds to play.

"This was a big game for us and the boys came back well," said Lewis. "Kevin Duff has been superb for us all season and played another fine game, as did Dan McNeice."

Earlier in the week the Raiders had bowed to Brockton, 5-1, as the Boxers scored three short-handed goals, a power-play goal and one when both teams were a man short.

Lester scored early to give North a short-lived lead but the injury-riddled Raiders could do nothing from that time on.

Kevin Jago's North junior varsity remained unbeaten (3-0-2) with a 2-0 victory over Weymouth South and a 3-3 tie with Brockton. The Jayvees faced equally undefeated Quincy yesterday.

Jago has been using three goalies, Dan Ceurvels, Matty Higgins and Billy Cahill, for one period each and each one has done an excellent job.

North Girls Gym Team Defeats Newton N.

The North Quincy girls' gymnastics team, despite being weakened by injuries, defeated Newton North, 93.65-84.05 last week in its first Suburban League meet.

The young Raiderettes turned in excellent performances as they swept the top three places in the vault with sophomore Lauren O'Rourke winning, Debbie Squires second and Eileen Morris third.

"Lauren is one of our strongest vaulters and a very hard worker," said Coach Jane McGilvray.

Julie Nee placed second in the floor exercise with a polished routine and sophomore Amy Harrison took third.

Nora Furey won on balance beam and teammate Natalie Nigro placed third. "Natalie is a well-disciplined gymnast and an excellent student," said Ms. McGilvray.

The uneven parallel bars event wrapped up the meet with North taking the top two places. Catherine O'Brien won with 5.6 points and Amy Harrison, continuing to perform well, took second place.

Quincy Swimmers Snap Losing Streak

Quincy's swim team, which had lost 17 straight meets going back to 1980, snapped the losing string last week with a 90-67 victory over Blue Hills.

Senior Co-captain Tom O'Malley and junior Bill Mayo sparked the Presidents as O'Malley won the 50-yard freestyle in 26.7, won the 100 freestyle in 1:01.3 and swam the anchor leg on the winning 400 freestyle relay team, and Mayo won the 200 freestyle in 2:12 and the 500 freestyle in 6:13.

Senior co-captain Dan Mallock won the 100 breaststroke and placed second in the 200 individual medley. Ron Ceriani took two second places and swam on the 400 freestyle relay team which included O'Malley, Rich Parker (second in the 50 freestyle) and Troy Clemens.

The Presidents swim at Newton South today (Thursday) at 3:30.

No Recreation Programs Friday

In observance of Martin Luther King Day, Friday, all Recreation Department programs scheduled for that day will be cancelled. The normally scheduled gym and pool programs will resume with Saturday's schedule of activities.

Mite A's Win

Quincy's Mite A hockey team blanked Brockton, 7-0, to remain undefeated and in first place in the South Shore Conference.

Tony Spinelli had a hat trick, Stevie Carroll two goals and Ronnie Last and Bryan Adams one goal each. Timmy Collins had two assists and Jason Radzevich and Joe Bevilacqua one each. Matt Kelley played his best game of the season on defense.

Frye's 20 Helps North Break Braintree Jinx

Walt Frye tossed in 20 points as the North Quincy High School basketball team broke a jinx of several years standing with a 49-36 victory over Braintree on the Wamp's home court.

Coach Jack Mullarkey's Red Raiders won the game on the free throw line, sinking 17 foul shots to six for Braintree. It was the eighth victory of the season for high-flying North.

The Raiders led 13-11 at the end of the first period and then they wrapped up the decision in the second with a burst of 14 points while their defense held the Wamps to three.

The North Quincy lineup included: Benson, Coulacos, Higgins, Elkhill, Cataldo, forwards; Frye, center; Murphy, Gillis, Campbell, Mahoney, Tufts, guards.

QUINCY SIX WINS

Jack Twomey scored a pair of goals, including the game-winner in the third period, to lift the ever-improving Quincy High School hockey team to a 3-1 victory over Hingham and third place in the South Shore Hockey League.

Twomey's first goal in the opening period gave Quincy a 1-0 lead but Buzz Warren tied it up for Hingham. Twomey's second goal put Quincy ahead to stay and Bobby Chiavaroli's score clinched the win.

The Quincy lineup: Twomey, Antonellis, Cheviaroli, forwards; Lagerquist, Storella, defense; LaPierre, goal; Bonfini, Parsley, Reardon, Karlson, Wong, Borgess, spares.

LITTLE LEAGUE FIELD

A brand new playing field, complete with a fence protected by preservative, adjacent to Rotary-YMCA Field, was scheduled to be finished in time for the opening of the second season of the Quincy Little League.

"We think we will be the only league to have a coat of wood preservative on the fence," said league secretary Gilbert "Crum" Crofts. "We have Eddie Heap, one of our managers, who is in the paint business, to thank for this."

In addition to the 12-team Little League, a four-team Pony League was planned for the 1952 season with Johnny Fallon, brother of Rotary Manager Charlie Fallon, as president.

PRESIDENTS DUMP MALDEN

Al Taglieri scored 12 points and 11 other Quincy players tallied at least two as the Presidents overwhelmed Malden High School's basketball team, 60-32, on the Malden court.

The Quincy lineup included: Berman, Pompeo, Djerf, Hebert, Bowyer, forwards; Gabriel, Karasnigor, Barba, centers; Taglieri, Prezioso, Barry, Keefe, guards.

SOUTH ON TOP

Bob MacDonald and Steve Collins combined for 17 points to lead South to a 26-19 victory over Central and a firm grasp on first place in the Quincy Junior High School Basketball League.

The South lineup: Collins, Ricciarelli, forwards; MacDonald, center; Leone, Kennedy, Magnarelli, guards.

The Central lineup: Robinson, Dempsey, forwards; J. Kelley, center; Moscardelli, Deardon, Evans, guards.

HURLEY SETS RECORD

North Quincy's Harold Hurley broke his own meet record for the 1,000-yard run as the Raider track team won its first Metropolitan Track League meet over Cambridge Latin. His time was two minutes, 30.5 seconds.

Hurley's brother, Dave, was handed his first defeat in the 300 by teammate Walter Lyons on the East Newton St. Army track in Boston.

NORTH SIX ON TOP

Phil Bergamo, making his first appearance of the year in the North Quincy nets, led the Raider hockey team to a 3-0 victory over Norwood in a non-league game at the Hingham Skating Club.

CHELSEA BEATEN

Dick Barry popped in 14 points and Al Taglieri 13 as the Quincy High School basketball team pummeled Chelsea, 48-23. The Presidents led, 11-8, at halftime, then broke the game open in the second half.

SPORTS BITS '52

Bill Walsh's Quincy National Guard quintet blanked the Cambridge HQ team in the second half on route to a 50-12 victory at the Cambridge Armory...Freeman Clifford's 13 points showed the way for Point to whip North, 33-23, in a Junior High School basketball League game...George Mikan sat on the bench for 18 of the 48 minutes with foul trouble and was held to 14 points, half his average, but his Minneapolis Lakers defeated the Boston Celtics, 108-94...Pros Dick Lincoln and Jack Igoe were conducting the winter indoor golf school at Remick's for the third straight year...Chet Nichols, a 20-year-old left handed pitcher from Pawtucket, R.I., was selected Boston's rookie of the year after winning 11 and losing seven for the Braves.

Combination Of Problems Hinder Presidents

A lack of height and injuries and illness to key players have made things rough this season for Quincy basketball coach Joe Amoroso.

The Presidents, who have played their hearts out and done an excellent job under the circumstances, lost two games last week and their record dropped to 3-5.

Quincy, which played Brookline Tuesday, will be at Brockton tonight (Thursday) at 8 and next Tuesday will be home to Newton North at 3:30.

The Presidents lost to Weymouth South, 71-56, last Friday, as the taller Wildcats had 24 points from John Sheridan and 20 from Frank Sinewick.

Peter Papile, who missed the game against North Quincy earlier in the week, returned and sparked the attack with 26 points, 10 of them in the second half.

With Papile sidelined and Paul Gilbody playing with a heavily bandaged right hand, Quincy gave much taller North Quincy, which also had more depth than Quincy, a great struggle for three periods but 6-foot-10 Chip Burkhead proved too much and the Raiders won, 67-52, for their fifth straight regular-season win over Quincy.

"We came out swinging," Amoroso said as the Presidents raced out to an early 10-2 lead and held a 19-11 edge after a period. "We were hurting and had five kids out there taped and strapped and we missed Papile. But we showed a lot of heart."

"What can we do against a kid like Bunker? I'm happy for Chip because he had a great game (32 points, 12 rebounds and several blocked shots) and he deserved it after a tough start. He's a good kid and a good player. Maybe it took our team to bring out the best in him and their team."

Junior guard Bob Mudge had another excellent game, playing the entire game, scoring 10 points, taking down nine rebounds and adding three assists.

"We were very much in the game into the fourth quarter (North led by only 46-42 after three quarters)," said Amoroso. "Another coach may have frozen the ball in an effort to stay close, but I couldn't do that with these kids. They come to play basketball the way it should be played. You just can't stand in the way of that."

Jeff Morrison had a good game at center, despite being only 6-foot-1, and Kevin Riggs showed a hot hand from the corner in the first half when he scored nine of his 13 points. Jim DePietro sank key shots from the backcourt and had 10 points and Gilbody had eight points and played strong defense.

Quincy has no one over 6-1 in the starting lineup, while Bunker is joined by 6-5 Eddie Carroll.

North outscored Quincy, 20-7, in the second period to take a 31-26 lead at the half. Quincy cut it to 46-42 after three but the Raiders, with Bunker scoring seven straight points, pulled away in the final session.

YMCA-Gym Team Defeats Lowell

The Class III South Shore YMCA gymnastics team defeated Lowell, 87-78.3, last Saturday.

Coach Jane McGilvray, who also coaches the North Quincy High girls' team, was impressed with the team's performance in its season's opener.

Michele Healy took first place all-around with a score of 29.7 to boost the Y to victory.

South Shore swept the top three places in balance beam with veteran Natalie Nigro winning with a score of 8.0, rookie Laura Rizzi taking second at 7.0 and Lynn Manton third at 6.9.

South Shore was equally impressive in the vault with Jenny Raftery winning with a score of 8.0 and Healy took second at 7.6.

Healy won the floor exercise at 8.0 with Nigro second at 7.9.

On uneven parallel bars Healy won with a 7.3 score and Nicole Manton placed third.

Quincy Girls Win Midget Tourney

The Quincy Youth Hockey girls' midget team won the recent Cranberry Tournament held at the Hobomock Arena in Pembroke.

The girls, who are 9-4-2 in the Middlesex League with 53 goals to 29 for the opposition, won the tournament by blanking Randolph, 11-0, in the semifinals and shutting out Billerica, 4-0, in the finals.

Goalie Kim Horrigan posted the two shutouts within seven hours of each other and the offense was led by Lauren Apollo with six goals and an assist and Laurie Barba with five goals and an assist. Nine players figured in the scoring, proving the overall team effort.

The team members are Lauren Apollo, Maureen Allen, Laurie Barba, Maria Burke, Karen Cullen, Sheila Graham, Kim Horrigan, Karen Horrigan, Debbie Mosher, Janice McDonough, Karen McDonough, Robyn O'Connell, Kristin O'Gara and Nancy Toland. The team is coached by Joe Cuniff.

POCKETBOOK TEAR GAS

Many women wonder if they should arm themselves with the widely advertised miniature "tear gas" type projector. Some come in forms resembling fountain pens, pencils and lipsticks. Just how effective are they?

According to top police officials, not only are they sometimes ineffectual, but can be potentially dangerous. "If someone is going to rob you, chances are he doesn't intend personal harm. But if you make him angry by spraying him with a chemical, he might become violent and do you a lot of physical damage."

There is always the possibility of blow-back in a strong wind which could do more harm to the defender than to the attacker. Also, such devices may fall into the hands of children, or be accidentally discharges and cause injury to innocent people. Tear gas can be extremely potent and should be treated as such.

WEEK OF: JANUARY 14

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
You're surrounded by successful people, and their triumphs rub off on you. Difference of opinion regarding shared expenses or responsibilities should be nipped in the bud.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
Companion abandons common sense as he/she becomes involved in highly creative scheme. You, on the other hand, are appointed to manage finances or handle some other practical task.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
Communication from faraway locale brings welcome announcement. Routine tasks are numerous, and all must be handled responsibly. Financial gain likely, starting Monday.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Reflect on past romantic history before gazing too far ahead into the future. Short-distance correspondence and travel are rewarding. Household tasks are demanding.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
You show a gift for bringing people together, professionally and socially. Loved one is in a mood to ask questions. Children and older relatives benefit from ego boost.

CANCER — June 22-July 22
This is your week to shine in a leadership position. Economy is your operative word, in money matters and communication. A few well-chosen remarks convey more than longwinded speeches.

LEO — July 23-August 22
Work performance may be evaluated now. Being careful and punctual is more important than being flamboyant. Relatives may be less than tactful, but you survive.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
With careful planning, you can successfully mix work with pleasure. Highly opinionated friend or relative becomes easier to live with. Partner helps clarify foggy ideas.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Plans made late in 1981 need alteration; perhaps an involved party is thinking of opting out. Time is appropriate to launch family health improvement scheme.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Any news out of the ordinary should be examined. If about to embark on a trip or launch a key project, it's important that you get more rest and recreation.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Not the time to request special privileges. Lots of paperwork, with the accent on financial documents. Which is not to say that the week is without lovely romantic moments.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Obstacles appear suddenly in your career path, but don't think for a moment that they're insurmountable. Romance is on the upswing. Family problem should be addressed by weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're reliable, ambitious, prudent, hesitant about taking risks and thrifty — quite thrifty. This year finds you drawn to offbeat projects and aligning yourself with a surprisingly practical partner, romantic or otherwise.

BORN THIS WEEK
January 14th, singer Loretta Lynn; 15th, actor Lloyd Bridges; 16th, opera singer Marilyn Horne; 17th, actor James Earl Jones; 18th, actor Danny Kaye; 19th, singer Dolly Parton; 20th, actress Patricia Neal.

5 Old School Buildings To Go On Sale This Month

Five buildings that have been abandoned as elementary schools in Quincy will be put up for sale to possible developers later this month.

The former schools are the Adams, the Quincy, the Cranich, the Great Hill and the Gridley Bryant.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said the five schools will be advertised for bids in the New England Real Estate Journal with a deadline for bid set at 4 p.m. Friday, Feb. 26.

A developers' kit containing the results of a study and recommendations made by a committee will be available to prospective bidders for $25 from the Planning Department.

"We want to get these schools moving, one way or the other," said McCauley. "But Feb. 26 we will see how much interest there is out there."

The mayor said there has been a number of incidents of vandalism at the abandoned school buildings.

A sixth building, the Hunting School, was withdrawn from the market because of zoning problems, McCauley said.

Nuclear Attack Topic For S.S. Peace Coalition

"Can Quincy Survive a Nuclear Attack?" will be the topic of a program to be presented by the South Shore Peace Coalition tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m.

The meeting will be held at Quincy Center United Methodist Church, Granite and Fort Sts.

Speaker will be Dr. Robert Paterson, of Physicians for Social Responsibility and the South Shore Peace Coalition Steering Committee.

A film, "Paul Jacobs and the Nuclear Gang" will also be shown. The film is the true story of an investigative reporter who commits his life to finding out the truth about the aftermath of a nuclear explosion and its effects on people.

Questions and discussion will be followed by refreshments.

Groups and individuals concerned with the goal of coalition - the preservation of the human race through the prevention of nuclear war - are invited to become sponsors.

QEA Participating In Education Campaign

The Quincy Education Association, is taking part in a national public education campaign which culminates Sunday with a "National Day of Conscience for Public Education."

The campaign, by the association and the 12,000 other state and local affiliates of the 1.7 million member National Education Association (NEA), is to call public attention to the importance of, and the need to support, public education in America.

"Many of the things that have made our nation great are the results of public education," declared JoAnn O'Malley, Q.E.A. president.

"But today with the crippling effects of Proposition 2½, federal budget cuts, and continued assaults on education, quality public education in Quincy and across Massachusetts is being threatened."

That is why the Q.E.A. and our members will be mounting a number of activities designed to communicate to the public the pressing need to get involved in supporting public schools."

The Q.E.A. and its members will be working closely with the NEA and other groups and individuals to achieve the goals of the Day of Conscience.

Dukakis Prepares For Race In Quincy

Last minute preparations for Michael Dukakis' announcement for governor were made during a meeting of 150 Norfolk and Plymouth County town and ward coordinators at Morrisette Legion Post in West Quincy.

Dukakis, the former governor who officially announced that he wants the job again Sunday in Faneuil Hall, briefed his coordinators on the announcement Saturday at Morrisette.

"In the last 12 months," he said, "we have raised over $1 million."

"But what is truly gratifying to me is that we have raised this money from over 11,000 individual contributors, which has never been done by any campaign in the history of Massachusetts one year before an election."

Bernice Mader of North Quincy is campaign coordinator for Dukakis in Quincy.

Public Hearing On Brewers Corner Area Thursday

A public hearing to discuss the Brewers Corner area will be held tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at Faith Lutheran Church Center, lower level hall, 65 Roberts St., South Quincy.

The first phase of the Brewers Corner study being conducted by the Quincy Planning Department and the consultant, DuFresne-Henry, will be discussed.

Neighbors are invited to attend the meeting and discuss topics such as neighborhood shopping, parking, rubbish collection and other subjects.

Financial Aid Information at QHS

The Guidance Department of Quincy High School will offer the second evening of its financial aid information program Monday, Jan. 18, from 7 to 9 p.m. in the school's Method Center.

The program is open to students, parents, and community members.

Massachusetts Financial Aid Forms will be available and individually completed during the evening.

A question and answer period will be provided.

22 Boys Inducted Into Pack 14 In Wollaston

Twenty-two boys were inducted into Pack 14 of Wollaston Congregational Church, at a recent Bobcat Ceremony.

Institutional Representative John Fuller, as Indian Chief, led the ceremonies which began with the Webelo Den using rattles to purify the hall of bad spirits.

Webelo Leslie Lahage presented the peace pipe to the four winds, the earth, and the Great Spirit.

Members of Scout Troop 151, in full Indian costume, also took part in the ceremony. Donald Keene did the Rattle and Bell Dance, John Cicirone played the drum, and Paul Brown and Bill Moriarty led the Webelos in the rattle ritual and wore Indian masks to perform the Smoky Mountain Dance.

The ceremony concluded with Fuller leading the pack through an Indian benediction in sign language.

Boys who received their Bobcat Badge were: Douglas Ward, Jon D'Angelo, Michael Gaeta, John Fahey, Jeffrey D'Angelo, Jason Clarke, Paul McDonald, Kevin Johnson, David Thompson, Daniel Kearns, Terrance McCarthy, Kevin O'Malley, Michael Correnti, Dana Johnson, Joe Ferrara, Thomas Kane, Eric McClelland, Daniel Laffin, Peter Crosby, Jonathan Sullivan, Jamie Fasoli, and Donald Hamilton.

James Ferrara also received his Wolf Badge, and Paul Wilson a Gold Arrow.

Wollaston Bus Route Restored

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) announces Wollaston Bus Route 212, which runs between Quincy Center and North Quincy via Wollaston Beach, will be restored to service by the MBTA Saturday, Jan. 16.

Brownell said, "I am extremely pleased by the MBTA decision on this matter. Through constituent input by Wollaston residents, we were able to point out the injustice of a two bus one-way fare of $1 to and from Quincy Center."

The MBTA discontinued Bus Route 212 last summer due to budget restraints and low ridership counts, and it forced many Wollaston residents to make a two bus one-way connection. Brownell objected to the route elimination because of the resulting 200 per cent fare increase for his constituents when the scheduling change was combined with a prior doubling of bus fares.

A WOLF BADGE was presented to James Ferrara by "Chief" John Fuller at recent Bobcat ceremonies held by Pack 14 of Wollaston Congregational Church. Ferrara's mother, Ilona, is at right.

Bus Route 212 will be scheduled daily as follows:

Quincy Center Departure - 7:05 a.m. 7:35 a.m., 8:05 a.m., and every hour through 2:05 p.m., 2:27 p.m., 2:50 p.m., 3:05 p.m., 4:05 p.m., 5:05 p.m., and 6:05 p.m.

North Quincy Departure - 7:20 a.m., 7:50 a.m., 8:20 a.m., and every hour through 2:20 p.m., 2:52 p.m., 3:05 p.m., 3:20 p.m., 4:20 p.m., 5:20 p.m. and 6:20 p.m.

Saturdays, the schedule will be as follows:

Quincy Center - Every hour at five past the hour, from 7:05 a.m., through 6:05 p.m.

North Quincy - Every hour at twenty past the hour, from 7:20 p.m., through 6:20 p.m.

There will be no Sunday service.

'What Is HMO' Topic At Women Voters Meeting

"What is an HMO (health maintenance organization)?" will be the topic of an open meeting Thursday, Jan. 21, sponsored by the Quincy League of Women Voters.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room of City Hall Annex.

Representatives from Blue Cross-Blue Shield and Harvard Community Health Plan will speak, show slides and answer questions from the public.

Two new HMOs are planned to open soon in Braintree to serve the South Shore.

For a prepaid fee, an HMO delivers comprehensive medical care to a voluntarily enrolled population.

Emphasis is on prevention, early diagnosis and outpatient treatment.

The meeting is part of the league's two year study of health care in Massachusetts.

Oratorical At HN Sunday

A preliminary round of the American Legion's National High School Oratorical Contest will take place Sunday, Jan. 17 at 2 p.m. at Houghs Neck Legion Post, 1116 Sea St.

The contest, sponsored by Norfolk County Council, is an important aspect of the Legion's youth program designed to develop a keener knowledge and appreciation by high school students of the Constitution of the United States.

The Houghs Neck Post is sponsoring two contestants from Notre Dame Academy, Hingham, Rita Pandit and Christine McConville.

The general public is invited to all the contests.

7% Dividend Increase For Multibank

The Board of Directors of Multibank Financial Corp. announced an increase of almost seven percent in its quarterly cash dividend.

The new rate is 47 cents per share, compared to 44 cents per share in the prior quarter.

The dividend is payable Jan. 21, 1982 to shareholders of record Jan. 11, 1982.

This increase brings Multibank's annual dividend rate to $1.88 per share compared with the previous per share annual rate of $1.76.

David B. Lynch, chairman and president, said: "This latest of a series of dividend increases is reflective of our continuing progress."

What Happened During the Busiest Two Days in the History of The Quincy Cooperative Bank

With the 1982 New Year arriving on Friday, thousands of people turned to us for banking services on the Thursday preceding the holiday and the Saturday following.

The resultant pressure on our Bank was tremendous. Our Lobby in the Main Office was jammed hour after hour with customers; we had fifteen tellers on duty. We have to admit, in all candor, that we could not always provide our usual speedy teller service - but then, during many of the hours we were open, we were the only bank operating in Quincy Square and the public needed banking services.

WHAT WE TOLD OUR EMPLOYEES

Here is what our President sent as a note of appreciation to every employee of the Bank:

Thursday, December 31 and Saturday, January 2 were the busiest days in the history of The Quincy Cooperative Bank. It seems unnecessary for me to remind many of you about this fact. Those of you who were on the firing line, dealing directly with the public, did a magnificent job. We were the only bank in Quincy Center offering the hours of service that seemed to be what the public desperately needed for that holiday period.

The whole thing was complicated by certain coincidences such as the first day of the month rush of Social Security checks; the fact that many people were paid prior to the holiday; the fact that we were reaching the end of the trail for the sale of "F" passes for the December period and so forth.

Hopefully, in another year we will not be faced with this kind of back-breaking task because our new building should be in operation by the middle of April. Hopefully, too, this will make life more normal for all of you and for our customers.

I do not want to let this week pass without extending to all of our employees my heartfelt thanks for the way we met a tremendous crisis in providing service to the public at a time when the public had to turn to us to receive banking help.

WHAT WE WANT OUR PUBLIC TO KNOW

In the two days - Thursday and Saturday - we handled more than 6,000 checks and in deposit transactions alone, we handled more than 5,500. We were proud of our record of service for these two days.

We look forward to our new Main Office which should be ready in April and we will have the space for the services to comfortably accommodate unusual numbers during peak periods. We again express our thanks to the many wonderful, patient people who needed our banking help in the holiday period.

With larger lobby areas, a triple drive-up facility and plenty of parking, we will be ready to serve you in our usual friendly fast and efficient way regardless of the numbers who seek our banking services.

Tsongas Warns At 'Town Meeting' A Nuclear Weapon Quincy's Name On It?

By JOHN NOONAN

Senator Paul E. Tsongas fears Russia has a nuclear weapon with Quincy's name on it.

The General Dynamics shipyard and surrounding Quincy area would be a prime target in a nuclear war he warned at a "town meeting" here Saturday.

"In the event of nuclear war, because of the shipyard and surrounding population, Quincy could be annihilated," he said. "In an arms race you increase the chances of that happening."

He was critical of the Reagan administration's build up of nuclear warfare weapons and made a strong plea for moderation.

Tsongas also discussed a number of other major topics during the one and three quarter hour meeting attended by 150 persons in the second floor Conference Room at New City Hall.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley introduced Tsongas. Among those attending were State Senator Paul Harold, City

Councillor at-large Richard Koch and State Democratic Committeewoman Catherine O'Donnell.

Tsongas noted that of the 140 so-called town meetings he has hosted since becoming Senator, the Quincy meeting, by far, was the best attended. He congratulated those attending for turning out on such a frigid Saturday morning.

He urged college students and young people present to get more involved in the

If Services Impaired

Mayor May Seek 2½ Exemption

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday he may have to ask the City Council and the voters of Quincy for a Prop 2½ exemption if basic services are too badly impaired in the fiscal 1983 budget.

"The option is available to us," said McCauley, who began budget sessions with department heads Monday. "But we are not going to rush in."

The State Legislature, in one of its final acts for 1981, made it possible for cities and towns, who are required to cut their tax levies by 15 per cent a year, to limit the cuts to 7½ per cent.

This could be done by a two-thirds vote of the City Council followed by a referendum of city voters at a special election. Debt service could also be exempted by the same process.

McCauley said the city is faced with an $8.5 million cut in the budget from last year under the 15 per cent rule—$3.5 million from general government, $3 million from the schools and the rest hopefully to be made up in additional state aid.

"We have to cut the fat first," said the mayor. "We will give that a good shot first. But if it impairs basic services badly then we will go to the people for an exemption."

"We will decide this in the spring."

McCauley said if such an action were deemed necessary, a City Council vote and the referendum could be accomplished in about a month.

Proposition 2½ specifies that the city's tax levy cannot be over 2½ per cent of its total valuation.

Communities whose tax levies exceeded the 2½ figure when the law went into effect in 1981 were required to bring them down by 15 per cent a year until the 2½ per cent figure is achieved.

In Quincy's case, it would take at least three years of 15 per cent reductions to reach the required figure. If the 15 per cent were reduced to 7½, it would make the transition a little easier.

"But it would be just delaying the inevitable," said McCauley. "We would still have to get down there."

The clock started ticking on McCauley's first municipal budget on inauguration day, Jan. 4, after which the new mayor has 90 days to get the budget to the City Council. That's April 4.

It is possible that the State Legislature will give the city another 30 days in view of the fact that state aid plays such a vital role

Legality Challenged

Jail For Drunk Drivers Tested In First Arrest

The first challenge to Judge Albert L. Kramer's new policy of jail for first time drunk drivers apparently is going to grow out of the very first arrest.

James Vey, 18, of 11 Ruthven St., Montclair, was arrested early Friday morning on Beale St., Wollaston, only an hour and 45 minutes after Judge Kramer's guidelines for Quincy District Court went into effect.

Vey's lawyer, Atty. George Burke of North Quincy, a former Norfolk County district attorney, said he will take the case to the state Supreme Court on grounds the penalties provided are unconstitutional.

Vey pleaded innocent to the charge of drunken driving Monday in Quincy District Court and the case was continued to Tuesday, Jan. 26, to permit Burke to file motions.

Burke said Kramer's guidelines for judges in the Quincy court are unconstitutional in that they call for mandatory jail sentences, a policy that can be laid down only by the state legislature.

He also objected to the fact that Quincy and other communities in the court district have erected signs warning drivers that they could go to jail for operating under the influence.

"It's discriminatory," said Burke. "Sometimes the only thing a civilian is arrested for in his whole life is OUI."

"There are no signs in Quincy warning that someone who breaks and enters in the nighttime and scares hell out of someone is going to jail."

"In fact, just the opposite is true and that's a felony, while driving under the influence is a misdemeanor."

"The court is creating the impression that in Quincy the felonious individual is not going to jail but the ordinary citizen is going to jail for a lesser offense."

Burke said he agrees with Kramer that drunken driving is a serious matter.

"Judge Kramer's intent is good," he said. "His heart is in the right place when he tries to curb drunken driving. But his methods are wrong."

Burke noted that his client had never been arrested before.

"If he had been arrested an hour and 45 minutes sooner he would not go to jail at all," he said. "For the sake of an hour and 45 minutes he is faced with this."

"The case does not involve an accident. No one was hurt. The police said they saw the car weaving and they stopped it. The boy has already suffered enough through the publicity."

"I'm going to ask the judge to let him enter an alcoholic education program, which is all he would have gotten had he been arrested an hour and 45 minutes sooner."

McCauley To Ask New Widow's Exemption

Mayor Francis X. McCauley plans to ask the City Council at its Feb. 1 meeting to accept a state law that would ease the impact of 100 per cent revaluation on widows who own property.

The new law, passed in the dying days of the 1981 legislative session, would raise the widow's estate exemption from $20,000 to $40,000 on property taxes.

The law also separates the widow's home from the rest of the estate and permits a valuation of $60,000 before the value is deducted from the estate.

Former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin expects to be sworn in as clerk-magistrate at Quincy District Court sometime during the first week in February, hopefully in Quincy, by Gov. Edward J. King.

Tobin's appointment was approved by the Governor's Council last Wednesday after an hour and a half hearing plus a brief executive session to discuss a delay sought by Councillor Herbert Connolly.

The clerk-designate visited the courthouse on Dennis Ryan Memorial Parkway, named for the late clerk-magistrate, for the first time since his nomination Monday.

James Foley, the acting clerk-magistrate, took him on a tour of the court and he met Judges Lewis L. Whitman, Lawrence D. Shubow of Brookline, George Criss of Worcester and Robert M. Ford of Cohasset. Tobin informed Foley that he will request an audit of the court.

"No reflection on anyone," said Tobin. "This is just a routine procedure."

The Quincy Sun disclosed last week that, due to a shortage of personnel and the lack of computerization, State Auditor John J. Finnegan has found it impossible to audit the court's financial affairs.

McCauley Meets With MBTA On Quincy Station Problems

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has scheduled two meetings today (Thursday) with MBTA officials to discuss, among other things, problems of crime and harassment at the Quincy Center Station.

The mayor is scheduled to meet at 9:30 a.m. with Philip Shapiro, executive director of the MBTA Advisory Board, to talk about Quincy's role on the board.

Then he is down to meet with Chairman James F. O'Leary to speak to the problems at the station.

"I will talk about the need for improved presence of police on the part of the MBTA," said McCauley. "Quincy is short on police and we can't have a presence in the station."

"If we can get police visibility there word will get out and we may see an improvement in the situation."

McGrath Strikes Back At Condo Ordinance Critics

City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath, under attack for alleged mishandling of the Council's condo conversion committee, lashed back Monday night at Roger Lyons, spokesman for the city's landlords.

He called the allegations against him "a total falsehood and an absolute fabrication. Mr. Lyons has continually not told the truth in the public statements he has made."

Lyons had charged that McGrath forced him to agree to an ordinance proposal that was presented to the Council and had switched his signature to a document to which he (Lyons) did not agree.

McGrath said he believes Lyons "is attempting to muddy the water with these attacks on my integrity that he hopes to delay and delay and delay the passage of a condo control ordinance for Quincy."

Lyons declined to comment on McGrath's statement, except to say, "The whole thing is getting out of hand but we're not quitting."

Lyons said the Quincy Apartment House Owners Association, which he represents, submitted a letter to the Council Monday asking for a meeting to "iron out our disagreement with the ordinance directly."

"The letter was not read Monday night but our request for a meeting still stands," he said.

McGrath, the target of critical Lyons' statements for the past two weeks, made his comments in the form of a statement read to his fellow councillors.

Then, he reintroduced a home rule petition asking the state legislature for permission to have a condo control ordinance, the same petition that was filed too late for action in December.

He also refuted the proposed ordinance for the Council's approval, even though the Council could not vote on it. The ordinance was sent to the Ordinance Committee.

McGrath said the only changes that were made in the proposed ordinance after Lyons had signed it were four changes requested by Lyons himself and agreed to by the tenant representatives.

"I will state without equivocation that no additional changes were made," he said. "I have specified for you the details of each change made. Mr. Lyons has yet to do so."

"I would remind tenants and landlords alike. This issue has been before the City Council, in one form or another, for in excess of one year -- in effect, a one year moratorium on condo regulation."

"In the month since that ordinance was endorsed by the prior City Council, tenants in at least two buildings have received notice that their homes are going condo -- 45 Oval Rd. and Bay Shore Apartments."

"The condo movement is real, it is upon us and the effects hurt the tenant."

McGrath called Lyons' statements "a personal attack on me. Mr. Lyons has repeatedly cast aspersions on my integrity and on my credibility."

"Mr. Lyons tactics of mudslinging, distortion and delay will not work. We have come beyond the stage of politics on this issue. I am committed to passage of this condo conversion ordinance as submitted."

Brewers Corner Meeting Thursday

The Planning Department will hold a neighborhood public meeting today (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at the Faith Lutheran Church Center to discuss the opening phase of the Brewers Corner Revitalization Study.

There will be a slide presentation and discussion of the study area conditions and problems.

City Councillor James Sheets said "the city and Dufresne Henry, Inc. have gathered quite a bit of useful information on Brewers Corner, but they need citizen input at this point in order to have a useful study."

This will be the first of three meetings designed into the study process.

Takes Issue With Article On Audit Of Quincy Court

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Your article in the January 14, 1982, issue of The Sun on the audit of the Quincy Court gives a very misleading impression of both the findings of the audit and of the state of affairs in the Court.

The audit did not say that the Court was "so fouled up" that it could not be audited. It found what it felt were certain "deficiencies". Some of the statements in the report were inaccurate. Others were misleading. Others show differing interpretations of what constitutes proper auditing practices.

Of the findings you quoted:

(1) It is true that we had a large amount of unprocessed revenue. The problem is that the Office was hit by both CETA cutbacks and the state hiring freeze which resulted from Proposition 2½. Our clerical staff dropped from 45 people to 31. Our cashier left in May and we were not able to fill her position. We had no cashier for seven months. The bookkeeper or personnel clerk had to leave their work to do the cashier's work.

(2) Bank reconciliations had not been prepared since July 1981 because of the bank's error in crediting the Clerk's Office with money owed the Probation Office and visa versa. It took considerable time to straighten out the bank's error.

(3) The receipts of bail funds have not been recorded to the bound "Record of Bail" because we found that to be an inefficient system. The running total is not maintained "on loose sheets of paper" but in a single ledger. The auditor did not find any inaccuracies in the bail records.

(4) While daily register tapes and sign-off sheets for two months could not be located, the information was obtained from the master tape for all but one day of that period.

(5) We do keep track of bad checks given to the Court.

(6) The complaints marked "paid dismissed" instead of "remitted" only reflected some confusion by a new employee as to the proper notation. The errors were corrected through back-up records.

(7) The charge that complaints were filed as "completed" when they were still active shows a misunderstanding by the auditor of what we mean by a "completed case". To us, a "completed case" means that the case does not have to go back before a judge, not that the case is over and done with for all purposes.

(8) It is true that some complaints were incorrectly validated or credited. But the auditor only found four or five cases which were incorrect of the many cases that he checked.

There was nothing in the auditor's report of which I was not already aware. In fact, I wrote a report to Judge Mason in July which, among other matters, described our "overloaded accounting system". Our workload had been growing by 8% a year, our staff was shrinking and we had received no money for new equipment. I indicated that, if data or word processing equipment was installed in this revenue, we could so increase our revenue that the equipment would pay for itself within a year. As a result of my report, Judge Mason's Data Processing Department has recommended that the Quincy Court be the first district court to receive new equipment.

To properly serve the public we need the tools to do the job. We cannot do the job if all we are given to work with are broken down, twenty year old typewriters. It is unfair to the many dedicated employees in this Office and it is unfair to the public.

I hope that this letter will correct the misconceptions which your article created.

Brownell Bills Aims At Petition Fraud

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell has filed legislation that would prohibit the fraudulent use of another's name in petitioning a member of the State Legislature.

The bill is the result of recent petitions to Brownell by persons in favor of casino gambling which, he said, contained a number of false signatures.

Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti investigated the alleged fraud and found a possible violation of common law forgery statutes, but he said it would be difficult to prosecute.

There were indications, he said, that the signatures interfered with the rights of Brownell's constituents to instruct their representative on a significant issue pending before the legislature.

Brownell said he filed the legislation as an explicit statement by the Legislature will be prosecuted in the future. Violation would call for up to $1,000 fine and a year in jail.

Ruth And The Super Bowl

If your wife lets you watch the Super Bowl game between the San Francisco 49'ers and Cincinnati Bengals on television Sunday, keep an eye out for Ruth Gordon.

You won't find her in the uniform of either team. But, she'll be there, carrying the ball in the super-duper commercial game.

The Quincy-born Academy-Emmy awards winning actress will be playing for Subaru of America, plugging its new Brat model.

She'll appear in a 30-second commercial that will cost get this $345,000.

The competition is pretty keen. There will be six automobile companies and three breweries advertising during the game.

"I'll be in a lot of rooms in Quincy," Miss Gordon muses in a note to this writer.

An estimated 100 million will tune in to CBS-TV to watch.

The agency handling Subaru held a recent press conference to introduce Miss Gordon in her new role.

A client vice-president noted that she "personifies everything that the Brat stands for: unique, irreverent, durable and reliable."

She got a kick out of that.

Miss Gordon, Quincy's Ambassador of Good Will since starting her career shortly after graduating from Quincy High School in 1914, is now a young 85.

She's still a teenager at heart, still bubbling over with the same energy, enthusiasm and spirit she had the day she rode a train out of the old Wollaston railroad station as a youngster, headed for New York with a dream.

I'm convinced she could play the part of a high school cheerleader and get away with it.

"In City Hall," she says in her note, "I hope my birth certificate is wearing well."

It is, Ruth. And so are you.

ANOTHER QUINCY YOUNGSTER, Ed Spargo of Sherman St., Wollaston, has a new prized possession: a personal note from Nancy Reagan.

Ed, a former newspaperman and now 74 years young, has had a long-time hobby: putting together and disseminating a health plan that puts the accent on "a sensible life style, common sense and moderation in everything."

Ed recently sent a copy to President and Mrs. Reagan. And back came a note signed personally by Nancy Reagan on White House stationery with embossed White House seal: Dear Mr. Spargo:

NANCY

"I was delighted to learn about your health plan. It's clear that you've put lots of work into it - it has so many good and sensible tips.

"My father is a doctor, so I've always been aware of what a blessing good health is. I want to commend you for making this helpful advice available to many people.

"The President joins me in sending you our best wishes."

Sincerely,
Nancy Reagan

TOM O'NEILL has tapped Robert Sanborn of Whiston Ave., Quincy Point, as his local campaign coordinator in his bid for governor. First task of Sanborn and other coordinators throughout the state is to help elect Democratic delegates for O'Neill to the May 22 nominating convention.

MEANWHILE, Quincy's Bill Geary, the first to declare his intentions to seek the Democratic nomination for Lt. Governor, has his campaign moving along. He has named Andrew Sutcliffe of Brookline as campaign manager. Geary is a former First Deputy of State and a former senior assistant to Gov. Michael Dukakis. The latter, of course, hopes to return as Governor.

ARTHUR TOBIN discovered suddenly during the hearings into his appointment as clerk magistrate of Quincy District Court that he has "nine children", not seven.

The Herald American identified Maurice Tobin of Boston, who was said to be a large contributor to Gov. Edward J. King's campaign, as one of Tobin's sons. He's not even related.

The Patriot Ledger identified Nina Tobin, who was seated behind the former mayor in a photo of the hearing, as a Tobin daughter. She's not. She's the wife of Tobin's brother, Tim.

Postal Service Initiates Crime Prevention Program

The Postal Inspection Service, the law enforcement arm of the United States Postal Service, has initiated a Crime Prevention Program in an effort to reduce postal crimes.

Victims of crime not only want law enforcement agencies to conduct investigations, but want to know what is being done to prevent the crime from occurring.

In this regard, Postal Inspectors are available to appear and give oral and visual presentations to civic community groups, retirement and senior citizen organizations, schools, and business banking establishments.

Speaking engagement requests can be made by writing to the Postal Inspector-in-Charge, P.O. Box 2217, Boston, MA 02205-7000, Attention ECP Program.

School Committeeman

— 'I don't think there's any doubt that most people, and I'm included, want four year high schools.'

Verenis Wants To Restore 'Focus' To Quincy Schools

By TOM HENSHAW

Newly elected Nicholas Verenis sees his mission on the School Committee as one of restoring a sense of focus to the Quincy public schools that was lost some 15 years ago.

In the early 70s and late 60s, he said, "we got caught up in the idea of being creative and innovative and it was badly timed because it got caught up in the social turmoil of the times."

"That was all reflected in the schools, as a matter of discipline, as a matter of academics," he said. "When you have creativity and innovation in the classroom you create confusion and lack of direction."

"We find ourselves in somewhat of a wash of educational jargon and methods of teaching. We lost focus."

Verenis, a former teacher at North Quincy High School who lost his job in the reduction in force caused by Proposition 2½, made his remarks in an interview with The Quincy Sun.

He also told The Sun:

- He probably would have lost his job eventually even without Prop 2½ due to declining school enrollment. "We had an awful lot of teachers in this system who didn't necessarily have to be on the job."

- Reorganization of the Quincy school system is the most critical decision facing the School Committee. He leans toward the middle school concept because children mature faster today.

- He does not plan to use the School Committee as a stepping stone to higher office, not yet anyway. But being elected to public office for the first time is a "tremendous ego gratification."

Here is the text, edited for brevity and clarity, of The Sun's interview with Verenis:

SUN - Proposition 2½ cost you your job with the Quincy public schools. How do you feel about it? Good law? Bad law?

VERENIS - It's common knowledge that I supported it. Or at least I voted for it. I think in general Proposition 2½ said to an awful lot of people, politicians in particular, that the ball game is over. You've got to put your house in order. It was not the best way to put your house in order. My feeling is obviously that I had to support it because there was no alternative. Had there been a rejection of 2½ there still would have been no tax reform in Massachusetts and that's the problem. Whether 2½ specifically caused my job loss I think is somewhat debatable. If it didn't happen last year then it would have happened by 1984 anyway.

SUN - Because of the decline in enrollment?

VERENIS - Sure. Just the declining enrollment has been the cause of the layoffs of teachers. We had an awful lot of teachers in this system who didn't necessarily have to be on the job. Class loads were small. It was an ideal situation educationally but financially it wasn't the best. I'm getting the feeling that Proposition 2½ is still taking the brunt of this. It's somewhat of a bum rap. At least we're beginning to see some benefit come out of it. There will be some tax reform.

Politicians are beginning to listen and say, "Hey, things aren't quite right and people are really fed up." You constantly heard people debating and talking but nobody was doing anything about it. There was no response on the part of government to turn things around.

SUN - You feel it's worthwhile, though?

VERENIS - I think the attempt is worthwhile. It's still a little too early to call a halt to everything and go back to our old ways. Our old ways were no great situation either. I'm a little hesitant to put the brakes on everything.

SUN - Would you like to see some changes in Prop 2½ and if so, what?

VERENIS - The basic principal of 2½, which is tax reform, is the critical thing that we shouldn't lose in all of this. Unless we get some good, solid tax reform out of it then we've achieved nothing. We've agonized and destroyed people for nothing. It's a little late to turn back now.

SUN - Incidentally, what are you doing for a living now?

VERENIS - I'm partially involved in a family business, Columbia Billiard Co., bowling and billiard supplies.

SUN - Why did you run for School Committee?

VERENIS - That's an interesting question because certainly I don't need the headaches at this point in my life. But having been involved in education for 10 or 11 years, it was a good opportunity. I'm still young enough but not too old to make a transition. I firmly

Quincy's Yesterdays

By Tom Henshaw

Fuel Rationing Said To Hurt War Effort

Health Commissioner Dr. Richard M. Ash said that rationing of fuel oil in Quincy was hurting rather than helping the war effort by creating a near epidemic of colds, bronchitis, pneumonia and other ills.

"Fuel oil rationing has been carried to a dangerous point," he said. "The health of our people depending on fuel oil for heat is being impaired to an alarming degree."

"Anyone knows that an individual cannot keep in good health or perform necessary work when the body is numbed with cold. For good health the temperature should be at least 70 degrees."

Dr. Ash said ill health brought on by cold houses may be keeping war workers away from their jobs.

"If our people are not physically well, we can leave our planes unbuilt and our battleships on paper," he said.

DONOVAN NAMED COMMISSIONER

James A. Donovan, superintendent of streets for many years, was named to succeed Ezekiel C. Sargent as commissioner of public works, completing Mayor Charles A. Ross' house-cleaning of department heads.

The only major office-holder left over from the administration of former Mayor Thomas S. Burgin was Health Commissioner Ash.

Ross said Donovan would continue for the duration of the war to oversee the Street Department as part of his DPW duties, thus saving the superintendent's salary of $3,350 a year.

FATS, CANS UNCOLLECTED

Housewives who had been collecting tin cans and fats for more than a month for the war effort were outraged when the trucks failed to arrive to pick them up on the appointed Monday.

D. Foster Taylor, chairman of the salvage committee, sharply criticized what he called a lack of cooperation on the part of the Highway Department. DPW Commissioner Sargent blamed inclement weather.

"We had 21,000 calls to make and we just could not make them all," he said.

BUOY CREATES CONFUSION

A 1,000-pound iron buoy, washed ashore at Squantum more than a half century ago and used as an incinerator, was donated to the scrap metal drive by Elizabeth and Emma Giesser, 1 Green Lane.

But when they called City Hall the message got garbled and Mayor Ross thought that a mine had washed onto the beach at Squantum and he rushed there with his staff to prevent an explosion.

CHAIRMAN SOUGHT

The City Council remained without a Finance Committee chairman when Council President William W. Jenness couldn't make up his mind among Louis A. George, Eddie D. Carson, Clifton H. Baker and Edna B. Austin.

QUINCY-ISMS

The Quincy Chamber of Commerce started a campaign against absenteeism after General Manager Edward D. Whiting of the Lawley shipyard said it was the biggest problem in war industries.

... Richard (Denny) Allen, former member of the Patriot Ledger editorial staff, was promoted from private to staff sergeant at Gore Field, Great Falls, Mont. ... Roasting chickens were 41 cents a pound and MacIntosh apples five pounds for 29 cents at y's Markets, 1177 Hancock St. and corner of Water and Franklin Sts., Quincy Adams ... Mayor Ross told 43 city employees to make arrangements to pay $1,400 in overdue bills to City Hospital in 30 days or "drastic action will be taken" ... Mrs. Edward Hook of South Central Ave. was elected chairman of the Dyette Group at Wollaston Methodist Church ... "For Me and My Gal," starring Judy Garland, George Murphy, Gene Kelly, Martha Eggerth and Ben Blue, was playing at the Strand ... The Fore River shipyard released the first pictures of the so-called "invasion ships" after three of them were launched in one day under the designation "special ships" ... Mary Atwood was conducting classes in how to cook large quantities of food for use in emergencies at the Boston Consolidated Gas Co. office in Quincy Square ... A half spring chicken, southern style, was 75 cents at the Brown Derby, 148 Water St., where Earl Rand and his Five Rhythm Boys were playing for dancing ... Princess Irina Skariatina spoke on "Russian Yesterday and Today" at the Morning Division of the executive board of the Quincy Women's Club ... Neils J. Nelson of the Bryan VFW Post was elected commander of the Quincy Veterans Council ... Ersatz coffee, a compound known as "Special Victory Blend," containing coffee, chicory, cereal and soy beans, made its appearance on the shelves of Quincy grocery stores ... Civil Service certified Elsie M. Parmenter, 43 Quincy Ave.; Anna L. Mirra, 149 Kendrick Ave.; and Elizabeth Carr, 144 Holbrook Rd. as eligible for appointment as information clerk at City Hospital at a salary of $14 a week ... Men's $24.50 suits were selling for $18.38 during a clearance sale at The Lewis Store, 1454 Hancock St. ... Librarian Galen Hill, chairman of the Quincy Victory Book Campaign, appealed for books for servicemen.

REMEMBER WHEN?

Wheelchair Ramp Installed At Good Counsel Church

Handicapped parishioners of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount, can now gain access to the church via the first wheelchair ramp at a Catholic Church in Quincy.

The ramp, which will be dedicated in the spring, is in memory of the late Boston firefighter James Gibbons who died

Jan. 6, 1981, while fighting an eight-alarm fire in Boston's Back Bay.

Mr. Gibbons, 31, a Merrymount resident, was the husband of Marie (Foley) Gibbons, and the father of two young sons, Sean and Dennis.

He was a Cub Scout leader, coach in the Quincy Youth Soccer League and active in the Salvation Army Gym Hockey League and Merrymount Association.

According to Rev. Peter Martocchio, pastor, the parish council thought dedicating the ramp to Mr. Gibbons was appropriate because he had so often assisted others.

Also, said Rev. Martocchio, Mr. Gibbons mother, since deceased, was confined to a wheelchair.

Money for the ramp, on the right side of the church, was collected at a fund-raiser last fall at the Chateau de Ville, Randolph.

Rev. Martocchio noted that the addition of the ramp was particularly appropriate during this "Year of the Handicapped".

Members of the parish council who helped arrange for the ramp were Robert Mitchell, Louis Mazzini, Francis Whalen, John McEvoy and Rev. Martocchio.

Your future just got brighter.

Every person who works is now eligible to open an Individual Retirement Account providing both tax deductions and money for tomorrow. And every person who opens one should come to Quincy Savings Bank because our IRAs are just about unbeatable.

$100 can get you started.

You can open a variable rate IRA for only $100. A fixed rate IRA for only $500. And deposit any amount at any frequency to either. (Within the term of the 18-month certificate, at the rate being paid.)

High rates.

Our fixed rate IRA pays you the current 30-month Treasury Bill rate, for the full 18-month term. Our variable rate IRA is just that: the rate changes weekly, based on the Donoghue's Money Fund™ 7-day average. Either way, you're the winner. For instance, if you put away $2000 a year for 30 years – and were paid an annual rate of 12% – you'd receive nearly $654,000!

Personalized profile.

If you stop by any Quincy Savings Bank Office, we'll work out your own statement of how much you'll have for retirement. Based on your annual, tax-deductible contributions of up to $2000 – $2250 if you're married; and $4000 if both spouses are working and file a joint return.

No service charge.

And we pay you $10.

Your Quincy Savings Bank IRA is fully-insured. Free of all charges. And, to get you started, we'll brighten your day with a $10 bill when you open your new IRA.

Guiding light.

Check what other banks are offering. Then, when you see what Quincy Savings Bank has for plans, return the coupon or stop by any of our offices. The sooner you see the light, the sooner your retirement funds begin earning high interest from us!

DENTAL X-RAYS

X-rays are so much a part of dental treatment that it's hard to imagine dentistry without them. But X-rays have been in use less than 90 years; only 50 years ago, many dentists didn't have x-ray machines. How do x-rays help us?

- Cavities between teeth can be detected while still small.
- The bone around teeth can be studied to evaluate periodontal disease (pyorrhea).
- Other problems can be detected, including impacted teeth, extra teeth, missing teeth, cysts, tumors, fractures, and metabolic and glandular diseases.

Furthermore, X-rays are used in the course of orthodontic treatment, root canal treatment and oral surgery.

As X-rays have grown in importance in dentistry, improved technology has produced better X-rays with far less exposure to radiation. today, dental X-rays are safer and more effective than ever before.

Cable TV Turned On In Quincy Point

A random sampling of homes in Quincy Point have been turned on to cable television, the Kiwanis Club of Quincy was told Monday.

"We are operating now," said David Keefe, general manager of Quincy Cablestems, "on an experimental basis with a few subscribers."

Keefe said later that less than 100 subscribers are being serviced in the Quincy Point area. They were offered the hook-up, he said, when they called up to find out when the service was starting.

He described it as a test program.

"We have 35 new employees, many of them Quincy residents, who are inexperienced with cable," he said. "Also we have a lot of new equipment to be tested for the first time.

"We expect to start hooking up 75 to 100 people a day in February and March."

Keefe said the subscribers are paying the regular service charges for all 52 channels available, except the Spanish International Network, which is not yet on.

He told Kiwanians that cable service in Quincy is right on schedule.

"We expect that Quincy Center and Wollaston will be wired up in the winter and the spring," he said. "We will be working in North Quincy and Houghs Neck in the summer and fall."

Keefe asked for the cooperation of the Kiwanis Club and other community groups in developing the so-called community channels that are reserved for local programming.

"We don't know much about community TV," he said. "We have a lot of opportunities to work together with groups like yours."

Keefe said he sees a rising trend toward TV-watching.

"We think people will be watching television more and more," he said. "Since I have been in the business for 10 years the watching time has gone up one hour."

"It is one of the more quantitative things that people do. With cable they will want to watch more."

'Alcoholism And Children' Discussion At Library

Kathleen Flaherty, director of the Alcohol Resource Center for Primary Prevention in Newton, will speak today (Thursday) at 10 a.m. at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Center.

Her topic, "Alcoholism and Children", concerns children of alcoholics.

It is directed toward adults working with children and toward parents, especially those whose children will participate in a six week workshop for children of alcoholics.

The workshop, a pilot program, is scheduled at the Crane Public Library for Fridays, 3 to 4 p.m. on Feb. 5, 12, 26, and March 5, 12, and 19.

The workshop is open to

Richard P. Shannon, 58, Retired Code Inspector

A funeral Mass for Richard P. Shannon, 58, of Quincy, a retired code inspector for the city, was held yesterday (Wednesday) in St. Mary's Church.

Mr. Shannon died Jan. 16, at home after a lengthy illness. A Quincy native, he was a World War II Army veteran.

Mr. Shannon retired last year because of illness.
He is survived by his wife, Susan

L. (Callanan) Shannon; five sons, Ronald W. Shannon of the Quincy Fire Department, and Michael F. Shannon, both of Weymouth; Paul D. Shannon, James M. Shannon and David A. Shannon, a daughter, Patricia M. Davis, all of Quincy; and a grandchild.

He was also the father of the late Mr. Richard P. Shannon.
Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

A former Wollaston resident, Beth (Hamlin) Hanson, 83, of Hampton, N.H., was among the victims of the Air Florida Jet crash Jan. 13, in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Hanson was killed when the jet on which she was a passenger struck a bridge in Washington and plunged into the Potomac River.

Born and raised in Boston, Mrs. Hanson had lived in Wollaston for 35 years before moving to Hampton 20 years ago. She was graduated from Girls Latin School in Boston, attended Converse College, Spartanburg, South Carolina; and was graduated from Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing, Boston.

Mrs. Hanson had been a volunteer at Exeter Hospital and was a member of First Congregational Church in Hampton and the Hampton Garden Club.

She is survived by a son, Roger Hanson of McLean, Va.; two daughters, Polly Alexander of Toronto and Judith Hutton of Stockton, Ca.; two sisters, Louise Comstock of Hartford and Harriet Dora Hamlin of Hingham; nine grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 1 p.m. in First Congregational Church in Hampton. Burial will be in the Village Cemetery, Fremont.

Thomas J. Finneran, 82, Former Holy Cross College Clerk

A funeral Mass for Thomas J. Finneran, 82, of Quincy, a former clerk for Holy Cross College, was held Tuesday in St. Boniface Church.

Mr. Finneran died Jan. 16, in Carney Hospital, Dorchester, after a long illness. He had lived in Quincy most of his life.

Born in Boston, he was a World War I Navy veteran. He had also lived in Dorchester.

Mr. Finneran was a clerk at Holy Cross for 10 years and retired in 1971.

He is survived by a sister, Rose A. Finneran, and a niece, Lillian C. Perry, both of Marshfield; and several grandchildren and nephews.

Funeral arrangements were by Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St. Burial was in Marshfield Hills Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to Multiple Handicapped Children, c/o Mayflower Parent's Association, 123 South St., Plymouth, 02360.

Ida Peterson, 91, Faith Lutheran Church Member

Funeral services for Ida, (Luoma) Peterson, 91, of Quincy, a long time member of Faith Lutheran Church, were held Saturday in Lutheran Center Chapel, 65 Roberts St.

Mrs. Peterson died Jan. 13, in Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

She was a Quincy resident for more than 50 years.

Born in Teuvo, Finland, she was active in Faith Lutheran's Ladies Aid Society.

She had also lived in Hingham and Weymouth.

Mrs. Peterson is survived by three daughters, Irma Thompson, Paula Garland and Bertha Johnson, all of Quincy; six grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Rev. James Kimmell, pastor, officiated at the services. Funeral arrangements were by Matthew A. Hannel Funeral Home, 88 Copeland St. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Squantum Church Installs Officers

New church officers and board members of the First Church of Squantum were installed Sunday during the morning worship service.

In his charge to the new church officers, pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin asked that they "be persons of prayer, students of scripture, regular in their attendance at Sunday morning worship services, eager participants in the activities of the church and, most of all, persons who are committed to the Lord Jesus Christ and His Kingdom."

Church officers are: Moderator, Dorothy Abbe; clerk, Barbara Walter; assistant clerk, Lorraine Josselyn; auditor, William Galarneau; treasurer, Charles Todd; assistant treasurer, Roy Hansen; financial secretary, Kenneth Johnson; benevolence Treasurer, Mary Gifford; historian, Gordon Nelson; church school superintendent, Thomas Williamson and head usher, Toré F.B. Wallin.

Delegates are: Inter-Church Council, Fred MacMillan, Fred Josselyn and Lorraine Josselyn; Metropolitan Boston Association, Thomas Williamson; Protestant Social Service Bureau, Silas W. Porter; Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ, Dorothy Abbe.

Church council members at large are:

Frederick J. MacMillan, Stewart M. Scott and Grace Holmes.

Insure Your IRA

You know that this year all employees can contribute up to $2,000 yearly to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) and deduct it from Federal taxable income. ($2,250 if non-working spouse is included; $4,000 for working couple.)

You also know that interest earned by your IRA is sheltered from all income taxes until you retire.

But do you know that the best IRA is with a bank that insures your fund, helps you to select a high interest investment, and charges no fee.

Quincy Cooperative is that kind of bank, and its friendly staff will be glad to answer any question you may have about setting up your own IRA. Call us at 479-6600.

QEA Booklet To Accent The Postive In Schools

A booklet on the positive things occurring in local schools, and opening the schools to parents in February are part of the Quincy Education Association's plans to bring attention to public education.

The QEA's efforts are part of a national drive to call the public's attention to the importance of, and the need to support, public education.

The campaign was punctuated by a "National Day of Conscience for Public Education" Sunday.

JoAnn O'Malley, QEA president, says the booklet has been approved by the school superintendent and should be completed in a few weeks.

She said it will point out how well students are doing, and reinforce what's going on.

The "open schools" will allow parents to spend an hour or a day at school to see what's going on.

Mrs. O'Malley explained that Massachusetts is suffering a double blow with President Ronald Reagan's budget cuts in education, and Proposition 2½.

She stressed the need to "let everyone know the problem."

"Public education can no longer be as we used to know it."

TAX TIPS

by David J. Liben

BREAKS FOR TAXPAYERS WHO DON'T ITEMIZE

(Second in a series)

In last week's column, I talked about deductions you can claim for many of your car expenses — even if you don't itemize. And we said that if you bought your car or truck after 1977, you could be entitled to a rebate — from the IRS — of up to 10% of the purchase price. The amount of rebate depends on the year of purchase, useful life, and percentage of mileage that qualifies for deduction. The rebate is available even if you are reimbursed for your mileage.

Power tools, equipment, home computers, briefcases, calculators, and many other items you use in your work qualify as well. And the IRS will even add interest to your rebate check for items purchased in 1978, 1979, and 1980.

ANNOUNCING RETIREMENT INDEPENDENCE FOR ALL AMERICANS.

At 1st American Bank we believe that you should be able to afford retirement independence. And with our new Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs), you can. Now almost everyone is eligible. No matter what you do. Or how much you make. Even if you already belong to your company's retirement plan.

currently paying 14.75%.
For information on other IRA or Keogh Investment opportunities fill out the coupon below or call us at 436-1500. Or stop by any 1st American Bank office in Boston or the South Shore area.

HOW YOUR IRA WORKS.
You can now contribute up to $2,000 per year ($4,000 if your spouse also works). You get immediate tax benefits by deducting your yearly IRA contribution from that year's taxable income. And your interest accumulates tax-free, increasing your account by a larger amount each year. You only pay taxes at retirement, when your income figures will be a lot less.

WE LET YOU RETIRE A LITTLE BIT EACH MONTH.
You can open a variable rate IRA for as little as $50. Our monthly installment coupon book lets you tailor your contributions to your budget. So you can save for a rosy tomorrow without going in the red today. And because our 18 month variable rate certificates are based on the Donoghue Money Fund 30 Day Average™ you'll enjoy a return comparable to money market funds. The rate, which changes 12.01% monthly, is currently 12.01%. And like all 1st American IRAs, your savings are protected by F.D.I.C. insurance.

OR GET A FIX ON YOUR FUTURE.
If you prefer an 18 month fixed rate, choose our $1000 minimum deposit fixed rate IRA.

WE'RE GIVING YOU CREDIT FOR A SMART MOVE.
For a limited time only, we'll give you a Royal Credit Card Calculator when you invest $2,000 towards an IRA or Keogh Plan. It's our way of giving you credit for taking the 1st American step towards financial independence.

believe in getting involved in my community. I firmly believe that what's going on in the schools is not correct and someone needs a voice to try and change that. Thirdly, I supported a tax-cutting measure that cost me my job and if I'm supporting that I should be able to get out and speak my piece about it.

SUN - A lot of people thought of you as a riffed school teacher out to get even. There were no elements of that to it, were there?

VERENIS - None whatsoever. What's there to get even for?

SUN - The School Committee has lost a lot of its clout with the loss of fiscal autonomy. Is it just another city department now? What is the role of the School Committee now?

VERENIS - Let me put it this way: In Quincy, as soon as we get our financial house in order, the direction of the School Committee will not necessarily be in terms of dollars but rather in terms of education. What are we producing? Are we getting our money's worth? I think that becomes the critical focus of the School Committee. And what are we producing.

SUN - What do you feel you bring to the School Committee?

VERENIS - Having been an educator, I think I know what the needs of the kids are and what the needs of parents are and, of course, what the needs of taxpayers are. I'm trying to blend all of that together. That doesn't happen overnight. But that might happen at the end of four years. I hope that it will be able to bring back a good solid focus to the School Department.

SUN - "Bring back." That implies that there was a good solid focus once and it was lost. How was it lost?

VERENIS - I think many school systems - Quincy included - in the early 70s, late 60s, in all the social upheaval that was going on in this country, we got caught up in the idea of being creative and innovative and that creativity and innovation was badly timed because it got caught up in the social turmoil of the times. That was all reflected in the schools, as a matter of discipline, as a matter of academics. There was no direction socially for them. When you have creativity and innovation in a classroom you create confusion and a lack of direction for students. And teachers and professionals as well. We find ourselves in somewhat of a wash of educational jargon and methods of teaching and so on and so forth. We lost focus of it.

SUN - Would it be fair to say that you don't want to see innovation and creativity in the schools?

VERENIS - No. I'm saying that the timing was bad. I'm saying creativity and innovation came at a time when social turmoil was taking place. I think the two of them did not mix well and created a lack of direction for teachers and students. Of course I'm not opposed to it.

SUN - What specifically would you do to change back to a good solid focus?

VERENIS - The school system is like building a house. The foundation has got to be there otherwise the house will crumble. The analogy, I think, is clear. If we take the student and make sure that the foundations of learning are firmly in place and then we take that house and that student and build ... that means the curriculum, what's being taught and its relevancy. Is this what we want our children to learn? And we begin to build from there. But we make sure that the foundation is firmly in place in the beginning.

SUN - It sounds like you're a three-Rs man.

VERENIS - Somewhat. You don't function unless you have the three-Rs. You can take your creativity and your innovation and cast it to the wind because it has no effect. It takes on the disguise of creativity and innovation if you don't have the three-Rs. I don't think anybody will argue with the three-Rs.

SUN - Haven't they been sort of derided recently? Aren't they regarded as old fashioned?

VERENIS - It might be. Education is like everything else. The pendulum swings back and forth. We're in the swing of the pendulum again. Through trial and error you learn. The curiosity is there so we'll try it and see what happens. If it doesn't work out to the satisfaction of most of us then we go back, but we take with us some of the things that we learned. Some of the things we learned were valuable and we can use them.

SUN - The pendulum is swinging back to what now?

VERENIS - I would say the pendulum probably is swinging back - not all the way back, not as a reaction - but people are saying, "Now wait a minute, we've gone a little bit too far with this thing. We've got to slow down and make sure that our house is in order, financially and academically, that we are giving our students the best education."

SUN - Is Proposition 2½ making it easier or more difficult to do this?

VERENIS - Ultimately, it's going to make it easier. We're going to know how much money we're going to have to work with and what we want to do and, on the ability we have to pay, that's what we're going to do. I don't know if that's clear enough.

SUN - What major changes, if any, would you like to see in the Quincy schools?

VERENIS - First and foremost, if you call this a change, we have to look at reorganization. That's critical. The way the plans have been presented, reorganization comes across as, "My God, they're going to close the schools!" In one sense, that's true, but if the School Committee adopts one of the suggested plans then it also means a different style of education. We could conceivably have a K through 8 system that's totally new to Quincy or we'll have a middle school concept which also is totally new to Quincy. Reorganization is a change that's going to have to come. It has to be in place so everybody knows where their children are going to school. This is what we're going with for the future. But we've got to be careful, too, what type of plan, what type of system, what kind of education will be used. That's critical.

SUN - Which of the plans that have been advanced do you favor?

VERENIS - I have no particular favorite. There were six and now two more have been added. That's the reason I have not come up with a conclusive answer yet. I think what we've got to do is look at them, to see which one is the best one educationally.

SUN - Are there some you would rule out right now?

VERENIS - Yeah. Plan 1, keeping the status quo.

SUN - Is there one you lean toward?

VERENIS - I'm not convinced the junior high schools as we've got them now are the best way to operate. Adolescence is a very difficult period for children. Given the social conditions, I think we should make some adjustments. The middle school concept takes into consideration that children mature faster socially today. I don't think there's any doubt that most people, and I'm included, want four year high schools.

SUN - Why is that?

VERENIS - Because of the social maturation of students. Grade 9 is a difficult period to be alive in, both socially and physically. Those students are better suited to be in the high school situation.

SUN - Supt. Creedon has predicted all sorts of dire things for the Quincy public schools under 2½. Do you agree with him?

VERENIS - I think it's too early to tell. You have an elected body called the school committee and you have the City Council and the mayor. These people have got to sit down and work cooperatively for public safety and public education. So I think it's too early to tell.

SUN - It's possible then that there are dire things ahead for the public schools.

VERENIS - Anything's possible. I am not going to commit myself to anything that's dire and drastic. We'll wait and see and we'll work our way through it together. I'm not in the business of predicting.

SUN - Some people in the past have used the School Committee as a stepping stone to higher office. Do you see anything for yourself beyond School Committee?

VERENIS - No. I don't.

SUN - Why not?

VERENIS - I haven't thought about it.

SUN - Sometimes that happens instinctively, you don't have to think about it.

VERENIS - That's true. I'm a student of politics. This is the first time I've ever been involved in politics as a candidate, which, by the way, was probably a very valuable experience. I've studied it. I've worked with candidates. I've taught it. But I'd never been the center of attraction, so to speak, the candidate doing all these things. It was thrilling. It was exciting. It was a pleasure. And it was a learning experience, win or lose. Am I going to be the mayor of Quincy? I don't know. Certainly I can't say no. I enjoyed politics in my first experience. It's a tremendous ego gratification. It's incredible. Even I felt it. Gee whiz, this really is pretty spiffy. But I'm not a public type of person where my life becomes public and all that stuff. I don't like that. I enjoy reading everybody else's but I don't particularly enjoy having them reading mine. Which probably would be my greatest hindrance in any political career. I've always been a wait and see person. I've never really committed myself to something like that.

North A Contender For Suburban Title

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Suburban League, which has been dominated in basketball by Cambridge Rindge and Latin and 7-foot Pat Ewing the last three years, is turning into a real battle for the title this year and North Quincy is very much a contender.

Going into last Tuesday's games, Brookline, beaten only by the Raiders, and Waltham were tied for the top with 7-1 marks, followed by Cambridge and North Quincy at 6-2. The Raiders were 7-3 overall.

Eddie Miller's North team, coming on strong, sought its fifth win in a row and seventh in eight games Tuesday against Weymouth South and Friday at 3:30 hosts Cambridge. Next Tuesday night at 8 the Raiders are home to South Boston in a non-league game.

North's 6-foot-10 center, Chip Bunker, has come into his own in recent games and the Raiders have surged with him.

In his last four games Bunker has scored 32, 26, 26 and 28 points and he sparked North to its fourth straight win and sixth in seven games last Friday, a 68-50 decision over Weymouth North.

Bunker scored 28 points, hitting eight for 10 from the free throw line, had 12 rebounds and blocked five shots.

"Chip has been playing up to his potential in every area," Miller said. "All he needed was a little confidence. In earlier games he had been a big factor with his rebounding and blocked shots, but he hadn't been scoring too well. Now that he has his confidence and our other players, who are very unselfish, are getting the ball into him, he should continue to be a dominating force in the league over the rest of the season."

North shot an outstanding 68 percent (26-for-38) from the floor, continuing to better its 60 percent shooting average.

"The boys are getting smarter in their shot selection," Miller said. "Of course, depending upon our inside game as we do helps boost our shooting average."

Wes Paul, who has been one of

WES PAUL, senior guard, has been the leading scorer in most games for North Quincy and, when not scoring himself, has been feeding Chip Bunker, the Raiders' 6-10 center

North's standouts all season and took up the scoring slack earlier, had 14 points in the win over Weymouth North and several assists.

Miller was pleased with the work of his bench. Eddie Carroll, 6-5 forward, who missed the Brockton game with a broken cheek bone, returned and saw limited action wearing a mask. He had two points and took down six rebounds.

Earlier in the week the Raiders had defeated Brockton, 54-49, as Bunker scored 26 points, grabbed 13 rebounds and blocked four shots.

Jim Kelly had one of his best games with eight points and 11 rebounds and Bob Flynn also had a fine game with 11 points.

Quincy Still Having Its Problems

Things haven't been getting any better for the Quincy basketball team, which not only is one of the smallest in the Suburban League but has been hampered by numerous injuries and illnesses.

Joe Amoroso's Presidents who, despite their handicaps, have given 100 percent in every game and never quit, lost two games last week to drop their record to 3-7.

Quincy will play Arlington in a non-league game Saturday at 5 p.m. at Boston University in a preliminary to the BU game. Next Tuesday the Presidents will play at Cambridge Rindge and Latin at 3:30.

One of the bright spots for Quincy has been the scoring of Peter Papile, the fourth leading scorer in the Suburban League with an average of nearly 20 points a game.

Quincy was defeated by Brockton, 63-44, last Saturday with Papile scoring 29 points.

Earlier in the week Brookline's Suburban League co-leaders topped the Presidents, 74-52.

Quincy, which hasn't had its full team available since the start of the season, trailed, 18-12, after a period, came back to tie it at 18-18 but then had 25 turnovers as Brookline pulled away.

Papile had another big night with 35 points, while Bob Mudge, another who has had an excellent season, had six points, eight rebounds, eight assists and three steals.

Raiderettes Slump

The North Quincy girls' basketball team, which rolled to a 7-0 record, slumped last week and lost two games (three losses in four games) to drop to 8-3 (5-3 in the Suburban League).

The Raiderettes, who lost seven of their top nine players from last year's first tournament team ever, tried to rebound Tuesday against Weymouth South. Friday they will play at Cambridge Rindge and Latin at 3:30 and next Tuesday will host Minuteman Regional at 3:30 in a non-league game. There will be no junior varsity game that day.

Last Friday the North girls, probably feeling the effects of their three-overtime loss to Brockton earlier in the week, fell behind, 13-0, at the start and, despite cutting the lead twice to seven points, lost to Weymouth North, 54-37.

"The girls were just asleep out there and couldn't do anything right," Coach Paul Bregoli said. "We trailed, 15-4, after one period and I put in some reserves. Janet Petkun and Mary Ellen Timmins did well and we cut the gap to seven points at the half."

The starters returned in the second half but Weymouth outscored the Raiderettes, 15-3, and increased its margin to 40-20.

Bregoli inserted some junior varsity players and Karen Boutillier and Joanne Keenan turned in fine performances as North again moved to within seven. But Weymouth came back to pull safely away.

JoAnn Runge scored 14 points, and Chris Choukas had nine points and 15 rebounds. The Raiderettes have been hurting with several players hobbled by injuries.

North Quincy dropped a 57-56 heartbreaker to Brockton in three overtimes in a game the Raiderettes could have put safely away many times.

North held a 15-10 lead in the first period but Brockton tied it at 24-24 at halftime. The Raiderettes took a 36-34 edge into the fourth quarter.

With 10 seconds left to play in regulation time, North trailed by a point. Simone Koch hit a free throw for the Raiderettes to send the game into overtime.

The teams remained tied after two OT periods but, with 40 seconds to play in the third extra session, North led by three points.

A Brockton player was fouled and missed the first end of a one-on-one. However, a North girl committed a lane violation, giving the shooter another chance and this time she hit both shots to put Brockton a point behind.

The North girls tried to hold the ball and run down the clock but were the victims of a questionable traveling call, giving Brockton the ball with 23 seconds left. With just one second left Heidi Schubert threw up a "hail Mary" shot and it hit to give Brockton the victory.

"Our shooting was atrocious," said Bregoli, whose team hit on just 20 for 89 from the floor and 16 for 41 from the foul line. "I can't believe the chances we had. We should have been way ahead at the half and then, in overtime, we missed eight breakaway layups."

Runge scored 21 points, had 15 rebounds and six steals. Choukas also had a good game with 23 points.

School Committee Asked To Reconsider War Sports Ban

The City Council passed a resolution asking the School Committee to reconsider its "hasty" decision to ban all interscholastic sports except football for the duration of the war.

"There is a real need for competitive sports in the schools," said Councillor Joseph J. Kendrick, noting that Army and Navy training programs for high schools stress the need for such activities.

Meanwhile, unofficial basketball teams from Quincy and North Quincy High Schools, calling themselves "Carter Orphans", after Athletic Director James Carter, were playing schedules that included high schools.

The North Quincy Orphans, coached by student John Edward (Tubby) Williams, dropped dimes in the farebox of an Eastern Mass bus and journeyed to Weymouth where they trampled the Maroons, 79-36.

Eddie Humphrey led the unofficial Raiders with 23 points while Bus Seager had 16 and Bud White 10.

The North Quincy lineup included: Seager, White, forwards; Humphrey, center; Creedon, Reid, Goldberg, Meade, guards. Johnny Creedon was named captain for the game.

The Quincy Orphans, the unofficial basketball team from Quincy High School, got into hot water by failing to show up for a scheduled game with the Clapp Memorial Alpha in Weymouth.

Bruce Saunders, manager of the Clapp Memorial team, said the Alphas will have "no further dealings with local teams which lack the responsibility to fulfill previously booked encounters."

INTRAMURAL ACTION

Athletic attention at Quincy High School turned to the intramural basketball league, an eight team loop directed by Munroe MacLean, the varsity basketball coach in better times.

Jackie Page tallied 15 points to lead the P-47s to a 25-22 victory over the Boston Bombers; Jack Mathieson and Paul Quintilliani sparked the Thunderbirds to a 29-9 win over the Hurricanes.

Capt. Jimmy Papile and Vin McDonald had eight points apiece in the Spitfires' 23-19 decision over the marine Interceptors and Capt. Ed Ciochetti scored eight points as the Flying Tigers beat the PBs, 20-14.

CRUSADERS WIN

Red McCellan scored two goals and assisted on another as his Merrymount Crusaders downed Old Colony DeMolay, 4-0, in a Quincy Hockey League game on Sailors Home Pond, Wollaston.

The Merrymount lineup included: Brady, goal; Kemp, Peterson, defense; McCellan, Christian, B. Slavin, forwards; Gullikson, J. Slavin, Gallagher, Sprague, Reid, spares.

In a non-league contest, McCellan scored two goals in a 10-minute overtime to give the Crusaders a 13-11 victory over the Wollaston Hockey Club. The score was tied 9-9 in regulation time.

ORPHANS WIN AGAIN

Bud White scored 13 points and Bus Seager added 12 to lead the North Quincy Orphans to a 48-22 victory over Milton Academy in a game marked by fine defense by Duke Goldberg and Tommy Meade.

CHURCH LEAGUE TIE

The St. Johns basketball team, led by Slum Salvati and Tony DiTullio, moved into a tie with Sacred Heart atop the Greater Quincy YMCA Church League with a 29-20 win over Beth Israel.

The St. Johns lineup: DiTullio, Grazioso, Vergobbi, forwards; Salvati, center; Sondonato, DeAndrea, Dodd, guards.

The Beth Israel lineup: Cutler, Feldman, forwards; Nankin, Silver, centers; Kramer, Cohen, Sternberg, guards.

WILLIAMS BEST

Ted Williams, who was fined $250 by Red Sox Manager Joe Cronin for "loafing" and "sulking" during the 1942 season, was chosen player of the year by the New York Chapter of the Baseball Writers of America.

Quincy Icemen Score 5 Big Ones To Down North

Quincy's hockey team, which is having an up and down season, last week turned in its finest performance, scoring five goals in the third period and walloping North Quincy by a surprising 9-4 score.

The win improved the Presidents' record to 4-4-0, while the Raiders dropped to 3-5-1.

Quincy, which played at Cambridge yesterday (Wednesday), will host Waltham Saturday at 7:00 at the Youth Arena and next Wednesday will play Brockton at Asiaf Rink in Brockton at 7.

North played Newton North yesterday, will play Brookline Saturday at 6:30 at the Watertown Rink and next Wednesday will host powerful Weymouth North at 6:40 at the Youth Arena.

At the start of the season it was agreed that Quincy would score plenty of goals but the defense and the play of the goalies were suspect.

Several Presidents scored their first goals of the year in the victory over North, which pleased Coach Bob Sylvia.

"If anyone told me we'd beat North Quincy like this I wouldn't have believed them," Sylvia said. "The players just started to click in the final period."

One of the bright spots for Quincy was the work in goal of senior Andy Shannon, who had taken over the duties in the previous game and sparked Quincy to a 3-2 win over Newton North. Shannon allowed two goals in the two periods he played.

"My hat's off to Quincy, they played a fine game," said North coach Kevin Lewis. "Shannon did an excellent job in goal."

Each team scored a goal in the opening period. Rich Monahan scoring for Quincy unassisted and Keith Smith tying it for North with Kevin White and Kevin Duff assisting.

The Presidents went up, 4-2, in the period, as Mike Nourse scored the first of his two goals with Brian Silcox assisting. Duff tied it up for North with assists for Billy Nee and Mike Cullen. Kevin Craig scored for Quincy with Doug Concannon assisting, and Nourse scored again with Monahan and Bill Lamic having assists.

Then came the explosion. In the final period Silcox scored unassisted, Mike Chenette scored from Craig, Lamic scored from Bill Bomar and Monahan and Steve Baylis scored unassisted to make it 8-2. Tom Lester scored from Tim Joy for North. Concannon scored Quincy's final goal from Chenette and Duff scored his second goal unassisted.

North was idle last Saturday and Quincy absorbed a 10-2 walloping at the hands of Weymouth North, which improved its record to 8-1.

Craig scored both goals for Quincy.

EDDIE CARROLL, former North Quincy High School player, was named the Most Improved Player in the pro division of the Championship Basketball School recently conducted at Mass. Maritime Academy.

Broad Meadows Girls Defeat Atlantic For 7th

The Broad Meadows Junior High girls' basketball coach completed the second round (of three) of the season last week by defeating Atlantic, 39-25, to improve its record to 7-1.

Lauri Fratillio was high scorer with 14 points and Capt. Joan Agres hit for 12.

Central handed BM its lone loss, 29-16, with both teams missing key players. Central took control of both boards and their speedy, pin-point passes were too much for BM. Terry McLaughlin had 12 points for Central and Agres and Fratillio again sparked BM.

Broad Meadows pulled out a last-quarter 26-21 victory over Sterling after the teams were tied going into the finale. Denise Loud was high with 10 points.

Practicing a zone press for the first time, Coach Chris Predville's BM girls defeated Point, 31-20, as Kathy Thornton played excellent defense and Linda Mahoney dominated the boards. Fratillio was high scorer with 10 points.

Coach Susan Beven's Broad meadows junior varsity team is 4-4.

Quincy Girls Edge Brockton In Overtime

Although it lost eight players from last year's tournament club, the Quincy girls' basketball team is rolling along with an 8-2 record going into last Tuesday's Suburban League game with Newton North.

The First Ladies will play at Westwood at 8 p.m. Friday in a non-league game and next Tuesday will host Cambridge Rindge and Latin at 3:30 p.m. in a league game. Westwood has had a remarkable record over the past few years and dominated girls' basketball in Eastern Mass.

Last Friday the Quincy girls edged Brockton, 51-49, in overtime as Nancy MacDonald, the league's number two scorer with an average of nearly 20 points a game, took control in the extra session.

Mary Kamb had kept Quincy in the game during regulation time as she scored 17 points and dominated the boards with a game-high 21 rebounds.

Mary Ann Agres had 12 points for the high flying First Ladies.

Earlier in the week Quincy had rolled over Brookline, 51-31, as MacDonald, who had been injured, returned and led a second quarter rally.

MacDonald sat out the first quarter with an ankle injury, but returned with her team down by two points and scored eight of the First Ladies' 18 second-quarter points to give them a lead they never lost.

Agres had 14 points, Kamb had 12 and Meg Goldrick came off the bench to shut out Brookline's leading scorer, Debby Bluestone, in the second half. Bluestone had scored 10 first-half points.

North Girls Gym Team Edged By Brookline

The North Quincy girls' gymnastics team lost a 118.1-115.6 squeaker to Brookline last week in a Suburban League meet. Brookline is the defending league champion.

North's Jill Connolly placed second in the vault with an 8.6 score. Following the vault the Raiderettes trailed by less than a point.

Natalie Nigro and Julie Nee tied for third in the floor exercise with scores of 7.8. Catherine O'Brien scored a 7.5 in this event.

The balance beam event saw North pick up two points as Kristen Dever placed second at 7.5 and Nee was third at 7.3. North had a slim lead after that event.

The meet was decided by the uneven bars, which Brookline won.

North's Dever placed third at 7.3 and O'Brien scored 6.8.

North Girls Breeze By Brockton

The North Quincy girls' track team, with several underclassmen turning in outstanding performances, breezed by Brockton, 66-22, last week to improve its record to 4-0.

Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes faced Waltham yesterday (Wednesday) and next Wednesday will face Newton North at 3:30 at Cambridge. The scheduled meet with undefeated Weymouth South was postponed and will be made up in February. Spectators are invited to attend the meets.

In last week's easy win over Brockton Sophomore Tracey Corrigan won the two mile with Ann Gorceyca second, Nancy McCarthy won the mile with Regina Nagle third, Sheila Barrett won the 1000 with Linda Kennedy second and Meg Leary third to complete a sweep. Deirdre Donovan won the 600 with Karen Lindenfelzer second and Mary Gannon third for another sweep. Mary Kate Kennedy won the 300 with Lisa Reynolds and the 500 with Kelly was second in the 50.

Michelle Millane won the shot put with a toss of 42 feet, 7 inches, a new school record, and also had a toss of 42 feet, and Caryn Smith was second. Karen Crehan won the high jump with Georgia Traficante second. Marie McGurl was second and Linda Welby third, and the relay team of McCarthy, Mary Kate Kennedy, Barrett and Jean O'Hare won.

"Our younger girls are doing a tremendous job for us and underclassmen have scored 79 points in our last two meets," Tozzi said. "Debbie Kiley has done well in the 50 and five freshmen, Georgia Traficante, Tracy Coull, Meg Leary, Jean O'Hare and Lisa Fitzgerald, are doing very well."

JOSEPH STREADWICK, second left, a volunteer coach with the Quincy High School Wrestling Team for eight years, recently donated $1,000 to the team. Head of the Quincy YMCA wrestling program for some 55 years, Streadwick has been a supporter of the high school program since its inception in 1974. The money will be used to establish a scholarship in Streadwick's name for worthy team members who graduate. From left, are Carl Leone, coordinator of athletics; Streadwick; Carmen Mariano, QHS wrestling coach; and School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon.

Joe Streadwick: Still Going Strong At 80

By PETE ZOIA

Joe Streadwick, assistant wrestling coach at Quincy High School, has had a full and interesting career in the world of wrestling.

Joe says being 80 years old hasn't dampened his enthusiasm in helping Carmen Mariano, Quincy head coach. Streadwick previously coached at Weymouth High School, before it was a two-school town. This is his eighth year helping the President's wrestling team.

Joe was inducted into the Wrestling Hall of Fame by the New England High School Wrestling Coaches in 1979, the same year Quincy was Suburban League Champion.

Joe started out as a boxer representing the Cambridge "Y" in 1926, winning the 125-pound championship. He thought he would try something different so he joined the Boston Young Men Christian Union wrestling team. As captain, he led them to second place in the NAAU meet at Grand Rapids, Mich. in 1929.

Many of his "boys" who wrestled under Joe's tutelage at the Quincy "Y" were, Gus and Alex Kuhns, Jack Donovan, Charles Bodine, Jim Moriarty, Fran Long, Tom Colman, Bob Harrold, Ward Walker, Charlie Calderwood, Bill Cadger, Frank Bissell and Ed Trudeau.

He coached Dave Sjosted, a three time NEAAU title holder, Alex Kuhns a 135-pound and 145-pound two state "Y" champ. Another of his prize pupils was Alex's brother Gus, three-time finalist in the NEAAU tourney. Joe also imparted his wrestling wisdom to Norm Collier, a great 155-pound runnerup in the state meets, and Walter Pecco, who also made a name for himself as a star lineman on the Quincy High football team.

Jim Peckham, Russ Peterson, Neil Lancaster and Don Rutherford all became champions of their class under Streadwick at the Quincy "Y".

After winning many medals, Joe lost at the 1931 United States Olympic finals, coming in second. Joe's entire life has been centered around helping young men in their athletic careers. This gives him a great amount of satisfaction, teaching wrestling and also what life is all about.

The name Streadwick soon became famous after he started this 12-year wrestling career that began at the Boston YMCU. He capped three NEAAU 145-pound crowns and finished in the runnerup spot in three other contests.

On one occasion Joe had to wrestle five times in one evening at the National Tourney where, in his final bout, he just missed pinning Arlie Thompson, a repeat champion, from the famed Oklahoma A. and M. college wrestling team. Thompson praised Streadwick for his fine effort.

Joe faithfully does exercises starting at 6:45 every morning. Weight lifting may seem new to many, but Joe was weight lifting fifty years ago and is still at it. He preferably concentrates on stomach muscle exercises and his present body shows the rewards he has reaped from faithfully taking care of himself.

Up to five years ago, Joe ran 12 miles daily. He retired from the Pneumatic Scales in North Quincy after 44 years, never missing a work day. Whenever there was a snowstorm, he would put on his wrestling outfit and run to work from Baintree. His fellow employees remember the day he wore shorts while he worked, an unheard of event in the 1940's.

He taught Sunday school for 30 years at the heritage Methodist Church in Baintree, with children in the 10 to 16 age group fighting to get into his class.

Joe was always active after he won numerous medals and trophies at wrestling. His nature classes traveled frequently to the Blue Hills and as president of his church's Mens Club he arranged for trips to the Bruins and Celtics games.

Joe loves singing hymns in church but prefers the "old time" hymns. He has written poems that inspire athletes.

Joe won many golfing trophies. He was a member of the Pneumatic Scale team of the Industrial League. He was the recipient of the Doug Kerr Memorial Trophy at the Baintree golf course. After his wife died in November, 1980, he donated over 50 of his trophies and medals to the Quincy "Y". During his long coaching career, he produced 21 championship teams. He is proud to have been named to the Amateur Wrestling Hall of Fame.

In 1972 he received the Ben Hodgkinson Award for his outstanding work with young people.

Square dancing was a great pastime also. Joe enjoying himself at the Baintree Congregational church with Bill White, the caller and at Kramers in Weymouth.

Presently Joe Streadwick bowls twice a week in Nantasket, averaging 92.4. No idle moments for him.

Many generous donations from Joe have been given to the Masonic Home in Charlestown in memory of his wife, a sizeable donation to the Delta Lodge A.F. and A.M. Baintree, another to the South Shore YMCA and recently to the Quincy High wrestling team. He was presented a plaque in appreciation of his tremendous help to the schools wrestling teams over the years.

Joe is an active member of the Taleb Broto of Quincy. Every winter he visits his brother Steve in Florida, getting in some golf in the meantime.

This man has been connected with wrestling as a competitor, coach and referee for over 50 years and hasn't tired of it yet. He still enjoys going to college wrestling meets whenever he can fit them into his busy schedule.

For a man reaching 80 years of age, Joe Streadwick is a physical marvel who could pass for a man 20 years younger. He is certainly a credit to the city of Quincy for giving of his time freely to help young men become better citizens.

My Ideal

By JOE STREADWICK

I want to play this game called life
With a strong hand and heart
I want to smile through each mistake
Working hard to make a fine start.

I want to believe in those I meet and have them come to know
That out of all my faults they'll see
The good that will later grow.

I want to acknowledge the errors I make
And have the strength to say,
"The fault was mine, and mine the blame—
Yours is the better way."

Give me the courage to do the right
And wisdom to know the wrong
Give me the heart to come smiling through,
When Life is no sweet song.

Make me the kind of a pal I'd choose
To be a pal of mine
Quick to forgive and ready to help
Square and clean and fine.

Quincy Wrestlers Win 3 Matches

The Quincy wrestling team enjoyed its best weekend of the season, winning three matches in two days to improve its record to 11-0.

The Presidents will face their biggest test of the season Saturday when they face state champion Lowell at Lowell at 2 o'clock.

In last Friday's 33-21 win over Brockton, Joe Monahan won by pin at 107 pounds, Joe Madden won by pin at 121, Gerry McSharry won, 10-5, at 128, Glen Oriola won by pin at 140, Darrin DeCoste won, 6-5 at 147, Steve Ricci won by pin at 167 and Mark Picot won for forfeit at 188.

In a 39-12 win over Whitman-Hanson Saturday, Dave Coulter won, 7-3, at 100 pounds, Monahan won, 6-3 at 107, Mike Notarangelo won 7-3 at 114, Madden won by pin at 121, McSharry won by pin at 128, Mike Miller won by pin at 134, Bill Rollins won, 8-2, at 169, Picot won by pin at 188 and Jamie Gravalesco won by pin in the heavyweight division.

The Presidents also defeated Durfee, 40-16, Saturday. The Quincy winners were Coulter, 8-5, at 100; Notarangelo, 4-0, at 114; McSharry by pin at 128; Shaun Wynn by pin at 134; Oriola, 4-0, at 140; Ricci by pin at 157; Picot by pin at 188 and Gravalesco by pin in the Heavyweight bout.

"What we've done belongs completely to the kids," Coach Carmen Mariano said. "I've never had a team work harder. If they keep it up and stay healthy, they could surprise a lot of people."

SLEDDING INJURIES

Sledding is the old favorite of the winter sports scene, but it can cause serious injuries to youngsters.

Of 198 patients admitted to one California hospital because of sledding accidents, 181 had been hurt while in uncontrolled areas such as streets while 17 were injured in controlled areas, such as parks and regular winter sports areas. The injury is low because boulders, trees and other obstacles have been removed from the runs; paths are provided to prevent sledders from climbing in a head-on collision course with downgoing sledders and adequate space is provided at the bottom for run-out.

When your youngsters go out for sledding, see to it that they're headed for a safe place, particularly one that's away from traffic and offers no visible or hidden hazards.

Pigeons Cited In Auctioneer License Denial

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
A Germantown man was denied an auctioneer's license by the Quincy License Board Tuesday after he and the Health Commissioner tangled over the feeding of a large number of pigeons at the man's home.

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh made the motion to deny the license. Police Chief Francis Finn seconded the motion and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald also went along with the denial.

Fire Chief Edward Barry was opposed, and City Clerk John Gillis did not vote.

Frank Santa Lucia of 14 Howe St., told the board he was applying for an auctioneer's license to sell new and used hotel and restaurant equipment.

Dr. McKeogh asked Santa Lucia about the "health department problem" at his home which, he said, involved a large number of pigeons that were being fed and then defecated on neighbors' roofs which caused damage over a period of time.

Dr. McKeogh said that 100 pigeons were seen on a roof at one time, and that he has written to Santa Lucia about the problem.

Santa Lucia contended that his premises are not a health hazard, and that he feeds wildlife in general.

"I don't feel I'm doing anything wrong," said Santa Lucia, "my grounds are kept up to par."

Santa Lucia said he and his family are involved with animals and have nine cats and three dogs.

He also said it wasn't fair to imply that he "lived in a pig pen."

"My neighbors complain about anything I do," said Santa Lucia.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald conceded that he'd be upset if he lived in that neighborhood.

Barry suggested the matter be continued "to see if it can't be resolved."

But Finn seconded Dr. McKeogh's motion saying, "If he's not cooperative with his neighbors, he won't be cooperative with us."

decision making process of government. He said decisions to wage war or make peace are now being made by adults. These decisions affect the future of all young people, he concluded.

Health Care Insurance was brought up by John J. Flynn of 109 Curtis Ave., Quincy, who said that Massachusetts Blue Cross-Blue Shield had constructed two multi-story buildings costing millions and millions of dollars in downtown Boston during the last ten years. In addition, Flynn continued, Blue Cross-Blue Shield planned to build a sizable clinic in nearby Braintree at considerable cost to subscribers.

He pointed out that subscribers under the non-group plan are now faced with another substantial increase in premiums for their health care. Flynn then posed two questions:

"Are these two buildings and the proposed clinic the reasons why rates are being increased or is it really the cost of health care for the non-group subscribers?"

"Why aren't we, the non-group subscribers made up mostly of retired and older persons including the poor, considered as a group? We are, in my estimation, the largest group under that program."

Tsongas said he would look into the cost factors of the buildings and clinic referred to and promised to report his findings to Flynn as soon as possible.

Tsongas said that most of the increases in the cost of health care are due to hospital and doctor fees. He urged continuation of preventive medicine funding as one way of controlling such costs.

Transportation of Quincy senior citizens to housing facilities providing hot meal programs was another issue raised by Flynn who is also secretary of the Pagnano Towers Association, a senior citizens organization at the Pagnano facility in Quincy Point.

Flynn said a bus which transports senior citizens to the Martensen St. facility for hot meals was out of commission and many elderly people throughout the city were without any transportation to Martensen St. Massachusetts had received some $780,000 from the Federal government to provide such transportation and other services for the senior citizens throughout the state, he said.

Tsongas said he would check into this matter and get back with a report.

Energy problems such as, coal versus nuclear energy, developing new methods to harness solar energy, conservation of gasoline, budgets, deficits, and how to control spiralling inflation were also discussed.

On solar energy Tsongas said 95 percent of houses being built today, including those in Quincy, are being constructed without taking advantage of the position of the sun and without regard to proper insulation.

A man who identified himself as Charles Murphy, a resident of Quincy for the past 11 years, caused a stir when he questioned Tsongas about his activities during the Vietnam war.

Murphy said he had contacted some editor at the Lowell Sun, a daily newspaper in Tsongas' hometown, concerning charges that Tsongas allegedly burned an American flag and dodged the draft during the Vietnam war era.

Tsongas pressed Murphy for the name of the editor at the newspaper but Murphy failed to identify the editor by name.

Tsongas said he had joined the Peace Corps in 1962 when John F. Kennedy was President prior to the Vietnam outbreak. He also said that he had participated in anti-Vietnam war demonstrations but emphatically denied that he was a draft dodger and had participated in burning an American flag.

He cautioned Murphy that such serious allegations must be substantiated by Murphy with documentation.

Tsongas told the audience he was pleased to play a role in obtaining federal assistance to preserve the Church of the Presidents in Quincy Sq. as a national shrine.

He said he supports stiffer penalties for persons found guilty of driving while under the influence of drugs and alcohol. He said he would work on the national level to bring about stiffer penalties.

Massachusetts will be able to buffer the Reagan administration budget cutbacks because of the high technology industry within the Commonwealth, he declared.

The quality of life in this state is one of the main attractions to the recruitment of new industry, Tsongas said.

McCauley May Seek Prop. 2 1/2 Exemption

in the budget and that figure is not readily available.

McCauley opened the cover on the budget Monday with several small departments and he chose the wire inspector's budget as an example of what he is up against in trying to cut 15 per cent.

The wire inspector, who had a budget of $40,000 in fiscal 1982, came in with a request for $60,000 instead of the $34,000 under the 15 per cent reduction.

His request for 1983 included an assistant so that the inspector, who is the only person in the department, could take his month's vacation.

McCauley said he turned him down but gave him $2,187 to hire a 30-day vacation replacement. If the post were vacant for four weeks, electrical work in the city would be held up for that time.

To complicate matters further, the wire inspector was paid at the rate of $23,407 last year and, under a new contract, gets $23,782 this year with a $375 raise due next July 1.

"We can't touch that," said McCauley. "We are dealing with reality here. I can say cut but there are contractual obligations that can't be cut."

Even after cuts in expenses, the wire inspector wound up with $42,518 or more than $2,500 over last year.

The budget sessions with department heads will continue tomorrow (Friday) and Saturday.

Tomorrow the departments under scrutiny will be Mayor's office, City Clerk (including City Council Election Department and License Board), Auditor, Personnel and Solicitor.

Saturday's hearings will involve Park and Recreation (including Forestry), Cemetery, Library and Zoning Board of Appeals.

License Board Asks For 1 A.M. Closing Question

The License Board voted Tuesday to request that state legislators introduce a bill that would put the question of 1 a.m. closings for liquor establishments on the November state ballot.

At last week's board meeting, members had voted to ask the city council to put the matter on the 1983 city election ballot as a way to reduce the number of traffic accidents involving drunk drivers.

Police Chief Francis Finn had opposed that move saying it was unfair to local businesses since establishments outside the city would be allowed to remain open.

Finn did not oppose the state wide measure.

'Squantum's First Settlers' Historical Society Program

Gordon F. Nelson will discuss, "Squantum's First Settlers" at a meeting of the Quincy Historical Society Thursday, Jan. 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the Adams Academy Building, Quincy Center.

Through slides and narrative, Nelson will relate the past to the Squantum of today.

Nelson, known as an authority on Squantum history, has had a long and active association with the Quincy Historical Society and the Quincy Public Schools.

The public, especially Squantum residents, is invited to the meeting. Ample parking is available.

Furnace Brook Students Bake 'Monster Cookie'

Two Furnace Brook School fifth graders, Brenda Murphy and Susan Egan, recently "cooked up" an enterprising activity for a day off from school — they baked a 16 by 10 inch peanut butter cookie.

Brenda, 11, and Susan, 10, had planned to make regular size cookies, then they decided to experiment.

Pleased with their "monster cookie", the girls planned to have their picture taken with the cookie. "Then we'll eat it," the two giggled.

Brenda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Murphy, Jr., of 82 Glendale Rd.

Susan's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Egan of 1065 Hancock St.

"THE NUTCRACKER" was presented by the Parker School - Children's Theater Primary recently. Practicing for their role as "The Pennywhistles" were from left, front, Michael Kowlick, John Engrassia, Joshua Wally, Jason Getz and Nicholas Mastrogiacomo. Back, Denise Landry, Brandi Peachey, Kristen Wirtanen and Jessica Flannery. Watching from the upper stage were "The Nutcracker", Phillip Pacino, and "Clara", Hope Reiser.

Parker Theatre Primary Presents 'The Nutcracker'

Ninety-two first and second graders from the Francis W. Parker School - Children's Theater Primary recently performed in an adaptation of "The Nutcracker".

The children gave performances for parents and for the school.

Highlights of the fourth annual Holiday Production were the use of sixth grade student directors Thomas Burke, Edward Walby, Eileen Campbell, and Barbara Carroll, and stage hands James MacNeil, Robert Sylva, Jay Rodriguez, Don Paul Nogueira, Gregory Callahan and Peter Souliopoulos.

Fifth grade teacher Gerald Butler video taped "The Nutcracker" which was presented through the cooperative efforts of principal Eugene W. Creedon and teachers Maureen Acorn, Doris Dooner, Geraldine Murphy and Nancy Hebert.

Sports, TV Personalities At Leukemia Fundraiser

Local residents are invited to meet sports and television personalities and to support the Leukemia Society of America at the same time at a cocktail reception Sunday, Jan. 31.

The fundraiser will be held 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the National Fire Protection Association building, Batterymarch Park, West Quincy.

Tickets should be purchased by today (Thursday) for the event which will also include hors d'oeuvres and entertainment. Youngsters accompanied by an adult can attend for free.

Among the celebrities on hand will be former Boston Celtics star Dave Cowens, Detroit Tiger's Rich Hebner, former baseball great John Pesky, former baseball player and manager Sam Mele, and the New England Patriots Cheerleaders.

Also scheduled to appear are Steve Nelson, Pete Brock, Allan Clark, Jim Nance of the New England Patriots, former middleweight champ Paul Pender, middleweight champ Marvin Hagler, Dick Flavin and John Henning of Ch. 4, Eileen Prowse of WCVB's Good Day show, Bill Mockbee, Ch. 5 vice president.

Auctioned at the event will be two Celtics autographed basketballs, a Patriots autographed football, four of Bobby Orr's tickets to a Bruins game, a Tony Perez bat from the Red Sox, an official pro Red Sox baseball cap, photos of pro stars, John

A $1000 CHECK was recently presented by Braintree Hospital president Ernest J. Broadbent, right, to Sheriff Clifford Marshall, Norfolk County chairman for the Leukemia Society of America. Hanna pro bowl shirt, and one year membership to workout plus Nautilus.

According to Sheriff Clifford H. Marshall, honorary chairman of Norfolk County's "Fight Against Leukemia", the fundraiser will be the last of the year.

Other activities have included a canister drive, tag day, chances for a car, and a sponsor book that will be handed to all those at cocktail reception.

This year's drive has been the most successful and more than $10,000 is expected to be raised, according to Marshall.

Sheriff Marshall appeals to all Norfolk County residents to join him, the Norfolk County Sheriff's Department and Honorary Deputy Sheriffs in supporting the event.

For tickets call 329-6730.

QEA Says:

$3 Million Budget Cut Would Bring 75 Layoffs, Close Hancock Pool

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
 "Quincy had one of the best school systems in the country," says Quincy Education Association (QEA) president JoAnn O'Malley.

But in light of the $3 million cut Mayor Francis McCauley has asked the school system to make in next year's budget, there's "no way" that can continue in the future, says Mrs. O'Malley.

The budget cuts, which were to be discussed at a School Committee meeting last night (Wednesday), will mean a conservative estimate of 75 teacher lay offs, closing of the Lincoln Hancock pool, and cutting the athletic budget by a large percentage, according to Mrs. O'Malley.

The budget cut could go up to $4 to $5 million, with the $750,000 the department went "in the hole" last year and raises, resulting in even more lay offs.

School closings are also a probability, but says Mrs. O'Malley, "I'm concerned about what happens in the classroom."

The increasing work load and student to teacher ratio is taking its toll on teachers," says Mrs. O'Malley.

"Morale is poor," says Mrs. O'Malley, "but teachers are trying to do a good job."

"The correcting (of papers) alone is horrendous. There's no free time."

Mrs. O'Malley says she has talked with Mayor McCauley about budget cuts and understands the problem he's been left with.

"He deals as fairly and squarely as anyone can," says Mrs. O'Malley of McCauley who has said the $3 million can be revised downward or upward.

Mrs. O'Malley says the QEA will work very closely with the City

Wide Parent Council "to make the people aware of what can happen next year."

She said the parent board will try to get on the City Council agenda to discuss school budget issues.

Mrs. O'Malley questioned how some city department budgets could go up as much as 30 per cent last year, and others were "crucified."

She also wondered how many city workers actually lost their jobs. "Some jobs were on the books only," says Mrs. O'Malley.

"I'm not looking forward to the next couple of months at all. It's depressing and demoralizing."

Mrs. O'Malley said a small percentage of teachers, about 2 to 3 percent, have resigned from the school system or have taken a career exploration leave for a year.

"But the rest are sticking around and hoping for the best. They're keeping their fingers crossed."

Two New Library Trustees

Mayor Francis N. McCauley has reappointed four old members and appointed two new members to the Board of Trustees of the Thomas Crane Public Library.

The new appointees to one year terms starting Monday, Feb. 1, are Dorothy Laing of 85 Darrow St., Houghs Neck, and Anneli Johnson of 36 Garfield St., West Quincy.

They succeed Ida Good and Francis Bowdin.

Reappointed to one year terms on the board were Chairman L. Paul Marini, Arthur Ciampa, Mary Carella and Edna Gilmore. Marini has served on the board for 34 years.

Jail For Drunk Drivers To Be Tested

"He's only 18. Jail would be harmful to him."

Kramer's policy for first time offenders would be 30 days in the House of Correction, with a minimum of three and a maximum of nine days committed to be served on weekends.

The judge called it "shock sentencing," designed to get the offender's attention so he will take the rehabilitation program more seriously.

Burke said he also questioned whether the new court policy actually was in effect when Vey was arrested since Kramer's announcement said the effective date would be after Jan. 15.

Vey was arrested at 1:45 a.m., on, after, Jan. 15.

Wollaston Facility Liquor License To Be Sought Again

"Rosie's", located at the Wollaston Recreation Facility, is scheduled to apply for a common victualer - all alcoholic license at a License Board meeting Tuesday, Feb. 2, at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Rosemary F. Foster is manager of the establishment which withdrew without prejudice a similar request Sept. 22, 1981.

Five other such requests dating back to 1977 have been made by other applicants requesting a liquor license at the establishment.

All have been either denied or withdrawn.

Emergency Fuel Needs Meeting Thursday

Quincy Community Action Organization and Mayor Francis X. McCauley have set up a meeting today (Thursday) from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the City Hall conference room to plan for the emergency needs of Quincy residents who have no heat in their homes.

Included in the conference will be local officials, church representatives and members of local groups.

McParland Hearing Friday McCauley Planning To Fire Negotiator

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley is planning to fire City Labor Negotiator Joseph P. McParland for, among other things, alleged "incompetency, insubordination and practicing law for clients other than the city."

The mayor scheduled a public hearing for McParland, whose $23,501 a year job is protected by Civil Service, for Friday at 10 a.m. in the City Hall conference room. Arthur Foley, McCauley's administrative assistant, will act as hearing officer.

McParland, who was fired once before by former Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia but won the job back through a Civil Service appeal, was not available for comment at press time.

McCauley, after passing out copies of a letter to McParland, refused to comment on the case.

"I don't want to prejudice his rights at the hearing," said the mayor. "You will see the whole thing unfold on Friday. I think the letter is self-explanatory."

The letter, dated Jan. 25, informed McParland that "I am contemplating discharging you from your position as labor negotiator for the city of Quincy for just cause."

The 10 specific charges on which the dismissal are based included:

- "Failure to meet time limitations for the filing of pleadings and other documents, or failure to take required action in matters where you were representing the city of Quincy."

- "Failure to appear at scheduled hearings involving the city of Quincy."

- "Failure to adequately prepare for and present cases involving the city of Quincy."

- "Failure to maintain adequate files and records of cases involving the city of Quincy."

- "Unauthorized assignment of delegation of responsibility for representing the city of Quincy in labor relations matters."

- "Failure to discharge your duties as labor negotiator for the city of Quincy as required by the duties, responsibilities and job description of said position."

- "Conducting business or practicing law for clients other than the city of Quincy which has precluded you from devoting sufficient time to your duties and responsibilities."

- "Maintaining a business or law practice which impaired your independence of judgement in the exercise of your official duties, including, but not limited to, representing other municipalities and representing public employee unions."

- "Willful insubordination and refusal to obey direct orders of the mayor of Quincy by failing to inform him of outside clients and failure to be available during normal working hours at times requested by the mayor."

- "Incompetency in the discharge of your duties and responsibilities as labor negotiator."

"I consider the above individual actions to be sufficient to justify the contemplated action," said McCauley.

I also consider the cumulative effect of any combination of these actions to be sufficient to justify the contemplated action."

Mayor Draws Bead On MBTA Station Crime, Dirt

Mayor Francis X. McCauley is taking an unusually close interest in City Hall's closest and worst neighbor, the grimy, crime-ridden Quincy Center MBTA station.

The mayor said Tuesday he plans to ask the City Council for a $2,400 appropriation to pay an overdue assessment and perhaps give Quincy a little additional clout on the MBTA Advisory Board.

He also announced that Quincy Police Chief Francis X. Finn and MBTA Police Chief Richard Whelan will confer in the near future on the possibility of coordinating police protection at the station.

McCauley and T Chairman James O'Leary met Monday to talk about Quincy's involvement in the Advisory Board as well as police presence in the station and its unclean condition.

"It was a get acquainted meeting," said McCauley. "I never really met O'Leary before."

The mayor said O'Leary talked about the possibility of setting up an MBTA police substation in Quincy sometime in the future because that station appears to be the most harassed on the Red Line.

The T chairman pointed out that a reduced budget had trimmed the MBTA police force by 15 men.

The same budget reduction, said McCauley, had cut back on money for the T Advisory Board and Quincy was assessed $2,400 to support the Board on which it has membership. The levy was never paid.

"We are going to be very active on the board," said the mayor, who has designated incoming Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson as his representative.

"Last December," he said, "there was an important meeting and no one from Quincy was present. The city was only represented from time to time. We plan to be there all the time."

"If we show interest in the MBTA they will address our concerns."

McCauley said his executive secretary, Peter Kenney, visited the station Monday specifically to get trash barrels emptied by All Right Parking, which is responsible for maintenance.

"We are going to stay on them," he said. "Peter is going to talk to them about the situation of the garage. It looks like we're going to have a good relationship with them."

Sun, Journal Win 3 New England Press Awards

The Quincy Sun and its sister publication, The Hingham Journal, won three awards in the New England Press Association's annual newspaper competition.

Writer Tom Henshaw won two of the awards for best editorials, an honorable mention for The Sun and second place for The Journal.

Photographer John Quinn took second place honors for photography in the weekly general news category.

Henshaw's editorial in The Sun was entitled "Being Held Hostage To Crime" and dealt with criminals getting away with crimes on legal technicalities.

His editorial in The Journal, "Casino The Last Thing We Need", was in opposition to proposed gambling casino in Hull.

Quinn's photo prize winner entitled "Bernie Bombs Out" was taken at the South Shore Kenrel Club matched dog show at the Hingham High School athletic field last August.

There were two photos. The first showed Bernie, a bulldog, striding smartly along with his owner Carol Dodge. The second showed a tired Bernie flopped on the ground taking a breather.

Contest winners were announced to more than 750 editors, publishers, newspaper people and guests at the association's Annual Awards Dinner last Friday night at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel.

The competition is New England's largest newspaper contest. More than 400 weekly newspapers and small dailies are members of the association.

The Sun had won three previous New England Press Awards, a first place award for top news photo and second place for a feature photo.

Last year, Henshaw won a third place award for his series on the drug problem in Quincy. Contest judges called it a "blockbuster" series and noted that if it had been entered in the Public Service or Special Award category instead of the feature classification, he would have won a first prize.

Three years ago, The Sun won the National Newspaper Foundation's Blue Ribbon Award for being "an outstanding community newspaper."

The Sun, since its founding in 1968, has also won numerous community service awards.

The two awards won by The Journal were the first for that newspaper in New England Press Association competition.

State ECOD Says:

QHA-Comer Term Contract Not Necessary

A spokesman for the state Executive Office of Communities and Development (ECOD) says it was not necessary for the Quincy Housing Authority to enter into a contract with newly designated housing administrator John P. Comer for a term of appointment.

"It is not necessary to have any such contract," said Edgar McHale, ECOD director of public information.

Last week by a vote of 4 to 1 the QHA approved the appointment of Comer to succeed retiring Clement A. O'Brien, as Executive Director.

The QHA also voted to give Comer a three-year term of appointment. Both Comer's appointment and the term of office must be forwarded by QHA to the state ECOD for approval.

McHall said a three-year term would be rejected by the state ECOD.

If a contract is to be made between the QHA and Comer it should be for no more than one year, said McHale.

No action has been taken as yet by ECOD on the naming of Comer and his term of office.

At the QHA meeting last week Chairman Edward S. Graham, Frank R. Terranova, Lolita C. Harris, and Rev. William R. McCarthy voted for Comer as O'Brien's successor.

Carmine G. D'Olimpio, vice-chairman, opposed Comer's appointment. Earlier D'Olimpio had nominated John Cattaneo, assistant administrator of the authority, for the position but the nomination failed for lack of a second by a board member.

Comer, a resident of Lancaster St., Quincy Point, has been active in local and state civic and veterans affairs. He is presently chairman of the Quincy Board of Assessors. He is also a past State Commander of the American Legion.

Comer was one of 64 applicants for the administrator's post which pays $32,000 per year. Prior to the QHA meeting the field was narrowed to five finalists.

The Housing Authority declined to release the names of applicants and backgrounds on advice of Atty. Paul A. M. Hunt, legal counsel.

You know that this year all employees can contribute up to $2,000 yearly to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) and deduct it from Federal taxable income. ($2,250 if non-working spouse is included; $4,000 for working couple.)

You also know that interest earned by your IRA is sheltered from all income taxes until you retire.

But do you know that the best IRA is with a bank that insures your fund, helps you to select a high interest investment, and charges no fee.

Quincy Cooperative is that kind of bank, and its friendly staff will be glad to answer any question you may have about setting up your own IRA. Call us at 479-6600.

Tobin To Be Sworn In Feb. 5

Former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin will be sworn in as clerk-magistrate of Quincy District Court Friday, Feb. 5, at 5 p.m. in ceremonies at the North Quincy High School auditorium.

The speakers will be Gov. Edward J. King, who will also swear Tobin in, and Atty. Gen. Francis X. Bellotti of Quincy.

Senate Counsel James R. McIntyre, former mayor and state senator who is Tobin's lifelong friend, is chairman of the committee planning the ceremonies and will preside at them.

The entire Tobin family, his wife, Shirley, sons Stephen, Mark, Brian, Bruce and Matthew, and daughters Tracey and Kelly Ann, are expected to be on hand for the occasion.

Tobin will succeed the late Dennis F. Ryan, who retired last spring after holding the clerk-magistrate's job for some 30 years. He died a few months later.

Following the swearing in of Tobin in the auditorium, which holds some 500 people, a reception will be held in the school cafeteria.

Invitations to the ceremonies have been accepted by:

State Senate President William M. Bulger, Norfolk County Clerk of Courts John P. Concannon, and former colleagues of Tobin when he served in the State Legislature.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley and former Mayors Walter J. Hannon and Thomas S. Burgin, public safety officials from the East Norfolk District and selectmen from the district towns.

Some 15 judges also have accepted invitations including Judge Albert L. Kramer, presiding justice of Quincy District Court, as well as Dist. Atty. William Delahunt and several clerks of court.

Former Senate Presidents Kevin Harrington and Maurice Donahue also have been invited.

The invocation will be delivered by the Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, and the Rev. Alicia Corea, co-pastor of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church, will give the benediction.

The Rev. Corea will also read a letter from Rabbi Jacob Mann of Beth Israel Synagogue, who will be unable to attend due to the Jewish sabbath.

Keep Central Junior Open

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I am writing this letter to support the issue that Central Junior High School remain open and an important part of the educational system in the City of Quincy (a fact that has been firmly established in the past).

In fact, Central has been regarded as the best Junior High School in the city for many years. The presence of the Advanced Placement Program at Central has allowed the city of Quincy to produce some of the top students in the New England area. The program has allowed students from all parts of the city to interact and meet on a common ground - an excellent educational experience.

It is unthinkable that Central Junior High School be closed for whatever reason and, I am sure, totally unacceptable to the vast population of parents with school age children residing in the city of Quincy. We the concerned parents, are asking for your support in keeping Central Junior High open.

Thank you for your support in this matter.

On Pound Seizure Exemption

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

On Monday, Feb. 1st, the Quincy City Council will take up the question of a home rule petition to exempt our city from the Mass. Pound Seizure Law.

The brutal torture of these helpless animals in experimental laboratories must be stopped. We appeal to all pet lovers in and around Quincy to contact our city councillors and Mayor Francis X. McCauley, and let them know that you support this petition. Call them, write them, or see them in person. Let them know that the Quincy treasury can do very well without the blood money from these sales, which totals only about $300 per year, and which does not even go toward support of the city pound.

We urge all pet lovers to make this contact in honor of some pet you have owned which has brought joy into your life. Please do it now.

Quincy Quiz

Two winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Joseph R. Wilkinson Jr. of 174 Beach St. and Mrs. Helen R. Sullivan of 33 Albion Rd., both Wollaston, win T-shirts.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week and no person is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the pastor of St. Ann's Church, Wollaston?
2. True or false: The Germantown section of Quincy was named for the large number of German immigrants who came over to work in its shipyards.
3. In what section of the city is Arnold St.?
4. The office of the Quincy Cemetery Department is in: Mt. Wollaston Cemetery? City Hall? Pine Hill Cemetery?
5. What well-known Quincy landmark is located at 38 Broad St.?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Ballou St. is in the West Quincy section of the city.
2. Mayor McCauley's administrative assistant is Arthur Foley.
3. False. Joseph J. LaRaia is the senior member of the Quincy City Council in point of service.
4. The Quincy tax rate first went over $100 per thousand in 1969.

McCauley And 'Friends'

Mayor Francis McCauley is determined to make tight fistness a major theme of his administration.

And he has brought two "friends" into his office to help keep him on that course.

They are photos of late Mayors Amelio Della Chiesa and Thomas McGrath. McCauley brought them down from the third floor to have them hung in his office.

"They're there to keep an eye on me," McCauley says. "If I begin to weaken, they'll be there to remind me to keep things tight."

McGrath was mayor from 1927 to 1932 which included the early depression years. Della Chiesa served 12 years as mayor — longest tenure in the city's history — under both Plan A and E. He became Plan E mayor in 1954.

"Both were penny pinchers," says McCauley. Both also coincidentally, were Republicans as is McCauley.

Della Chiesa was known for walking around City Hall turning off lights in the City Council chamber and in other rooms if they were not in use at the time.

Before he retired in 1965, City Hall observers were musing that Della Chiesa was holding the city together "with chewing gum and rubber bands."

Others joked he spent the city's money like it was his own. And, he didn't spend much of his own. He was frugal.

McCauley probably won't squeeze municipal pennies as hard as Della Chiesa did but he plans to be tight with municipal dollars. And, try to be progressive, too.

"If I should forget that, my two friends will be there to remind me. They won't let me wander."

McCauley is the 27th man to become mayor of Quincy and the 14th one from Ward 1.

That ward has the distinction of giving the city more than half of its chief executives.

Ward 5 is runner-up with five mayors. Ward 3 is next with four. Wards 2 and 4 are tied with two each. But Ward 6, is still batting zero.

In case you're interested, here are the mayors by wards:

Ward 1: Charles H. Porter, William A. Hodges, Charles F. Adams, Russell A. Sears, John O. Hall, Gustave B. Bates, Joseph L. Whiton, William A. Bradford, Perley E. Barbour, Thomas J. McGrath, Thomas S. Burgin, Davis S. McIntosh (Plan E), Arthur H. Tobin, Francis X. McCauley.

Ward 2: Harrison A. Keith, Eugene R. Stone, Ward 3: James Thompson, John L. Miller, Charles A. Ross, Amelio Della Chiesa. Ward 4: William T. Shea, Joseph J. LaRaia. Ward 5: Henry O. Fairbanks, Charles M. Bryant, Chester I. Campbell, James R. McIntyre, Walter J. Hannan.

Question: Who will be the first mayor from Ward 6?

SPEAKING OF MAYORS. Councillor Leo Kelly wouldn't mind being the 15th one from Ward 1.

Kelly doesn't give the impression that he is even interested in being mayor but those close to him think he is. And wouldn't be surprised if he made a bid — maybe four years from now.

Kelly doesn't make much noise but he goes about quietly getting things done. Like when he quickly put together the City Council presidency for 1980 almost as soon as the final city election results were in. He was unanimously elected president two years. Only 47 and now in his fifth term as Ward 1 councillor, he gives no hint he would ever run for mayor. But don't count on him not to run. The quiet ones are the ones that surprise you.

O'Neill Has Tough Sell, 'Progressive' Sales Tax

By TOM HENSHAW

Lt. Gov. Thomas P. O'Neill III, the most active of the three Democratic candidates for governor, was in Quincy last week trying to sell what appears to be unsaleable -- a sales tax hike that doesn't hurt the little guy.

The O'Neill plan would increase the state sales tax from 5 to 6 per cent, broaden the base to include goods and services not now taxed, then ease the blow by permitting a sales tax credit on the individual income tax.

The whole plan, which also includes some restructuring of the state tax base, would net $202.8 million for local aid, which, said O'Neill, "would go into a guaranteed account so the state government can't get its hands on it."

"It's novel," O'Neill conceded on a visit to The Quincy Sun office. "It's not without risk. I understand all that. But if you get elected honestly, you can govern. It's not worth having the job if you can't do it."

O'Neill, who has served as lieutenant governor under both his rival candidates, Govs. Michael S. Dukakis and Edward J. King, has been critical of them for making campaign promises on taxes in 1974 and 1978 that they could not keep.

"I just don't think that the public of this state can afford or wants to see someone elected governor for the third go 'round promising something they can't deliver," he said. His plan, he said, can be delivered.

"I've restructured the tax base to help the average income person," he said. "I've made the sales tax progressive by a system of income tax credits. I've helped the people on fixed incomes."

"And I've created revenue of $202.8 million, which, with $92 million more of normal growth of state government, will go into a guaranteed local aid account of close to $300 million."

The feature of his plan that makes the increased sales tax progressive, said O'Neill, is that people would be given tax credits, $70 for individuals, $140 for couples filing jointly, on their state income tax returns.

"The greatest amount of savings will be in the lower income brackets," he said. "You will have to make over $41,000 a year in order to pay more in sales taxes than you get back in tax credit."

O'Neill said he isn't sure how much additional state aid Quincy would receive out of the $300 million his plan would produce.

"I'd like to modify the distribution formula to reflect the needs of Quincy or the poorer cities and towns on an income per capita basis," he said. "Quincy would do very well and the more affluent communities would do less well."

O'Neill said he plans to go to the Democratic state convention in Springfield, March 22, but only to seek enough (15 per cent) delegates to get on the ballot in the September primary. He's also planning to go the signature route.

"Dukakis should win the convention endorsement overwhelmingly," he said. "It's his people who go to conventions and participate. I've told my people to get 15 per cent and don't take your eye off the ball; go for the primary."

O'Neill noted that his family has not lost an election in about 45 years. That was when his father, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., was defeated in a race for the Cambridge City Council.

Mayor Della Chiesa Narrowly Escapes Helicopter Crash

Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa and helicopter pilot Lt. Cmdr. Gerald Achin narrowly escaped a crash when their aircraft hit an air pocket while taking off from the roof of the new Supreme Market in Parkingway.

They had just delivered the first load of milk from Charlestown to the store but the television cameras had missed the original landing so they were asked to take off and land again.

The helicopter was a few feet off the roof when it dropped down suddenly, missing wires and trees by a few feet near the Granite St. entrance and narrowly missing the Granite Trust Building en route up.

"For a few minutes I thought we were goners," said Della Chiesa. "The pilot's face was white and mine was probably whiter. I don't know how we escaped. That pilot sure knows his business."

$52 MILLION CONTRACT

The U.S. Navy awarded a $52,429,000 contract to the Fore River Shipyard for construction of three frigates but General Manager Sam Wakeman said it will not mean an increase in the 2,500-man work force.

However, he added, there will be no further layoffs from the drafting room staff, which had lost some 100 jobs in the past four months, since it will take a year to prepare drawings and working plans.

"While there will be no significant increase in employment, said Wakeman, "the new frigate contract will mean we'll have a good basic force which we will be able to hold together for a longer period of time."

PROM SITE QUESTIONED

The School Committee took under advisement a request by the senior class at Quincy High School to hold its prom at Hatherly Country Club in Scituate instead of the Quincy Masonic Temple.

"The general atmosphere in the temple isn't ideal for an informal affair of 400 boys and girls of high school age," said Carl Scrivener, spokesman for the Prom Committee.

"We have hesitated to see the prom held outside Quincy at a distance of 12 miles," said School Supt. Dr. Paul Gossard.

NO END TO SERVICE

Edmund J. Moore, general counsel for the New Haven Railroad, said there are no plans to discontinue passenger service on the Old Colony Division despite $3.8 million in losses since 1947.

'We Want Prop. 2½ Given Opportunity'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The Quincy Taxpayers Association has and still is serving The City of Quincy and The Commonwealth of Massachusetts and we want it known that we did sponsor Proposition 2½ and we are upset with most of the elected in office at this time.

The House of Representatives and The Senate that are supposed to represent the voters of The Commonwealth are telling us, the voters, that we do not know what we want and they are going to change what we voted for to suit them and the other elected officials of The Commonwealth so we will be better served.

I say Hog Wash! We know what we voted for and we demand the overwhelming majority be satisfied. They are our representatives and they shall be held to account for what is mandated by the registered and voting citizens of The Commonwealth of Massachusetts. We are trying to get across to the elected officials whose only purpose seems to be is "What scratch my back and I shall scratch yours."

What we said loud and clear was, "We are fed up with the way you are running our Commonwealth and that is why we voted for Proposition 2½." "We want

Proposition 2½ given every opportunity and we want it followed to the letter of the law we want essential and we mean essential services strengthened and we want and demand that fat and waste be cut from all departments and a hard look at heavy administration and elimination of political hacks, if you know what we mean!

We are not threatening, we are informing you that we shall be heard through the ballot box!!!!

Liked Interviews With Newly Elected Officials

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Thank you for the excellent series of interviews by Tom Henshaw with newly elected city officials.

The questions asked were searching and piercing. They elicited fairly frank responses. I think the interviews are very helpful in assessing where officials stand now that elections are over.

The interviews were a great idea and The Quincy Sun is to be congratulated for providing the public with such a service.

OLD AND YOUNG PEDESTRIAN VICTIMS

Last year almost 100,000 pedestrians were killed and some 150,000 injured. Of this tragic toll, more than half of the people killed were 4 years of age and under or 65 and over. In fact, the figure is precisely 62% of those injured were among the youngest and oldest members of our population.

The reasons for this are not too difficult to analyze but solutions are hard to come by. Here are a few guidelines which may help avoid potential death for our old and young pedestrians.

Avoid standing or walking on roads at night. If you must walk the road at night, walk on the left side facing the oncoming traffic and wear white - or better yet, reflective material, to make yourself highly visible to drivers.

If you're using an umbrella, hold it high enough so it doesn't block your vision. Cross only at intersections (40% of pedestrians deaths are jaywalkers).

How many schools must close before Quincy's citizens realize that children are bearing the brunt of Proposition 2½?

The first year of Proposition 2½ closed five neighborhood schools in Quincy. The second year is now upon us. The School Committee is now studying school reorganization plans. Plans that could close many more neighborhood schools, or junior high schools. Plans that save money, but which harm the education of Quincy's children.

Our children's schools are carrying the load of Proposition 2½. No other city department has been hit so hard. The kids, you see, don't understand what they're losing, so they don't complain. Adults who care about education must do it for them.

We urge Quincy residents to call the Mayor, the City Council, and the School Committee. Tell them you don't think it's fair for kids to bear the burden of budget reductions. We're Q-VOTE, educators and citizens who care about education, and who ask you all, please:

Don't close the door on Quincy's kids!

Officer Joseph C. O'Reilly kept following a trail of false alarms in

Leads To Arson Suspect In Woodward School Fire

the early hours of Tuesday morning. Pretty soon, he found himself following a suspect.

Thus, when fire broke out at the Woodward School at 5 a.m., O'Reilly was on the spot to turn in the alarm and arrest Francis X. Dudley, 43, who has his address as the Pine St. Inn, Boston, on a charge of arson.

Dudley pleaded innocent to charges of arson, assault and battery with a dangerous weapon, malicious damage to real property and circulating false alarms and was held in $10,000 bail in Quincy District Court for hearing Feb. 3.

The fire at the Woodward School was confined to an area around the front entrance and damage was estimated by Deputy Fire Chief Carl Valenti at $2,000.

The first of the false alarms was turned in about 4 a.m. at Nevada Rd., and Curtis Ave., Quincy Point. O'Reilly responded to the alarm, noticed a suspicious person nearby.

The second alarm came at 4:12 a.m. at Edison Park and Southern Artery, Quincy Point. O'Reilly noted the same man at the scene, and got his identification. He followed him but lost him.

Next there was a fire in a dumpster on Whitney Rd., Quincy Center, at 4:56 a.m. O'Reilly was looking around for the suspect when he spotted smoke coming from the Woodward School and turned in the alarm.

Meanwhile another false alarm was turned in from Adams St. and Presidents Lane. O'Reilly collared the suspect, who identified himself as Dudley, nearby.

"Credit the Police Department with a quick report and the Fire Department with quick response," said Deputy Valenti. "The school is a wooden structure. A few more minutes and there could have been a lot more damage."

He said the fire was started in a box of rubbish outside the front entrance to the building. It had started burning the building when firefighters arrived. It was confined to the first floor.

Classes were not disrupted at the school since a field trip had been scheduled for Tuesday.

PERIODONTAL DISEASE

After the age of 35, most teeth are lost because of periodontal disease, not decay. Periodontal disease (once called pyorrhea) starts in the gum and then affects the bone surrounding the teeth. Gradually the bone is destroyed, and the teeth loosen, begin to drift, and eventually are lost.

The disease is caused by bacteria and is painless most of the time. Usually, destroyed bone can't be regrown, but further destruction can often be prevented. Therefore, the sooner the disease is treated, the better the outcome.

Treatment can involve gum surgery. The loosened teeth may need to be splinted together for strength. In any case, treatment is aimed at removing the bacterial plaque that causes periodontal disease. Cooperation from the patient — in the form of scrupulous oral hygiene — is necessary if it is to succeed.

TAX TIPS

by David J. Liben

BREAKS FOR TAXPAYERS WHO DON'T ITEMIZE

(third in a series)

If you looked for a job last year, your transportation expenses may be deductible even if you don't itemize your deductions. They included airfare, taxi, meals, hotel, tips, and part of your car expenses, and are allowed whether or not you got the job.

If your job-hunting was successful (and you moved 35 miles closer to your new job) you can usually deduct your moving expenses. Don't overlook the indirect and incidental expenses you incurred before and after your move — many are deductible even if you don't itemize.

Harriet Sears, 86, Former Wollaston Theater Owner

A funeral service for Harriet "Hattie" (Waterhouse) Sears, 86, of Quincy, former owner of the Wollaston Theater, was held yesterday (Wednesday) at Deware Brothers Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St.

Mrs. Sears died Sunday at home after an apparent heart attack.

A lifelong Quincy resident, she was the wife of the late Mr. Edward H. Sears, a general contractor and business man who built the Wollaston Theater.

She was also an active real estate broker until she retired last year.

A 1912 graduate of the Woodward School for Girls, she was an American Red Cross Grey Lady at Camp Edwards during World War II.

Mrs. Sears was a member of Wollaston Eastern Star, National Federation of Republican Women's Club, Wollaston Business and Professional Association.

She is survived by two daughters, Harriet Sheaff and Alice Laycock, both of Quincy; two sisters, Alice McFadden of Quincy and Inez Parlee of Pembroke; 10 grandchildren; 21 great grandchildren; and a niece.

Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Mildred F. Martin, 60

A funeral Mass for Mildred F. (LeHane) Martin, 60, of North Quincy, was held Monday in Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

Mrs. Martin died Jan. 22, at home after a brief illness.

Born in South Boston, she was a North Quincy resident for 30 years.

She is survived by her husband, Edward J. Martin; five sons, Michael Martin of Scituate, Edward J. Martin Jr., Peter Martin, Paul Martin and James Martin, all of North Quincy; two brothers, Ralph LeHane and Kenneth LeHane, both of Dorchester; a sister, Virginia Flynn of Holbrook.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St., Wollaston. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations in her memory may be made to Sacred Heart Parish, 386 Hancock St., North Quincy.

Donald D. Urquhart, 66, Member NQHS First Graduating Class

A funeral Mass for Donald D. Urquhart, 66, of Quincy, a retired Quincy City Hospital employee and member of North Quincy High School's first graduating class, was held Tuesday in St. Ann's Church.

Mr. Urquhart died Saturday in Quincy City Hospital.

A life long Quincy resident, he was also educated at Massachusetts Field and Parker Schools and Wentworth Institute, Boston.

He was employed in the hospital's maintenance department for 30 years before retiring a year ago.

He was a member of the hospital's employees union.

Mr. Urquhart is survived by a brother, John C. Urquhart of Florida; and a sister, Dorothy J. Urquhart of Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to the charity of one's choice.

Charles E. Edgerly, 74, Former Council On Aging Member

A funeral Mass for Charles E. Edgerly, 74, of Quincy, a former member of the Quincy Council on Aging, was held Saturday in Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

Mr. Edgerly died Jan. 19, in Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

He had lived in North Quincy for 20 years.

Born in Boston, he was employed for 25 years as an insurance salesman with Mutual Life Insurance Co. He retired in 1967.

Appointed to the Quincy Council on Aging by former Mayor Walter Hannon, Mr. Edgerly was also a past president of North Quincy Senior Citizens Club.

A former Dorchester resident, he was a founder of the Boston chapter of Insurance Workers of America's International Union, and a professional musician in the Boston area.

He is survived by his wife, Katherine G. (Valine) Edgerly; two sons, Charles W. Edgerly of Norwood and Dr. Robert F.

Edgerly of Weymouth; a daughter, Ruth E. Reardon of Braintree; two brothers, Robert Edgerly of Weymouth and J. Phillip Edgerly of Dover, N.H.; two sisters, Dorothea Meehan of Abington and Marjorie Smith of Haverhill; and 11 grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Leo F. Mahoney, 85, Former Wollaston Golf Club President

A funeral Mass for Leo F. Mahoney, 85, of South Hingham, a former president and 50 year member of the Wollaston Golf Club, was held Monday in the Church of the Resurrection, South Hingham.

Mr. Mahoney died Jan. 21, at Queen Anne Nursing Home after a long illness.

Born in Boston, he was a former vice president of the George D. Emerson Foods Company in Somerville.

A World War I Navy veteran, Mr. Mahoney was a Hingham resident for 30 years.

Outer Space Theme At Squantum Church

Outer space was the theme of the morning worship service Sunday at the First Church of Squantum.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached on the topic, "Wanted: A Space-Age Theology."

In his sermon, Dr. Langevin suggested ways in which traditional Christian theology needed to be adjusted as the perspective of humanity changed from earth-bound to oriented to the vastness of God's universe.

Dr. Langevin said, "You notice that I say we need to update our theology. I say 'theology' and not the Gospel for the Gospel was given once and for all time in Jesus Christ. We need to update our theology so that the Gospel can still speak to men and women who live in this new situation."

All of the hymns for the morning continued the space theme: "O Worship the King, All Glorious Above" (Haydn), "The Spacious Firmament on High" (Haydn) and "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee" (Beethoven). Psalms read during the service were portions of Psalm 8 and 139. Text for the sermon came from the eleventh chapter of the book of Acts.

During the service, Dr. Langevin also showed pictures of the flight and landing of Apollo II, including man's first landing on the moon. He spoke to the children of the church about being "Children of the Space Age."

As if to emphasize the traditional forms of expressing the Gospel even in this time of change in human awareness, the prelude consisted of a medley of old-time hymns and evangelistic songs arranged and played on the piano by Mary Ruth Scott. The Chancel Choir sang "My Shepherd Will Supply My Need" a version of the Twenty-Third Psalm arranged by Marie Pooler.

Griefers for the morning were Mary and Stewart Scott. The Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Doris Longmire, Driscilla Warnes and Barbara Frazer.

In the evening, many members of the church traveled with the pastor to Needham Congregational Church to hear Rev. Lloyd Van Vactor, a Christian missionary to the Philippines, tell of his experiences when kidnapped and held by Moslem terrorists in that country two years ago.

Rev. Van Vactor's wife died of a heart attack while he was being held.

The service next Sunday will begin at 10:15 a.m.

Opposes More School Closings Creedon Opts For Status Quo Budget

By JOHN NOONAN
Given a choice of six school reorganization plans and two possible budgets for fiscal year 1982-83 School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon told the Quincy School Committee last week he would opt for the status quo.
Creedon recommended a budget of $27 million, the identical amount for last year, and strongly opposed the closing of any more schools.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley directed Creedon earlier this month to cut the school budget by $3 million. McCauley, a former member of the School Committee, presided at the meeting as chairman when Creedon made his recommendations known.

Creedon presented his position in a 12-page prepared statement accompanied by a 60-page analysis of the reorganization and financial plans for fiscal 1982-83. He urged the school board members to null his recommendations over within the next few weeks.

On Feb. 10, Quincy parents and taxpayers will have an opportunity to agree or disagree with Creedon when a public hearing on the budget and reorganization issues will be held in the Quincy High School method center at 7:30 p.m.

In his prepared text Creedon told the Committee that "it made no sense to close the junior high schools because once you abandon those buildings you'll never get them back."

He further stated:
"In my judgement, the most educationally sound system of organization for the Quincy Public School is the middle school structure of k-5, 6-8, and 9-12. Consistently I have recommended this organizational structure and continue to support it. However, Proposition 2 1/2 has introduced a major new dimension to the very complex issue of school organization and finance.

"My sense is that many parents in our community are confused relative to these issues, and are not comfortable in moving toward the middle school.

"In addition, the school system is experiencing major disruption in program offerings, staffing and school redistricting. Therefore, I cannot recommend to you that the system move to implement the middle school concept at this time.

"In my judgement, Plan 2 is the weakest of the plans offered and is so not because it returns the school system to K-8, 9-12 structure, but because it abandons forever the rich facilities now available in our junior high school buildings."

Creedon then listed the facilities which would not be available if the junior high school buildings were closed.

The facilities are: science laboratories, administrative offices, guidance offices, health service areas, gymnasiums with locker and shower rooms, auditoriums, cafeterias and kitchens, industrial arts shops, home economics rooms, art rooms, libraries and media centers, resource rooms, faculty rooms, outdoor physical education and athletic facilities, and other facilities approved under federal law for the handicapped.

In his argument against further budget cuts he pointed out that reductions amounting to $6.5 million over a two year period have already resulted in:

- Lay-off of 439 employees including 197 classroom teachers;
- A 45 per cent cut in course offerings at the high school level;
- Elimination of all municipal tax support for adult education programs, post-graduate vocational technical programs and Quincy Junior College.
- Closing of eight elementary schools (Quincy, Cranch, Gridley Bryant, Adams, Beechwood Knoll, Great Hill, Nathaniel Hunting and Myles Standish).
- A 35 per cent budget cut for instructional materials.
- A 41 per cent reduction in the plant maintenance budget.
- Elimination of all system-wide subject area coordinators, namely, English, mathematics, science, social studies, art, music and physical education.

Recounting these cutbacks in school financing Creedon said, "I cannot recommend any further dismantling of the school system."

Mayor McCauley urged the school board to decide first on a school reorganization plan because a final school budget is dependent upon the plan selected.

Both McCauley and Creedon agreed that the school department had borne the brunt of the financial burdens imposed this year by Proposition 2 1/2.

Creedon's zero growth budget amounted to $26,902,717. His equity budget amounted to $25,382,717. The zero growth budget is a reduction of $700,000 over the present budget and the equity budget is $1,520,000 less.

Creedon expressed hope that some school budget relief would result from an expected $3.7 in state aid, made possible last summer by the Governor and the state legislature, being returned to the city of Quincy.

Auctioneer's License Granted

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The problem of pesky pigeons may not have been cleared up, but Frank Santa Lucia of Germantown now has the auctioneer's license he was denied at last week's License Board meeting.

The board voted 3 to 1 Tuesday to grant the license, with Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P.
McKeogh opposed.

Voting in favor were Police Chief Francis Finn, Fire Chief
Edward Barry and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald.

City Clerk John Gillis did not attend the meeting because he is a surgery patient at Quincy City Hospital.

Santa Lucia's lawyer, Sydney S.
Milgran, had requested that the board reconsider the license request from his client who operates J & J Refrigeration Equipment Company at 1218
Hancock St.

The request was denied after Dr.
McKeogh complained of "health department" problems at the applicant's home.

Dr. McKeogh explained that a large number of pigeons being fed by the Santa Lucias were soiling neighbor's roofs which caused damage over a period of time.

Santa Lucia had contended that,
"I don't feel I'm doing anything wrong. My grounds are kept up to par."

Seconding Dr. McKeogh's motion to deny the license, Finn had said, "If he's not cooperative with his neighbors, he won't be cooperative with us."

At this week's meeting, Finn said that Santa Lucia hadn't seemed "fully mature" when he lost his temper last week.

"But in retrospect," said Finn, "I might have blown a little, too," in light of an analogy about the cleanliness of Santa Lucia's home.

Dr. McKeogh conceded there was no law against feeding wildlife, and that he didn't question the cleanliness of the inside of Santa Lucia's home.

"But there's a basic law that you don't create a nuisance... pigeons transmit a whole bunch of diseases."

Milgran said he would try to resolve the problem with Santa Lucia in the future, and asked that the board not "enforce the health laws by turning an application down."

Healthy Quincy Breezes By Newton N. 54-38

The Quincy boys' basketball team is at full strength for the first time and should do much better the rest of the season.

Last week Coach Joe Amoroso, whose squad was wracked by injuries, finally had everyone available and the Presidents defeated Newton North, 54-38, to improve their record to 4-7.

Quincy played at Cambridge Tuesday, will host Waltham Friday night at 8 and will be home to Weymouth North Tuesday night at 8.

Amoroso didn't have his full squad available since the start of the season and the Presidents, with one of the smallest teams in the Suburban League, found the going rough.

"These kids never complained and went out and gave me 100 per cent in every game and I'm proud of them," the veteran coach said. "Now that we have all of them ready again, we should do all right over the second half of the schedule."

Peter Papile, who had moved into the No. 1 spot in scoring in the league the week before, led the Presidents against Newton North with 16 points and Jim DePietro, just back from a back injury, had 11 points, six rebounds and three assists.

Over 60 Teams In Kiwanis Hockey Tourney

The Quincy Kiwanis Club will host its ninth annual Youth Hockey Tournament starting Monday, Feb. 15, at 8 a.m. at the Quincy Youth Arena with a record number of entries.

More than 60 teams are entered in the international tournament featuring Bantams, Pee Wees, Mites and Squirts. There will be 87 games during the week-long tournament.

The four division finals will be played Sunday afternoon, Feb. 21, with the concluding game at 6 p.m. This year there are entries from Don Mills, Toronto; Wexford, Toronto; Villagers, Toronto; Halifax, Nova Scotia; Mid-Fairfield, Conn.; Casco Bay, Maine; Troy, N.Y.; Quincy, Brockton, Scituate, Newton, Hyannis, Milton, Brookline, Dedham, Plymouth, Wilmington, Neponset, Lexington, Revere, Westboro, Malden and Melrose.

A pass good for all games is $3. Single tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students 12-18 years of age.

Further information can be had by calling Beverly Reinhardt at the Quincy Youth Arena, 479-8371.

O'Brien's 4 Goals Spark DD's

Dee Dee's, leading the Pee Wee House League by eight points, rolled over Mug 'n' Muffin, 7-2, with Michael O'Brien having four goals and Shawn Craig two goals and three assists. Marisa Zona added the other goal. Robbie Keddy and Kevin Kuska scored for M 'n' M.

Bersani Brothers topped Keohane's, 4-1, with Bill Ferrara scoring two goals and Scott Collins and Paul Hannon one each. Merri Roman scored for Keohane's.

The standings: Dee Dee's, 9-1-3; Bersani, 5-5-3; Mug 'n' Muffin, 4-6-3; Keohane's, 2-8-3.

North Girls Defeat Weymouth S., Bow To Cambridge Rindge

The North Quincy girls' basketball team hoped to rebound from a tough loss to Cambridge Rindge and Latin when it faced Minute-man Regional in a non-league game Tuesday.

The Raiderettes will play at Newton North Friday at 3:30 p.m. and next Tuesday will host Waltham, also at 3:30.

North Quincy missed two key layups and also missed seven free throws to kill a fourth quarter comeback last Friday as it dropped a 51-46 decision to Cambridge and saw its record drop to 9-4.

The Raiderettes had chopped an 11-point lead down to just four with 15 seconds left to play, but ran out of time. Karen Bridges paced North Quincy with 14 points. Chris Choukas had 13 points and 10 rebounds and Joann Runge added 12 points.

Earlier in the week North had defeated Weymouth South, 57-42, with Choukas scoring 17 points, Runge had 14, Karen Bridges nine and Simone Koch eight.

The Raiderettes built up a 25-point lead at the half.

Sports

Co-Co Club Takes Midget House Lead

The Co-Co Club defeated Quincy Police, 3-1, to take over the Midget House League lead. John O'Connor, Mark Lamie and Paul McCabe scored the goals. Chris Kozlow scored the Police goal.

Suburban Disposal won by forfeit over Caddy Marine.

The standings: Co-Co Club, 6-3-1; Police, 5-4-1; Caddy Marine, 5-5-0; Suburban, 4-5-0; Quincy Fire, 3-6-0.

First Ladies Discover How Good Westwood Is

The Westwood High girls' basketball teams have had remarkable records during the past several seasons and have dominated Eastern Mass. competition.

The Quincy girls, who went into last Friday's game with a 9-2 record, found out why the Westwood girls have been so dominant when the First Ladies were handed a 66-31 walloping at Westwood.

The Quincy girls, who played Cambridge Rindge and Latin

Tuesday, will be at Waltham Friday at 8 p.m. and will play at Weymouth North Tuesday at 3:30 p.m.

The First Ladies were outplayed in every department Friday as Westwood improved its record to 12-0.

While Quincy's Nancy MacDonald was covering and holding down Westwood's scoring ace, Cheryl Aaron, the Wolverines' outstanding sophomore, Laura Boucher, went to work and scored six quick points to give her team an early lead and it was a rout from then on.

Westwood roared to an 18-5 first period lead and had a huge 37-11 advantage at halftime.

Quincy played the winners on even terms in the third quarter, but trailed, 52-26, going into the final session.

Quincy had several chances to narrow the gap but missed 17 of 22 foul shots. The First Ladies also had trouble converting many rebounds into baskets.

MacDonald and Mary Kamb were the only Quincy players to hit double figures with 10 points each.

Earlier in the week Quincy edged Newton North, 52-49, averaging an earlier one-point loss, as MacDonald scored 20 points, shut down Newton's Debby Quinn, the Suburban League's top scorer, in the fourth quarter and keyed a late Quincy rally.

Quinn, who scored 23 points, had only one basket in the final quarter. Kamb had 18 points and 13 rebounds for Quincy and Cathy Duggan contained Newton's Jenna Lammers, who had 15 points, in the second half.

Quincy, Hingham Tie For Crown

The Quincy High School hockey team came from behind twice on goals by John Zanardelli and Art Burke to tie Hingham, 4-4, and secure a deadlock with the Harbormen for the South Shore League title.

After Zanardelli and Burke had tied the game at 2-2, the Presidents scored twice for a 4-2 lead but Hingham came back with goals by Andrew Dooley and Dave Morse in the last five minutes.

It was regarded as likely that Coach Bill Hutchinson's Quincy team and Bill Cronin's Hingham six would represent the league in the state tournament which was scheduled to go underway at the end of the month.

The Quincy lineup: Krabisch, goal; Houghton, Belanger, defense; Zanardelli, Wong, Mattie, forwards; McLeod, Vient, Burke, spares.

RAIDERS MAKE TECH

Al Adams and Doug Grutchfield showed the way with 19 points each as the North Quincy High School basketball team ran away from Rindge Tech, 84-68, to become one of the first teams to qualify for the Tech Tourney.

Rindge tied the score at 51-51 late in the third period but Adams scored nine points, Grutchfield a basket and Bobby Walsh two free throws for a 64-54 lead and the Raiders were never headed.

The North Quincy lineup: Grutchfield, Crowley, Painten, forwards; Adams, Cox, centers; Stevenson, Walsh, guards.

FLAHERTY CAMPAIGNING

Dick Flaherty, winner of six lightweight bouts in a row, was in training for the New England AAU tournament in March and the Nationals in April under the tutelage of former pro Billy Halpin.

Flaherty, a 19-year-old Boston University freshman, was scheduled to be one of the featured fighters in a return bout with Bobby Riley of St. Louis, a soldier at Fort Devens, at Revere.

QUINCY BREAKS STREAK

Tom Scanlon led the scorers with 20 points as the Quincy High School basketball team outscored Revere 20-7 in the final period for a 56-50 victory to snap a six-game losing streak.

The Quincy lineup: Scanlon, Richard, Marshall, Allsop, forwards; Morrell, Galante, centers; Brown, Naylor, Rockwell, guards.

Fred Cook scored both goals as the North Quincy High School hockey team beat Archbishop Williams 2-1 in their battle to stay out of last place in the South Shore League.

The North Quincy lineup: Lloyd, goal; Cook, Noonan, defense; Joyce, O'Neill, Cobban, forwards; Quintilliani, McNeice, spares.

QUINCY GRAPPLERS SHINE

Bill Molyneux won the 160½-pound novice class and teammate Paul Marrone finished second as Coach Joe Streadwick's Quincy YMCA wrestling team made an unexpectedly strong showing in the New England AAU meet.

Jim Peterson in the 126-pound class, Ed Shane in the 147½-pound class, and Neil Lancaster in the heavyweight division also scored points for Quincy.

BELANGER HAT TRICK

Bob Belanger had a three-goal hat trick and linemates John Zanardelli and Dave Wong had a goal apiece as the Quincy hockey team scored a lopsided 7-2 victory over Milton in a South Shore League game.

HIGH EXPECTATIONS

Chuck Comiskey, president of the Chicago White Sox, told the Boston Baseball Writers Dinner, "We expect to win the pennant and we expect to win it with Dick Donovan," the pitcher from North Quincy.

DAVIDS BOW

Jim Neil scored 20 points but his Quincy Point Congregational Church David basketball team faded in the fourth period and lost to Haven Methodist of Providence, 49-33.

MEDAL FOR TENLEY

Tenley Albright, a 20-year-old girl from Newton, overcame an ankle injury to win the women's figure skating championship at the winter Olympics in Cortina D'Ampezzo, Italy.

SPORTS BITS '56

Chairman George Allen announced that the Furnace Brook Golf Club will sponsor the fifth annual Beef Stew Open on Washington's Birthday....Vern Mikkelsen's basket with four seconds remaining gave the Minneapolis Lakers a 107-106 victory over the Boston Celtics....Jim Fleming had 27 points as the Koch Club ran wild in the fourth period for a 93-70 win over the North Quincy Independents....Robert Tilley won the check championship of the Atherton Hough Recreation Center, defeating Richard McGunagle and Walter Cook in a playoff that lasted only six minutes.

Quincy, North Swim Teams Win

The Quincy and North Quincy swim team each came up with victories last week, one of the few times the teams have won in the same week.

Quincy defeated Newton South, 97-67, as Bill Mayo won three events and Bob Grant was a double winner.

Mayo won the 200 freestyle in 2:11.1, was first in the 500 freestyle and swam on the winning 400 freestyle relay team. Grant won the diving competition and qualified for the South Sectional championships, and also was on the 400 relay team.

Dan Mallock won the 200 individual relay, was second in the 100 breaststroke and was a part of the winning 200 medley relay team.

North Quincy rolled over Newton South, 106-61, to even its record at 3-3 as Brad Martin won two events and Jim Boudreau won one individual race and helped both relay teams to victories.

Martin won the 200 and 500-yard freestyles and Boudreau won the 100 freestyle.

John Wallace won the 200 individual medley, Ralph Santosuosso won the 100 backstroke and freshman Dan Moriarty won the diving for his first varsity win.

Boudreau, Santosuosso, Sean O'Brien and Scott Andrews won the 200 medley relay and Boudreau, Tim Grant, Ed Chase and Paul Melanson captured the 400 freestyle relay.

North Girls Track Team Downs Waltham

Underclassmen continued to do an outstanding job for the North Quincy Girls' track team, which last week defeated Waltham, 52-34, to improve its record to 5-0.

The Raiderettes met unbeaten Newton North yesterday (Wednesday), will compete in the girls' coaches Meet Saturday and Friday, Feb. 5, will face Weymouth North at 6:30 at Northeastern University. Weymouth South is also unbeaten. Its scheduled meet with North Quincy was snowed out two weeks ago and they will meet next month on a date to be decided.

Freshman Lisa Fitzgerald won her first two varsity events in the win over Waltham, taking the 300 and high jump. Lou Tozzi's Raiders received all but nine points from underclassmen.

Tracey Corrigan finished third in the two-mile, Regina Nagle was second and Ann Gorcezyca third in the mile, Eileen Crehan third in the 1000, Mary Gannon second and Janet Zdanowski third in the 600. Fitzgerald first and Lisa Reynolds second in the 300 and Debbie Kiley first, Kathy McCarthy second and Jean O'Hare third in the 50.

Maria McGurl won the hurdles with Linda Welby second, Caryn Smith won the shot put with Julie Clark second, and Fitzgerald took the high jump with Tracy Coull second and Kristin Howard third.

PAUL MILLER of Broad Meadows, one of the top junior high wrestlers in the city, pins Larry Bonome of Sterling for first place in the 125-pound division of the recent city-wide meet won for the seventh year in a row by Broad Meadows.

First Two Victories QJC Finally On Win Track

The Quincy Junior College basketball team, winless before the holiday break, came back to finally capture its first two victories of the season, making its record 2-1-1.

Coach Brian Buckley's Jaguars topped Essex Agricultural, 75-60, to end its winless string as freshman Jim Conboy scored a career high 38 points. The QJC center also was the leading rebounder in the game. Sophomore Andy Scheele scored 11 points and freshman Ken Mann led the aggressive Jaguar defense.

"This was a most satisfying win," Buckley said. "This was a great win for us. The guys have stuck together throughout the year and this win made it all worthwhile. Tonight we pressed for most of the game and we rode the Conboy Conboy for the rest of the game. Jim was just super, he not only scored but he passed very well and, like always, he controlled the defensive boards."

QJC also defeated Blue Hills Technical, 68-53, with its most balanced scoring attack of the year with 11 players scoring.

Conboy again led the scorers with 13 points, while Scheele, Mark Linane and Ricky Anderson scored eight points each.

"This was a great team effort," Buckley said. "Anthony Cavallo and Fran McEachern had their best games off the bench. It was our best passing game of the season."

QJC has 10 games remaining and Buckley hopes last week's two wins will give the team the momentum to enjoy a successful second half of the season.

• Junior Girls Basketball

Broad Meadows In First Place

The Broad Meadows Junior High girls' basketball team improved its record to 9-1 and avenged its only defeat with a 37-26 victory over Central to move into sole possession of first place in the league.

The BM girls were really up for the game and controlled the game from the opening gap. At the half they had a 21-9 lead and never looked back.

Capt. Joan Agres had nine points and is averaging eight points a game for the season. Susan McDonald had eight points, mostly on interceptions in the zone trap. BM hit on 11 for 19 from the foul line and Linda Mahoney dominated the boards, playing her best game of the season.

"Agres is by far one of the top athletes in the city and has proved herself outstanding both defensively and offensively in controlling the pulse of each game," said Coach Chris Prendiville. "The support of the bench for the team's starters has been tremendous and each one of them has contributed to making the season so successful."

The BM girls also defeated Sterling, 32-27, with Laurie Fratillio high scorer with 11 points, Denise Loud scoring nine and Agres eight.

PUBLIC HEARING

"The Quincy School Committee will hold a public hearing on the matters of school reorganization and the impact of Proposition 2½ on the Quincy Public Schools on Wednesday, February 10, 1982, Quincy Method Center, 7:30 p.m. Concerned citizens are invited to attend and speak."

Cambridge Snaps Streak Raiders Host Newton N. Friday

The North Quincy boys' basketball team, which had its five-game win streak halted by Cambridge Rindge and Latin last Friday, hoped to start a new one Tuesday when it met South Boston in a non-league game.

The Raiders will host Newton North Friday at 8 p.m. and will play at Waltham Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Ed Miller's North team has proven one of Cambridge's toughest opponents every year and last week held it to a new low of 42 points. However, the Raider offense sputtered and North lost, 42-30, to drop its record to 8-4.

North's defense was outstanding but the team could score just 10 points in the second half as Cambridge overcame a sluggish start to continue its mastery over the Raiders.

"We did a great job holding them to that many points," said Miller. "That was our game plan.

We just couldn't get it going offensively and we just didn't put the points up in the second half."

North got off to a good start and, with 6-foot-10 Chip Bunker scoring the team's first five points, led, 10-5, after a period. The Raiders still held a 20-17 advantage at halftime.

But Cambridge took a 29-26 lead into the final period, then outscored the Raiders, 13-4.

Bunker finished up with 15 points, the only North player in double figures.

Earlier in the week North defeated Weymouth South, 66-52, with Bunker, despite a bout with the flu, high scorer with 17 points and he took down 10 rebounds.

Wes Paul had 11 points, Ed Carroll and Dan Marsters had 10 each, Bob Flynn had six and Jim Kelley eight in a fine all-around team effort.

North Wrestlers Pin CM

The North Quincy wrestling team has been coming on strong and last Saturday defeated Catholic Memorial, 37-24, for its third win in the last four meets to improve its record to 5-7.

The Raiders will face Newton North and Plymouth Carver Saturday at 6 o'clock at Quincy Vo-Tech.

North won eight of 12 matches against Catholic Memorial, two by pin and one by forfeit.

The Raiders' winners were Mike O'Donnell by forfeit at 107 pounds, Dan Dodd, 7-5, at 114; Jay Pillard by pin at 128, Chris Butler, 9-1, at 134; Lester Gerry, 10-2, at 140; John Kozlowski, 15-6, at 147; Mike Pimental, 10-6, at 169, and Rich Ragusa by pin in the heavyweight division.

Earlier in the week North defeated Brookline, 33-26, with O'Donnell winning by pin at 107, Dodd by pin at 114, Pillard, 8-4, at 128; Butler, 4-0, at 134; Terry Stark by pin at 140, Kozlowski, 10-3, at 157, and Ragusa by forfeit in the heavyweight division.

'Athletic Injuries' Lecture At Beechwood Center

Dr. Alfred Roncarati, registered physical therapist, will discuss "Athletic Injuries" Tuesday, Feb. 2, at 7:30 p.m. at the Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenn St., Wollaston.

The free lecture will cover common problems of the non-competitive and competitive athlete.

Earlier this week, Dr. Roncarati discussed "Exercise" as part of the continuing lecture series.

Lincoln Hancock Students Learn Polish Customs

Dressed in a Polish highlander costume, Stella Krupka of the Quincy Historical Society shared with fifth grade Lincoln Hancock students some of the stories and customs of a Polish Christmas celebration.

Miss Krupka, a former Quincy teacher, showed the students in Room 301 dolls in native costume, hand carved wooden statues, traditional Polish paper cutting and holiday recipes.

She explained some legends and customs from her own childhood and also conducted a mini workshop so that the students could make traditional ornaments.

The children were treated to Polish candies that Miss Krupka brought with her. They became more aware of the plentiful supply of food in this country when they realized that the Polish people would not be able to obtain the foods for their traditional holiday meals.

Students participating in the class were Kevin Bishop, Lisa Brangiforte, Michael Carinci, Paul Della Barba, Kristen Egan, Corinne Fichtner, David Gardiner, Andrew Goss, Annajean Hughes, Julie Jankord, Oscar Jara, Harry Koumentakos, Scott Kradoffer, Michael Macomber, Lisa Marani, Dawn McPhee, Scott Murphy, Robert Neal, Stephen Noltemy, Heather Perette, Rotha Prok, Mary Jenkins and Jamie Lydon.

Class teacher is Mary M. Morris.

P. J. Hussey In "Summer Solstice"

P.J. Hussey, 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Hussey of Merrymount, recently appeared in WCVB's film, "Summer Solstice" starring Henry Fonda and Myrna Loy.

Hussey played Malcolm, the younger brother of Maggie. Shooting for the part took place in Dorchester and Brookline over two days.

An actor since the age of nine, Hussey has appeared in "First Goal" an educational film with Bobby Orr, and commercials.

An eighth grader at Broad Meadows, Hussey is a member of the Screen Actors Guild and plans to pursue an acting career.

Quincy Woman's Painting

In Holiday Exhibit

If you visited the holiday exhibit at the Quincy Historical Society, chances are you saw an oil painting "School St. Facing Granite St." by Theresa C. O'Hare of Quincy Point.

The 24 x 48 painting was displayed in the parlor room scene of the exhibit.

Mrs. O'Hare, who has lived all her life in Quincy, painted from memory the present site of Star Market as it appeared in 1908.

The painting has appeared at City Hall, and Mrs. O'Hare recently donated it to the Quincy Historical Society.

She has also done a painting of Squaw Rock.

Your future just got brighter.

Every person who works is now eligible to open an Individual Retirement Account providing both tax deductions and money for tomorrow. And every person who opens one should come to Quincy Savings Bank because our IRAs are just about unbeatable.

$100 can get you started.

You can open a variable rate IRA for only $100. A fixed rate IRA for only $500. And deposit any amount at any frequency to either. (Within the term of the 18-month certificate, at the rate being paid.)

High rates.

Our fixed rate IRA pays you the current 30-month Treasury Bill rate, for the full 18-month term. Our variable rate IRA is just that: the rate changes weekly, based on the Donoghue's Money Fund™ 7-day average. Either way, you're the winner. For instance, if you put away $2000 a year for 30 years – and were paid an annual rate of 12% – you'd receive nearly $654,000!

Personalized profile.

If you stop by any Quincy Savings Bank Office, we'll work out your own statement of how much you'll have for retirement. Based on your annual, tax-deductible contributions of up to $2000 – $2250 if you're married; and $4000 if both spouses are working and file a joint return.

No service charge.

And we pay you $10.

Your Quincy Savings Bank IRA is fully-insured. Free of all charges. And, to get you started, we'll brighten your day with a $10 bill when you open your new IRA.

Guiding light.

Check what other banks are offering. Then, when you see what Quincy Savings Bank has for plans, return the coupon or stop by any of our offices. The sooner you see the light, the sooner your retirement funds begin earning high interest from us!

Hub Lawyer New Labor Negotiator

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has named David F. Grunebaum of Sudbury, an attorney specializing in employment law, to the post of city labor negotiator under a contract that expires June 30.

Grunebaum, 37, a member of the Boston firm of Snyder, Tepper and Comen, succeeds Joseph P. McParland, who resigned last week just prior to a Civil Service hearing on the mayor's bid to oust him.

McCauley said Grunebaum, who will be paid $9,792 for his five months work, will not be a city employee like McParland, who held the $23,501 a year job under Civil Service since 1972.

The appointment was made quickly, he said, so that Grunebaum will be ready to make initial contacts with city employee unions on new contracts on the traditional Feb. 15 starting date.

Grunebaum said he numbers among his clients the towns of Brookline, Needham and Weston. He said he also has clients from the private sector whom he declined to reveal.

He described his track record in labor negotiations as "pretty good. My clients do very well."

As director of litigation and enforcement for the Massachusetts Labor Relations Commission from 1976 to 1980, he said, "I handled all the litigation and in the time I was there I never lost a case."

He described his philosophy as "try to resolve as much as possible at the bargaining table rather than litigation but, if there are honest differences of opinion, let the two sides go their own way."

McCauley said he sees no legal problems with removing the labor negotiator's job from Civil Service since a state law passed in 1973 effectively removed legal employees from its protection.

"As long as Mr. McParland held the post he was protected," said McCauley, "but now lawyers are exempt from Civil Service. It was not possible to replace Mr. McParland under Civil Service."

The mayor said the financial terms of Grunebaum's contract for fiscal 1983, starting next July 1, have not yet been determined but they will be based on the time involved.

He said he will ask the City Council to appropriate the $9,792 to pay Grunebaum this year under the expense side of the budget. The sum is what McParland would have received had he finished out the year.

No funds are left in the budget to cover the post since McParland was paid $14,587 in back vacation time.

McCauley said he spoke to two people about the labor negotiators job in December before he was sworn into office. One withdrew his name and the other did not get beyond the first conference, he said.

He got to know Grunebaum through City Solicitor William B. Golden, the mayor said, and he found that they "agreed basically

Dog Pound Home Rule Wins Council Approval

By JOHN NOONAN

For the second time in as many months, nine members of the City Council, voted unanimously Tuesday in favor of a home rule petition to keep stray dogs in Quincy out of the hands of institutions performing medical experiments.

Because the home rule petition requires legislative approval, and the state lawmakers failure to take action on the matter during the closing days of the 1981 session, the Council, meeting first as the Ordinance Committee, voted "ought to pass."

Ordinance Committee Chairman Joanne Condon, told the large gathering, mostly supporters of the petition, that some 1000 persons, 500 from Quincy, had signed petitions urging the Ordinance Committee to give approval to the measure. After hearing opponents and proponents Tuesday night the Committee without dissent, voted in favor of the petition.

Later, during the regular meeting of the City Council, council members once again voted to adopt the recommendation of the Ordinance Committee. This year three freshmen city councillors, Patricia Toland, Richard Koch, and Ted De Cristofaro voiced their approval of the home rule petition for Quincy's controversial dog pound.

The Council and Ordinance Committee of 1981 had passed a similar petition late last year.

Proponents included John H. McDuff of Quincy Point, Chairman, Quincy Grass Roots Campaign, N.E. Anti-Vivisection Society; Ginger Gay, director of Animal Control in Cambridge; Althea Griffin of the South Shore Humane Society, and Aimee

Robinson of the Massachusetts Anti-Vivisection Society.

Dr. Allen M. Schwartz of Cohasset, a diagnostic radiologist at New England Medical Center which is affiliated with Tufts Medical School, drew a loud round of applause when his letter of support was read into the record by Councillor Condon.

Dr. Schwartz wrote: "As a physician, particularly one who is in academic medicine, I realize the vital nature of research. Unfortunately a lot of the research is done for the advancement of career rather than for the advancement of science."

"The law does not offer restraints on animal research itself. For this law to have a chance to pass I think this should be emphasized. It simply inhibits

21 Appointed To Unpaid Boards

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announced 21 appointments and reappointments to unpaid city boards Tuesday -- including a job for a relative.

"You got me on nepotism," he grinned, when someone noted Mrs. Pamela Craig of 81 Bayview Ave., Houghs Neck, as a new appointment to the Quincy Youth Hockey Board. "She's my wife's nephew's wife."

Mrs. Craig, who has long been active in Quincy Youth Hockey has a son starring on the West Point hockey team and another playing for Quincy High School.

Reappointed to the Youth Hockey Board were Mrs. Margaret O'Connor, 146 Stoughton St.; Wilbur Lewis, 33 Samoset Ave.; and Arthur Doyle, 35 Agawam Rd.

Other appointments included: John McGowan, 31 Grenwood Rd., reappointed to a three-year term on the Board of Registrars of Voters.

Peter MacDonald, 102 Presidents Lane, reappointed to a three-year term on the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Sabina Kavanaugh, 661 Hancock St., and the Rev. Alicia Corea, 300 Manet Ave., reappointed to three year terms on the Council of Aging.

Mrs. Maida Moakley, 125 Granite St., and Mrs. Bella Krovita, 165 Warren Ave., to three year term on the Council on Aging.

Anthony D. Losordo, 79 Davis St., and Matthew J. McDonnell, 9 Moreland Rd., to two-year term as alternates on the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Francis W. Donoyan, Ward 1; Charlotte DiGiacomo, Ward 2; Timothy P. Cahill, Ward 3; Gail Kilcommons, Ward 4; J. Thomas Mullaney, Ward 5; Janet Coughlin, Ward 6, to one-year terms on the Park and Recreation Board. Donovan is a reappointment.

Samuel M. Tuttle, 216 Sea St., to a five-year term replacing Geoffrey Davidson on the Planning Board.

Dr. E. James Iorio, 10 Furnace Brook Parkway; and David F. Tilley Jr., 66 Sachem St., to three-year terms on the Conservation Commission. Iorio is a reappointment.

McCauley said he has no one in mind to fill the post on the Hospital Board of Managers left vacant by the resignation of Charles L. Shea. He said Shea's decision caught him by surprise.

He said William Grindlay will continue as acting city auditor until a home rule petition permitting the City Council to name a successor is passed by the legislature and signed by the governor.

Grindlay's temporary appointment by former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin expired Monday.

Stop & Shop, Baybank In Center Plaza

The Bay Bank Norfolk Trust office joined Stop and Shop headquarters in the new Quincy Center Plaza building this week and both moves drew a round of applause from the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

"What we are seeing is the first big step to the revitalization of the Quincy Square area," said Ronald E. Zoolock, the Chamber's executive vice president.

The Chamber conducted a series of orientation programs over a two-day period for the more than 400 Stop and Shop employees who have moved into the new building.

"Several people from the Quincy Square business community joined us in welcoming the employees and the response was absolutely terrific," said Zoolock.

"In the next several years, there are going to be more jobs and that means greater prosperity for everyone."

City Planning Director James Lydon said workmen have already started tearing out the inside of the old Norfolk Trust building and demolition may have started yesterday (Wednesday) or today.

The old building will be replaced by a plaza.

Still to move into the new building is the State Department of Education, which will take the second and third floors. Floors four through 10 are occupied by Stop and Shop.

City Dues For MBTA Board Approved By Council

Quincy's dues for membership on the MBTA Advisory Board were appropriated Monday by the City Council.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley requested the appropriation of $2,412 to pay the city's share of membership dues.

Peter Kenney, the Mayor's aide, told the council that the MBTA Advisory Board became self-sufficient in 1981 and that the money was to be used to bring Quincy up-to-date in its dues payment.

10 McCauley Team Members Sworn Into Office

Ten key members of Mayor Francis X. McCauley's new team were sworn into office en masse at 9:30 a.m. Monday while hold-over department heads were invited to look on.

Then the cream of city officialdom adjourned to the mayor's outer office for coffee and pastries as McCauley wandered through the crowd glancing at his watch.

"I want everybody back to work by 10:30 a.m.," he said.

Holdovers who were sworn in by Asst. City Clerk Thomas Burke were John F. Kogler, superintendent of forestry since 1971, and Robert E. Foy III, treasurer and tax collector.

Jane Reikard took the oath as executive secretary of the Rent Grievance Board, the post from which she was ousted by former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin some six months ago.

Newly named officials sworn in included Public Works Commissioner Paul N. Anderson, City Solicitor William B. Golden, Assessor Elmer K. (Mike) Fagerlund.

Also Recreation Director Barry J. Welch, Purchasing Agent Robert F. Denvir Jr., Asst. City Solicitor Dean Nicastro, and Legal Counsel William E. Hickey.

McCauley said the holdover department heads were invited to the ceremony and collation so they could get acquainted with the newcomers.

QEA Supports Status Quo

The Representative Council of the Quincy Education Association has, on the basis of a survey of the membership, voted to support the present organization for the Quincy public school system.

But, said QEA President JoAnn O'Malley, if reorganization has to be made, the teachers' union favors the K-6, 7-8, 9-12 system as the best alternative.

"The QEA's stand is for no more cuts in schools or staff," said Mrs. O'Malley. "The school children of this city have already taken enough of the brunt of budget cuts in the city."

"The system cannot withstand another drastic blow," she said, like the cuts in staff and the closing of schools that occurred last year.

The QEA said it supports the middle school concept as the best educational organization but the survey indicated many members thought it should have been established years ago.

"Now, with the impending stringent budget restrictions on inservice and a depleted staff, a middle school cannot be set up on a sound educational basis," said the QEA in a statement.

"Perhaps if the School Committee had prepared for this by spending this year on inservice and solving possible certification problems, the move into the middle school might have been more feasible."

"Lacking the availability of a middle school option and the budget necessary to keep the current organization, QEA opts for K-6, 7-8, 9-12 reorganization as the most educationally sound alternative to the status quo."

If additional schools must be closed under the K-6, 7-8, 9-12 system, the QEA urged that a more in-depth look at the geography, enrollments and neighborhood concept for elementary and junior high schools be taken and criteria be set up.

Mrs. O'Malley said the decision on reorganization should be made as soon as possible so proper preparations can be made for education in the coming year.

"We are interested in the education which is to go on in this school system and not the closing of schools and dismissals in an already depleted staff," she said.

Ironie Twist

McParland's Vacation Pay Annoys LaRaia, McCauley

Joseph P. McParland received $14,587 in back pay for 162 vacation days not taken in the past 10 years and City Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia doesn't like it.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley isn't wild about the idea either but there was nothing he could do about it, thanks to an ironic twist of political fate.

The city's reluctance to contest McParland's claim is based on the case of Sarah Saccone, the accountant in the city Auditor's office who fought for and won 17 weeks back vacation pay a few years ago.

Saccone, who was let go by former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin, is a McCauley supporter and a close associate of LaRaia, for whom she served as budget coordinator when he was mayor.

LaRaia assailed McParland's vacation pay at Monday night's City Council meeting, calling it "an ugly matter that truly turns my stomach."

He asked acting Auditor William Grindlay and Peter Kenney, McCauley's executive secretary, to provide him with information on McParland's vacation time, particularly between February and March, 1977.

That was the period in which McParland was not employed by the city, having been fired by LaRaia. McParland appealed to Civil Service and was ordered reinstated with back pay and allowances.

McParland commented:

"Councillor LaRaia never contacted me about this vacation issue and if he had, he would've been informed that this was vacation that I had accumulated and not used and that portions of it was vacation that was ordered reinstated to me by the Civil Service Commission."

McCauley said his office researched McParland's file and found that his back vacation time had been properly credited to him under letters of permission from past mayors.

The February and March, 1977 period, said the mayor, was covered by his reinstatement agreement.

McCauley said the decision in the Saccone case was that city employees were entitled to back vacation pay as a matter of policy.

"But we are going to review that policy," he said. "I am not happy with it."

He spelled out that policy in a letter, dated Feb. 1, and dispatched to "all McCauley appointees." It said:

"All appointees of the McCauley Administration are going to take the vacation time entitled to them during the calendar year. This policy will be in force for the duration of the McCauley Administration."

"Back vacation pay is like an unfunded pension liability," said McCauley. "There is no provision in the budget for unused vacation time."

"If I am here 10 or 12 years there could be a whole group of Joe McParlands."

"I found in the banking business that it is not only good for employees to get out of the office for a while but it is good for them to get the boss out of the office too."

As an elected official, McCauley gets $25,000 in mayor's salary, pension rights and Blue Cross but no sick days and no vacation.

"I am not answerable to anyone at City Hall," he said. "Only to the people in two years."

"I expect I will be taking some time off but it's not a job where you can take three or four weeks at a time. I may take some long weekends or maybe a week at a time."

City Solicitor William Golden said that, in addition to McParland, seven departing members of the old Tobin Administration received a total of $59,000 in unused vacation pay.

'Incompetency' Charge Concerns McParland

Atty. Joseph P. McParland says he understands that Mayor Francis X. McCauley had to make specific charges to remove him from his Civil Service post as city labor negotiator.

"But," he added, "I'm particularly concerned by the inference made by the mayor in the newspapers that I am not competent as a labor negotiator."

"I plan to continue to practice law in Quincy and I am concerned that the media attention Mayor McCauley's statement received might affect that."

McParland resigned as labor negotiator, a $23,501 post he had held for 10 years, Friday a short time before a scheduled Civil Service hearing into his proposed ouster.

The charges against him, including one of "incompetency in the discharge of your duties and responsibilities," were withdrawn and the public hearing cancelled.

"I have been told by clients that I am well-respected as a labor negotiator across the state," said McParland, a close associate of McCauley's predecessor, former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

"I received a letter from the business agent of a city employees union with 600 members telling of his grudging admiration for the manner in which I represented the city in negotiations."

"I realize that if the mayor wanted to remove me from office this was the only way. I understand the procedure he had to follow. I've tried a hundred Civil Service cases myself."

"But I'm not happy the way it ended up in the newspapers."

"If I have a dispute with Frank McCauley we should go and sit in a room and talk it out like two men. He never spoke to me. Even when he gave me the papers, Bill Golden did the

Parents Make Strong Plea To Keep Pollard Open

By JOHN NOONAN

Parents of Pollard school children made a strong plea before the Quincy School Committee to keep that school open should a school reorganization plan be adopted.

Richard Crespi, a spokesman for the Pollard parents, argued that the pupil enrollment is increasing at that school which, he said, is one of the better and more modern schools in the city.

He said a recent Pollard PTA poll of parents indicated that 56 percent of those who replied avored school reorganization Plan 1 which maintains the present system of K-6 elementary grades, junior high grades 7 through 9, and high school grades 10 through 12.

He said 36 percent favored Plan 2 which would close all junior high schools and open the elementary or grammar schools open. Plan 2 would involve a system of K through 8 grades and the high school grades of 9 through 12.

Crespi, a police officer, was asked by School Committeeman Frank Anselmo what impact he thought the closing of certain schools and gyms because of budget restrictions would have on young people.

Crespi replied, "You may save on one end but you will pay it out on the other end."

A digest of Pollard school parent's comments regarding the school and possible closing was presented to school committee members by Crespi. Some of the comments:

• "I feel that the Pollard school should not close for a few reasons. (1) Enrollment is up (2)

One of the most energy efficient schools in the system (3) one of the best schools. I also feel that 7, 8 and 9th graders should remain in their own school. Children in these grades are too old and mature to remain in elementary school. 9th graders are too young to be pushed into high school. As we all know at that age and time of our lives, I feel it would be humiliating to these children to do it to them, not to mention the cost of redoing these schools to accommodate the children. After all these are the best years of our children's lives and school is the biggest part and most important part of that life."

• "Reorganization for the sake of reorganization is not progress. The Pollard School is by far the best in the city, also the staff show a real concern for the educational needs and help develop boys and girls of Quincy Point into young men and women we all can be proud of."

• "We want our children to go to Pollard School because it is a small school, which gives the students and staff more personal contact. I think a change to a larger school with larger classrooms would be a negative experience to a majority of the students. My kids are upset at the possible closing of the Pollard School and so don't the other kids in my neighborhood."

• "I am in favor of Plan 2 because I would like the Pollard School to stay open. I believe my child is getting a good education here. She likes the school and it is close to home. To remove her at this time would be, I believe, not in her best interest and also the higher the grade level the better. It's about time the politicians thought about the welfare of the child and teachers instead of the mighty dollar."

• "I hope the Pollard School will continue to be open so that my children may still attend."

• "I feel the school has done well just the way it is so there is no need for a change. Also the school has quite enough children as is."

• "Please keep Pollard open as I have seven (7) children who will be going to this school next year."

• "Neighborhood schools is why we bought our home and I want my children to go to school in their own area."

• "It would be nice to see the Pollard continue from K-8 grades and prepare the students for High School instead of Jr. High."

• "I vote for Plan 1 because I want everything to stay the way it is now. It isn't fair to the kids who have to be bused. My mother said that she doesn't want anything to change."

• "I do not wish to lose the Pollard School, or Point Junior High as a Junior High School. These two schools are close knit group - I'd rather pay more taxes!"

• "Children under 7th grade should be based as close to home as possible. Pollard is a very necessary school to the Quincy Point area."

• "Pollard School has always had a high reputation. Mr. Keegan is a dedicated principal. Over the years he has made the school what it is today. These are the reasons there has been changes made this year due to 21st, such as losing valuable teachers. I feel it is wrong to lay our teachers off and replace them by teachers from other closed schools. I also feel it is very important that Mrs. Craig return to our school full time. She is a very unique teacher. Her techniques working with the children are very rare. To lose such a valuable teacher as Mrs. Craig is a step backwards in education for our children. It would be in the best interest of our children to have all our teachers return."

• "I would like the T. B. Pollard to remain the same. But if any changes are to be made Plan 1 would be a good reorganization plan. If this would mean, keeping our school open."

DRY ICE DANGER

Children love to play with dry ice. They can put a chunk into a container of water and watch it "boil" and spew off gaseous carbon dioxide. Aside from the possibility of minor frostbites from handling the cold chemical, such play isn't considered dangerous by many parents. But there is one exception.

If enclosed in an air-tight container, dry ice will continue to give off expanding gases that may cause an explosion. How dangerous is this?

Take the case of the 12-year-old Baltimore, Maryland boy who placed some dry ice in a glass jar and sealed it. The expanding pressure of the gas continued to build until it burst the container and exploding glass splinters severed an artery in the boy's neck. He bled to death before arrival at the hospital. I realize this is a rare case - but there may be lifesaving value in being forewarned.

Your future just got brighter.

Every person who works is now eligible to open an Individual Retirement Account providing both tax deductions and money for tomorrow. And every person who opens one should come to Quincy Savings Bank because our IRAs are just about unbeatable.

$100 can get you started.

You can open a variable rate IRA for only $100. A fixed rate IRA for only $500. And deposit any amount at any frequency to either. (Within the term of the 18-month certificate, at the rate being paid.)

High rates.

Our fixed rate IRA pays you the current 30-month Treasury Bill rate, for the full 18-month term. Our variable rate IRA is just that: the rate changes weekly, based on the Donoghue's Money Fund™ 7-day average. Either way, you're the winner. For instance, if you put away $2000 a year for 30 years – and were paid an annual rate of 12% – you'd receive nearly $654,000!

Personalized profile.

If you stop by any Quincy Savings Bank Office, we'll work out your own statement of how much you'll have for retirement. Based on your annual, tax-deductible contributions of up to $2000 – $2250 if you're married; and $4000 if both spouses are working and file a joint return.

No service charge.

And we pay you $10.

Your Quincy Savings Bank IRA is fully-insured. Free of all charges. And, to get you started, we'll brighten your day with a $10 bill when you open your new IRA.

Guiding light.

Check what other banks are offering. Then, when you see what Quincy Savings Bank has for plans, return the coupon or stop by any of our offices. The sooner you see the light, the sooner your retirement funds begin earning high interest from us!

Thanks Young Good Samaritans

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Boston may have its Guardian Angels, but Squantum has its Good Samaritans! My husband and I would like to express our gratitude to the several young men who came to our rescue one recent stormy Monday night.

Just as we pulled out of Huckins Ave. to approach the causeway out of Squantum, our car engine stalled and wouldn't start again. We were like sitting ducks and it was gusting, raining hard. Our local gas station was closed and we were late for an important church meeting. What to do!

To the rescue came one young man with jumper cables. To no avail! Then another who helped push the car out of the traffic lane. Everyone was soaking wet. Soon another chap came along to try to help. By some miracle he and my husband got the car started finally and we were on our way rejoicing.

It's heartening and encouraging, isn't it? We just want to thank those young men for helping their fellow man in need.

Big Guys Get Away With Millions

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Isn't it wonderful that President Reagan is so interested in saving all of us money by concentrating on the abuses in the welfare program, food stamps, mothers on AFDC, etc?

How come we never hear any proposals from him to monitor the waste and inefficiency going on in the Pentagon and the military-industrial complex?? That's where the millions of dollars abound.

I guess it's just easier to focus in on the little guy while the big guys get away with the millions!

A Prayer For Mayor McCauley

Editor, Quincy Sun:

At the beginning of the new city administration, I would like to ask God to bless Francis Xavier McCauley. May God grant him to revive Quincy Square, spiritually and commercially.

May God grant him peace, and may he always hold my friend Frank in his holy grace.

Quincy Quiz

No winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions win T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week and no person is eligible to win more than one T-shirt.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the new public works commissioner of Quincy?
2. True or false: There are five living ex-mayors of Quincy — Burgin, McIntyre, LaRaia, Hannon and Tobin.
3. Isabella St. is located in what section of the city?
4. The oldest Roman Catholic Church in Quincy is: St. John's? St. Mary's? Sacred Heart?
5. What well-known Quincy landmark is located at 26 Adams St.?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Msgr. James J. Scally is pastor of St. Ann's Church, Wollaston.
2. False. The Germantown section of Quincy was named for the large number of German immigrants who came over to work in its glass works.
3. Arnold St. is in the Quincy Point section of Quincy.
4. The office of the Motor Vehicles Department is in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.
5. The Registry of Motor Vehicles is located at 38 Broad St.

City Hall Asks 'Who's Next?'

The sudden departure of City Labor Negotiator Joseph McParland has City Hall wondering: "Who's next?"

Will there be others who will be here today, gone tomorrow? Has Mayor Francis McCauley a little black book with a list of names he would like replaced by people he would consider more his team players?

Is there a list — or are there just maybe two, three or only a few more who will soon be hearing the McCauley arrangement of "The Farewell Blues"?

Every mayor wants his own team in key positions with unquestioned loyalty rather than left-overs from previous administrations.

This week some new — and some not so new — faces officially joined the McCauley team. Sworn in Monday were:

Paul Anderson, succeeding James Ricciuti as public works commissioner.

Atty. William Golden as city solicitor, replacing Robert Fleming.

Elmer (Mike) Fagerlund as assessor, succeeding John Belcastro.

Robert Denriv, succeeding Charles Shea as purchasing agent.

Barry Welch as recreation director, succeeding Charles Alongi.

Atty. Dean Nicastro, assistant city solicitor, replacing Dennis Harrington.

Atty. William Hickey, legal counsel for the Police Department, replacing John Sharry.

Robert Foy, remaining on as city treasurer-tax collector.

Lawrence Cowley, staying on as assistant city solicitor.

Their arrival, of course, is no surprise. Their appointments were announced by McCauley last December.

Question around City Hall is: Are there other jobs not yet mentioned that may yet go to others?

McCauley's ouster of McParland, most observers believe, served notice that the man in the third floor office may be a brand new mayor, and a quiet one, but don't let that fool you. He knows how to package a clout.

McCauley had McParland's files moved in from their customary place in the city solicitor's office and the records closely examined to build a dismissal case against McParland.

The charges were released to the press, McParland, under Civil Service, was entitled to a public hearing. But decided to go without a struggle. He resigned and the charges were withdrawn.

McCauley may not fill the $23,501 a year post.

He reportedly is considering contracting the service.

Mayor Joseph LaRaia probably made the most noise and biggest headlines when he came into office and fired so many people so fast from the Walter Hannon-James McIntyre years, it became known as "the January Massacre".

LaRaia's casualties included some in the rank and file level in addition to department heads. McCauley has promised he won't reach into the lower ranks.

But after the McParland episode there are those around City Hall who are wondering if a few more surprises may be coming.

Will other familiar faces suddenly be gone in the near future?

CITY CLERK John Gillis is "coming along nicely" recuperating at home following gall bladder surgery at Quincy City Hospital last week. And, already champing at the bit to get back to work.

His wife, Vi, says it probably will be a month before he does, however.

GILLIS

THERE'S SPECULATION around the General Dynamics Quincy yard that P. Takis

Veliotis, former manager, may be coming back. Veliotis, who left in 1978, is now executive vice president for the company's Marine and International Operations.

Word around the Quincy yard is that the old administration building is being spruced up for Veliotis' return. They think the yard will be making a big push for Naval contracts with Veliotis at the helm.

THE NEXT MUNICIPAL elections are still 19 months away, but candidates for mayor, might want to reconsider hiring pollsters in 1983 to see how they're doing.

Thomas Gilmartin who served as Ward 6 City Councillor in the early 1940's would be happy to tell them — for free.

Gilmartin, who has kept his thumb on the city's political pulse, picked every winner in last fall's city election. And, in the right order. He usually bats that well in every election.

Last fall he bumped into one candidate and told him flatly: "I'm sorry to say this, but you're not going to make it."

He didn't.

1980 Apartment House Abatements Up To Assessors

City Councillor James A. Sheets notes that it is up to city assessors to grant property tax abatements to owners of multiple-unit apartment houses eligible under a recent act of the legislature.

"There is no need for the homeowner to file a form in order to receive the abatement," said Sheets.

The legislation granted abatements to apartment house owners who paid taxes on assessments in 1980 that were later ruled to be improper and excessive.

Sheets said the responsibility lies with the assessors to identify those homes that were improperly assessed, notify the homeowner and send the abatement automatically.

Candidate For Lt. Governor

Pines Would Like To Be First Woman In State-Wide Office

By TOM HENSHAW

Campaign visits to Quincy are little like a homecoming to Lois Pines.

"My grandmother used to run Carroll's Cutrate store on Hancock St.," she said. "I feel comfortable here. We used to come here every Sunday to see my grandmother and my uncle."

Her uncle was Dr. Edward Ginsburg, director of the Obstetrics and Gynecology Department at City Hospital.

But that was long ago and when Lois Pines, now a lawyer with a past as a state rep and federal official, visited Quincy the other day it was in the interest of her campaign for lieutenant governor.

"It gets earlier and earlier every year," sighed Mrs. Pines, who has been chasing the Democratic nomination since July when she resigned as New England director of the Federal Trade Commission. She sees the office, not as the historic spare tire of state government, but as an opportunity to make a more prestigious pitch for the things she believes in.

"The office is as good as the person who is in it," she said. "It is perfect for me. I see my role as sort of an ombudsman. I am an advocate. As lieutenant governor I would be able to publicize issues."

In the past, she has been noted for her advocacies of the bottle bill and a law to prohibit smoking in certain public places.

Mrs. Pines says she has no preference among the three candidates for governor — Edward J. King, Thomas P. O'Neill III and Michael Dukakis — who would be her running mate.

"I have been close to Michael and Tommy," she said. "Tommy and I served together in the legislature. I worked for Mike Dukakis. Gov. King and I have never had a chance to work together but I wouldn't see any problem.

"True, we don't share the same philosophical perspectives but we agree on economic development as a priority for Massachusetts so there are areas we can work together on. "I could run comfortably with whoever the people of Massachusetts elect."

Mrs. Pines said she feels her election as lieutenant governor would make her a role model to bring women into government at every level.

"There never has been a woman in statewide office," she said. "It's important to elect qualified women because they give a perspective that is different."

"It's been hard for women to gain acceptance as candidates. It's difficult for women to raise money to campaign."

"Ella Grasso was very successful as governor of Connecticut. Sandra O'Connor's appointment to the Supreme Court crossed another barrier. The time has come to have a woman in statewide office in Massachusetts."

Quincy's Yesterdays

Gertrude Halloran First Quincy Woman Judge

Gertrude R. Halloran was officially seated as the first woman justice in the history of Quincy District Court and easily handled her first case involving a missing pair of men's trousers.

Vincent Moscarelli of South Quincy claimed he sent his $45 suit to the cleaners who lost the pants, thus wiping out the value of the suit which would not be a suit if he had to wear odd trousers.

Judge Halloran awarded him $15.

WELFARE HEAD FIRED

A rumored major shakeup in the administration of Mayor Thomas S. Burgin failed to materialize when only Welfare Commissioner Alvin S. Wight was ousted and replaced in the $2,400 job by WPA Administrator Anthony J. Venna.

"I have nothing personal against Mr. Wight," said the mayor, "but I believe it desirable at this time to make a change in the administration of the Welfare Department."

Wight called his dismissal "political expediency."

Reappointed were Ezekiel C. Sargent, public works commissioner at $4,000; Harold P. Newell, treasurer at $3,300; John D. Smith, solicitor at $3,000; N. Gorham Nickerson, assessor chairman at $3,250.

SALARY CUT VETOED

Mayor Burgin vetoed a City Council order that would have cut the salary of newly named City Purchasing Agent George Bonsall from $3,500 to $2,500 a year.

"We pay lucrative salaries to beginners," said Councillor Aldo Della Chiesa. "Let us pay this purchasing agent $2,500 a year. If he does his work well he can expect a raise."

FEVER EPIDEMIC

Health Commissioner Dr. Richard M. Ash, noting 416 reported cases of scarlet fever since September, declared that an epidemic was sweeping the city, particularly in Wards 5 and 6.

"Call a doctor in every case of sore throat," warned Dr. Ash, adding that there was a great danger of serious complications from even the slightest case.

SEEK WAITING ROOM

The Houghs Neck Improvement Association voted to continue the fight for construction of a waiting room for street car patrons on an island recently acquired by the Park Department at Washington and Coddington Sts.

It was estimated a shelter could be built for $1,500 on the island, which was called "the smallest playground in the city."

Didn't Like Jerry Williams Program

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Punishment should be imposed against the Jerry Williams Program and WRKO for their wrong doing broadcasting a Sex Life Program over the airways on Jan. 11th and 12th during the hours from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the afternoon.

At the very beginning of the show Jerry Williams announced that "this is an X-Rated Program - if you have children listening I advise that they do not listen." It should have been XXX Rated because many of the fifty or so Questions asked of each female caller were not fitting or suitable and was morally wrong to be on the air. There are many legitimate sources for females in need of answers about this intimate subject Sex Life, your program was like a Circus.

It is hard to believe that any of the fine Sponsors of the Program such as Stop & Shop, South Boston Savings Bank, Zayres, Simon & Sons, Mr. Meat, Sheas Formica, Family Magazine, Apple Computer, Dial Soap, Hearts Dog Collar, General Tires, Smoke Enders, New York Airlines, T.J. Macks, Polaris, P I P Printers and others shouldn't show strong objection to any program that is X Rated.

The Program brought nothing but shame and dishonor to decent living people.

Patrick J. Logan, 17, Hit And Run Victim

A funeral Mass for Patrick J. Logan, 17, of Quincy, victim of a hit and run accident in South Boston early Sunday morning, was held yesterday (Wednesday) in St. Brigid's Church, South Boston.

The youth died of massive head injuries at Boston City Hospital about an hour after the accident.

Robert J. Edmunds, 23, of South Boston, was given citations on charges of vehicular homicide, leaving the scene of an accident and failure to yield to a pedestrian, according to police.

After paying $15 to a bail bondsman, Edmunds was released on $1,000 signature bond on an old charge of failing to appear at Quincy District Court on a charge of driving to endanger in Milton in 1978.

An MDC police spokesman said that a clerk-magistrate hearing will be held within the week in South Boston District Court.

Edmunds was also to appear in Quincy District Court on the earlier charge.

A junior at Don Bosco Technical School in Boston, Mr. Logan was a hockey player for the school.

He had attended a testimonial dinner for a seriously ill friend earlier Saturday night.

Mr. Logan was struck while crossing the intersection of Day and L Street after playing cards with his brother-in-law Frank Casper of 29 Eddie St., Quincy, and several friends.

Mr. Logan had played hockey since age 5, and had won numerous awards and honors in the sport.

About 12 schools were interested in recruiting the boy, according to his father, Ronald Logan.

Coach Jim Shea said young Logan maintained an 87.7 average in school.

Born in Brockton, Mr. Logan had lived in Quincy for five years. He had also lived in South Boston and was an MDC laborer during the summer.

He is survived by his parents, Ronald P. Logan and Mary S. (Lydon) Logan; two brothers, Thomas J. Logan of Vermont and Ronald P. Logan Jr. of Quincy; two sisters, Jean Casper of Quincy and Kathleen Gaide of South Boston; his grandmother, Mary A. (Norton) Logan of South Boston; three nieces and four nephews.

Funeral arrangements were by O'Brien Funeral Home, 146 Dorchester St., South Boston.

Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to Don Bosco Technical High School, Boston.

Mark A. Sissons, 79, QJC Graduate At 74

A funeral Mass for Mark A. Sissons, 79, of Quincy, who was graduated from Quincy Junior College at age 74, was held Tuesday in Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Quincy.

Mr. Sissons died Saturday in Norfolk County Hospital after a long illness.

He had lived in Houghs Neck for 36 years.

Born in Franklin, N.H., Mr.

Sissons was a baker for the Fernald School before his retirement.

A World War II Navy veteran, he was a chief petty officer in the Pacific Theatre.

Mr. Sissons was also a 30 year veteran.

Husband of the late Mrs. Mildred M. (Moyihan) Sissons, he is survived by two sons, Mark A. Sissons Jr. of Charlottesville, Va., and Christopher J. Sissons of Abington; and six grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Leo J. McMaster and Son Funeral Home, 86 Franklin St., Braintree. Burial was in Mount Wollaston Cemetery.

Donation in his memory may be made to Southeastern Massachusetts Lung Association, P.O. Box 43, West Grove St., Middleboro.

Arthur R. DiBona, 79, Retired Boston Gear Supervisor

A resident of Quincy for 78 years, he was born in Rockland, Me. He was a Boston Gear employee for 47 years before retiring 14 years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Mary (Cedrone) DiBona; a son, Francis H. DiBona of Quincy; two brothers, Mario DiBona of Quincy and Hugo DiBona of Weymouth; a sister, Adeline Musetti of Quincy; five grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations in his memory may be made to the American Cancer Society.

Uuno Evert Halmi, 70, Co-Owned Restaurant

Funeral services for Uuno Evert Halmi, 70, of Quincy, retired co-owner of Halmi Restaurant in Quincy, were conducted Saturday at Matthew A. Hannel Funeral Home, 88 Copeland St.

Mr. Halmi died Jan. 26, in Beth Israel Hospital, Boston, after a long illness.

He was born and educated in Quincy. He co-owned the restaurant with his mother for 50 years. Mr. Halmi was a member and an usher at Faith Lutheran Church.

He is survived by a sister, Irene Wilkman of Sherman Oaks, Calif.;

a first cousin, Warren Broberg of Hanover; a second cousin in Finland; and four nephews, all of California.

Children In Play At Squantum Church

The congregation of the First Church of Squantum saw the children of their church in a play Sunday morning on the theme of Peter's deliverance from prison by God.

Acting in the play were Andrew Ogilvie as Peter; Bethany Golden as the angel, David Scott and Michael Stamos as the prison guards; Ruth Adams as Rhoda, the maid; and Blythe Bumpus, Bonnie MacRitchie, Lori Ogilvie, Kim Olson, Krista Olson, Karin Reister, Kristen Reister, Melissa Stamos and Amanda Young as the early Christians.

The play was part of the regular Sunday morning worship service. Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached on the topic, "Forgetting To Hope."

The Junior Choir sang "Rock-a-My Soul" and "He's Got The Whole World In His Hands" in a piece arranged by Mary Ruth

Scott.

The children were accompanied by instrumentalists Karin Reister playing the glockenspiel and Blythe Bumpus playing the xylophone.

The Chancel Choir sang "Oh, Hold Thou Me Up" by Marcello-Wienhorst.

Hymns for the morning included "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee"; "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name"; "Give To The Winds Thy Fears"; and "Onward, Christian Soldiers".

Greeters for the morning were Carl and Barbara Anderson and their daughter Marsha. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by May Lewis, Eva Martin and Katie Crossman.

The service next Sunday morning will include an observance of the Lord's Supper. It will also be Boy Scout Sunday. The service will begin at 10:15 a.m.

Catholic Schools Week Opens At Sacred Heart School

Sacred Heart School in North Quincy opened Catholic Schools Week (Jan. 31-Feb. 5) with a special Mass Sunday, at Sacred Heart Church.

The chief celebrant was Rev. Eugene Sullivan, superintendent of schools for the Boston Archdiocese, assisted by Rev. Cornelius Heery, pastor of Sacred Heart. Rev. Charles Higgins, Rev. Thomas Di Lorenzo, and John Salenius, deacon.

Music was provided by the Sacred Heart Youth Choir and the Sacred Heart Adult Choir.

Offertory gifts were presented by the PTO officers, Donna Kovalski, president, Barbara Butkus, vice-president, Cathy Rogers, treasurer, and Sister Mary Romula, principal of the school.

Following the Mass, parents and friends visited the school where the students' work and projects were on display. Refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

Throughout the week classroom and school activities center on the theme of Catholic Schools Week "Good News in Education-Catholic Schools."

IRA

The Great Individual Tax Shelter....

from the South Boston Savings Bank.

Anyone with earned income may participate in their own Individual Retirement Account. This includes those already covered by qualified pension and retirement plans. The contributions are deductible from your taxable income and you can reduce your taxable income by as much as $2,000 each year. If you file jointly and your spouse doesn't work you can deposit and deduct up to $2,250. There are no fees of any kind when you open an Individual Retirement Account with the South Boston Savings Bank.

Read this example to determine how much you could accumulate by age 65 with an IRA.

AGE NOW	SINGLE PERSON AT AGE 65	WORKING COUPLE AT AGE 65
25	$2,248,708	$4,497,416
30	1,216,042	2,432,084
35	653,950	1,307,900
40	347,996	695,992
45	181,462	362,924
50	90,815	181,630
55	41,475	82,950
60	14,618	29,236

Based on a single person's $2000 (or a working couple's $4000) annual deposit made on the first of each year at an annual interest rate of 12% compounded daily.

The 12% rate is for illustrative purposes only and is not guaranteed to be available at the time of your investment or its renewal. Actual rates will vary.

Premature withdrawal of the IRA before age 59½ may subject you to substantial tax and interest penalties.

WISDOM TEETH

What troublesome things! Problems with wisdom teeth demonstrate that as mankind has evolved, our jaws have become shorter. The trouble is that our teeth haven't shrunk as quickly, leading to a shortage of space.

Some people have extra long jaws that have room for wisdom teeth. Other people are lucky enough not ever to grow them. However, most of us have wisdom teeth and no good place for them to go. Sometimes they erupt halfway through the gums and stop. Sometimes they remain totally submerged in the jawbone, often tilted at odd angles.

Occasionally these teeth can cause severe infections. Now and then cysts and even tumors may form, and these can be painful for a long time. For this reason, it is a good idea to have your dentist check your wisdom teeth periodically. Often, the wisest thing to do about wisdom teeth is to remove them.

If you have overdue books or materials from the Thomas Crane Public Library that you keep forgetting to return, you'd do well to put that task at the top of your "things to do" list.

Beginning this week, the library is instituting a new system of recording overdue books, as well as a new fine structure.

The system is aimed at reducing the number of overdue books, which, according to chief of circulation Rita Seeger, amounts to half the library's books at any one time.

In addition, the library loses about 1500 books annually, which costs the library about $22,500 at a conservative estimate, she says.

According to Miss Seeger, the system will be operated in a similar manner as when customers make a master charge purchase and the clerk first checks a delinquent list.

Those listed in the library's booklet will not be allowed to check out books until overdue fines are paid and the books returned.

Miss Seeger, and another library employee will compile the list at first. Those with overdue books of a month or more will be placed on the list.

Later this year, a mini-computer, funded by the state, will take over the chore.

Under the old system, those with overdue books would only be detected when they are registered for library cards, says Miss Seeger.

She added that the new system is based on that of the Humphrey Public Library which has had a 70 per cent success rate.

According to Miss Seeger, the new fine system will be on a weekly, rather than, daily accumulation.

There will be no fine the first week a book is overdue, she says.

After that, the schedule will be first to second week overdue children 25 cents, adults 75 cents, per item, two to seven weeks, children 50 cents, adults $1.50 over seven weeks, children $2 adults $3.

Miss Seeger said that certified letters will be sent to those with material overdue six months.

That's usually pretty effective, says Miss Seeger, about half the people bring back the books.

If they don't respond, then we have to take them to court.

Miss Seeger said that signs will inform library patrons of the new system, and those applying for library cards will be given a flyer containing the information.

Very optimistic, says Miss Seeger, we're pleased and ready.

We just want people to have a fairly good chance of finding what they want on the shelf.

Low Interest Bond Requests Sent To Finance Committee

The City Council Monday referred four requests for low interest industrial revenue bonds for private construction projects in the city to the Finance Committee.

Mayor Francis McCanley submitted the four requests with the recommendations of the Quincy Industrial Development and Financing Authority to the Council for approval.

The low interest revenue bonds would be used for the following projects:

- George Prescott Publishing Co., 11 Temple St., publishers of the Patriot Ledger, $750,000 for improvements to existing buildings, including interior renovations.

- David A. Jacobs and Michael J. Cohen, Trustees, 100 Quincy

Shore Drive, $900,000 for resurfacing a parking lot and relocating and renovating the building.

- Dickinson Advertising Co., 542 East Squantum St., $550,000 for building remodeling, renovation and rehabilitation.

- 200 Newport Realty Trust, $10,000,000 for the construction of a building on the air rights over the North Quincy MHTA parking lot.

JWV Post To Honor 3 Local H.S. Students

Three Quincy students will be among those honored at the annual "Classmates Today, Neighbors Tomorrow" breakfast to be held Sunday, Feb. 14, by the Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post. The event will begin at 9:30 a.m. at Beth Israel Synagogue, 11 Grafton St., Quincy Post.

The local students are Karen M. Walsh of Quincy High School, Carla Smith of North Quincy High School, and Joseph Mazzarella of Quincy Vocational Technical School.

The students were chosen by their classmates as best exemplifying brotherhood in their daily activities.

Local officials, leaders in veterans' organizations, and post officers will present citations to the student honorees.

Other students to be honored are Jeffrey Mich of Weymouth South, Robin Jean Rucella of Weymouth North, and Emily Kalish of Hull High School.

Committee members are David Friedman, chairman, past commanders Irving Lanson, Dave Minkolsky, Benjamin Rudner and Ralph Paul, commander Jason Stone and Julius Brooks.

TEACHERS' CORNER

Share The Challenge And The Fun Of Education

Sponsored by the Quincy Education Association

Watching children learn and grow is one of the most fascinating and fulfilling parts of being a parent or a teacher. From their earliest years, children face the world with thousands of unanswered questions. We, as parents and teachers, help them learn about their changing world and, in the process, we learn a lot about our children.

Each child develops special interests and talents which we can encourage at school and at home. The suggestions which follow are ones to help parents, relatives or friends of the family take an active part in a child's education. Watching them learn is half the fun. Helping them learn brings them closer to themselves, to their world and to those who help.

Special Studies: Try to answer questions when your child is young and, when older, how to find the answers. Discuss current events, encourage the reading of newspapers and periodicals and the watching of local and national news telecasts.

Mathematics: Let your child explain the math papers brought home from school and take time to help with correction and understanding of mistakes.

Reading: If at any age your child seems "turned off" by reading, don't make an issue of it. Casually leave around books, magazines, articles on whatever your child's current interest are.

Science: Consider giving as gifts a subscription to a scientific magazine, a general science kit, an ant farm, binoculars, an aquarium or terrarium, a chemistry set or a telescope. Better still, help your child work on a project.

As your child's teachers we look forward to sharing a partnership in the educational growth of your child. Feel free to visit, call us. Call or write to us at school or at our office, Education Association, 590 Hancock Street, Quincy, 02170. Telephone number: 479-2283. Call or write to us for our brochure on "52 Ways To Help Your Child Learn."

Boston Lawyer Labor Negotiator

on the approach to city government."

Grunebaum said he has been handling labor relations for some six years. He's one of four members of the firm who do labor law exclusively. Senior partner Allan Tepper has been doing it for more than 40 years.

"I represent no unions and no individual employees, just management clients," said Grunebaum. "We get requests from unions but I feel we can't sit on both sides of the table and give honest advice."

He said one of his first tasks will be to review the city's labor relations cases now in the courts and recommend to McCauley whether they be continued or abandoned as wrong in the first place.

He said there are six or seven such cases, some of them quite complex, but he said he could not estimate how much money in back pay is involved.

"We are going to see that we don't have these recurring problems again," said McCauley.

Grunebaum is a graduate of Boston University with a degree in government and the BU Law School. He obtained an advanced degree in labor law from the New York University School of Law.

He began practicing in 1972 with Barron and Stadfeld of Boston, served four years as deputy chief counsel for the State Labor Relations Commission and joined Snyder, Tepper and Comen in 1980.

He wrote the chapters on labor law for Volumes 23 and 24 of the Boston College Law Review's "Annual Survey of Massachusetts Law."

He and his wife, Linda, have two daughters, Lisa, a third grader, and Jennifer, who is in kindergarten.

If The Walls Come Tumbling Down

By ROBERT B. ABRAHAM

Twice within a few days this month, many New Englanders experienced the relatively minor effects of what could have been a major destructive earthquake.

Earthquakes do not seem to concern us New Englanders, as it's been since 1755 when an earthquake measuring VIII on the Mercalli Intensity Scale caused walls and chimneys to tumble down in Boston.

There have been several minor earthquakes in New England in the 20th century causing very little or no damage, nor serious injuries.

Perhaps we have been lucky, as the National Earthquake Information Center at Boulder, Colo. has categorized the area from Kittery, Me. to Provincetown where major destructive earthquakes may occur. With this information at hand, we should all be wary of this potential destructive force, and have some ideas of how we could protect our lives and property. As there are not means available to adequately predict these phenomena with certainty, like we do with an advance storm warning, our property is quite vulnerable to severe or total damage.

Also, what many of us fail to realize is that most insurance policies do not provide coverage for damage caused by earthquakes.

As one of several Independent Insurance Agents in the area, our responsibility is to point out potential risks clients are exposed to, and offer ways to best protect against these risks.

At this time, I want to emphasize that Earthquake Insurance can simply be added to one's Homeowners Insurance Policy at a cost of 60 cents to 65 cents per $1,000 of coverage.

We all protect our investment in our homes by insuring them against fire (a peril we can often take steps to prevent and reduce our losses against), so wouldn't it make sense to protect ourselves against something potentially as devastating, yet almost impossible to prevent?

[Mr. Abraham is a member of the Hurley Insurance Agency, Quincy]

the use of pets as laboratory animals and human abuse.

"Opponents of the law may argue that the direction and performance of medical research should not be regulated by laymen, I certainly would not argue with this. The point is that I do not believe this law interferes or inhibits academic freedom but should be tried on its own level as a step toward the humane treatment of animals. I therefore support the repeal of the dog pound seizure law as do various colleagues I have spoken to."

Dr. Schwartz is Associate Professor of Radiology, Tufts Medical School, Pediatric Radiologist at Boston Floating Hospital, and Director of Orthopedic Radiology at Tufts New England Medical Center.

Questioned by The Quincy Sun about his position on this highly controversial issue, Dr. Schwartz said he was against pets being used for medical experimentation and that he could not understand why Harvard Medical School, which is highly endowed with gifts amounting to millions of dollars, would seek to purchase dogs from the Quincy Pound for $3 per dog.

"The true issue is economics," he said, "whether Harvard will pay Quincy $3 each for its dogs or $20 to some other source."

He indicated that there is a great deal of pressure placed on medical scientists doing medical research to come up with some quick results. He claimed that some research is done to further the interest of individual rather than scientific advancement.

Dr. Schwartz made a strong plea for placing some kinds of restrictions on animal experimentation similar to those controls placed by hospitals on experiments done on humans in hospitals. Each hospital sets up a committee to oversee and review the progress of such experiments.

He said the pressure on researchers for national recognition has resulted in some false reports being issued.

Councillor James Sheets was the sponsor of the home rule petition.

Councillor Leo Kelly expressed the hope that some organization would now come forward, a Friends of the Quincy Dog Pound type, to push for needed improvements at the Quincy dog pound.

'Incompetency' Charge Concerns McParland

talking."

William B. Golden is McCauley's city solicitor.

McParland said he is afraid that city employees may be hurt by his dismissal.

"I always had good relations with the city employees, in spite of the dispute between one union and Mayor Tobin," he said.

"There are a lot of darned good city employees. I enjoyed working with them. They work under unbelievable conditions for low pay and they're not appreciated. Well, I appreciate them."

McParland noted that he was fired five years ago by then-Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia and he appealed and was ordered reinstated with back pay and allowances.

"I felt the same result would have happened this time if I chose to appeal," he said.

"But I felt it would not be fair to my wife and children to put them through the same thing all over again, the publicity and things like that."

"At no time did I feel that I had ever done anything wrong in my 10 years of service to the city."

North In Thick Of Title Chase

The North Quincy boys' basketball team remained in the thick of the Suburban League title chase last week and Tuesday faced one of its toughest tests of the season when it played at Waltham, a team that beat the Raiders by 20 points earlier.

Ed Miller's North Team plays at Quincy Friday night at 8 and Tuesday will host another of the league's top teams, Brookline, at 7 p.m.

The Raiders improved their league record to 8-3 and overall mark to 10-4 last Friday with an easy 60-34 victory over Newton North.

Chip Bunker, their 6-foot-10 center, had 12 points, nine rebounds and two blocked shots in a little more than a half of action.

Wes Paul and Dan Marsters had 10 points apiece and Bill Gray had a good game off the bench with eight points and five rebounds. The Raiders' tough defense forced Newton into many turnovers and North took an early lead and never looked back.

Earlier in the week North handed South Boston its second loss in 12 games, 61-57, in a non-league game.

The Raiders raced out to a 21-9 lead in the first period but South Boston cut the margin to 34-31 at halftime. North outscored the visitors, 17-12, in the third period and then hung on until the end.

Bob Flynn paced North with 14 points, Bunker had 12 points and 10 rebounds and Marsters and Jim Kelly had 12 points each.

South Boston's top scorer, Eddie Bryant, paced his team with 21 points.

"We have some tough games left and will have to hustle all the way if we hope to make the tournament again," Miller said. "Brookline is in first place and Waltham is in second place. Also, Brockton and Quincy will be tough to beat."

QUINCY'S Mary Ellen Riordan (22) and Connie Richer (2) are two of the top players this season for the undefeated Providence College women's hockey team. Mary Ellen is a product of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association.

Undefeated In 11 Games Riordan Providence Women's Hockey Spark

Mary Ellen Riordan of Quincy, a product of Quincy Youth Hockey Association, is a senior co-captain of the Providence College women's hockey team which is undefeated with a 11-0 record.

Mary Ellen, who was voted the team's MVP in her freshman and sophomore years, last season was the Lady Friars' third leading scorer with 46 points (23 goals and 23 assists).

She played a prominent role in the team's victory over New Hampshire earlier this year which ended a 74-game win streak by New Hampshire.

This winter Riordan has scored 12 points on seven goals and five assists and is fifth in scoring. She is second on the career charts with 182 points - eight points shy of taking the lead from former PC star Kathy Lincham.

Riordan also holds the record for most points in a season, 65 during the 1978-79 season.

"Mary Ellen is a very solid

player, who can play both offense and defense," said Coach John Marchetti.

Last year, in their seventh year of varsity competition, the Providence women continued their winning tradition and had another 20-win season (20-5). Under first year coach Marchetti, a Providence College graduate, starring in hockey there, the Lady Friars won two tournaments, the Northeastern Christmas Tournament, and the Concordia Invitational in Montreal, and qualified for the second year in a row for the Eastern AIAW Regionals. They outscored their opposition, 144-40.

Two years ago the Providence women hosted the first-ever Eastern AIAW Regionals and finished second to New Hampshire. Last season they again finished second to the undefeated New Hampshire team.

"This year we are hoping to be the No. 1 team in the East and possibly No. 1 in the country," said Marchetti. "The win over New Hampshire was one of our biggest ever."

Providence will return to Montreal to defend its title in the Concordia Invitational, recently won the Cornell Invitational and will play in the Princeton Invitational.

Frustration Shadows Presidents

This has been a season Quincy basketball coach Joe Amoroso would just as soon forget.

The veteran coach hadn't had his full team available until two weeks ago when everyone was finally ready and the Presidents came up with an impressive win over Newton North.

Then, in a loss to Cambridge Rindge and Latin, Quincy's Peter Papile, the top scorer in the Suburban League, suffered a knee injury and was unable to play in last Friday's big game with league runnerup Waltham.

Waltham, battling Brookline, North Quincy and Cambridge for the league crown, came out flying and outclassed the Presidents, 70-41, dropping Quincy's record to 4-9.

"We just can't seem to get a full team together," Amoroso said. "Just when everybody was coming back, this (Papile's knee injury) happens."

"Waltham is a very good team and they wanted to win big. They're fighting for the league championship and they came out like champs tonight."

It was a far cry from the earlier game in Waltham when the Hawks had to battle back from a 20-point deficit to pull out a 72-69 win.

Waltham, led by its top scorer, Scott LaForest, who had 21 points, took a 14-4 first period lead, increased it to 33-10 at the half. The Hawks took a big 53-24 lead into the final session.

Jeff Morrison had 11 points, all in the second half, and Kevin Riggs also waited until the second half to score all 10 of his points.

Earlier in the week Quincy lost to Cambridge, 60-46, with Papile scoring 21 points and Jim DePietro having 11 points and four rebounds.

Saturday night Quincy bowed to Arlington, 58-51, in a non-league game snowed out earlier.

DePietro paced the Presidents with 17 points and Bob Mudge and Paul Gilbody had 11 each

Quincy Wrestlers Win 3 More

The Quincy wrestling team came up with three more wins last week to boost its record to 14-0 (6-0 in the Suburban League).

The Presidents will wrestle at Randolph Friday night at 7 in a non-league meet and will host Waltham Saturday night at 7 in the meet that will decide the league title.

Quincy blanked Braintree, 64-0, last week with Dave Coulter winning at 100 pounds, Joe Monahan at 107, Mike Notarangelo at 114, Joe Madden at 121, Gerry McSharry at 128, Mike Miller at 134, Glen Oriola at 140, Darrin DeCoste at 147, Steve Ricci at 157, Bill Rollins at 169, Bob Willard at 188 and Mark Picot in the heavyweight division.

The Presidents also downed Newton North, 33-14, in a league meet and Plymouth-Carver, 43-15, in a non-league meet.

"The win over Newton was a real key to our success," Coach Carmen Mariano said. "Newton, as usual, proved to be a well-coached and well-conditioned team. The matches were close and the level of wrestling was excellent."

North Icemen Skate By Cambridge, 9-2

The North Quincy hockey team returned to the win column last Saturday with an easy 9-2 victory over Cambridge Ringe and Latin to improve its record to 4-7-1.

The Raiders who played Weymouth South yesterday (Wednesday), will face Quincy Saturday night at 7:50 at the Youth Arena in the final regularly scheduled game of the season. North lost to the Presidents, 9-4, last month.

Coach Kevin Lewis used everyone in the romp over Cambridge, employing five lines and 10 defensemen.

Mike Cullen had a hat trick, Scott Messina two goals and Don Reidy, Billy Nee, Dave DiCarlo and Tom Lester one each. Kevin Duff had three assists, Dick Tapper and Kevin Lydon two apiece and Nee, Keith Smith, and Rich Stevens one each. Shawn Cunningham, starting his first varsity game, played well in goal.

Earlier in the week North dropped a 6-3 decision to Weymouth North, which is 10-1-1 and battling Brookline for the Suburban League crown.

Duff, Lester and Don Reidy had the Raider goals, with Reidy's younger brother, Robby, assisting on Don's goal.

Yo-Yo Season For Quincy Hockey Team

The Quincy hockey team's season has been like a yo-yo, up and down.

Last week the Presidents turned in one of their best efforts to defeat Waltham, 8-5, but they lost to Brockton, 4-1, and last Saturday were bombed by Weymouth South, 12-3, dropping their record to 6-7.

Quincy played at Newton North last night (Wednesday) and will face North Quincy Saturday night at 7:50 at the Youth Arena in the last regularly scheduled game of the year. The Presidents scored five goals in the third period to top North, 9-4, earlier.

In the win over Waltham Doug Concannon had a hat trick and added an assist as the Presidents came from behind to win. Trailing, 3-0, they received two-goal games from Kevin Craig and Mike Nourse and Mark Lamie had the other goal.

Goalie Andrew Shannon had excellent second and third periods after a slow start in the opening session.

In the loss to Brockton Mike Nevis had the lone Quincy goal with Craig assisting. Shannon played well in goal.

Quincy Scores Early, Often, Beats North

The Quincy High School basketball team, with its eyes on the Tech Tournament, scored on its first four shots for an 8-0 lead after three minutes and went on to a 36-17 victory over North Quincy.

"How can you beat a team that makes a basket every time it shoots?" asked Raider Coach Jack Mullarkey at half time when Quincy was enjoying a 20-8 lead.

Art Mackie led the Quincy scorers with seven points while Ralph Page and John Joyce had six apiece. Ronnie Darling, better known as a yachtsman, had 11 of North Quincy's 17 points.

The Quincy lineup included Mackie, Dobbyn, Pettinelli, Page, Kilrain, forwards; Joyce, Mountain, Ranieri, centers; DiSantis, Sansatini, Ross, Graham, McCollom, Barsella, guards.

The North Quincy lineup included Reilly, King, Driscoll, Darling, forwards; Underwood, McCutcheon, centers; DeVries, Ryan, Phinney, guards.

ICE TEAM WINS

Gordon Howley's goal 55 seconds into the third period broke a 1-1 tie and sent the Quincy High School hockey team on to a 3-2 win over Watertown in the Bay State League's consolation series.

In an unusual feature of the game, Dave Pitman, the Quincy goalie, doffed his pads and played right wing for the Ken Hudson-coached team, which was winding up its season.

PRATT HEADS ALL-STARS

Mary Pratt, star of the Union Congregational Church basketball team, was named captain for the second year in a row of the Girls' Church League all star team selected by Dave Lubarsky of the Patriot Ledger.

Joining her on the first team were Rita Darling of Christ Church, Velma Wilson of Bethany, and Edith Pyyny and Gwen Wilbur, both of Quincy Point Congregational.

MAT UPSET

Ray DiBona of Quincy pinned Will Cameron of North Quincy in four minutes in the feature 126-pound match as the Presidents' wrestling team upset the Raiders 19-11 in the Quincy gym.

In other matches: 100 pounds, Dave Brown, N.Q., defeated Paul Slate, Q; 118 pounds, Arthur Connors, NQ, pinned Frankie McGovern; 145, pounds, Bill Gould, Q, defeated Van Gemert, N.Q., with a leg scissors.

CHAPMAN HONORED

Harold "Boots" Chapman, coach of the Wollaston Junior Legion baseball team, was given a testimonial dinner by the post as he prepared to leave for Babe Ganzel's baseball school in Selma, Ala. Chapman also was signed to manage the Deland team of the Florida State League next summer.

SHOT PUTTERS EXCEL

Eero Helin and Charles Henderson were putting the 12-pound shot more than 41 feet in early workouts by Coach George Wilson's Quincy High School track team, which was hampered by lack of indoor facilities.

QUINCY ARENA FIGHTS

Eddie Wallman of Roxbury decided Nick Imbellone of Braintree in the 160-pound finals on Jimmy Gardner's first amateur boxing show of the season at Quincy Arena.

POINT BOMBS CENTRAL

Mike Della Barba poured in 22 points to lead Point to a 30-9 victory over Central in a Junior High School basketball league game. The Point junior varsity also beat Central 14-0.

GARCIA LOSES

Sammy Garcia, the Quincy bantamweight, lost a decision to his old rival from the amateur boxing days, Sal Bartolo of East Boston, in a six-round preliminary bout on the Mike Kaplan-Honey Mellody card at Boston Garden.

SO, QUINCY WINS AT BOCCIE

The South Quincy Bocce Club team of Orlando Marcucci, John Bizzozero, Frank Biagini and Frank Brunelle defeated the Braintree Bocce Club, 4-2, in the first indoor bocce match held at Garcia's Courts.

BETHANY BOMBS POINT

Forwards Henry Hamlin and Bill Steele were the stars as the powerful Bethany basketball team whipped Point Congregational, 26-21, to take over first place in the Sunday School League at the Quincy Y.

SPORTS BITS '38

Eddie Dunn paced the Ogle Club of Quincy to a 49-43 victory over the Milton Town Team . . . Gerry Hall of Braintree, a standout amateur bantamweight boxer for the past three years, announced plans to turn pro . . . Ike Goldberg, the wildman, objected to the choice of Bill Dolan to referee his bout with Art O'Mahoney at the Quincy Arena.

Raiderettes Must Win 4 Of 5 For Tourney Bid

When the North Quincy girls' basketball team won its first seven games it appeared it would be a shoe-in to make the Eastern Mass. Tournament for the second year in a row.

But the Raiderettes slumped, lost some tough games, and when they lost to Newton North, 55-51, in overtime last Friday, they dropped to 10-5. Going into Tuesday's games with Waltham, they had to win four of their last five games to qualify.

North will host Quincy Friday night at 8, hoping to avenge an earlier defeat, and next Tuesday will play at Brookline at 3:30.

"We have a tough road now, but we are confident," Coach Paul Bregoli said. "We faced the same situation last year and we did it to qualify for the tournament for the first time in the school's history."

"We have lost some awfully tough games but the girls have been playing well. Earlier they lost a couple of games in which they didn't play well."

Last Friday's overtime loss to defending state champion Newton North was another heartbreaker for the Raiderettes.

North Quincy got off to a 22-13 first period lead with Chris Choukas and Karen Bridges scoring eight points each. In the second period JoAnne Runge, the team's top all-around player, was injured and had to sit out most of the quarter.

Newton got back into the game and Bridges, who committed her third foul, also had to sit out a large part of the quarter. Newton went ahead, 26-24, but the Raiderettes regained the lead, 32-30, at halftime.

North Quincy still led, 40-37, going into the final period but Newton's Debbie Quinn, who was brilliant with 31 points and 20 rebounds, scored eight of her points in this quarter. With North Quincy up by four points, Quinn sank two foul shots. A Raiderette missed the front end of a one-and-one which could have clinched the game for North Quincy and Quinn hit a 20-footer to tie the score.

North then set up a play but Runge's jumper from the corner rolled around the hoop and dropped out, forcing the overtime.

Runge had 15 points, and Bridges who has been playing well of late, and Choukas had 12 each. Tricia Meehan and Simone Koch also played well.

Earlier in the week North had rolled over Minuteman Regional of the Commonwealth Conference, 62-29, to knock Minuteman out of the tournament.

Nearly all the North players scored with Bridges having 14 points. Koch nine, Runge and Mary Holleran eight each and Meehan six. Maureen McAleney and Janet Petkun played excellent games for the Raiderettes.

By TOM SULLIVAN

Flying First Ladies At North Friday

The high flying Quincy girls' basketball team stayed with Cambridge and Weymouth North at the top of the Suburban League last week and Tuesday hosted Weymouth North in a crucial game.

The First Ladies (9-2 in the league and 11-3 overall) following last Friday's 55-36 romp over Waltham, will play at North Quincy Friday at 8 p.m. and will host Weymouth South Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 p.m.

The Quincy girls are in good shape to make the Eastern Mass. Tournament for the second year in a row. Going into last Tuesday's game at Weymouth, they only had to split in their last six games to qualify.

After last week's win over Waltham, Quincy, Cambridge and Weymouth North all had two league defeats, but the First Ladies had played one less league game.

Ellen Deady had her best game of the year against Waltham with 17 points and 15 rebounds. Mary Ann Agres had eight points and Meg Goldrick played an outstanding defensive game.

Earlier in the week Quincy had taken its biggest win of the season, a 53-46 decision over Cambridge, avenging an earlier setback. Cambridge had been top-ranked in Eastern Mass. before the game.

Quincy's consistent defensive play opened numerous scoring chances for the First Ladies.

"We can't play full-court press all the time, we're not deep enough," said a pleased coach Peter Swanson. So Quincy, trailing 14-4, after a period, went into a zone press and it paid off as Quincy came back strong and cut the gap to 25-23 at the half.

Quincy continued to excel in the third period and, outscoring Cambridge, 13-7, and took a 36-32 lead into the final period. The First Ladies widened their lead to 47-37, their biggest edge.

Quincy had five players in double figures, Nancy MacDonald scoring 10 points, Mary Kamb 15 (18 rebounds), Deady 12 points and 12 rebounds, Goldrick 12 points and Agres 10.

the outstanding North player in the Quincy game and several other awards will be given.

All of the football players, seniors, juniors and sophomores, and the cheerleaders will be honored.

Waterman Sets Pace In Little Loop MDA Bowl-A-Thon

Twelve-year-old John Waterman of Clive St., North Quincy, leadoff bowler for the Quincy Sun team in the Quincy Bowling Little Loop, topped the 59 boys participating in the league's seventh annual Jerry Lewis Bowldrome to combat muscular dystrophy, with $43 in sponsorship pledges collected for the first week of the 1982 drive.

John, happy with accomplishment and the recognition of his teammates — especially Capt. Joe Grimaldi — rolled a first string 96, his best of the season.

Little Loop youngsters, ranging in age from 10 through 16, have raised $10,187.85 over the past six years and this year's bowldrome is special. It is being conducted in memory of David Brodie, a former league director who commuted 27 weeks every year from Baintree on Saturday mornings to lend his cheerful assistance in making the league the success it is.

Former league members, friends and relatives are asked by league president Joe Gilead to assist in making this year's bowldrome the best.

Contributions in the name of the Quincy Bowling Little Loop, c/o Muscular Dystrophy Association, can be made at the Wollaston Boulevard Bowldrome, Quincy Shore Drive, Wollaston 02170.

North Girls Breeze To Track Victories

The North Quincy girls' track team continues to roll last week, easily defeating Newton North, 66-20, handing Newton its first defeat and improving its record to 6-0.

North today (Thursday) faces Weymouth North at 3:30 at Newton North and spectators are welcome. The postponed meet with Weymouth South, the only other unbeaten team in the Suburban League, will be held next Wednesday at Cambridge. This meet will decide the league championship.

Last Saturday the Raiderettes made an outstanding showing in the state coaches meet at Harvard, placing in six events and winning more medals than any other team.

This was an open meet open to anyone in the state.

"The girls did an excellent job and I am delighted with our showing," Coach Lou Tozzi said. "There were some of the outstanding athletes in the state competing."

Sheila Barret placed fifth in the mile in 5:13.2, her best time and the second best in the school's history.

Mary Kate Kennedy was second in the 600 in her best time, 1:25.0, also the second best in school history.

Kennedy just missed winning the meet but Adrian Dixon of Brighton, a nationally-ranked runner, caught her in the final 40 yards.

Michelle Millane won the shot put with her best throw ever, 42-10 1/4, as she just edged Lauren Andrews of the Quincy Track Club, who had a 42-6 toss.

Nancy McCarthy was third in the 1000 in 2:39, breaking the school record by 5.5 seconds. The winner, Caroline Mitchell of Needham, ran the nation's fastest time of 2:33.2 and runnerup Gail Saunders of Reading was right behind at 2:33.7.

North finished third in the mile relay in 4:05.8. Brookline won with a meet record of 3:54.7. North's team comprised McCarthy, Deirdre Donovan, Mary Kate Kennedy and Karen Lindenfelzer. Kennedy ran an excellent anchor to bring North from fourth place to win its heat.

Kara Crehan, the defending champion, could place only fourth in the high jump despite a good 5-4 jump.

North had several other girls who ran well but failed to place.

Donovan made the finals in the 300 and ran a fine 39.6, and Mary Gannon turned in her best time, 40.4.

In the 600 Lindenfelzer ran her best time, 1:30.8, and just missed placing.

In the two-mile Linda Kennedy was ninth in 11:27 and Regina Nagle ran her best time, 11:54.

The two-mile relay team won its heat and finished seventh overall and missed placing by just two-tenths of a second. The team was made up of Ann Gorczyca, Meg Leary, Eileen Crehan and Tracy Corrigan.

In the easy league win over Newton North, the Raiderettes won eight of the nine individual events plus the relay and no one won more than one event in a fine display of balance.

Kathy McCarthy won the dash with Debbie Kiley third, Donovan won the 300 with Lindenfelzer second, Mary Kate Kennedy won the 600 with Gannon second and Lisa Reynolds third, Nancy McCarthy won the 1000 with Eileen Crehan third, Barret won the mile with Gorczyca third, and Linda Kennedy won the two-mile with Nagle second and Corrigan third.

Maria McGurl was second in the hurdles, Kara Crehan won the high jump with Georgia Traficante third, Millane won the shot put with Caryn Smith second and the 1600-meter relay team won with four girls, Traficante, Liz Toland, Chris Comeau and Lisa Fitzgerald, running the relay for the first time.

HN Women To Plan Summer Softball Season

The Houghs Neck Women's Recreation Association will meet Tuesday, Feb. 16 at 7 p.m. at St. Thomas Aquinas Hall to make plans for the summer softball season.

Houghs Neck women, 18 or older as of May 1, are eligible to register to play and attendance at this meeting is a must for all players.

The HNWRA Softball League is a fun league and does not require any tryouts and it is a league in which everyone plays. Games are played weeknights at the Great Hill School field.

Boys Boxing Course At H.N. Legion Post

A four-week course in boxing for Houghs Neck boys age eight and older will be sponsored by the Houghs Neck Legion Post beginning Feb. 11.

Classes will be held Thursdays 6 to 7:30 p.m. at the post home, 1116 Sea St.

A donation for youth activities will be required. The first 40 to sign up will be accepted.

Boys must supply their own gym clothes, sneakers and mouthpieces. No parents will be allowed at the lessons. There will be a demonstration at the completion of the course.

The instructor is Tinker Picot, veteran of 25 professional fights and a three-time Golden Glove champion.

For further information, call Commander John Christensen after 6 p.m. or drop in at the Post.

The North Quincy girls' gymnastics team defeated Quincy, 106-85.7, last week, after losing to a strong Brockton team, 121.1-114.2, earlier in the week.

The Raiderettes won every event against Quincy as Kristen Dever, who won every event, took first place all-around with 29.5 points and Catherine O'Brien was second at 26.3.

North will end its season Friday with a home meet against Wellesley at 3:30 p.m.

"We are a young team dominated by sophomores and the girls have done a tremendous job this year," said Coach Jane McGilvray.

North swept the top three places in vaulting with Dever winning with 7.8 points, O'Brien taking second at 7.2 and Jill Connolly third at 7.1.

In floor exercise it was Dever first at 7.1, sophomore Julie Nee second at 7.8 and O'Brien third at 6.8.

The balance beam event found Dever first at 7.6, Nee second at 6.6 and O'Brien third at 6.3.

On uneven bars Dever won with 7.0 points and Amy Harrison was third at 6.3.

North Swimmers Defeat Waltham

The North Quincy swim team defeated Waltham, 101-71, last week in a Suburban League meet to go over .500 (4-3).

The Raiders will face Quincy Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Lincoln Hancock Pool. Quincy has never beaten North in either boys' or girls' swimming and the Raiders will be favored again Saturday.

Junior Bradley Martin won two events and swam the anchor leg on the winning relay team in the win over Waltham.

Bradley won the 200-yard freestyle in 2:07.9 and the 500 freestyle in 5:51.5 and teamed with Ken Burke, Peter Stockless and Jim Boudreau to win the 400 freestyle relay in 3:59.6, the first time they have gone under four minutes.

Boudreau won the 50 freestyle, Scott Andrews won the diving, Sean O'Brien took the 100 backstroke and the 200 medley relay team of Ralph Santosuosso, John Wallace, O'Brien and Andrews won.

YMCA Gym Team Downs Andover

The Class II South Shore YMCA gymnastics team overtook Andover and won its season's opener, 92.8-84.9.

The rookie Class II team took the top two places in three events and took 2-3 in the other. Coach Jane McGilvray said, "The girls work very hard and long hours. It showed in their performance today."

Julie Killion made an impressive showing and contributed a first place all-around score of 32.4 to her team's effort. Teammate Diane Raftery placed a close second in the all-around category with 31.5 points. Patti Novak had 28.9 points.

Killion performed a spectacular routine on balance beam, winning with 8.4 points and Raftery was second at 8.0.

On uneven bars Killion won with 7.7 points and Raftery again was second at 6.6.

It was the same story in the vault with Killion edging Raftery, 8.6-8.5.

In floor exercise Raftery placed second with 8.4 points and Novak was third at 8.3.

Second 'Quincy Remembers' Series At Historical Society

The Quincy Historical Society will begin its second "Quincy Remembers" public program series Tuesday, Feb. 9, at 1 p.m. with "Parris in Quincy and Boston", at the Adams Academy Building, 8 Adams St.

The program will cover the life and work of Alexander Parris, the architect who designed Quincy's United First Parish Church, Quincy Market and other New England buildings.

Illustrated with slides, the program will be narrated by Margaret Taylor, teacher and longtime lecturer at Boston's Museum of Fine Arts.

Other programs in the series will be:

"The Ways at Wallace and Son", Tuesday, March 9, at 1 p.m. There will be a color documentary film depicting the construction of the schooner, John F. Leavitt. The $ million vessel, built in the traditional manner by Maine craftsmen, might have spawned a rebirth of the age of great cargo ships had it not sunk in a storm on its maiden voyage.

The film will be followed by a few slides of the John F. Leavitt on its visit to Quincy prior to its sinking.

"Witchcraft in New England", Tuesday, April 13, at 1 p.m. A slide lecture by Donald Doliber, history teacher and active member of the Marblehead Historical Society, will trace the rise of the social phenomenon in New England, the hysteria of 1692 in Salem, and scars which remained for generations.

"Parting Ways: A Special Part of 18th and 19th Century Plymouth", Tuesday, May 11, at

1 p.m. Mrs. Marge Anderson, director of the Parting Ways Museum of Afro-American Ethnohistory, will present an illustrated account of a settlement of black Americans in Plymouth from 1792 to 1900.

Mrs. Anderson will also discuss the efforts of a fledgling museum to explore and explain this aspect of Massachusetts' early history.

"Contributions to Quincy's Character", Tuesday, June 8, at 1 p.m. William Flavin, historian of United First Parish Church and senior lecturer at Curry College will give an illustrated survey of the most significant people, places and events in Quincy's history.

The public is invited to the programs which are free. Donations are gratefully accepted. There will be refreshments.

For more information, call 773-1144.

The programs are supported by grants from the King Family Fund and the Institute of Museum Services.

WEEK OF: FEBRUARY 4

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Overdue reply arrives at last, but the news may require further clarification. Old-fashioned approach favored in romance. Academic project benefits from innovation.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Self-confidence is high, making you a popular guest at weekend gatherings. Easy to be gulled, you should avoid making risky investments, be on your toes as the new month gets going.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
New attraction enters the picture, and a one-time admirer may be back in town. On a more practical level, take inventory of how much you've been spending and on what.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Research and history accented, perhaps you decide to trace family roots. Public speaking is a strong point, you could be asked to perform in that role on weekend.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Outstanding time to make professional contacts. Property needs may require added attention. Family brouhaha reaches climax by Saturday — then it's true-signing time.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Expanding your academic horizons and sprucing up your wardrobe are favored. Premature case of spring fever gives you itchy feet. Don't fight it — go dancing!

LEO - July 23-August 22
Friend may be overly interested in your personal life; gently, you may have to tell him/her to back off. Work to improve communications skills.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Emphasis is on shared finances and perhaps some hard bargaining through Monday. Don't be shy on voicing opinions, especially if they relate to injustices around you.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Evaluate assets and liabilities and take various inventories during this sorting-out, weeding-out week. Older relative is beginning to under-stand, if not endorse, your point of view.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
If negotiations are under way for improved conditions, you can probably afford to hold out a little longer. Good week to advance new ideas or apply for a patent.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Changes in home setting are favored. If major repairs are involved, don't try to learn as you go. Marital or friendship bond is strengthened through the week.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Good week for making job applications, expanding friendship circle, dabbling in real estate. Romantic expectations may be unrealistic. Business aptitude is sharp.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're broadminded, a dreamer, a forthright spirit and an impractical sort. You adore life's good things and will sample some through '82. Two suggestions: be more group minded, and never lower your very high standards.

BORN THIS WEEK
February 4th, feminist Betty Friedman; 5th, actor Red Buttons; 6th, actress Zsa Zsa Gabor; 7th, actor Buster Crabbe; 8th, actor Gary Coleman; 9th, singer Carol King; 10th, actor Jimmy Durante.

Weymouth 5 Month Old 'Millionaire For A Day'

Jill Harrison, five month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Skip Harrison of Weymouth, may be young, but she already knows what it feels like to be a millionaire. . . at least for a day.

Her name was selected from between 20,000 and 25,000 entries as the "Millionaire for a Day" in a contest held recently by Weymouth Savings Bank.

Jill won $425, the daily interest on $1 million.

Her mother, Robin, had entered her name in the contest which ran from Dec. 1 to 31.

Mrs. Harrison had hoped that Jill might have more luck than she had but nonetheless was amazed when notified that her daughter had won the contest.

Jill's mother said she may borrow the money for a month to pay the rent, but intends to pay the money back and save it until her daughter is ready for it.

According to bank president George Thompson, the "Millionaire for a Day" promotion was begun in 1975, when the bank opened a "Bicentennial Branch". Six percent interest on $1 million was given away the first year, Thompson said. This year, the interest was raised to 15 percent, the going rate on term certificates.

The contest has drawn customers to the bank and attracted phone calls from other banks interested in the promotion.

Other winners in the contest received prizes from a black and white television to a car blanket.

The bank, which has four offices, has other promotions throughout the year. Customers are offered apples in the fall and hot coffee in the winter, for instance.

Weymouth Savings is the oldest savings bank on the South Shore.

OLD ENGLISH is the decor of the dining room at Sheffield's, Quincy's newest restaurant in the reasonable price range, which is holding its grand opening today at the Quincy Bay Inn, North Quincy.

New Sheffield's Restaurant Opens At Quincy Bay Inn

It's called Carrington's Combo for no particular reason other than it has a nice English ring to it.

It's golden fried mushrooms, zucchini and onion rings all in one big basket, just the thing to nibble on as an appetizer or a sideshow with your steak, scallops or schrod.

Carrington's Combo is one of the specialties of the house at Sheffield's Restaurant, which is holding its grand opening today (Thursday) at the Quincy Bay Inn, 29 Hancock St., North Quincy.

"We want to give the people of Quincy a restaurant they can be proud of," said Al Nacar, the proprietor. "A place with reasonable prices where they can take their friends and families."

In order to introduce the people of Quincy to Sheffield's, Nacar is offering breakfast, lunch and dinner for two for the price of one for a week with a coupon that appears in this week's Quincy Sun.

"We want people to come in and see the place," said Nacar. "We think they'll like it."

Thomas Collins Named V.P. At Shawmut

Thomas F. Collins III of Quincy has been elected vice president of the Information Systems Division of Shawmut Bank of Boston.

Collins joined Shawmut in 1976 as senior planning analyst in the Advanced Planning Department and was elected systems officer shortly thereafter. In 1978 he was promoted to systems planning manager and assistant vice president.

A graduate of Northeastern University with a degree in Finance, Collins served in the U.S. Air Force from 1966 to 1972.

He is on the Board of Directors of the South Shore Mental Health

The restaurant is entirely new, with new management, new personnel and new decor, Old English in style which fits well with the Old English flavor of the menu.

There is The Stately Sirloin, a 10-ounce char-broiled steak; Duke's Desire, a hearty fillet of broiled schrod; Blueblood's Basket, deep fried tender chicken; and The Knight's Shield, homemade corned beef hash and eggs.

Two of the most appealing specialties of the house are the crock of tavermade onion soup with cheese and seasoned croutons and Sheffield's Skins, crispy fried potato skins with sour cream and chives.

"We also have all the old favorites, chicken, meat, fish and sandwiches, done to your taste," said Nacar.

Sheffield's Restaurant has seating for 110 plus waiting space at the bar, from which emanates the "Grand Goblets", including:

The Imperial Knight, a brew of white creme de cacao, triple sec, milk and granadine; Royal Grog, a fruity combination of gin, vodka, rum, lemon and granadine; and a "Bloody Good Mary".

There is also a tasty assortment of international coffees -- Spanish, with kahula and brandy; Italian, with sambuca Romano; and Mediterranean, with amaretto and cognac -- served in goblets with cinnamon sugar topped by whipped cream.

The breakfast is sturdy American with three eggs, bacon, home fries, toast and coffee for $2.75.

Sheffield's is open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. for hearty eating while the adjoining Aquarius Lounge serves drinks until 2 a.m.

Nacar, who is also one of the owners of the Quincy Bay Inn and the Aquarius Lounge, is a veteran restaurant proprietor from Hyannis.

He has a degree in engineering from the University of Stockholm, Sweden, and a degree in business management from McGill University in Montreal.

McCauley To Dig Into Big Budgets

Mayor Francis X. McCauley was scheduled to start the heavy lifting on the fiscal 1983 budget this week.

Fire Chief Edward Barry was due in the mayor's office yesterday (Wednesday) to discuss the Fire Department budget and Police Chief Francis X. Finn is scheduled within the week.

The Fire, Police and the Public Works budgets run to something like 80 per cent of the total budget for city government, exclusive of the schools.

McCauley said consideration of the Public Works budget will be delayed since the new commissioner, Paul Anderson, who was sworn in Feb. 1, has been out sick.

The Big Three of city government, like the other departments, were asked to make a 15 per cent cut in their budgets to enable the city to meet the second year requirements of Proposition 2½.

But, McCauley pointed out, his demands are flexible, particularly when it comes to fire and police.

Chief Barry, he said, has submitted four different budgets, two of them meeting the requirements of the 15 percent and the other two representing "what he realistically thinks he should get."

One of the fire budgets, the mayor said, includes $800,000 in capital outlay for needed new equipment.

Chief Finn has also prepared two budgets, one meeting the requirements "and the other one as he sees it with minimum staffing," he said.

McCauley said the budgets of the smaller departments already reviewed have shown $517,000 in cuts from last year but most of that savings has been wiped out by rising fixed costs.

"We expect that pension costs are going up," he said. "Employee insurance is going up. These are fixed costs that we cannot do anything about."

"Debt service is going but we are caught this year with the $2 million we had to borrow last year to meet the Blue Cross-Blue Shield payments that were underfunded."

"Our target for the city side of the budget is $3.5 million but the reductions that have been made have been more than offset by the rise in fixed costs."

One department that will not feel the 15 per cent axe, said McCauley, is the cemetery.

"We want the cemetery run properly," he said. "There has been complaints about its condition. We want to have the cemetery up to snuff for Memorial Day and the summer. The cemetery budget has held the line but it hasn't been cut."

McCauley said he has set a target date by the end of February for finishing the government side of the budget.

"We also hope to have some feedback on what we can expect from the state in local aid by then," he said.

"Hopefully, we'll have a reorganization plan passed by the School Committee by Feb. 24."

Tax Bills To Be Late

Revaluation Impact Notices To Go Out In Early March

By TOM HENSHAW

Impact notices of revaluation should be going out to Quincy property owners sometime during the second week in March.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday he has been promised by Jane Malmé of the State Department of Revenue that the reval figures will be approved or disapproved by the end of the month.

"I would estimate that impact notices will go out a week to 10 days after the state gives its approval," he said.

But, McCauley added, even under that timetable the city will be unable to meet the traditional April 1 deadline for setting a tax rate and mailing out the second and final tax bills for fiscal 1982.

And, Treasurer Robert E. Foy III figures that the delay beyond May 1 will cost the city some $200,000 in interest on short term borrowing for the day-to-day expenses of government.

"The tax bills will have to be late," said the mayor. "I don't see any way they can be out by April 1. They may be as much as a month late."

McCauley said the city has already overspent the budget by $500,000 for short term loans. The budget called for $700,000 and $1.2 million has been spent.

After impact notices have been mailed, property owners will have 60 days to appeal and McCauley said some time can be saved by starting the tax rate-setting procedure during the appeal period.

McCauley, Arthur Foley, his administrative assistant, Foy and the three assessors, John Comer, Patricia Ceriani and Elmer Fagerlund, journeyed to Boston last week to confer with Malmé.

"We pointed out the fact that the tax bills will be late and we inquired about using the old property values for one more year," said McCauley.

"She said she could not grant our request at this time but that she will review it if there are to be long delays."

License Board Considering 'Happy Hour' Restriction

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A local establishment's plans to serve free beer on Valentine's day, have prompted the License Board to consider restrictions for "happy hours" in the city's liquor establishments.

The board, which has been concerned with excessive drinking and driving, reached a consensus at Tuesday's meeting that alcoholic beverages shall not be dispensed at less than half the normal retail price.

Board members will now discuss the restriction with City Solicitor William Golden.

The matter came to the board's attention when a woman, who did not give her name, said that the Beachcomber on Quincy Shore Drive intended to serve free beer during part of Valentine's Day.

The matter was referred to the police department which then discussed the plans with Beachcomber management. The Beachcomber then cancelled the plans.

"I called the ABCC (Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission)," said Police Chief Francis Finn, "and there is nothing illegal (with giving away beer)."

"But the (license) board frowns on it."

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh said that Quincy Bay Inn has a policy of "all you can drink" for a small price.

"When do you start frowning," commented Dr. McKeogh who asked board members what prices would be acceptable.

Fire Chief Edward Barry said that he would have no objection to drinks being reduced to half price during happy hour.

Finn, Dr. McKeogh and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald agreed.

City Clerk John Gillis, recuperating from surgery, was not present at the meeting.

A BEER AND WINE LICENSE for the Wollaston Recreational Facility was discussed at an evening meeting of the Quincy License Board last week. Facility administrator John Nourse, right, discussed the situation with board members, from left Police Chief Francis X. Finn, Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh, Fire Chief Edward Barry, and Building Inspector Allan MacDonald. The request was taken under advisement to Tuesday Feb. 16, at 10 a.m. Story on Page 3.

McCauley: Dental Clinic Not Basic Service

Closing the City Dental Clinic will save about $68,000, said
Health Commissioner Dr. Robert
P. McKeogh, which just about equals the 15 per cent cut that is demanded in his department's budget.

The clinic, which has a staff of four and treats between 3,000 and 4,000 patients a year, has been stricken from the budget for fiscal 1983 as a tax-cutting measure under Proposition 2½.

"It's part of an ongoing process to get expenses down," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley. "I don't see any way of saving it. It's not a basic city service. There are very few local dental clinics in the state."

"The city does not belong in the dental business. If things were good and there was a lot of money available, fine. The money we save will go to save a few police and fire jobs."

Dr. McKeogh said the possibility of charging fees for clinic services was discussed last year when the 1982 budget was being put together. The idea was rejected.

"It costs something like $17 a visit," he said. "There's no way you can ask people to pay that.
Charging a fee of $1 or $2 isn't going to help much."

The clinic, he said, is underutilized at 3,000 to 4,000 visits a year.

"Two dentists, plus the help we get from Tufts dental students and others, should see a lot more than 5,000 patients a year," he said.

Actually, he pointed out, there are only three staffers in the clinic, two dentists and a dental assistant,
since a second dental assistant's job has gone vacant for several months.

Driver Skirts Jail Term On Drunk Driving Charge

Quincy District Court Judge
Albert L. Kramer's directive for mandatory jail sentences for drunk drivers has fallen flat in its first test.

James J. Vey Jr., 18, of 11
Ruthven St., Montclair, who was arrested an hour and a half after Kramer's mandate went into effect, chose to take his case to a six-man jury in Dedham District Court.

There he admitted to sufficient facts for a guilty finding and Judge Joseph D. Clancy sentenced him to an alcohol education program and continued the drunk driving charge for a year.

There was no jail sentence.
Kramer, who had predicted that some of those arrested would take their cases to a jury in Dedham, said he was disappointed in the results of the first case.

"But," he said, "I don't think it will be a test case."

Board To Consider Beer, Wine For Wollaston Facility

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Quincy License Board will consider a request for a beer and wine license at the Wollaston Recreational Facility at a meeting Tuesday, Feb. 16, at 10 a.m. at City Hall.

At an evening meeting last week, Atty. James A. Shannon told the board that petitioner Mrs. Rosemary F. Foster of "Rosie's", located at the county owned facility, wished to change her request from an all alcoholic to a beer and wine license.

Shannon also requested that the license be in effect for nine months out of the year, with hours of 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily, for a one year trial period.

The change in license request has resulted in two former opponents of a liquor license at the establishment favoring the new request.

Members of the Montclair Men's Club and the Quincy Citizens Association voted unanimously at meetings last week to favor the new request.

Said QCA president Arthur M. Chandler, "... we believe the limited liquor license will enable the facility to bring in more income to pay operational expenses."

At this week's License Board meeting, acting chairman Police Chief Francis Finn said that he contacted the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission as to whether the application could legally be changed from all alcoholic to beer and wine.

According to the ABCC, if all parties agreed to the change, and a public hearing had been properly advertised, the change can be made.

Finn said that Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh questioned the legality of limiting the license to 9 p.m.

"I have the impression that we can't, but that Norfolk County can," said Finn who added that the board was still considering other concerns from the last meeting.

Those concerns include the question of zoning, and whether a county commissioner can hold a liquor license.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald said at last week's meeting that a bar is not permitted in residence A.

However, Dr. McKeogh pointed out that Assistant City Solicitor Laurence W. Cowley had stated last year that "the county, as an instrumentality of the Commonwealth, is exempt from local zoning regulations."

Citywide Parents Assail School Cuts

The Citywide Parents Council has come out swinging at Mayor Francis X. McCauley's requested $3 million cut in the school budget for fiscal 1983.

The council voted unanimously Monday night to oppose the cut. "Let them get the money someplace else," said Richard Riley, a parent and a former teacher who was laid off under Proposition 2½. "We've been raped enough."

Just how badly the schools have been devastated by Prop. 2½ budget cuts was shown in the results of a study released by the Council. It showed these cuts in high school courses:

Remedial reading, 55 per cent; music, 48 per cent; home economics, 43 per cent; physical education, 40 per cent; industrial arts, 40 per cent; art, 40 per cent.

Social studies, 36 per cent; foreign languages, 34 per cent; English, 33 per cent; science, 29 per cent; business education, 28 per cent; math, 25 per cent.

The following numbers of teachers have been lost:

English, 11; social studies, 11; guidance, eight; business education, eight; science, seven; foreign languages, six; physical education, six; remedial reading, four; math, four; industrial arts, three; home economics, two; art, two; music, one.

The study reported that the ratio

Sacred Heart Students Lead Flag Pledge At Council Meeting

Forty students from Sacred Heart parochial school, North Quincy assisted in the opening exercises of the City Council meeting recently when they led the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

The students had been invited by Council President John J. Lydon Jr. to participate.

Rev. Cornelius J. Heery, Pastor of Sacred Heart Church, gave the opening invocation.

Fr. Heery asked for a special remembrance for 17-year-old Patrick J. Logan of Furnace Brook Parkway, Quincy, Logan a stand-out hockey player at Don Bosco Technical School, Boston, was struck and killed in a hit and run accident last Sunday morning on a South Boston street. Heery said that while Logan was a native of South Boston he was very much a true son of Quincy in the most recent years of his young life.

Following the flag pledge the Sacred Heart students, attired in their bright colored uniforms, exchanged handshakes with all the city councillors and posed momentarily while proud parents snapped photographs.

The students were accompanied by their parents, Sr. Mary Romula, Principal, and Sr. Georgita, fifth grade teacher.

'Tuesday Takeover' At H.N. Center

The Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St., announces the beginning of a "Tuesday Takeover" 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. for youngsters in grades one to three.

Children will come directly from the Atherton Hough School to the center when school lets out each Tuesday.

Activities will stress independent use of free time such as making and eating simple lunches, playing board games, developing hobbies and crafts, leisure reading and organizing a monthly birthday party.

The class, which is limited in size, is being organized by Mrs. Rita Brutto, M.S., Ed., who has more than 10 years of classroom, clinical and tutorial teaching experience.

There is a fee which may be paid weekly or monthly.

For more information, contact Pat Ridden at 471-8251.

Leave Of Absence Requests To Be Reviewed By School Officials

By JOHN NOONAN

Should Quincy school officials routinely grant leaves of absence to school personnel who wish to take other jobs on a trial basis?

School Committeewoman Joan Picard is strongly opposed to such leaves.

Last week what seemed to be a routine request for a leave caused a bit of more than usual discussion. The superintendent's office, in the absence of Dr. Lawrence Creedon who was on vacation, sent along to the School Committee at its regular meeting an employee's request for a leave of absence effective Feb. 12. The name was not revealed.

Some committee members felt that there was nothing unusual in the request until it was brought out that accompanying the request was a letter of resignation from the employee who reportedly was scheduled to begin another job with a publishing firm Feb. 16 with or without the leave approval.

Picard voiced her objection stating, "No, not when some darn good teachers and other personnel are being laid off and we hold a job open for somebody to make up his or her mind about working on another job."

School members had no objection to leaves for legitimate reasons and advised the representatives of the Superintendent's office to carefully review all such future leave requests before asking Committee approval.

The committee voted not to accept the request for leave made by the unnamed employee.

Kathryn Horan In Student's 'Who's Who'

Kathryn L. Horan, of Wollaston, a senior at Regis College in Weston, has been selected to be included in the 1981-82 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Miss Horan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Horan, joins an elite group of students selected from more than 1,300 institutions of higher learning in the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and several foreign nations.

The inclusion of Miss Horan's name is based upon her academic achievement, community service, leadership in extracurricular activities, and future potential.

Dental Corner by

Lee A. Welky D.M.D.

REPLACING TEETH WITH A REMOVABLE BRIDGE

Teeth which are lost almost always should be replaced. Often the best way is with a fixed bridge, which is permanently cemented in the mouth.

Sometimes, however, there are technical problems which prevent the use of a fixed bridge. In that case, the teeth can be replaced with a removable bridge (also called a partial denture).

A removable bridge consists of artificial teeth set on a base. Frequently there is a connector between the artificial teeth on either side of the mouth. The bridge is usually held in place with metal clips which snap around the remaining natural teeth.

Most dentists prefer to have patients remove the bridge at night, to prevent debris from being held against the teeth and gums during sleep. Your specific case may be different, though, so ask your dentist for more specific instructions.

Every person who works is now eligible to open an Individual Retirement Account providing both tax deductions and money for tomorrow. And every person who opens one should come to Quincy Savings Bank because our IRAs are just about unbeatable.

$100 can get you started.

You can open a variable rate IRA for only $100. A fixed rate IRA for only $500. And deposit any amount at any frequency to either. (Within the term of the 18-month certificate, at the rate being paid.)

High rates.

Our fixed rate IRA pays you the current 30-month Treasury Bill rate, for the full 18-month term. Our variable rate IRA is just that: the rate changes weekly, based on the Donoghue's Money Fund™ 7-day average. Either way, you're the winner. For instance, if you put away $2000 a year for 30 years — and were paid an annual rate of 12% — you'd receive nearly $654,000!

Personalized profile.

If you stop by any Quincy Savings Bank Office, we'll work out your own statement of how much you'll have for retirement. Based on your annual, tax-deductible contributions of up to $2000 — $2250 if you're married; and $4000 if both spouses are working and file a joint return.

No service charge. And we pay you $10.

Your Quincy Savings Bank IRA is fully-insured. Free of all charges. And, to get you started, we'll brighten your day with a $10 bill when you open your new IRA.

Guiding light.

Check what other banks are offering. Then, when you see what Quincy Savings Bank has for plans, return the coupon or stop by any of our offices. The sooner you see the light, the sooner your retirement funds begin earning high interest from us!

Central Junior An Academic Standout

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I am a Quincy resident, business owner, and a father of five children in the Quincy public school system. I have followed the city's current financial dilemma and first as a general comment, feel that the city's school system is being called upon to contribute far too much to accomplish the spending reductions brought about by voters like myself who support the principles of Proposition 2½.

As a business person, I can daily spot other areas of government services where spending reductions could be accomplished with little or no reductions in quality of service. But, unfortunately, as an individual, I feel I have little control over the ponderous workings of the city government.

However, as a parent satisfied with the quality of education being offered my children, I feel I must speak out on a specific issue. Any school reorganization plan that includes the closing of Central Junior High School will irreparably damage the school system as a whole and the quality of education available to my children specifically. My three older children have had the dual benefit of attending the Squantum School (under Miss Haggarty) and then Central through APC and open enrollment. I plan the same for the younger two. The personal attention given and the opportunity offered by the staff of Central has enriched the academic experience of my children immeasurably. Central Junior High School is one of the elements that makes the Quincy school system above the average.

I am aware that changes must be made. We cannot afford all that we might like to have. And closing some schools is inevitable. But closing Central makes no sense from either business (financial) or academic points of view. For the many programs it offers, Central is in an ideal geographic location. (This from a Squantum resident!) Physically, it compares favorably with all of the other schools I have visited. And, most importantly, it is an academic standout in the system.

I ask you to take all of this into consideration and refuse to support any school reorganization plan that includes the closing or drastic alterations of the programs at Central.

Harborview Residents Disappointed On Input

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The Harborview Residents Committee was greatly disappointed that their input regarding the choice of Administrator of the Quincy Housing Authority was not considered by the Board of Commissioners.

We presented a list of preferences on Jan. 7, 1982. We feel that the new Administrator must have extensive public housing experience, if we are not to deteriorate into the conditions that plague so many other public Housing Complexes in the state.

Quincy Quiz

Three winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Blase J. DeLollis of 1025 Hancock St., Quincy Center, and Sean Donovan of 4 Small St., Montclair, win T-shirts and Paul Sullivan of Somerville wins a bumper sticker.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions win T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week and no person is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of Quincy's Recreation Director?
2. True or false: The Quincy Housing Authority was organized in 1946.
3. In what section of the city is Casco St.?
4. The headquarters of the Quincy Park Department is at: 100 Southern Artery? 1000 Southern Artery? City Hall?
5. What well-known Quincy landmark is located at 29 Hancock St.?

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Paul Anderson is the new public works commissioner of Quincy.
2. True. There are five living ex-mayors of Quincy.
3. Isabella St. is located in the South Quincy section of the city.
4. St. Mary's is the oldest Roman Catholic church in Quincy.
5. Wickens and Troupe Funeral Home is located at 26 Adams St.

Benjamin Franklin, in addition to being a great statesman and inventor, was an accomplished performer on the guitar and harp.

Council Meetings On TV

Beginning next month you'll be able to see the City Council in action on television.

Provided, of course, your TV set is hooked up to Quincy Cablesystems.

City Council President John Lydon, Jr. is quite enthused about the Council going on camera starting with the March 1 meeting.

He and Ann Mundy, director of programming for Quincy Cablesystems, have been working out the arrangements which call for the first meeting of each month to be televised over cable TV.

Plans are to video tape the meetings and show them over Quincy Cablesystem's Ch. 7, its Federal and Local Affairs channel.

Other meetings of the council may also be aired during a month if major issues develop.

"I think it's a good idea," says Lydon who is a member of the Community Television Committee. "It will bring government closer to the people. It will make them more conscious of what is happening in Quincy, acquaint them more with both sides of issues. I think it is a very positive step forward."

Lydon says he wishes cable TV was in operation during the furor over the proposed east-west connector.

"It would have helped deliver to the public both sides of an issue of that importance," he says.

An inevitable question pops up regarding TV coverage of any elected public officials in session.

Will it tend to prolong meetings with everyone jockeying for on-camera exposure?

"I don't think so," says Lydon. "It didn't in Texas (Ann Mundy worked there before coming to Quincy) where City Council meetings were televised. Actually, they seemed to get down to and go about their business faster."

But, of course, this is Quincy.

Just to be sure, Lydon should keep his gavel handy.

MAYOR Francis McCauley will be honored at a $100 per plate testimonial dinner Thursday, Feb. 25 at the Quincy Neighborhood Club. Cocktails at 6:30, dinner at 7:30. The Neighborhood Club has been a sort of political good luck charm for McCauley. He announced his candidacy for mayor there. And set up his headquarters there election night.

McCAULEY

AT THE SWEARING in ceremony of former Mayor Arthur Tobin as clerk magistrate of Quincy District Court at North Quincy High School auditorium, Fr. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, found himself in the limelight. He was seated smack in between Gov. Edward King and Lt. Gov. Tom O'Neill. He looked like a referee.

McARTHUR

THE HOUGHS NECK Community Council Bulletin published a rare photo the other day a 1943 picture of Boy Scout Troop 36 with two future mayors of Quincy - Walter Hannon and Francis McCauley - peering out over their neckerchiefs.

SPEAKING OF FORMER mayors, here's a question for local history buffs: Are the present five ex-mayors' the most Quincy has had living at any one time? Answer: No. A photo taken at the inaugural of Mayor Francis McCauley by The Sun's Mary O'Keefe showed him with former Mayors Thomas Burgin, James McIntyre, Walter Hannon, Joseph LaRaia and Arthur Tobin. But, notes Burgin, Quincy had the most former living mayors in 1939. There were seven then.

That was Quincy's Golden Anniversary as a city. Burgin was inaugurated to his third term Jan. 2 as mayor. Five of the living former mayors were at the inaugural: Charles Francis Adams, Eugene Stone, Joseph Whiton, William Bradford, Thomas McGrath, Perley Barbour and Charles Ross did not attend. A photo of Burgin and the five former mayors present was taken and, like the one Mary O'Keefe snapped this year, is now part of Quincy's history.

BURGIN

WELL, you'd have to say that Gov. Edward

King made a special effort to woo at least one delegate in Quincy last Friday while here to swear in Arthur Tobin as Quincy District Court clerk-magistrate.

Later, the Governor stopped off to see Dave King at the Cathay Pacific and was seated at a table across from City Council President John Lydon and Councillors Joanne Condon and Steve McGrath. He waved to them. Lydon wrote a note to King telling him that he and McGrath were committed to him but that Condon was an uncommitted delegate.

King came over to their table, sat down beside her, chatted, gave her a kiss and returned to his table. A little while later, a state trooper came back with a floral centerpiece from the King table for Condon "with the compliments of the Governor".

Condon thanked him.

But she's still an uncommitted delegate.

SENATE PRESIDENT William Bulger who served with Tobin in the senate, couldn't resist it when he saw all the judges in attendance at the Tobin swearing-in ceremony:

"If you ask me if this bill that calls for the election of judges will go through, let me give you a tip: Buy bumper stickers!"

Ward 3 Challenge

Dukakis Delegates Win Quincy Caucuses

By TOM HENSHAW

Delegates committed to former Gov. Michael S. Dukakis scored a sizable victory in Quincy at Saturday's Democratic caucuses, winning 45 convention seats to one for Gov. Edward J. King and 20 uncommitted.

But at least one Dukakis delegate was unhappy with the way things were handled in Ward 3 and he filed a challenge with Sen. Chester G. Atkins of the Democratic State Committee.

Robert E. Gibbons, the Dukakis delegate, protested that Ward Chairman John J. Lydon Jr. did not use an up-to-date voting list and closed the caucus before counting the ballots.

Gibbons tied with Philip Matthews, another Dukakis delegate, for one slot and Matthews won the runoff after, Gibbons charged, the caucus was reopened with only 37 voters present.

Lydon denied that there was anything amiss at the Ward 3 caucus.

"I was provided a voting list by the City Clerk," he said. "Those whose names were not on it were sent to City Hall to be certified. I had to go by the documents I had."

"The runoff of the tie was agreed to by James French, the Dukakis coordinator. They (the Dukakis people) wanted to take it big and they didn't."

The Ward 3 delegates were split with seven for Dukakis, one for King and three uncommitted.

For Dukakis: James French, Philip Matthews, Linda Luke, Donna French, Anna Robison, Mary Dawson, Jeffrey Mangan. For King: Peter Eleey, Uncommitted: John J. Lydon Jr., Timothy Cahill, Sherry Mele.

The Dukakis slate was shut out in Ward 2 where 13 uncommitted delegates were chosen. They were:

John DiNardo, John Franceschini, Clifford Marshall, Ronald Mariano, John Mariano, Ronald Iacobucci, Daniel G. Raymond, Joanne Cerasoli, Nora Dunn, Nina Picardi, Barbara Chiasson, Louise Marshall, Sharon Raymond.

There was a split in Ward 6, too, with seven delegates going to Dukakis and three uncommitted.

For Dukakis: Paul Golden, Mary Collins, Mary Gougian, Marguerite Fitzgerald, William Golden, Peter Johnson, Dale Musgrave, Uncommitted: Joanne Condon, Joseph Lydon, Thomas Koch.

Edward Graham Jr. was the only uncommitted delegate to survive the Dukakis steamroller in Ward 1, where City Councillor Leo J. Kelly and former City Auditor Charles L. Shea were defeated.

Winners were Elaine McGrail, Joan Dayer, Alicia Coletti, Catherine Smith, Roslyn Greenwald, Marilyn LeBlanc, Edward Roseland, David A. Colton, Patrick Culhane, Arthur Wahlberg.

Among the losers in the Dukakis sweep of Ward 5 were City Councillor Stephen J. McGrath, former Councillor John J. Quinn and Planning Director James Lydon, all committed to King.

On the winning Dukakis slate was Nicholas C. Verenis, David P. Tenney, Vincent Ofria, Stephen Durkin, Charles Phelan Jr., Patricia M. Toland, Mary E. Curtin, Mary Ellen Geary, Amy L. Buckley, Catherine MacDonald.

"They totally outorganized us," said McGrath. "There were some very hard working people for Mike Dukakis."

Winners in Ward 4 included: Mario Traficante, Richard McGuigan, William Ariente, John Bonomi, Albert Conti, Michael Jovanovic, Kathleen Kelley, Bernice Mader, Roma Vangel, Donna Smith, Lorraine Bartholomew.

Alternates chosen were: Ward 1 - Theodore Seto, Kathleen Culhane; Ward 2 - Margaret Comer, Vincent Picardi; Ward 3 - John Pierce, Diane Lydon; Ward 4 - Joel Greenwald, Kathleen Kearns; Ward 5 - Daniel McLaney Jr., Faye Pellot-Baglione; Ward 6 - Richard Boyajian, Margaret Johnson.

Broad Meadows Irks Adams Shore

Residents of Adams Shore were complaining of the large amount of dust that was blowing on, and sometimes into their homes after sludge dredged from the Town River was dumped on the meadows.

"It's so bad here that Adams Shore women are getting the name of being poor housekeepers, even though they keep the vacuum cleaners going almost day and night," said Mrs. Helen M. Cruikshank of 14 Eaton Rd.

"It soils our laundry on the line. It blows through cracks in the house. It ruins the linen. It coats our homes a dirty gray. For two nights we had to sleep with the windows sealed tight."

FIRE INSPECTION

Acting Fire Chief Robert Fenby announced that the Fire Department will make a citywide inspection of stores, factories and other business establishments in a campaign against fire hazards.

The drive was launched after acting Mayor Christian Burkard made a surprise personal inspection of conditions in Quincy Center, Quincy Point, Norfolk Downs and Wollaston and found many violations.

Burkard said he was tipped to the conditions by George J. Anderson, proprietor of a Quincy Center restaurant, who accompanied him on his inspection trip.

CIO OUSTER PLANNED

The Independent Union of Fore River Workers opened a drive to oust Local 5 of the CIO union as bargaining agent at the Fore River Shipyard, promising it will provide more jobs at the yard.

Meanwhile, acting Mayor Burkard sent telegrams to Sens. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. and Leverett Saltonstall demanding to know who was blocking a $60 million contract for three cargo-passenger ships for the American Export Line.

PARTTIME TREASURER

City Councillor Carl W. Anderson said he will sponsor a motion in the Finance Committee to cut City Treasurer John R. Shaughnessy's salary from $3,600 to $1 a year.

"I consider it a parttime job," he said, "and as proof I will point out that the present incumbent is currently holding a state job that pays $5,000 a year."

STEEPLE WORK

Steeple jacks from the Burgess Co. of Wollaston were working 160 feet above Quincy Square to repair for the first time in 119 years the rotting base of the weather vane atop First Parish Church.

Paul Marini Re-elected

Library Board Chairman

L. Paul Marini, a member of the board of trustees of the Thomas Crane Public Library for the past 34 years, was re-elected chairman at the reorganizational meeting Monday night.

Two newly appointed trustees, Annel Johnson and Dorothy Laing, were welcomed to the board.

Arthur Chiampa was re-elected treasurer, Johnson secretary and Laing and Johnson were named to the auditing committee.

Marini suggested, and the board agreed to consider, naming a section of the library in honor of former Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa, who set up a $150,000 trust fund for the library.

Library Director Warren Watson reported to the trustees on his budget discussions with Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

Boy Scout Sunday At Squantum Church

Members of Boy Scout Troop 24, Cub Scout Pack 24 and Cub Scout Pack 27 were among those attending the worship service at the First Church of Squantum on "Boy Scout Sunday."

Troop 24 was accompanied by its leaders: Arthur Erickson, assistant scoutmaster; Mardi Petrosius, scouting coordinator; and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee, scout committee members.

The service included a flag ceremony by Troop 24, a responsive reading and prayer led by Rick Lee, the assistant Chaplain of the troop, as well as a presentation of the troop charter to the church pastor by George Wardle, District Executive for the Boy Scouts of America.

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, wished all the boys a happy birthday since this year is the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Boy Scout organization.

He also thanked the boys for their contribution to the church and to the community.

Dr. Langevin stressed that the church was particularly appreciative of the leadership the boys were receiving in Troop 24.

Sermon for the morning was "Set Apart For God" based on Acts 13:26. The Chancel Choir sang "Rejoice In The Lord Alway" by Henry Purcell.

The Lord's Supper was served from a Communion Table over 30 feet long.

The unusually long table was used so that members of the congregation who were seated in a very large circle all the way around the Communion Table could participate in the Lord's Supper by forming a smaller circle around the long table.

Deacons, who stood at either side of the table to serve those participating, were Kathryn Hansen, Ralph Dougherty, Doris Longmire, Leon MacIntyre, Evelyn Ahearn and Carl Anderson.

The congregation sang verses of "Let Us Break Bread Together" at points during the Lord's Supper. Mary Ruth Scott accompanied on guitar.

The entire Lord's Supper was conducted by candlelight.

Other hymns sung during the service included "O For A Thousand Tongues To Sing," "Now In The Days of Youth," "Christ For The World We Sing," "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Greeters for the morning were Marjorie and Warren Miller, The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Evelyn Ahearn, Ruth Swenson and Diane Lindblad.

The service next Sunday morning will begin at 10:15 a.m.

The Way Up Sponsoring German Evening

German cooking, songs and puppets will be available to the public at "Winterabendessen" Friday, Feb. 19, at 6:30 p.m. at Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy Center.

The special German dinner is being sponsored by The Way Up, a youth ministry in Quincy. It was originally scheduled for last December but was snowed out.

"The dinner is intended to be a very inexpensive vacation trip to Germany," said the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, director of The Way Up. "We really want to give people a good time."

Although the German language will be spoken during some parts of the program and most of the songs will be in German, persons who do not speak the language will be able to enjoy themselves.

"Of course, half the fun is trying to sing songs in a language other than your own," explained Dr. Langevin.

The dinner will consist of apple cider, sauerkraut cooked with bacon, a pork chop, bratwurst, several kinds of vegetables, a special beet salad, a German dessert and beverage.

The meal, prepared in an authentic German way, will be served by the girls and boys of The Way Up.

There will also be a German bake table for those who would like to take some of the evening home with them.

The Way Up provides counseling, advocacy, family services, employment, recreation and other programs for young people and their parents, regardless of church affiliation.

The Way Up provides chaplaincy services to the juvenile court, the District Attorney's office and several other public agencies in behalf of churches and church groups on the South Shore.

The ministry of The Way Up is sponsored by both individuals and churches, near and far.

Dr. Langevin, founder and director of the program, is an American Baptist minister and pastor of the First Church of Squantum.

The Way Up is in no way related to another group called "The Way International" which is based in Ohio.

Tickets for "Winterabendessen" may be reserved by calling Muriel Burnhauser at 328-6649.

Valentine Liturgy At St. John's Saturday

The priests of St. John's Church invite all married couples of the parish to renew their marriage vows at a special ceremony during the 7 p.m. Mass Saturday.

The Valentine Liturgy is intended to stress the importance of strong family life, and bless those striving to live their sacrament in peace, harmony and good will.

During the ceremony, all couples will be asked to sit in the center aisle of the church.

Following the homily, the couples will renew their marriage vows collectively.

Special prayers will be offered to ask God's blessing upon their marriage, the home and the families represented.

All couples, whether married one year, 50, or more, are invited.

Following the Mass, couples will be invited to a social in the Church Hall.

There will be refreshments, music and dancing until 11 p.m.

Although there is no charge for this reception, a free-will offering will be appreciated to help defray expenses.

The ceremony will not match the original ceremony of marriage.

It is an opportunity to thank God for the many blessings associated with the sacrament.

The event is an effort to help the parish by building up strong families.

It is sponsored by the spiritual development commission of the Parish Council.

HOSPICE

Hospice of the South Shore is offering a training program in March for persons interested in serving as volunteers. Interested persons contact 843-4947 for applications.

Quincy Jewish War Veterans To Honor Local Students

The Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post will hold its annual "Classmates Today - Neighbors Tomorrow" Breakfast Sunday to honor six local students including three Quincy residents.

The breakfast will begin at 9:30 a.m. at Beth Israel Synagogue, 33 Grafton St., Quincy Point.

Quincy students to be honored are Karen M. Walsh of Quincy High School, Caryn Smith of North Quincy High School, and Helenanne M. Kelley of Quincy Vocational Technical School.

It was incorrectly reported in last week's Quincy Sun from information received that Joseph Mazzarella was among the students to be honored.

The students were chosen by their classmates as best exemplifying brotherhood in their daily activities.

Local officials, leaders in veteran's organizations, and post officers will present citations to the student honorees.

Other students to be honored are Jeffrey Mich of Weymouth South, Robin Jean Rinella of Weymouth North, and Cindy Kalish of Hull High School.

Committee members are David Freedman, chairman; past commanders Irving Isaacson, Dave Minkofsky, Benjamin Rudner and Ralph Pauli; commander Jason Stone and Julius Brooks.

Over 25 Quincy Boys Await Big Brothers

Over 25 boys in the Quincy area are waiting for Big Brothers, according to the Big Brother Association of Southeastern Mass which has been serving fatherless, South Shore boys for over six years.

The need for this service has increased dramatically in the last five years, and the yearly rate of volunteers has not increased appreciably.

Under present circumstances, many of the boys may never be assigned to Big Brothers.

A Big Brother is a mature, sensitive, stable adult male who can fill an important need in the life of a fatherless boy.

Volunteers are evaluated through a screening and orientation process with a member of the agency's staff so that a compatible match-up can be made.

To become involved in the Big Brother Association, call 583-6498.

ARTHUR H. TOBIN is sworn in by Gov. Edward J. King (left) as clerk-magistrate of Quincy District Court.

Tobin Assumes Clerk-Magistrate Duties

By TOM HENSHAW

"This is not something that happened to Arthur because he served as a state representative or in the state senate," said Gov. Edward J. King. "This is because we are recognizing his talent."

Then, Gov. King swore in former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin as the clerk-magistrate of Quincy District Court before about 1,000 well-wishers Friday in the North Quincy High School auditorium.

The occasion marked a rare simultaneous public appearance of Gov. King and Lt. Gov. Thomas P. O'Neill III, who are rival candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Both friends of Tobin, they sat one seat apart in the special guests section, separated by the Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, which Tobin attends.

Tobin was eulogized by Senate President William Bulger, Cong. Brian Donnelly and Senate Counsel James R. McIntyre, the master of ceremonies, as one of King's finer judicial appointments.

"The governor has made some excellent appointments," said Bulger. "but this appointment of all of them reflects credit, not only on the governor but on Arthur Tobin and all of us."

"We need a sense of compassion," said Donnelly. "We need a sense of justice. We need common sense to deal with people and their frailties. Arthur has all those traits."

"Gov. King is known for his outstanding judicial appointments," said McIntyre. "This is one of his better ones."

Tobin took over Monday as clerk-magistrate, the post that was held for some 30 years by the late Dennis F. Ryan, who retired last spring.

"This is the first time in 15 years that I'm not going to make a political speech," said Tobin, who then ran down a list of people to whom he owed special thanks.

"Is there anybody here who Arthur did not thank?" quipped Bulger, who is somewhat of a standup comedian as well as a politician.

"Gov. King tells me he's going to change the court where he's bringing suit against the Boston Globe to Quincy District Court," he said. King is suing the Globe for alleged libel.

"I just warned Gov. O'Neill there, don't think you're a lead pipe cinch just because your father happens to be Dapper O'Neill," he said. O'Neill's father, of course, is Tip O'Neill the House speaker.

"Don't think you ever make a mistake, governor, when you select an elected official for an appointment," he said. "They wear their scar tissue but it is they who are in touch with the people."

"Is there a better qualification for the very sensitive position that Arthur Tobin will henceforth hold?"

Donnelly presented a bouquet to Mrs. Shirley Tobin, who sat in the front row with their seven children, and Governor's Councillor Peter Eley presented roses to Mrs. Carolyn Ryan, widow of the former clerk.

Guests included Judges James P. Lynch of Wellesley and Samuel Zoll of Salem, chief justices respectively of the Superior and District Courts; Presiding Justice Albert L. Kramer of Quincy District Court.

Judge Robert S. Prince, former chief justice of Quincy District Court, now in Superior Court; John Herlihy, chairman of Gov. King's judicial nominating committee.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley and former Mayors McIntyre, and Walter J. Hannon; plus a number of city councillors and members of the School Committee.

SEN. WILLIAM BULGER — "Is there anybody here who Arthur did not thank?"

GOV. EDWARD J. KING — "This is because we are recognizing his talents."

CLERK ARTHUR H. TOBIN — "For the first time in 15 years I'm not going to make a political speech."

CONG. BRIAN J. DONNELLY — "We need common sense to deal with people and their frailties."

JAMES R. MCINTYRE — "This is one of Gov. King's better appointments."

School Reorganization Decision Delayed By Postponed Meeting

The School Committee decision on school reorganization has been delayed for at least a week.

The committee meets the first and third Wednesdays each month. The next meeting was scheduled for Feb. 17 during the mid-winter school vacation. Because of the vacation period and the possibility that many interested people would not be able to attend, the School Committee voted last week to schedule its next meeting for Feb. 24.

The public hearing at which time all interested parents and concerned taxpayers would have the opportunity to express their opinions on the six controversial reorganization proposals was to be held as scheduled Wednesday, Feb. 10, in the Quincy High School resource room at 7:30 p.m.

Blazing Salads Wins Eviction Battle

Blazing Salads, 1360 Hancock St., has won its battle against eviction which began last fall when a video game center was proposed for that location.

William Bunker, trustee of Adams Building Realty Trust, had sought to evict the restaurant last September.

Att. Richard Rogalin, representing Bunker, charged that a clause in the lease automatically increased the $1,000 per month rent if taxes and the cost of living went up.

Because the landlord had never sought to collect the extra charges, Judge Edward M. Viola rejected Bunker's claim that $13,699 in cost of living and tax payments were owed from June, 1977.

Viola also ordered a $1 award to Blazing Salads for failure to provide adequate heat.

The game center was to be run by then acting city purchasing agent Charles Shea and attorney Dennis Harrington, whom Rogalin also represents.

David's Band At ENC

A free concert by David's Band will take place Wednesday, Feb. 17, at 8:30 p.m. in the Mann Student Center Auditorium, Eastern Nazarene College.

The band consists of Daniel Katzen, horn; Brady Millican, piano; Wayne Rapier, oboe; William Wrzesian, clarinet; and Edward Wadin, bassoon.

Rapier and Katzen are members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. Wrzesian teaches at the New England Conservatory, and Millican and Wadin teach at ENC.

The concert will include Sonata for Horn and Piano by Hindemith, Etude Op. 10, #3 and Polonaise Op. 53 by Chopin and Quintet for Piano and Winds, K452 by Mozart.

The public is invited.

Free Legal Clinic At District Court

A free legal clinic sponsored by the Norfolk County Bar Association was to take place last night (Wednesday) 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Quincy District Court.

Attorneys were available to answer legal questions privately and confidentially.

Tours Of Maternity Ward Daily At QCH

Tours of the maternity ward are available daily, 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at Quincy City Hospital.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday morning's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a one-day all alcoholic license to the Parish Council of Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy, for Saturday, Feb. 13, 8 p.m. to midnight. The council is to check with the Health Department on serving of food, and to have a police officer in attendance.
- Granted 536 Bar & Grille.

532-536 Washington St., change of a howling game license for a video game license.

- Continued, pending resolution of a court hearing, a hearing on alleged operation of a rooming house at 242 Fayette St., owned by Yae Lim and Ux Mee Siu Ching of Boston. The property owners did not appear at the hearing. Police Chief Francis Finn said a complaint would be filed in court.
- Granted Napoli Pizzeria, 1570 Hancock St., a license for two video games. Police Chief Francis Finn instructed the owner to keep the noise level of the machine down.

• Granted a common victualer license for Krazy Egg Kitchen, 532 Washington, to Edward J. Denning of Winchester. The license had been held by James and Donna Moses. Hours for the establishment will be 4:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh opposed the request.

• A hearing on non-payment of police officers assigned to Sherry's, 579 Southern Artery, was cancelled. Police Chief Francis Finn explained that the matter has been resolved.

• Continued to March 9, a hearing on operating a lodging house at 24 Ring Ave., Quincy Point, without a license. The board told owners John and Mary Kozas that zoning does not permit a lodging house in that area. However, the board told the Kozas that they are permitted to have three boarders without a license. The Kozas are to notify the board in writing when they have reduced their number of boarders from four to three.

QCA Votes Support Of Animal Seizure Ban

Members of the Quincy Citizens Association have voted to support a home rule petition that would exempt the city from a state law that turns unclaimed animals over to medical experimenters.

The petition has been passed by the City Council and is now before Mayor Francis X. McCauley, who was urged by the QCA to sign the measure and send it on to the State Legislature.

"Other South Shore communities seem to be way ahead of Quincy in the humane handling of found or stray animals," said QCA President Arthur M. Chandler in a letter to McCauley.

"We understand that a new Quincy Animal League is being organized to work on improving pound conditions and to implement an animal adoption program patterned after those in Milton and other South Shore communities.

"Presently we don't even publish a list of the animals being held that are in need of homes."

Chandler said he recalls that four or five years ago money was budgeted for construction of a new pound which was never built.

"I wonder what happened to the budgeted funds," he said. "This might be a very good project for the Vo-Tech students."

Camp Fire Sends Valentines To Vets

During February, Quincy Camp Fire youth will demonstrate their love and appreciation to hospitalized vets by joining Camp Fire's nationwide annual "No Greater Love" Salute to Veterans.

Young people in Quincy's 23 Camp Fire clubs will join other South Shore Clubs in making 1,000 valentine cards, tray favors, and small gifts for veterans in Brockton Hospital.

Some of the participating groups include: Linda Ruggere's club of Blue Jays (boys ages six to eight) who made Valentine Riddle Books; Gail Freck's Adventure Club (ages nine to 11) which made intricate valentines using the Polish spiderweb technique of paper-cutting; Linda Rowland's Adventurers, who made bookmarks; Brenda Chin's Blue Birds (girls ages six to eight), who created origami hearts and key chains decorated with melted baking crystal shaps; and Gail Mayberger's Discovery Club (Junior High), who are joining the salute for the seventh consecutive year as they make cards and write valentine letters of appreciation to the veterans.

Those participating in the project will receive a Camp Fire emblem combining the American Indian symbol for "love" with a heart to symbolize Valentine's Day.

Morrisette Memorial Mass, Parade Monday

The Morrisette Legion Post will hold its 53rd annual memorial mass, including a parade and open house, on Washington's Birthday, Monday, Feb. 15.

The ceremonies will start at 8 a.m. with the placing of wreaths on the Cyril P. Morrisette and John Boyd graves, Morrisette and Boyd Squares and the West Quincy War Memorial.

Flag raising ceremonies will take place on the post grounds at 9 a.m., after which the parade will form under the direction of Chief Marshall Paul W. O'Neill.

Invited guests include Mayor Francis X. McCauley and state, county and city officials. Gold star mothers and families of deceased veterans will be special guests.

A wreath will be placed at 9:30 a.m. on the West Quincy Veterans Monument by Post Commander Robert LaFleur and Mayor McCauley.

The Rev. John J. McMahon, pastor, will be the celebrant of the memorial mass at 10 a.m. at St. Mary's Church. Fr. McMahon will also deliver the sermon.

A firing squad, under the direction of Sgt. at Arms Mario Ghilardi will fire the salute to the dead and a bugler from the Waltham Legion Band will blow Taps.

After the mass, all veterans, relatives of deceased veterans and the public are invited to partake of refreshments at a reception and open house at the Morrisette Post home.

Kennedy To Head Park Board

Christopher F. Kennedy has been elected chairman of the Park and Recreation Board at its annual organizational meeting.

Kennedy has served as a member of the board for the past four years as the School Committee representative chosen by the City Council.

J. Thomas Mullaney, recently appointed to the board by Mayor Francis X. McCauley, was elected vice-chairman.

Mrs. Charlotte Digiacomo, also an appointment of Mayor McCauley, was elected secretary.

Gerard A. Coletta Jr. and Joseph E. Burke were chosen as the board designees to sign the weekly Park and Recreation Department payrolls.

John Papile Named Voter Registrar

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has named John P. Papile of 56 Keating St., Quincy Point, to fill an unexpired Democratic term on the Board of Registrars of Voters.

Papile, retired superintendent of the Milton Post Office, succeeds George Riley, who resigned. His term expires on the first Monday in February, 1984.

Presidents Give North Fits But Not Enough

The Quincy boys' basketball team, hampered all year by injuries, was knocked out of the tournament picture some time ago and Joe Amoroso's Presidents (4-12) hoped to play the role of spoiler in the Suburban League.

Quincy nearly proved just that last Friday when it turned in one of its finest games of the season only to lose to North Quincy, 46-44, in the final six seconds. The win kept North in the tournament picture.

Quincy played at Weymouth South Tuesday, will meet league-leading Brookline at Brookline Friday at 3:30, will host Brockton Tuesday at 2:30 and will finish up next Thursday at home against Newton North at 8 p.m.

Quincy, which had been edged in a low scoring game in overtime earlier in the week by Weymouth North, gave the Raiders fits by slowing the pace and controlling the ball. Jim Kelly won it for North with a basket with six seconds left to play.

"If there was a time when our team could have quit, this was the week," said Amoroso. "We were blown out in three games last week and in our last game we were tied at the buzzer and lost in overtime. But I was very proud of the way they were playing tonight. They were hurt, but they were all over the floor chasing loose balls. It was our best game and I told them that even though we lost, I'm very proud of them, just as I have been all season."

Quincy fell behind, 12-6, in the opening quarter and the bigger North team seemed ready to pull away. But the Presidents did a fine job on 6-10 Chip Bunker, forcing him into three fouls in the first half which kept him on the bench much of the time, and Peter Papile, playing despite a handage from ankle to thigh, was keeping Quincy in the game.

Paul Gilbody, who had a big night, sank two baskets with time running out in the half and Kevin Riggs scored to cut the gap to 26-21 at the half.

Riggs and Bob Mudge were able to get the Presidents into a tie for the first time at the 5:53 mark of the third period.

Finally Papile took the ball under the hoop and made an unbelievable twisting basket to give Quincy the lead with 2:53 left in the quarter. The Presidents began to slow the pace down and took a 36-32 lead into the final session.

"Papile's basket that got us the lead was the best play I have seen QUINCY'S Jim dePietro (30) and North Quincy's Bill Gray (43) fight for the ball in last week's North win as North's Eddie Carroll (50) looks on.

BOB MUDGE of Quincy is closely guarded as he goes up for a shot against North Quincy.

in my nine years of coaching," Amoroso said. "He had fallen on his bad leg right after the play but he just shook it off, although he was hurting."

After Quincy had moved ahead, 44-40, Gilbody hit on two straight shots to tie it up but Kelly then came through with his game-winning shot with six seconds left.

"Papile came right in the dressing room and said he was sorry because he should have had Kelly," Amoroso said. "No one was shaking off the blame. It was a great demonstration of why I love this team so. They don't make excuses."

Earlier in the week, with four starters out, Quincy used slow-down tactics against Weymouth North and it nearly paid off, but a basket at the buzzer tied the game for Weymouth, which went on to win, 22-18, in overtime.

Trailing 7-0, after one quarter, the Presidents clawed their way back to trail, 12-8, at the end of three.

Jeff Morrison hit a layup with eight seconds to play to give Quincy an 18-16 lead. But Weymouth's Glenn Raeside sent the game into overtime with a basket at the buzzer. In the extra session Tom Crowley and Dan O'Reilly each hit two free throws for the victory.

Mudge paced Quincy's scorers with 11 points.

Pressure On Raiders To Land Tourney Berth

North Quincy boys' basketball team, going into last Tuesday's big game with Brookline, the Suburban League leader, had to win three of its last four games to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament again.

Ed Miller's Raiders, (9-4 in the league, 11-5 overall), who pulled out a last second squeaker over Quincy last Friday, will host Brockton Friday at 8 p.m., will play at Weymouth North Tuesday at 2:30 and finish up next Thursday night at 8 at Cathedral.

"We are aiming for second place in the league, which will automatically qualify us for the tournament," Miller said. "We have a chance at second place, with Waltham losing to Brookline last week."

North Quincy handed Brookline its only league setback earlier this season at Brookline in another last second decision.

Last Friday Quincy turned in one of its best games of the season but Jim Kelly's basket with six seconds left in the game gave North its second win over the Presidents, 46-44.

"Quincy played an excellent game and did a good job of controlling the ball," Miller said. "Chip Bunker (6-10 center) ran into early foul trouble and I had to make some changes when he was on the bench."

Bunker had three fouls by half-time and fouled out in the last quarter. While he was in there he scored 10 points and had several rebounds.

"I felt we kept Quincy in the game in the first half with the way we were playing," Miller said. "We tried a new defense and it seemed to be working. They were turning the ball over and we weren't getting anything on the turnovers. It was funny because they were playing Bunker tight and we wanted the forwards to take the shots, but they weren't shooting. I was screaming for them to take shots. That's something because usually you are yelling to them not to take so many shots."

North jumped off to a 12-6 first quarter lead but Quincy cut the tap to 20-21 at the half. The Presidents had a good third quarter and moved ahead, 36-32, going into the final quarter.

Bunker, who had been on the bench, returned in the finale but he soon fouled out. From that point Wes Paul, who has been outstanding all season at guard, came on and was the key man in the final seconds.

Quincy slowed the pace with six minutes left but threw the ball away a few times and with 1:03 left Paul sank a 20-footer to put North ahead, 44-40. Paul Gilbody scored twice for the Presidents to tie it at 44 and Miller called time out.

"We talked about getting the ball into Kelly," Miller said. "We figured they would look for Paul to make the shot. We did exactly what we wanted to do."

Kelly finished with 10 points. Bob Flynn scored 10 and Paul had seven.

Earlier in the week North had lost to Waltham for the second time, 41-35, with Paul pacing the Raiders with 15 points and Kelly adding 10.

First Period Burst Gives North 13th Win

For one period the North Quincy High School basketball team lived up to its reputation as "the best in the business" as the Raiders ran up a 14-4 first quarter lead and then coasted to a 36-28 victory over Quincy, their 13th win in a row.

Art (Buddy) Barrett, Capt. Sid Cedrone and Dick Sullivan hit the basket with regularity during the opening period before a packed house at the Coddington St. gym. Barret had 11 points and Cedrone 10 for the game.

Quincy actually had a two point lead over the last three periods but all hope of a Presidents' victory vanished when Bob McKinnon fouled out shortly after halftime. McKinnon and Bill Vargus shared scoring honors with six points apiece.

The North Quincy lineup included: McCauley, Finneran, Barrett, forwards; Collins, center; Cedrone, Sullivan, guards.

The Quincy lineup included: Monahan, Pasquale, forwards; Vargus, center; Leone, McKinnon, Clause, guards.

WILSON TRIUMPHS

Jackie Wilson, Quincy lightweight, battled his way onto the New England Golden Gloves team with a third round TKO victory over Ken Isaacs of Saugus in the six-state finals in Memorial Auditorium, Lowell.

The left handed boxer from Quincy won two of his three tourney bouts by TKOs and was adjudged the best all around fighter in the tournament.

But Tommy Moylan, the light heavyweight from Squantum Naval Air Station, failed to gain a spot on the team when he lost a five round bout to Howard Kane of Arlington in a decision that was roundly jeered.

POINT DOWNS NORTH

Steve Mariani scored 13 points and Bobby Page had 10 to lead the Point basketball team to a 29-15 victory over North in a Junior High School League game. Larry Creedon's rebounding for North was outstanding.

The Point lineup included: Mariani, Page, forwards; Wright, Puzi, Koumaris, centers; Estabrook, Lorina, Pasquale, Hemsley, guards.

The North lineup included: Stevenson, Brauchler, Dodd, forwards; Creedon, Doherty, Fitzgerald, centers; Girvin, Nathanson, Nagle, guards.

NORTH ICES HINGHAM

Gene Chafe, Bob Richards and Jim McNeice scored the goals as the North Quincy High School hockey team blanked Hingham, 3-0, for its first win of the season on Sailors Home Rink, Wollaston.

The North Quincy lineup included: Chafe, Richards, Hannon, forwards; Ross, Meehan, defense; Armstrong, goal; McNeice, Pitts, Enos, Rogers, Ryan, Holland, spares.

POINTERS RETAIN TOP

Ted Brandolini with 13 points and Bud Page with 11 paced the undefeated Pointers to a 53-30 victory over the Cavaliers and preserved their slim first place lead over the Bryan Post and Fore River in the City Basketball League.

NORTH REBOUNDS

Eddie McCauley and Sid Cedrone led a second half surge that lifted North Quincy from a 23-13 halftime deficit to a 39-31 victory over Brockton. The Raiders outscored the visitors 11-1 in the third period; 15-7 in the fourth.

OUTSHOOT BRAINTREE

The North Quincy rifle team of Bernardi, Grozier, Curran, Chase, O'Brien and Malbach outshot Braintree for a 480-472 victory on the home range.

SPORTS BITS '47

The North Quincy Knights, sparked by Jack Mathieson, beat the South Boston K of C, 48-45, in overtime to keep their playoff hopes alive. . . . Goals by Bill Cowley and Milt Schmidt lifted the Boston Bruins in a 2-2 tie with the Montreal Canadiens. . . . Wollaston Methodist whipped Beth Israel, 31-28, in Greater Quincy Sunday School League action with Morrie Hibbard getting 17 points. . . . The Boston Red Sox announced the signing of outfielder George Metkovich and pitcher Jim Wilson to 1947 contracts. . . . Tony Aimola, hard-punching Quincy welterweight, decked Jim Marks of Saugus for the full count in the opening minute of their fight in Manchester, N.H., for his second straight victory. . . . Owner Ted Collins announced the signing of tackle Tom Dean and quarterback Howard (Red) Maley to contracts with his Boston Yanks. . . . Al Rodgers' two goals led the North Quincy hockey team to a 5-2 victory over the Cunningham Cadets of Milton. . . . Lefty Dick Mulligan suffered a wrenched knee when he tripped over first base at the Boston Braves' training camp in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. . . . Billy McDonald of Quincy entered the 147-pound division on the South End AC boxing card at Mechanics Building. . . . First Ladies Need 2 Wins For Tourney

The Quincy girls' basketball team rebounded from a heart-breaking loss to Weymouth North to defeat North Quincy for the second time last Friday.

The First Ladies needed only to split their final four games to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament for the second straight year.

Quincy played Weymouth South Tuesday, will host Brookline Friday night at 8, will play at Brockton Tuesday at 7:30 and wind up at home against Sharon Friday night, Feb. 19, at 8 p.m.

The First Ladies, cashing in on North Quincy's failure to take advantage of Quincy turnovers in the first half, defeated the Raiderettes 52-40, last Friday night.

Nancy MacDonald paced the Quincy girls with 21 points and Mary Kamb added 12.

Earlier in the week Quincy (12-4) lost at Weymouth North, 52-40, when Weymouth's Amy Jackson scored the winning basket with no time left on the clock.

With 13 seconds left in the game and Weymouth holding a 49-47 edge, Jackson hit on a free throw which seemingly clinched the win.

However, MacDonald tied it up with a three-pointer with five seconds left.

MacDonald had 13 points, Kamb had 12 and dominated the boards and Maryann Agres had 14 points, most from the outside.

Weymouth's outstanding scorer, Joanne Powers, had 25 to lead her team.

Powers is the number two scorer in the Suburban League and MacDonald is third.

Raiderettes Face Tough Task

The North Quincy girls' basketball team, following its loss to Quincy last Friday, faced the task of winning its last three games to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament for the second year in a row.

The Raiderettes faced Brookline Tuesday, will play at Brockton Friday at 3:30 p.m., and finish up next Tuesday at home against Weymouth North at 2:30 p.m.

The North girls, failing to take advantage of Quincy's many turnovers, fell behind early, although the game was close most of the way before Quincy pulled away for a 52-40 victory, its second over North this season.

"We did a fine job on defense and Quincy turned the ball over nearly every time it came down the floor, but we just didn't take advantage of the turnovers," said Coach Paul Gregoli. "Also, we had another bad night at the foul line, missing 17 shots, which hurt us tremendously."

Joanne Runge, one of the top scorers in the Suburban League, had 11 points, seven rebounds, six assists and nine steals for the Raiderettes. Mary Holleran had 11 points, Chris Choukas had eight, Mary Ellen Timmins seven and Tricia Meehan turned in a fine two-way performance.

Earlier in the week the North girls turned in their finest two-way effort of the season to roll over Waltham, 84-20.

"We could have beaten any team that day," Gregoli said. "We tried a new defense and did everything right both offensively and defensively."

The Raiderettes exploded in the third quarter when it outscored Waltham, 32-0.

Runge had 22 points, eight assists and 10 steals in less than a half, Choukas had 18 points, Simone Koch 14, Timmins 10 and Holleran nine.

North Girls Face Quincy In Season Windup

The unbeaten North Quincy girls' track team, which yesterday (Wednesday) faced equally undefeated Weymouth South, for the Suburban League title, will wind up its regular season Friday against Quincy at 3:30 p.m. at Cambridge.

Coach Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes (7-0) won the state Class B relays for the third year in a row, last Saturday, edging Acton-Boxboro, 36-33. The title was decided in the final event, the 4x400 meters, as North won, while Acton-Boxboro could finish only fifth. North trailed, 31-36 going into that event.

The first three runners, Deirdre Donovan, Karen Lindenzelzer and Nancy McCarthy, headed Mary Kate Kennedy a slight edge starting the final leg and she turned in a 58.2 anchor leg to give the Raiderettes the win.

North's sprint medley team of Nancy McCarthy, Kathy McCarthy, Mary Gannon and Kennedy placed second in 4:11.5. "This was the sixth fastest time ever run in the country," said

Tozzi.

The shot out team of Michelle Millane, Caryn Smith and Ann Souza placed second with an average throw of 31.23 meters. The third-place 4x200 team of Marie McGurl, Lindenzelzer, Donovan and Debbie Kiley finished in 1:53.0 and the team of Linda Kennedy, Ann Gorczyka, Eileen Crehan and Sheila Barrett placed fourth in 9:52.4.

Earlier last week the North girls remained unbeaten in league competition with a 52-34 victory over Weymouth North.

Mary Kate Kennedy won the 50 with Kiley second. Lisa Reynolds was second in the 300, Janet Zdanowski was third in the 600, Barrett won the 1000 with Linda Kennedy second and Tracy Coull third. Tracy Corrigan was second in the mile and Gorczyka won the two-mile with Nancy Wildes second.

McGurl won the hurdles with Georgia Traficante third. Traficante was second and Coull third in the high jump. Smith won the shot put with Ann Souza third and the mile relay team of Kathy Moriarty, Diane Flynn, Lindenzelzer and Donovan won.

BREAKS FOR TAXPAYERS WHO DON'T ITEMIZE

(fifth in a series)

If your income has increased — from you or your spouse going back to work, a promotion or new job, hitting the lottery, or any other reason — you'll find the increase in your tax totally out of proportion to the increase in your income. Because the tax rates are graduated (and increase more and more quickly as your income increases), a taxpayer who earns $10,000 one year and $30,000 the next pays more tax than one who earns $20,000 each year. Congress, recognizing the unfairness of this situation, passed a law that may reduce your tax if your income has increased, or if you had a low-earnings year between 1974 and 1980.

QJC Edged By North Shore

The Quincy Junior College basketball team dropped a 54-53 heartbreaker to North Shore Community College last week, one of three defeats during the week for the Jaguars, who are now 2-15 for the season.

Brian Buckley's QJC team also lost to powerful Massasoit Community College, 84-51, and to the Bridgewater State College junior varsity, 88-70.

In the North Shore game, the taller Bucks won the game at the foul line, hitting on 13 of 27 shots, while Quincy went to the line only five times, hitting all five.

"We played pretty well and could have won," said Buckley. "The team (Salem State College) had a heating problem and was extremely warm. We substituted freely, using 13 players, but we fouled too often and you can't give a team 27 foul shots and expect to win."

Ricky Anderson led all scorers with 19 points, followed by Jim Conboy's 12. Conboy has scored in double figures in all 17 games.

Quincy, North Icemen Clash Saturday

The Quincy and North Quincy hockey teams will clash for the second time Saturday at 7:50 p.m. at the Youth Arena. It is the last regularly scheduled game for both teams.

It was erroneously reported in the Sun last week that the game was last Saturday.

Last week North Quincy lost to Brockton, 6-0, and to Waltham, 5-3, dropping its record to 4-9-1.

In the Waltham game the Raiders took a 2-1 lead on second period goals by Tommy Lester and Keith Smith, but Waltham came back with a rush in the final period.

Mike Cullen scored the other goal for North, while Kevin Duff and Bill Nee had assists.

Quincy has a 6-8 record in the Suburban League but the Presidents' Kevin Craig as of last week was leading the league in scoring with 12 goals and 20 assists for 32 points.

Bob Sylvia's Quincy team came back strong after a slow start, winning five of eight games after losing five of its first six games.

Quincy Wrestlers Close In On 4th Title

The Quincy wrestling team virtually clinched its fourth straight Suburban League championship last Saturday when it handed Waltham its first defeat, 33-19, to improve its record to 7-0 in the league and 16-0 overall.

The Presidents will wrestle at Norwood Friday at 4 p.m. in a non-league meet and will finish their league season Saturday at 6 against North Quincy at the North gym. Quincy will be a solid favorite to top the undermanned Raiders.

Quincy has compiled its impressive record with only senior starters.

The Presidents' winners against Waltham were Joe Monahan, 11-5, at 100 pounds; Mike Notarangelo by pin at 114; Joe Madden, 7-4, at 121; Gerry McSharry, 8-2, at 128; Glen Oriola, 5-3, at 140; Steve Ricci by pin at 157 in the match which turned the meet around for Quincy: Bill Rollins, 9-8, at 169, and Mark Picot by pin at 188.

Earlier in the week Quincy easily defeated Randolph, 47-11, with Monahan winning by pin at 100, Notarangelo, 6-2, at 140; Darrin DeCoste, 5-0, at 157; Ricci by pin at 167, Picot by forfeit at 188 and Jamie Gravalase by pin in the heavyweight bout. Walter Roshert tied at 167.

North Wrestlers Pin Plymouth

The North Quincy wrestling team, which faces undefeated

Quincy Saturday at 6 p.m. at the North gym, defeated Plymouth-Carver, 35-30, last week, to improve its record to 6-8.

Chris Butler remained unbeaten in the 134-pound class with a pin for his 13th victory.

Other Raider winners were John Palma by pin at 122 pounds, Jay Pillard by forfeit at 128, Terry Stark by pin at 140, Lester Gerry, 9-7, at 147, and Mike Pimental by pin at 170. John Kozlowski tied at 158.

D D's, Bersani In Tie

Dee Dee's still has a six-point lead in the Pee Wee House League after tying runnerup Bersani Brothers, 3-3. Shawn Craig had two goals and Paul Adams one for Dee Dee's. For Bersani Bill Ferrara, Paul Hannon and Scott Collins had the goals.

Keohane's edged Mug 'n' Mullin, 3-2, with Brian Mosher having two goals and Karl Staskiewicz one. Dave Nogler and Mark Rudnisky scored for M 'n' M.

The standings: Dee Dee's, 9-2-4; Bersani, 6-5-4; Mug 'n' Mullin, 4-8-3; Keohane's, 4-8-3.

North Swimmers Continue Hex Over Quincy

The North Quincy and Quincy boys' swim teams met last Saturday and for the seventh year in a row North won, 112-53.

In the seven years the schools have had swimming, Quincy has never beaten North in boys' or girls' meets.

The win gave the Raiders a 6-3 record, while Quincy dropped to 3-7.

Both teams are coached by Bill Walker, the pool supervisor.

Another large crowd attended at the Lincoln Hancock School pool and saw several close and interesting events, featured by the 500 freestyle as Quincy's Bill Mayo won in 5:48.24 and North's Brad Martin was second in 5:50.18, both their personal best times. Paul Malanson of North was third.

The other results:

200-medy relay: 1, NQ (Ralph Santosuosso, John Wallace, Sean O'Brien and Mark Wilkins), 2:01.77; 2, NQ (Scott Andrews, Jim Adams, Peter Stockless and Jim Boudreau); 3, Q (Peter Schow, Dan Mallock, Kevin Golden and Wally Chapman).

200 freestyle: 1, Mayo (Q), 2:04.72; 2, Martin (NQ); 3, Bob Dunn (NQ).

200 individual medly: 1, Wallace (NQ), 2:45.41; 2, Mallock (Q); 3, Golden (Q).

50 freestyle: 1, Ken Burke (NQ), 25.98; 2, Tom O'Malley (Q); 3, Stockless (NQ).

1-meter diving: 1, Andrews (NQ), 216.05 (new school record); 2, Bob Waterman (NQ); 3, Wilkins (NQ).

100 butterfly: 1, O'Brien (NQ), 1:12.21; 2, Santosuosso (NQ).

100 freestyle: 1, Boudreau (NQ) 56.94; 2, Burke (NQ); 3, O'Malley (Q).

100 backstroke: 1, O'Brien (NQ), 1:10.04; 2, Santosuosso (NQ); 3, Schow (Q).

100 breaststroke: 1, Mallock (Q), 1:17.61; 2, Wallace (NQ); 3, Golden (Q).

400 freestyle relay: 1, NQ (Burke, Wilkins, Stone, Martin, 4:15.44); 2, NQ (Stockless, Dunn, Pierce, Murphy, and Boudreau); 3, Q (O'Malley, Ron Ceriani, Schow, Mayo).

Earlier in the week North had defeated Blue Hills, 109-65, in a meet featured by the diving.

In this event Blue Hill's John Magliozzi edged North's Andrews, scoring a year's high of 218.45, while Andrews, unbeaten in the Suburban League, had 195.5. The two have met several times and the results have always been close.

Boudreau and Bradley each won two events, Boudreau winning the 50-yard freestyle (25.34), edging teammate Wilkins, and the 100 freestyle easily. Martin won the 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle.

O'Brien won the 100 backstroke for the Raiders, who took several seconds and thirds to win with ease.

Quincy defeated Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 98-61, with Mayo remaining unbeaten in the 500 freestyle, winning the 200 freestyle and swimming on the winning 400-meter freestyle relay team.

Grant won the diving with a personal high score of 176.75. Mallock was second in the 100 meter breaststroke with his best time, 1:16.9; and O'Malley took second in the 100 freestyle and second in the 100 breaststroke. The winning 400 freestyle relay team included Mayo, Rich Parker, O'Malley and Schow.

Kiwanis Hockey Tourney Opens Feb. 15

More than 60 teams, including several from Canada, will compete in the ninth annual Quincy Kiwanis Club Youth Hockey Tournament which begins Monday at 8 a.m. at the Youth Arena.

The tournament, with Bantams, Pee Wees, Mites and Squirts, will play throughout the week with 87 games being played, and the four division finals will be played Sunday, Feb. 21, with the concluding game at 6 p.m.

There will be entries from Don Mills, Toronto; Wexford, Toronto; Villagers, Toronto; Halifax, Nova Scotia; Mid-Fairfield, Conn.; Casco Bay, Maine; Troy, N.Y.; Quincy, Brockton, Scituate, Newton, Hyannis, Milton, Brookline, Dedham, Plymouth, Wilmington, Neponset, Lexington, Revere, Westboro, Malden and Melrose.

A pass good for all games is $3. Single tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students 12-18 years of age.

AN ENTIRE NEW GARAGE FOR $332 . . .

No. We're not in the garage building business. But the amount shown above is your total premium to protect a house with a replacement value of $60,000 with Homeowners Insurance in Quincy.

The rates we quote are almost always lower than available elsewhere.

If you lost your garage due to fire or other insured event you'd only pay a $100 deductible. The rest would be covered.

The policy protects against all risks with $100,000 liability and extended theft.

We've told you the price, now let us give you the complete listing of coverage for the money. We're Quincy people, asking to insure your Quincy home.

Cable TV Course At Quincy JC

Quincy Junior College's Division of Continuing Education is offering the only cable television system course of its kind in the country, designed to train people for entry level technician positions in the industry.

Arthur Keough, QJC liaison with Quincy Cable-systems, said the one semester course provides students with the skills necessary to install cable in subscriber's homes as well as to service the cable signal.

The course is taught by Stephen Janshego of the QJC faculty, who, with Al Kuolas, chief engineer for Quincy Cable-systems, and Ernest Tunman, president of Tele-Engineering Corp., created and designed the course.

Students, many of whom are already working in the cable industry, come from as far away as Rhode Island to take advantage of the program.

"Future courses in cable technology are also being planned by Quincy Junior," said Keough. "We will be providing the skill training for cable industry on the South Shore and Boston."

"Projections indicate many new employees will be needed in the next five years; and we will provide the educational programs to train people for these new jobs."

Recreation Dept. Sponsoring Bermuda Holiday

G-Men Defeat Weymouth In Floor Hockey

Although two of three Quincy teams lost in the opening round of the South Shore Floor Hockey Tournament last week at the Skateland in Marshfield, all turned in excellent performances in the double-elimination event.

There are 10 Quincy teams entered.

The Quincy G-Men defeated the Weymouth Knights, 5-3, for the only Quincy win of the night, as George Bouchard had three goals and defenseman Pat Connolly had two. Chuck Dooley was impressive in goal, turning aside 33 shots.

In the best game of the tournament The Quincy Braves lost to the Dorchester Stars, 4-3, in five overtimes.

Quincy was led offensively by the Balzano brothers, Tony and John, each with a goal, and defenseman Tom DiMatteo, who had the other goal. Goalie Joe Lynch played well in goal. Defenseman Bill Hawes had two goals for Dorchester.

The Quincy Clovers dropped a 5-1 decision to the hot-shooting Hingham Bruins, despite a superb performance by Quincy goalie Bob Coe, who had 57 saves. After two periods Quincy trailed only 2-1. Mike Walsh scored the only Quincy goal, which gave him team a short-lived 1-0 lead.

Sun, Burgin Tie, 3-3 In Bantam House

The Quincy Sun still holds a three-point lead in the Bantam House League after tying Burgin Platner, 3-3.

Joe Mastroianni, Steve Constan and Steve Brooks scored for the Sun, while Steve Gardner had two goals and Jeff Scott a goal and two assists for Burgin.

Baskin Robbins edged McGinn Sunoco, 2-1, on goals by Dave Maimaron and John Cataldi.

Larry Mahoney scored for McGinn.

Johnson Motor sneaked by Doran & Horrigan, 5-4, as Glenn Hermanson scored two goals, Michael Bille had a goal and an assist and John Ferrara and Pat Duffy had a goal each.

The standings: Quincy Sun, 10-3-2; Baskin Robbins, 9-5-1; McGinn Sunoco, 8-5-2; Burgin Platner, 7-7-1; Johnson Motor, 4-10-1; Doran & Horrigan, 2-10-3.

Co-Co Club, Police Win In Midget House

The Co-Co Club defeated Suburban Disposol, 6-2, to maintain its four-point lead in the Midget House League.

Bob Forman had two goals and an assist, Tom Bille a goal and assist and John Burn, Bill Lawless and Paul McCabe a goal each. For Suburban Tom Schofield and Ed

Fleming had the goals.

Beware of Baby Bouncers

The Food and Drug Administration has come out with a warning to parents about devices known as "walker-jumpers". Investigating the safety of some of these "baby bouncer" models, the FDA says danger potentials include:

* Holes around the hinged areas of reclining models, through which a baby may insert a finger, then bruise or crush it by bouncing on the equipment.

* X-shaped pivot areas, such as cross-bars, where the scissors force might be exerted on the infant's finger.

* Heavy coil springs without guards which, when stretched, could allow room for the baby to insert one or more fingers.

* Instability, so that the entire device may tip over when the baby bounces or is otherwise active on it.

* Absence of a locking device to prevent the walker-jumper from collapsing or folding up while the baby is in it.

Board Votes 3-1

Wollaston Facility Gets Beer, Wine License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Golfers at the Wollaston Recreation Facility will soon be able to enjoy a glass of beer or wine after their games, a privilege that was a long time in coming.

The City License Board voted 3 to 1 Tuesday to grant a common victualer - wine and beer license for the facility, following six other requests in five years for a liquor license at the establishment.

All were either withdrawn or denied.

The beer and wine license was granted to Rosemary F. Foster of "Rosie's" located at the Norfolk County owned facility.

A stipulation of the license, granted for March through November, was that a partition separate youngsters from adults drinking wine and beer.

In addition, hours of 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. are to be written into Norfolk County's contract with "Rosie's".

Voting against the license was Building Inspector Allan MacDonald who contended that the question of zoning had not been resolved.

Granting of the license was preceded by the board's approving a change in the application from common victualer - wine and beer license.

The change had been proposed at an evening meeting two weeks ago and resulted in two opponents of the liquor license, the Montclair Men's Club and the Quincy Citizens Association, unanimously favoring the new request.

At this week's meeting, Building Inspector Allan MacDonald told fellow board members that, in addition to the zoning question, he was concerned with "young kids in the same room as adults" who were drinking wine and beer.

Police Chief Francis Finn contended that there's not an establishment in the city that serves liquor that separates adults from youngsters.

"You're ducking the issue," answered MacDonald in the sometimes heated exchange.

"The recreation area was built by taxpayer's money for kids and adults.

"I can't vote to put kids in a barroom."

John C. Nourse, administrator of the facility, explained that, "there is no bar as such."

"We're no different than any restaurant."

"We have the problem of policing, and we don't want to make any mistakes."

"Our main concern is to get additional income. When we get enough money, we can conceivably put money aside to separate the room."

Fire Chief Edward Barry asked Nourse if he would partition the area if the license approval depended upon it.

Nourse said he would, and the partition is to be installed by April 1, as requirement in the license.

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh made the motion to grant the license.

Barry seconded the motion. Not present at the meeting was City Clerk John Gillis who is recuperating at his home from gall bladder surgery.

Costello also was charged with: Malicious damage, breaking and entering in the daytime with intent to commit a felony, armed assault on a dwelling house, assault and battery with a dangerous weapon (the shovel), threats, driving an uninsured motor vehicle, driving an unregistered vehicle, operating so as to endanger, driving after suspension of license and attaching plates.

murder and four counts of assault and battery on police officers after, police said, he broke a window in the home of Andrew Palermo, 1380 Quincy Shore Drive, and tried to assault those inside with a shovel.

Eleven police officers responded to the call on Monday and one of them, Paul Smith, was taken by ambulance to City Hospital where he was treated and released.

Quincy Man Sent To Bridgewater

Thomas D. Costello Jr., 28, of Washington St., Quincy, has been sent to MCI Bridgewater for 20 days observation after he was arraigned on 15 charges growing out of an attack on the home of his estranged wife's parents.

Costello pleaded innocent at his arraignment in Quincy District Court Tuesday before Judge Lewis Whitman.

He was charged with attempted

No Denver Boot

Validated Parking In Works

By TOM HENSHAW

No, the infamous Denver boot, that scourge of motorists in Boston and Cambridge, is not coming to Quincy.

But Mayor Francis X. McCauley is looking into the possibility of a system of validated parking for downtown Quincy and may have a proposal on the subject sometime in March.

The problem in Quincy is not so much a heavy backlog of ticket scofflaws as much as it is finding a way to permit shoppers to park unmolested while banning all day parkers.

"We have not been looking into the Denver boot," said McCauley. "We don't have the same objectives in parking as in Boston. I think Mayor White's ploy is to try to pay the salaries of his public relations staff."

"We do not want to discourage people from coming to Quincy."

McCauley said members of his staff have been talking to at least two people about validated parking. One of them already operates a validation system in another community.

"We've been talking to the merchants about it, too," he said. "That plan depends on the cooperation of the merchants."

"We are still accumulating data. We hope to have it completed by March 1 so that we can get started on a plan of validated parking that will solve the complaints of the downtown merchants."

The City Council Tuesday night was scheduled to consider an appropriation of $40,000 to award a contract for the processing of parking tickets, both new and old.

"It could be a money maker," said the mayor. "We could take in somewhere between $300,000 and $400,000 in back parking tickets."

Mother Of Two Draws Jail For Drunk Driving

Judge Albert L. Kramer's new guidelines for sentencing drunk drivers received a stern test Tuesday when a woman with two young children appeared in Quincy District Court on a charge of driving under the influence.

Mrs. Sandra Klein, 35, of Weymouth, was found guilty and sentenced to 30 days in the House of Correction with 28 of them suspended. The remaining two days would be served weekends.

Judge Kramer decided that arrangements could be made for weekend care of her children, ages 10 and 12.

Her attorney, George Tull of Quincy, said he will appeal.

9 Tons Cheese For Quincy Poor

Quincy is getting 18,000 pounds of (that's nine tons) government surplus cheese for distribution to low income families through the various community action groups.

City trucks were scheduled to be dispatched to Brockton yesterday (Wednesday) to pick up the cheese in 600 cases of 30 pounds apiece.

Peter Kenney, the mayor's executive secretary, said it will be stored in a central location for distribution today by the community action people.

Kenney declined to disclose the precise location of the storage site for fear of vandals.

Originally, some 45,000 pounds of cheese was made available for Quincy but, said Kenney, it was decided that there were not that many qualified people in the city.

"There will be plenty to go around," he said.

Rosemary Wahlberg, director of Quincy Community Action, said the cheese will be distributed through the neighborhood action organizations.

Eligibility requirements will be the same as those for aid to families with dependent children, SSI, fuel assistance and food stamps.

Your IRA Deserves the Difference!

All IRAs are basically the same: Any working person may own an IRA (individual retirement account) with its tax-saving provision that allows you to exclude up to $2000 yearly from federal taxable income. (Up to $4000 for working couples; up to $2250 if your non-working spouse has an IRA.)

In addition, all interest earned by your IRA account is exempt from all taxes until retirement (there are penalties for earlier withdrawal.)

THE DIFFERENCE

Quincy Cooperative Bank offers you an IRA account with a choice of variable or fixed interest rates —and the difference:

As little as $10 opens an IRA account at Quincy Cooperative. All interest in your account will be compounded continuously, and there is no fee.

Visit a friendly office of Quincy Cooperative in Braintree, Cohasset, Hanover or Quincy and find out how easy it is to set up your very own IRA —with the difference.

FR. WILLIAM MCCARTHY

WILLIAM O'CONNELL

PETER O'CONNELL

Fr. McCarthy, O'Connell Brothers, Win Chamber Of Commerce Awards

The Rev. William R. McCarthy, pastor of St. John the Baptist Church in Quincy has been chosen to receive the Humanitarian of the Year award from the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

The O'Connell brothers, Peter and William, of the Quincy-based O.B.C., Inc., builders and developers, have been selected for the Chamber's Business Family of the Year award.

Both awards will be presented at the Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner meeting, Friday, March 19, at the Lantana in Randolph.

"It's a great day for the Irish," said Chamber President Eugene Roundtree. "We expect some 600 guests to be there for the awards presentation."

Fr. McCarthy, who recently celebrated the 30th anniversary of his ordination, has been pastor of St. John's since 1977. He also serves as chaplain of the Quincy Fire Department.

One of his major concerns has been for the city's senior citizens. He is chaplain of three senior citizens housing complexes, Town Brook House, Martensen St., and Granite Place.

He was named to the Quincy Housing Authority in June, 1978, and served as its chairman in 1980 and 1981.

Fr. McCarthy is a director of the South Shore Council on Alcoholism, a supervisor of the Woodward School, and a member of the Advisory Board of Archbishop Williams High School.

A native of Haverhill, he entered St. Clements Hall, Brighton, in 1945, and St. John's Seminary in September, 1946.

Peter and William O'Connell, born and raised in Quincy, started their construction company in 1960, building their first house with the earnings from their paper routes as youngsters.

In just over a decade, the firm has been involved in more than $100 million in building projects, including a number of senior citizens housing units.

O'Connell Brothers have completed two office buildings in the State Street South complex, totaling 358,000 square feet. They have just begun construction on a third building, Monarch III, their largest project to date with a cost of $35 million.

They have entered into a joint venture with Marina Industries to develop the 350-acre site of the former Squantum Air Base, a $250 million project.

"The South Shore Chamber of Commerce is honored to salute Peter and William O'Connell," said Roundtree. "By hard work and daring, these two men have demonstrated the immense possibilities which are available in business today."

Peter O'Connell is a graduate of Northeastern University with a degree in engineering. He is vice president and a director of the Granite Cooperative Bank, Quincy, and a director of the Home Builders Association of Greater Boston, as well as a vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce.

William O'Connell is also a Northeastern University graduate with a degree in engineering and a master's degree in engineering management. He is a director of the Guaranty First Trust Company, Waltham, and the Quincy Historical Society.

Peter O'Connell, who is the firm's president, lives in Quincy with his wife, the former Marcia M. MacKinnon, and their four children. William lives in Boston and has two sons.

REV. FRED BARR, associate pastor of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount, asked school committee members for a year of grace.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE members heard 50 speakers oppose further school closings and budget cuts at last week's meeting at Quincy High School. From left, are vice chairman Mary Collins, School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon, and Mayor Francis McCauley, school committee chairman.

Parents Strongly Oppose More School Closings

By JOHN NOONAN

If School Committee members had any doubts about where parents, teachers, and students stood on plans to reorganize the school system those uncertainties should be dispelled following last week's public hearing.

More than 500 people jammed the Quincy High resource center, and 50 individuals spoke their piece during the hearing which lasted two and a half hours.

There is no doubt that those in attendance, and many hundreds more represented by organization spokesmen, oppose further closing of schools and any more budget cuts.

"We're mad as hell and we're not going to take it any more," said Robert Sullivan of Quincy Point. He argued against closing schools in that section. Under the seven proposals the three Point area schools would be closed.

"Adopting plans two or three would be rushing headlong into the 19th century," Richard Harris, a school teacher and parent, told the Committee.

"Redistricting throughout the city under a K to 8 system would disrupt thousands," declared Mary Denneen, a member of the City-Wide Parent Advisory Council whose membership oppose further budget cuts and school closings.

Rev. Fred Barr, associate pastor at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, pleaded for a year of grace and stated "what draws us here tonight is the result of a much bigger piece of legislation, much bigger than the city of Quincy, that is really Proposition 2 1/2."

Rev. Lloyd Martin, pastor of Wollaston Congregational Church, did not favor any particular plan but presented a petition bearing 3,396 signatures in behalf of the Boosters Clubs of Quincy and North Quincy Girls Swimming Teams. He opposed the closing of the Lincoln-Hancock swimming pool citing health benefits derived from its use by all age groups from throughout the city.

"The prime reason to maintain the present organizational structure is that it would be the least disruptive to the children. It is important to keep the neighborhood schools concept. This school system has been through enough stress and turmoil the past year," said JoAnn O'Malley, president of the Quincy Education Association.

"You owe us one school and one principal, you never gave us anything so you can't take it away from us," argued Richard Crespi, a spokesman for the Pollard school parents-teachers group in Quincy Point.

"No more ands, ifs or buts; and no more budget cuts," stated Isabel Armstrong, a parent.

Asserting that the K to 8 plan would be the worst of the plans, John Lutts, a parent of school children and math instructor at U of Mass declared, "My vision is one of horror: massive displacement of students, those of tender years together with confused adolescents, difficult teaching situations, expensive renovations and massive transportation problems."

While students, teachers, parents, and educational organization spokesmen were addressing the school committee others in the audience, not wishing to speak, had the opportunity to indicate at six sign-up stations around the hall their plan of choice.

Seated in the audience, taking in the proceedings were city

Councillors Patricia Toland, Leo Kelly, Richard Koch, Joanne Condon, Stephen McGrath, and Ted DeCristofaro. They had a particular interest in the hearing because the final plan to be adopted by the School Committee will have an impact on the 1982-83 city budget.

New England Merchants, Hancock Bank Plan Merger

New England Merchants Company, Inc., of Boston and The Hancock Group Incorporated of Quincy, Massachusetts have announced that agreement in principle has been reached to merge The Hancock Group into New England Merchants Company.

Under the proposed transaction The Hancock Group's subsidiary bank, Hancock Bank and Trust Company, would become a subsidiary of New England Merchants Company. Under the terms of the acquisition stockholders of The Hancock Group will receive $52.50 in cash for each share of stock held. In aggregate, the transaction would have a value of approximately $14.7 million.

The proposed transaction is subject to the execution of a definitive merger agreement and to approval by regulatory authorities and stockholders of The Hancock Group.

The Hancock Group is headquartered in Quincy, and has total assets of $153.4 million. New England Merchants Company, with assets of $4.44 billion is the parent company of New England Merchants National Bank in Boston as well as ten other banks in Massachusetts.

William Kelley, President of The Hancock Group and of the Hancock Bank and Trust Company said, "We believe that by joining a holding company of the strength and reputation of New England Merchants Company we will be able to better serve the growing Norfolk and Plymouth County area."

Roderick M. MacDougall, Chairman of New England Merchants Company said, "With this consolidation, New England Merchants Company will acquire a well established banking organization serving clients throughout Norfolk County and the South Shore. The combined organization will have total assets of $4.59 billion and 97 offices in 10 counties throughout the State."

Q-Cap To Expand Neighborhood Watch

The Quincy Police Department announces a new Crime Prevention Program, Q-Cap (Quincy Crime Awareness Program).

Under the program, the department hopes to expand the existing Neighborhood Watch/-Program as well as provide programs in anti-vandalism and commercial security.

Q-Cap will also require the selection and involvement of community volunteers to deliver crime prevention materials or organize neighborhood groups. Several volunteers will be selected to assist in organizational activities at the police department.

The Police Department is especially interested in enlisting the assistance of senior citizen volunteers as many crime prevention efforts will focus on assisting the city's senior population.

For more information, contact Donald W. Hansen of the Quincy Police Department at 479-1212, ext. 365, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays.

Dental Corner by

Lee A. Welky, D.M.D.

DO YOU TAKE NOVOCAIN?

Having a tooth drilled is unpleasant. Most of us can agree on that. Modern dentistry has ways of dealing with this discomfort. The most commonly used is the local anesthetic injection.

However, many patients prefer to "be brave" and forgo the injection. There are several possible reasons.

- 1) Their teeth aren't sensitive. People have widely varying tolerance of pain. Some patients may not find drilling uncomfortable.
- 2) They are afraid of the needle. But anesthetic injections wouldn't make much sense if they were more painful than drilling: they aren't. These people should try the injection -- at least once.

- 3) They don't want to be numb for hours. Many dental anesthetics are available. Some give anesthesia for several hours, some only about a half hour.

Remember that your dentist can do better work if you are comfortable and still.

Every person who works is now eligible to open an Individual Retirement Account providing both tax deductions and money for tomorrow. And every person who opens one should come to Quincy Savings Bank because our IRAs are just about unbeatable.

$100 can get you started.

You can open a variable rate IRA for only $100. A fixed rate IRA for only $500. And deposit any amount at any frequency to either. (Within the term of the 18-month certificate, at the rate being paid.)

High rates.

Our fixed rate IRA pays you the current 30-month Treasury Bill rate, for the full 18-month term. Our variable rate IRA is just that: the rate changes weekly, based on the Donoghue's Money Fund™ 7-day average. Either way, you're the winner. For instance, if you put away $2000 a year for 30 years -- and were paid an annual rate of 12% -- you'd receive nearly $654,000!

Personalized profile.

If you stop by any Quincy Savings Bank Office, we'll work out your own statement of how much you'll have for retirement. Based on your annual, tax-deductible contributions of up to $2000 - $2250 if you're married; and $4000 if both spouses are working and file a joint return.

No service charge.

And we pay you $10.

Your Quincy Savings Bank IRA is fully-insured. Free of all charges. And, to get you started, we'll brighten your day with a $10 bill when you open your new IRA.

Guiding light.

Check what other banks are offering. Then, when you see what Quincy Savings Bank has for plans, return the coupon or stop by any of our offices. The sooner you see the light, the sooner your retirement funds begin earning high interest from us!

Sees Drunk Driver Case As A Farce

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The recent "Driving Under the Influence" case involving Quincy's first offender under the mandatory law of being sent to jail has proved to be a farce. It is also interesting to note that if the offender does the mandatory sentence, his record is then wiped clean. How is the court to keep track of continuous offenders??? Wasn't the intention of the law to revoke the license of the continuous offender, to get him or her off the road, and protect public safety?? Now we read that a judge has made a convenient agreement with the Registry so the offender does not lose his license for a year, as the law states, thus he/she is still a menace on the road. Where is the justice in all this??? Wouldn't this make you wonder why our state doesn't have the right to elect it's judges like three-quarters of the country does now.

A most interesting note to close with -- the legal drinking age in the state of Massachusetts is 20 years old, however our first offender is a mere 18 year-old youth. So this offender pleaded guilty, was instructed to an alcohol-driving education program, and set free. So I must ask what's the use??? He'll be able to stop at a bar, or anywhere else, and have his drinks on the way home from the course. Justice is in deed blind. So is the Quincy Court System.

'Whose Life Is It, Anyway'

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The ostensibly profound issues raised by the movie "Whose Life Is It Anyway?" are academic because they are predicated on the specious propaganda that damage to the central nervous system is permanently irreversible. Researchers from some of this nation's most prestigious institutions have proven this dogma to be false.

The fundamental issue circumvented by the media is the corruption being perpetrated against all "cure-oriented" research, manifested in the dearth of funding for such purposes. Politicians, government bureaucrats, and the medical industry have a vested financial interest in preventing such research. In so doing, a built-in lifetime clientele, representing a statistically calculable source of income is created.

According to government statistics (NINCDS Fact Book, 1979), spinal cord injury (SCI) victims pay $2.3 billion annually in direct medical expenditures. This same source cites the total 35 million neural cases of all sorts at an annual care cost of $55 billion.

To tamper with economic activity of this magnitude is viewed as disruptive and counter-productive. In 1980, lobbyists pressured Congress to defeat the Walgren Bill (H.R. 4358), which would have designated a minuscule $16 million for SCI cure research, enough, according to experts, to effect a cure for this nation's half million SCI victims.

Richard Dreyfuss is a consummate actor and executes a superlative performance in "Whose Life Is It Anyway?" But, so long as the "hopelessly irreversible" myth is perpetuated, SCI victims will continue to be held hostage for profit.

Love And Marriage

It takes two, as they say, to tango but it takes two — working a lot harder at it — to stay married.

It's easy to toss in the towel — His or Her's — on a marriage these days. A wife unloads her husband because he comes home tired and dozes in front of the TV set. Or a husband goes his way because she burns the toast in the morning.

Silly. But it can happen. And does — especially these days.

But, fortunately, there are more couples who want to stay married and will stick it out despite problems.

Last Saturday, St. John's Church held a special Valentine Liturgy at which married couples were invited to renew their marriage vows. Despite the stormy night, several hundred persons attended.

Fr. William McCarthy, celebrant, got off a few observations you might appreciate:

"It is a most inspiring sight this evening to witness married couples coming together to renew their marriage vows; especially in the neo-paganism and secularistic society which is ready to break the marriage bond for such a ridiculous reason as 'he doesn't put the cap on the toothpaste after brushing his teeth'."

"We are happy to see couples here who are willing to stand by their bond (even if it is a bond and not a bargain). You are people who have realized that marriage is not like a violin and bow, making one instrument of sweet and melting music, but at times it will seem like the jarring clash of a couple of cymbals. You have not confused marriage with the definition of heaven which is a state of perfect and perpetual bliss. Marriage is love for each other and this means sacrifice."

"Only an adolescent thinks of marriage as a state of sugary sweetness, moonlight and poetry. As you have experienced as adults, marriage is a life time job and not the honeymoon standards of delicious happiness. You may however have experienced many joys. There is more genuine entertainment in the unpredictable antics of a little child toddling across the floor and discovering the world, than there is in any floor show. In order to have joys in the sea of matrimony there must also be a whole ocean of patience, tolerance, compromise and concession; a submerging of one's own tastes and whims and conveniences for the common goal."

"You certainly must have had disappointments, but you did not solve these problems by dissolving the partnership. Marriage by its nature is not perfect, but it is permanent. It is a last will and testament in which you have bequeathed yourself to your spouse forever. It is a vow along the road of life, no matter what lies beyond each new bend. Like the wedding ring, the gleam and the polish of love may dull away with the years, but underneath it is still as good, still as solid, still all gold."

"If you are asked the question, 'How have you made a success of your marriage?' your answer might be that you worked at being less selfish, of being more patient, at cultivating gentleness and self control, at smiling through dark times and being content when the going is rough."

"We know by experience that one of the partners has to own up to the fact that he or she is at fault. Elocutionists may say that the hardest words in the English language to pronounce are 'If Peter Piper Picked A Peck Of Pickled Peppers' and so on or something like that; the hardest words in English to say are 'I was wrong' because you have to say them not with the tongue and teeth, but with the conscience and the heart."

IF YOU'RE wondering if Rep. Robert

Cerasoli will seek re-election this year, he will. A fundraising "Champagne Brunch" will be held Sunday, Feb. 28 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge, Rtes. 128, 37, Braintree. Tickets are $25 each and may be obtained by contacting Dolores McCray, 773-5924.

ALDO SALUTI, long-time popular bank executive, will be stepping into retirement March 31. Aldo, who started with the Quincy Savings Bank as a teller 30 years ago, is now assistant vice president. He says he will be joining the Honeydo Co. "Sally (his wife) will be telling me, honey do this, honey do that," he muses.

QUINCY School Committee member Christopher Kennedy has been named chairman of the Massachusetts Association of School Committees' By-Laws Committee. Kennedy, a six year member of the Quincy School Committee is on the MASC board of directors.

WBZ's Evening Magazine will feature a segment on the Quincy Fire Department tomorrow Friday at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 4.

Host Barry Nolan and his production crew spent a day filming at the Central Fire Station several weeks ago.

Chief Edward Barry said the crew filmed a training exercise, and also recorded the Fire Department in action when a call came in for a fire in a Water St. apartment.

TOM GILMARTIN, the former Ward 6 City Councillor, is so enthused about Republican realtor Jack Conway running for Congress against Gerry Studds that he's ready to form a Democrats For Conway Committee. Even though Gilmartin, still a North Quincy resident, doesn't live in the Studds Congressional District. "Sure, I'd work for him," says Gilmartin, a lifelong Democrat.

School Reorganization Plan Decision Expected Feb. 24

By JOHN NOONAN

The Quincy School Committee is faced with a count-down on what to do with plans to reorganize the school system.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, who by virtue of his office presides at School Committee meetings, has directed the Committee to cut $3 million from the 1982-83 proposed school budget.

McCauley requested that the committee decide on one of several plans to reorganize the school system before submitting its next budget.

The mayor has further requested the school board to decide, as soon as possible, on a reorganization plan. The committee will meet Feb. 24 at which time a decision is expected.

The Committee also faces a deadline in March set by McCauley for the submission of all department budgets.

Committee members have been wrestling for some time with six reorganization plans for the system. Last week, however, at a school reorganization public hearing conducted by the committee in Quincy High School attended by 500 people who jammed into the resource center, still another plan was introduced by freshman School Committee member Nicholas Verenis.

School education observers break the seven plans into the following categories:

- Maintain the status quo, no changes, (13 elementary, five junior and two high schools).
- Reorganize the grammar schools (K through 8 grades and maintain two 9-12 high schools).

- Another form of a grammar school reorganization which would redirect the elementary school students among the five junior high schools but closes six elementary schools (Mass Fields, Merrymount, Montclair, Parker, Pollard and Snug Harbor).
- Close Pollard and Central Junior but keep the K-6 elementary schools, 7-8 junior high schools, and 9-12 at the two senior high schools.

• A middle school concept which sets up a system of K-5, 6-8, and 9-12 (closing Mass Fields, Pollard, Willard, and Wollaston schools).

The plan introduced for the first time by Verenis keeps the present system but would close Quincy Point, Daniel Webster, Willard and Mass Field schools.

Verenis estimates his plan would save approximately $371,000. The plan has four objectives Verenis explained: it maintains educational soundness and stability; it moves toward a middle school plan; it addresses certain financial pressures, and it responds to the declining enrollment problems.

Polls conducted by parent-teacher school groups and other city wide educational organizations have indicated overwhelming opposition to any further closing of schools and budget cuts.

Mayor, Schools Meet On Reorganization Plans

Mayor Francis X. McCauley, met with School Supt. Dr. Lawrence P. Creedon and Mary Collins, vice chairman of the School Committee, Tuesday to discuss reorganization plans for the schools.

"We got a lot of answers from Dr. Creedon," said McCauley, "and he has gone back to get more information. I hope to be able to make a recommendation to the School Committee next Wednesday."

McCauley said he is not now leaning toward any of the seven reorganization plans that have been advanced.

"I'm sure," he said, "no matter what decision we make it will not meet the approval of everybody."

Austin Urges Cross Town Connector

City Councillor Edna B. Austin urged construction of a cross-town route connecting the coming Southeast Expressway and Southern Artery in order to protect and expand the downtown retail section.

"We must make a start this year," she said, "and by a start I mean an adequate study so that we will have our plans made by the time the expressway is completed. "Off street parking has in the past few years caused Quincy's shopping and business center to develop to a point where it is the envy of many communities in this section of the country.

"But we cannot afford to let traffic bypass Quincy Center on both sides."

SURGERY UNDER HYPNOSIS

Two hospital employees underwent surgery at City Hospital — one for extraction of infected teeth, the other for removal of a scar on the arm — under hypnosis, rather than the usual anesthesia.

"To the best of my knowledge no other hospital in Massachusetts has used hypnosis as an anesthetic in such operations," said Dr. Naif L. Simon, director of the Anesthesia Department, who performed the hypnosis.

Dr. Sidney R. Cutler operated on Mary Sullivan for removal of the teeth and Dr. William P. Ridder operated on the arm of Elsie McKinley. Both women returned to work minutes after the surgery.

LAND SWAP OKAYED

The City Council authorized completion of a land swap between the city and the Grossman interests which would clear the way for Grossman to construct an office building on the site of Quincy Depot.

Grossman would give the city a plot of vacant land behind City Hall in return for a 50-year lease on the depot land. Grossman would also provide a waiting room for New Haven railroad passengers.

JUNIOR COLLEGE URGED

The directors of Newton and Holyoke Community Colleges, the only ones in the state, advised the School Committee to appoint a director and get moving on the job of establishing a Quincy Junior College.

James Laurits of Newton and George Frost of Holyoke said their schools were set up in local high schools in 1946 primarily to handle veterans returning to school under the GI Bill.

At Morrisette Post Mass:

Fr. McMahon Urges Strong Defense To Prevent War

"Right now there is a dangerous pattern of thought in this country," said Rev. John J. McMahon at the Morrisette Legion Post's 53rd annual memorial Mass Monday.

"It has become fashionable to be unpatriotic," said the pastor of St. Mary's Church, West Quincy.

"I do not believe that the fashion of being unpatriotic is by any means universal among younger Americans, or that a majority of them are guilty of it."

"But an extremely vocal minority are (guilty) and the media do all within their power to publicize their unpatriotic attitude."

"The normal form that attitude takes is to regard the United States as the villain in the turmoil which exists in world affairs."

After citing some examples, Fr. McMahon continues, "The United States is capable of mistakes and no doubt, on occasion, of injustice."

"But our record compares most favorably and most dramatically with that of the other modern super power, Russia."

"...one may in wonderment ask why so many Americans, chiefly of the younger generation, are so blind to the obvious facts as to deem their own country in some inexplicable way the cause of the world's troubles and tragedies."

"In the 1930's, Britain and France were not willing to pay the price in money of a defense strong enough to deter Adolph Hitler and the Nazis."

"The result was that they had to fight the Second World War. The same price must be paid by Americans today, to build a defense strong enough to make a war impossible."

"To make war impossible is the one and only purpose of a strong national defense; no country ever has to fight because it is too strong."

"Today we can pay the price in dollars ... Tomorrow we might have to pay the price in human lives, in the kind of war for which there is no conceivable equivalent except the vision of hell itself."

Prior to the Mass, wreaths were placed on the Cyril P. Morrisette and John Boyd graves, Morrisette and Boyd Squares and the West Quincy War Memorial.

Flag raising ceremonies were held on the post grounds followed by a parade under the direction of Chief Marshall Paul W. O'Neill.

Invited guests included Mayor Francis X. McCauley, state county and city officials, gold star mothers and families of deceased veterans.

A wreath was also placed on the West Quincy Veterans Monument. After the Mass at St. Mary's, a firing squad fired the salute to the dead and a bugler from the Waltham Legion Band played Taps.

A reception and open house followed at the Morrisette Post.

New Testament Story At Squantum Church

Seven Sunday School children from the First Church of Squantum presented a New Testament story for the congregation Sunday during the morning worship service.

Acting in the play about Paul healing a crippled man were Lori Ogilvie as Paul; Brian Colwell as Barnabas; Amanda Young as the crippled man; Bonnie MacRitchie as the priest of Zeus; and Blythe Bumpus, Kim Olson and Ruth Adams as the townspeople.

Theme of the service was found in the title of Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin's sermon, "Giving God the Glory."

Hymns sung during the service were "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken", "Joyful, Joyful, We Adore Thee" and "To God Be The Glory", a traditional hymn from the 19th century by Fanny J. Crosby.

Greeters for the morning were Luther and Ruth Swenson. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Kathy Hansen, Shirley Mason and Sandi Sumner.

The service next Sunday will begin at 10:15 a.m. It will be preceded by a Pre-Lenten Breakfast at 9:15. All are welcome.

Christian Music At Coffee House

Christian musician Ed Tobey will share his testimony in word and song Saturday, Feb. 20, 8 to 10 p.m. at the Fire Escape Coffee House, sponsored by Glad Tidings Church, Quincy.

The coffee house is located on 49 Hayward St., East Braintree.

For information on transportation, call the church office at 773-9797.

Koch Club Scholarship Fund Exceeds $11,500

The Koch Club Permanent Scholarship Fund has increased to $11,559.93, according to Richard J. Koch, executive director of the organization.

Gifts in 1981 from the Reuben A. and Lizzie Grossman Foundation of $100 and the Koch Club Women's Bowling League of $54 plus donations from Mrs. Ellen McAdams and James F. Kelley, combined with the interest, put the fund past the $11,500 mark.

The fund was established in 1973 on the 25th Anniversary of the Koch Club.

A $5000 trust was established and $3000 raised from the organization's silver anniversary events. There was also a $1000 gift from the parent North Quincy District and $1000 from the Broadmeadows District.

It has increased with a combination of memorial and individual gifts and interest.

The Permanent Scholarship Fund was established to guarantee that the tradition of the Koch Club Scholarship Activity would continue should the organization cease.

On the 50th Anniversary of the Koch Club in 1998, the fund will provide scholarships annually with the interest accrued from the previous year, and each year thereafter, assuring that the principal amount would perpetuate the annual gift.

Koch Club scholarships were initiated in 1959 when the organization wished to impress upon boys and girls in its recreation programs the importance of its educational endeavors equally.

Since 1959, the Koch Club Active Scholarship Fund has provided $9000 in scholarship awards to 100 male and female graduates of North Quincy High School, Quincy High School and the Quincy Vocational Technical School.

Anthony T. Delmonico, director of the Broadmeadows District of the Koch Club, is chairman of the Active Scholarship Committee of the organization.

To contribute to the Scholarship Fund, make checks payable to the "Koch Club Permanent Scholarship Fund" c/o City Treasurer, City Hall, Quincy, MA 02169 or Richard J. Koch, 241 Newbury Avenue, Quincy, MA 02171.

The Koch Club of Quincy has expended from its Active Fund and committed in its Permanent Fund a total of $20,500 to date on behalf of present and future scholarship endeavors.

3 Residents

On Wentworth Honor Roll

Three Quincy residents have been named to the president's honor roll for the first semester at Wentworth Institute of Technology, Boston.

The residents are Michael B. Sheehan, electronic technology;

Charles Heshion, manufacturing processes technology; and Paul Tervakoski, electronic engineering technology.

An academic average of 3.50 or better is necessary to be named to the president's honor roll.

3 Plead Innocent In Rape Attempt

Three Hyde Park men pleaded innocent Tuesday in Quincy District Court to charges growing out of an alleged attempt to rape a Boston woman in West Quincy.

David Gilligan, 20, and William F. Manning, 21, were released in $5,000 surety bail for hearing

March 11 on charges of assault with intent to rape and kidnapping.

Walter H. Pausch, 22, was released in $100 cash bail for hearing March 11 on the same two charges plus an additional charge of assault and battery.

The woman told police she was dragged into a car in front of Alfie's, a Boston night club, early Sunday morning and driven to West Quincy where she fled when the men stopped their car on Bates Ave.

She ran barefoot for help to a gas station on Willard St.

Police said when they arrived the three men were still in the car on Bates Ave. The auto would not start, police said, because of a dead battery.

License Board Briefs

The Quincy License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted The Hofbrau, 400 Sea St., transfer of a pinball license for video machine license.

- Granted the Quincy Parents Advisory Council To Special Education a one-day wine license for Thursday, March 25, 7:30 to 9:15 p.m. at the Wollaston Theater.

The organization will show the film, "Best Boy", as part of Special Needs Awareness Month.

- Granted change of manager for the Wollaston Supreme Liquor Stores, Inc., 615 Hancock St., from the late Mr. John A. McDonald to Leo J. Cribben of Brockton.

- Denied Marco's Jewelry, Squantum Flea Market, a license to sell jewelry and gold. Police Chief Francis Finn said the license was denied because the applicant chose not to fill out a financial disclosure, and gave no firm commitment that he would not buy and sell gold and silver.

- Granted the North Quincy Red Raiders Hockey Boosters a one day liquor license for a dance Friday, Feb. 19, 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the North Quincy Knights of Columbus Hall.

Quincy Built USS San Juan Reunion To Be Held

Quincy area officers and crew who served aboard the USS San Juan, a Fore River built World War II cruiser, are being invited to attend a reunion to be held May 24-26 in Norfolk, Va.

John J. Gauthier, MMC (Ret) of 68 Park Ave West, So. Weymouth is the local area contact for further information.

Of the 1000 seamen who served aboard the battle cruiser, 300 have been contacted by retired Navy Capt. W.M. Carpenter.

The USS San Juan was one of the fastest of the Navy's light cruisers. It was involved in 15 major naval battles.

The San Juan softened up the Solomon Islands for the U.S. forces in mid-October 1942. It later entered Sagami Bay with the occupation forces on Aug. 27.

Raiders Fail To Land Tourney Berth

Last week was a lost week for the North Quincy boys' basketball team, as the Raiders bowed twice and lost an Eastern Mass. tournament berth for one of the few times in recent years.

North lost its last chance to qualify for the tournament last Friday when Brockton rallied to take a 61-54 victory, dropping the Raiders to 11-7.

Ed Miller's North boys played at Weymouth North Tuesday and finishes up tonight (Thursday) at Cathedral at 8 o'clock.

"Of course we are disappointed at missing the tournament, but the boys did a fine job this year and there are several positive aspects to the season. We are the only Suburban League team to defeat Brookline (the league champion) and we defeated Quincy twice, so the boys have a lot to look back on."

North got off to a good start against Brockton as 6-foot-10 Chip Bunker scored 12 points in the first half and the Raiders held a 31-30 edge at halftime.

But Brockton's John Leonie did a great job on Bunker in the second half, holding him to three points, and the Boxers quickly moved ahead and led by nine points with a minute to play.

Bunker and Bob Flynn paced the Raiders with 15 points apiece and Wes Paul had 10. Brockton was led by Frank Kotopoulos and Fran McCourt with 20 points apiece.

Earlier in the week North turned in one of its best efforts but dropped a 69-65 decision to Brookline despite a brilliant performance by Paul.

Paul had 29 points as the Raiders led for much of the game, but Brookline's Fred Hill, who scored 28 points, played outstanding defense as he stole the ball several times on North's out-of-bounds plays.

Four straight foul shots in the final seconds wrapped up the win for Brookline (14-1 in the league and 14-2 overall).

Bunker and Flynn had 11 points each for North Quincy.

First Ladies Clinch E-Mass. Tourney Berth

The Quincy girls' basketball team clinched its second Eastern Mass. Tournament berth in a row and the third in history last Friday with a 53-39 victory over Brookline.

Until last year, the First Ladies had made the tournament only once, back in the 1972-73 season. The win over Brookline improved Quincy's record to 14-4. The team played at Brockton Tuesday and will finish the regular season Friday night at home against Sharon at 8 o'clock.

Mary Kamb had 13 points and 12 rebounds for Peter Swanson's First Ladies against Brookline, while Nancy MacDonald had 12 points, 10 coming in the first half as Quincy raced out to a 35-14 lead.

Earlier in the week Quincy topped Weymouth South, 58-44, led by Mary Ann Agres' 18 points and 11 rebounds.

MacDonald had 11 points and Kamb had nine points and 12 rebounds.

Raiderettes Win 2 'Must' Games

Tuesday was make-or-break day for the North Quincy girls' basketball team.

Faced with the prospect of winning their last three games to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament for the second straight year, the Raiderettes reached two-thirds of that goal with two wins last week. Tuesday it was host to Weymouth North, which earlier this season handed the North girls a 54-37 setback.

Last Friday Paul Bregoli's North team avenged an earlier three-overtime loss to Brockton by winning, 58-43.

JoAnn Runge had another big day for the Raiderettes with 22 points, nine rebounds and eight steals. Chris Choukas had 13 points and Simone Koch added 10.

The North girls led, 28-10, at the half as they outscored Brockton, 19-4, from the middle of the first quarter until the half.

Earlier in the week North's pressing team defense, led by Mary, Holleran and Koch, forced Brookline into costly turnovers and foiled a last quarter rally as the Raiderettes won, 44-36.

Holleran scored 13 points, had six rebounds and four steals, while Koch had 11 points and three key fourth-quarter steals.

Runge added eight points and Tricia Meehan played a strong defensive game and had three timely steals.

Giordani Brothers Shine At New Haven

The Giordani brothers, Mark and Jeff, former Quincy High players, were among the top players for last fall's University of New Haven football squad.

Mark was the number two pass receiver with 35 receptions for 478 yards and two touchdowns. He also was the number two rusher with 200 yards on 64 carries, and completed two passes for 37 additional yards.

Jeff led the team in pass interceptions with seven, was second in punt returns and second in kickoff returns.

City Crown Consolation For Quincy Icemen

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy hockey coach Bob Sylvia had his first losing season in his 17 years as coach but the Presidents came along fast and had a fine second half of the season and won the city crown with two victories over North Quincy.

Quincy finished up last Saturday with a 7-5 victory over North and wound up 7-9. However, the Presidents won six of their last 10 games.

"I don't look at this as a losing season," Sylvia said. "The boys did a great job and Andy Shannon, who developed into an outstanding goalie, didn't enter the picture until our game against North to end the first half of the season."

"Brookline, Weymouth North, Weymouth South and Brockton were head and shoulders above all the other teams and we finished fifth ahead of North Quincy, Waltham, Newton North and Cambridge Rindge and Latin, so I feel we accomplished a lot this season."

The difference in the win over North was the work of Shannon in the Quincy net. He had 46 saves and, as North coach Kevin Lewis said, "he was outstanding, ordinarily we would have won the game about 10-7."

It was a frustrating year for Lewis, whose team is only 3-11-1 with one game remaining today (Thursday) against league champion Brookline at Watertown at 5:30.

"Our kids played too hard all year long to have a record like this," Lewis said. "I think we would have done quite a bit better if Bill Bradley, our most experienced defenseman, had been able to play. He was out all season, except for one or two brief appearances, with a football injury. The boys put out 100 per cent in every game and I'm very proud of them despite our record."

North took an early 1-0 lead with Kevin Duff scoring from Bradley. Quincy moved ahead, 2-1, when Bob Silcox scored from Mike Nourse and Bill Bomar scored from Steve Hall.

North tied it when Scott Messina scored from Billy Nee, but the Presidents then scored five unanswered goals to salt it away.

Frank Reynolds scored from Kevin Craig, who is fighting for the league scoring title; Craig scored from Steve Baylis and Bomar, Nourse scored from Paul Reinhardt and Craig and Doug Concannon scored unassisted goals.

North came back with three goals, Dick Tapper scoring from Dave DiCarlo and Don Reidy, Tapper scoring again and Tom Lester scoring from Rich Stevens.

Quincy's junior varsity edged North, 3-2, as the North jayvees finished with their best record ever, 7-2-3.

Craig finished the season with 8 goals and 23 assists for 41 points.

"If we played a postponed game with Cambridge, I know Kevin would have won the scoring title, but I couldn't see playing the game, as we beat them, 17-5. Craig is as good a scorer as there is in schoolboy hockey and I know he can score no matter who he plays for."

Earlier in the week Quincy dropped a 5-4 decision to Newton North. "This is the only game I'd like to have back," Sylvia said. "I honestly feel we are a better team."

Baylis, coming back from a hip injury, Concannon, Craig and Mike Chennette had the goals.

North lost to Weymouth South, 7-2, with DiCarlo and Nee having the only Raider goals.

North Girls Gym Team Closes With Win Over Weymouth S.

The sophomore-dominated North Quincy girls' gymnastics team finished up with a 5-5 record when it defeated Weymouth South, 115.8-57.4.

North swept every event with Kristen Dever contributing on all-around effort of 31.3 points. Teammate Catherine O'Brien was second all-around with 28.9 points.

Dever won the vaulting with a score of 8.2. Jill Connolly placed second with 7.9 and Lauren O'Bourke was third with 7.8.

Dever also won on floor exercise with 8.1. Julie Nee was second with 7.8 and Natalie Nigro placed third with 7.3.

On balanced beam O'Brien was the winner with 7.6, followed by Dever with 7.4 and Anne Cooney with 6.9.

In the final event, uneven bars, Dever took first with 7.6, O'Brien was second with 6.6 and Nee was third with 5.9.

Durgin Moves Up In Roller Hockey League

Durgin Park of Quincy walloped Myrt's Cafe, 8-1, to move to within a half game of the lead in the South Shore Roller Hockey League at Marshfield's Skateland.

The Quincy team, with five games left, were powered by the hat trick of Ken Ryan and the work of linemen Mike Shea, Tom Bamberry and Tom Ward, each of whom had a goal.

Joe Lynch was outstanding in goal and moved the team within striking distance of its fourth championship in five years. Ron and Rick Drew also played well.

Quincy Ends Jinx, Whips Somerville For GBI Crown

A jinx of long standing was broken when the Quincy High School basketball team, with Ron Deardon and Bob MacDonald hitting from the floor, defeated Somerville, 69-57, to win the Greater Boston League title.

The Presidents had never beaten Somerville in the Quincy gym in the eight years that they had been in the League. Both teams entered the game with identical 12-1 records in league play.

Deardon threw in 19 points and MacDonald had 18 as Quincy skipped out to a 40-26 lead at half time and extended it to 56-38 at the end of three quarters before Coach Munroe MacLean sent in the subs.

An interested member of the audience was Air Force Capt. Felix (Doc) Blanchard, the former West Point football star, who was scouting Somerville's Don Allard as a possible cadet-football player.

The Quincy lineup included: Deardon, Collins, Johnson, Nelson, Robinson, Morrell, forwards; MacDonald, Brown, Shanley, centers; Ruggles, Rosenblatt, Poland, Colough, Forsythe, Dempsey, guards.

Later, Quincy wound up its season with a 74-54 decision over North Quincy to win the intracity title for the fifth straight year and equal the school record of losing only one game in a season.

MacDonald hit for 20 points as the Presidents ran away to a 24-4 lead at the end of the first quarter. George Forsythe had eight points in the opening minutes. Doug Grutchfield had 19 for the Raiders.

The North Quincy lineup: Grutchfield, Creedon, Densmore, Campbell, Miles, forwards; Adams, center; Stevenson, Rockwell, Walsh, Crowley, guards.

NORTH SETS RECORDS

Al Adams set a school scoring record with 38 points and the North Quincy High School basketball team set a scoring mark of its own in a 91-46 rout of North Attleboro in the North gym.

Doug Grutchfield had 27 points for the Red Raiders, who were getting ready to defend their Class A title in the Bay State Basketball Tournament.

In what amounted to a warmup game for the tourney, North also romped over Natick, the Bay State League leader, by a score of 88-42 with Adams contributing his usual game-high 28 points.

LOSES, WINS ON ICE

Ralph Younie was awarded the most valuable player trophy as the Quincy High School hockey team clinched the South Shore League title despite suffering its first loss of the season, 3-1, to Hingham.

Younie scored the lone Quincy goal, assisted by Ed Mattie. The Quincy lineup: Wong, Younie, Mattie, forwards; Chella, Bellanger, defense; Krabisch, goal; Vient, Zandarelli, spares.

SANSONE BU KEY

The Boston University track team was depending on Quincy's George Sansone for key points in the 35-pound weight throw in its bid for the IC4A indoor track championship in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Sansone, once a shot put specialist at Quincy High School who developed his strength by carrying ice in his own business, was counted upon for at least the half point by which BU missed in 1954.

PRATT REINSTATED

Mary Pratt of Quincy, who was declared ineligible by the Amateur Softball Association for playing in the professional All-American Girls Baseball League, was reinstated by the ASA at its convention in Louisville, Ky.

KOCH APOLOGIZES

Richard J. Koch, director of the North Quincy Koch Club, apologized to Joe Street, manager of the Scituate Town Team, for his team's failure to appear for a scheduled game at Scituate High School.

QUINCY DOG FAVORED

Ch. Jeneper Blue, a greyhound owned by Drs. Rudolph and Elsie Neustadt of 27 Avon Way, Quincy, was one of the favorites in the Eastern Dog Club's 42nd annual show at Mechanics Building in Boston.

MARATHONS OUT

Don Fay and Frank DeLuca of Quincy and the rest of the Boston AA marathon team, under the direction of Coach Johnny Semple, ran its annual warmup over the BAA course on Washington's Birthday.

SPORTS BITS '55

Billy Goodman, the veteran infielder who batted .303 while playing second and first base last season, signed his 1955 contract with the Boston Red Sox. . . . Bernie Doherty of Lexington fired a 71 at Furnace Brook Golf Course to win the fourth annual Beef Steer Open by four strokes over Dan Meany of Wollaston. . . . Larry Dunbrack and Dick Campbell led the Quincy YMCA Juniors to a 52-42 victory over the Worcester Y.

Finale At Newton N. Presidents Drop Heartbreaker To Brookline

By TOM SULLIVAN

This has been one of Quincy basketball coach Joe Amorosino's most frustrating seasons but he will not soon forget the performance of his team last Friday night against Suburban League champion Brookline.

The Presidents, who have been devastated by injuries all season, battled the heavily-favored Brookline team (14-1 in the league, 14-2 overall) all the way before bowing in the final seconds, 75-74, to drop their record to 4-14.

Quincy played Brookline Tuesday and will wind up its season tonight (Thursday) at home against Newton North at 8 p.m.

"This team has been outstanding all year long, despite our record," Amorosino said. "We haven't had our full team available for any game this year and it was the same story against Brookline with Jeff Morrison home sick.

"Our starting five were just magnificent. No one gave us a chance of coming close against a powerful team like Brookline, but we stayed with them to the very end.

"I just can't say enough about these kids and this was just a great performance. We were within a point with 28 seconds left to play, but their outstanding player, Fred Hill, scored four points to clinch the win. We played a slow-down game, as we have virtually all season, but Brookline kept fouling us. Our foul shooting kept us in the game as we hit on 30 of 38 shots, including 14 of 15 by Paul Gilbody and 11 of 12 by Jim DePietro."

Gilbody paced the Presidents with 24 points and nine rebounds, DePietro had 17 points, nine rebounds and five assists, Kevin Riggs 13 points and 10 rebounds, Peter Papile 11 points and Bob Mudge nine points and six rebounds.

Earlier in the week Quincy lost to Weymouth South, 53-36, with Gilbody leading the attack with 13 points.

This was only the second time in the last seven years that Quincy failed to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament.

Harlem Wizards, Celtics Alumni In Benefit Game Here Feb. 23

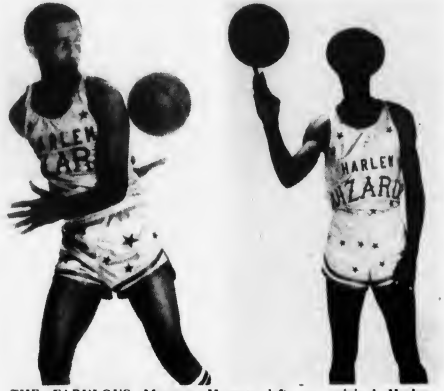

The Quincy High Basketball Boosters Club will sponsor a game between the Harlem Wizards, featuring Marques Haynes, a member of the original Harlem Globetrotters, and a team made up of Boston Celtics Alumni Tuesday, Feb. 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the Quincy Vo-Tech gym.

Proceeds will be used to benefit the Quincy boys' basketball program.

Quincy coach Joe Amorosino has obtained Dave Cowens, John Havlicek, Henry Finkel, Steve Kuberski and Kevin Stacom to play for the Celtics Alumni and hopes to have a few more on hand for the game.

Tickets will be $3 for students and senior citizens and $4 for adults. Tickets can be purchased in advance at A. E. Goodhue Co., 13 School St. and at Chick Papile's Barber Shop on Washington St., Quincy Point, or by calling Amorosino at 848-4290 or Ray Papile at 773-0624.

Marques Haynes, the director and player-coach of the Wizards, has been playing basketball for 38 years, beginning with the original Globetrotters in the 1940s. He has played more than 10,000 games and, following his tour with the Trotters, played with the Fabulous Magicians, Broadway Clowns, Kansas City and Oklahoma Stars and Buckateers before forming his own club, the Wizards.

One of his standouts is John Smith, the team's jack-of-all-trades, who played for the Seattle SuperSonics of the NBA.

"I feel this will be one of the most entertaining games ever played in Quincy and it will be a fun-filled evening for the entire family," Amorosino said. "I feel very fortunate to be able to bring the Harlem Wizards to Quincy and to get the former Celtics stars to play them."

Quincy, North In Swimming, Diving Competition

The annual South Sectional swimming and diving championships will be held at the Lincoln Hancock School pool Friday and Saturday, with Quincy and North Quincy among the competitors.

The swimming trials will be held Friday at 4 o'clock, the diving trials Saturday at 9:30 a.m. and the swimming and diving finals beginning Saturday at 2.

Quincy's qualifiers are Peter Schow, Bob Grant, Dan Mallock and Tom O'Malley in the 200-medy relay; Bill Mayo, 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle; Grant, diving; Mallock, 100 breaststroke, and Ron Ceriani, Kevin Golden, Mayo and O'Malley, 400 freestyle relay.

Qualifying for North were John Wallace, Sean O'Brien, Ralph Santosuosso and Scott Andrews, 200 medley relay; Andrews, Jim Boudreau and Ken Burke, 50 freestyle; Andrews, diving; Boudreau, 100 freestyle; Brad Martin, 500 freestyle; O'Brien and Santosuosso, 100 backstroke, and Peter Stockless, Boudreau, Burke and Martin, 400 freestyle relay.

North Quincy last week defeated Westwood, 92-79, to finish at 7-3, its second best record ever.

Andrews set a school record in diving to lead the Raiders to victory. He won the 220.04 points, breaking his own mark of 216 he set in the previous meet against Quincy.

Martin finished second in the 100 and 500 freestyles and O'Brien was second in the 100 backstroke and 100 butterfly.

Youth Soccer Registration Underway

The Quincy Youth Soccer League is still registering boys in grades 7 through 10 for the spring season. Also needed are third and fourth grade boys.

Registration fee is $10 for a new player and $5 for renewal.

Coaches and assistant coaches are also needed. Further information can be had by calling 471-1645 by Sunday.

North Girls Win 3rd Straight Track Title

There's just no stopping the North Quincy girls' track team.

Last week Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes won their third successive Suburban League championship after winning the state relays for the third year in a row two weeks ago.

Friday at 5 o'clock the North girls will go after their third consecutive state championship at Harvard. Spectators are welcome at this meet.

The North girls (9-0) clinched the league title last Friday with a 65-21 romp over Quincy, their 28th straight dual meet victory.

North swept the two-mile with Meg Leary first, Nancy Wildes second and Chris Comeau third.

The Raiderettes also swept the mile with Tracy Corrigan first, Tracy Coull second and Kelley Coulls third, and swept the 1000 with Liz Toland first, Janet Zdanowski second and Andrea Gelsomini third.

Quincy's Chris Irvine won the 600 with Jean Climo of North second and Susan McGrail of North third.

Kris Picarski of Quincy won the 300 with Terry Hamilton of Quincy second and Diane Flynn of North third.

Darlene Marsters of Quincy won the dash with Jean O'Hare of North second and Michelle Palmer of North third.

North swept the hurdles with Marie McGurl first, Zdanowski second and Georgia Traficante third.

Traficante won the high jump with Coull second and Lisa Fitzgerald third to complete another sweep.

North's Julia Clark won the shot put with Quincy's Andrea Brown second and North's O'Hare third.

North Quincy won the relay with Karen Moriarty, Lynn Cahill, Nancy Linnehan and Monika Reilly.

Earlier in the week North won a big one from Weymouth South, 57-29, winning seven of the 10 events.

Debbie Kiley was second in the dash, Deirdre Donovan won the 300, Mary Kate Kennedy won the 600 with Karen Lindenfelzer second. Nancy McCarthy won the 1000 with Coull second, Sheila Barrett won the mile with Leary second and Ann Gorczyca third, and Linda Kennedy won the two-mile with Regina Nagle third.

McGurl was second in the hurdles, Kara Crehan won the high jump with Traficante second and Michelle Millane won the shot put with Caryn Smith second.

FIRE IN THE NIGHT

If you awoke at night and found your home ablaze, would your escape be quick and orderly, or would you become a victim of bewilderment and panic? Lack of proper planning and knowing what to do have been found to be the greatest causes of death and injury from fires which break out at night.

Hundreds of persons, predominantly women and children, lose their lives in fires each year because of lack of proper planning. Many could have been saved had provisions been made for a second means of escape.

Always plan your living quarters so that there is more than one readily useable exit from each occupied room. For upper story windows, a rope ladder should be stored in a handy location near the window. Always plan to close bedroom doors upon retiring. It will block flames long enough to allow room occupants to escape.

Curtain Call Theatre will hold open auditions for its May production of "Cabaret" Sunday and Monday, Feb. 28 and March 1, at 7:30 p.m., at the clubhouse, Commercial and Faxon Sts., Braintree.

"Cabaret", adapted for the stage by Joe Masteroff with music by John Kander and lyrics by Fred Ebb, is a depiction of the decadent life styles and values that pervaded pre-war Nazi Germany.

Directing the production will be George Stevens. Musical director will be Carolyn Curtis.

Choreographers will be Diane Flanagan and Maria D'Arcangelo.

All roles will be auditioned. The show requires many singers and dancers.

Calligraphy, Speed Reading Added At YMCA

Due to popular demand, additional courses in Calligraphy and Speed Reading will begin Feb. 22 and March 2, respectively at the South Shore YMCA, 70 Coddington St.

Calligraphy, for beginners only, will be taught by Madge Zecker beginning Monday, Feb. 22, 7 to 8:45 p.m.

Speed Reading Tuesdays and Thursdays, 7 to 9:30 p.m. for three weeks.

Registrations are being accepted at the front desk of the "Y".

For more information, call 479-8500.

Admission is $1 for adults, 50 cents for youngsters under age 12.

Dynstrophy

Light refreshments will be on sale.

"On behalf of the ladies auxiliary, I would like to thank the public for its previous support," said Mrs. Kelleher, chairman of the event.

"We look forward to seeing you again."

NFPA Hosts Art Show

The National Fire Protection Association, a non-profit public advocate for fire safety headquartered in Quincy, recently hosted an art exhibit on the theme, "The Four Seasons".

Included in the exhibition was art from the NFPA's collection, and from the Quincy and Braintree Art Associations.

Included in the exhibition of NFPA's art collection was a selection of J.W.S. Cox watercolors, early 20th century oil landscapes by Joseph Enneking and James Perry Wilson, historical fire prints from around the world and pieces purchased from New England artists for the association's Batterymarch Park headquarters.

"Corporate involvement in the arts is necessary if the artistic talents and treasures of our society are to be preserved," said

NFPA president Robert W. Grant.

Coordinator for the Quincy Art Association is Anet Paglierani, for the Braintree Art Association, Norma Brown and Harold Hawkes, and for NFPA, Stephanie Seacord.

Sign Language Course To Begin March 8

Quincy residents are invited to attend a 10 week introductory course in sign language Mondays, 7 to 9 p.m. beginning March 8.

Classes will be held in classrooms donated by The Boston School for the Deaf, 800 North Main St., Randolph.

Practical signing for every day will be emphasized.

There is a nominal charge.

For further information on the course, being held by the Speech and Hearing Foundation of Massachusetts, Inc., call 963-8150.

Clown-Magician At H.N. Center

The Houghs Neck Community Center, 1193 Sea St., announces there will be a clown/magician show today (Thursday) at 2 p.m.

The show is open to all youngsters. Any child under the age of six must be accompanied by a parent or older child.

There is a fee.

WEEK OF: FEBRUARY 18

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

On-the-job training and refresher courses accepted during this week of self-improvement. Small financial gains dotted through the week. New faces brighten weekend event.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Carefully weighed pros against cons before making any long-term commitment. New assignment may take time away from family activities. Group recreation programs accepted now.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Romance is favored but financial entanglement stays knotted. You don't have to go broke to demonstrate affections. Judgement is on target, but you're easily influenced.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

You win new support for a voluntary project. Sports are accented through weekend - for fun, not for medals. Financial dealings with friends is less than wise.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Chatty Gemini shines in engagements featuring the spoken word; lectures, sales pitches, and dramatic performances all are accented now. A warning: don't put total trust in anyone.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

Opinion about newcomer at work is subject to change; don't make hasty generalizations. Diet and fitness programs can be too rigid. Musical events are delightfully distracting.

LEO - July 23-August 22

New light can be shed on an old family mystery, and the Sherlock Holmes in you is busy at work. It's easy to misplace or forget about bills, checks, etc.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Younger relative can help you come to terms with an emotional dilemma. Reunions are accented on the weekend. Aries and Leo people are drawn to your bright ideas.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Platonic friendships accented all week long. Family member surprises you with an interrogation; don't feel that you must tell all - or anything, for that matter.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

In personal relationships, rely much more on common sense than intuition. Careerwise, however, your hunches are strong. Authority figure is showing his generous side.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Occult subjects are of special interest; you tune in to the moods of loved ones and strangers alike. Mental and physical contests also accented - you score well in the former.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Romance progresses steadily; just don't rush anything now. Agreements arranged now are binding; read between every line. Good week to mend family rift.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Sensitive, captivating, sympathetic and adaptable; in fact, sometime you're too willing to make changes. If inclined, you can become more outgoing and adventurous. There will be ample opportunities - most of them concentrated in July-August.

BORN THIS WEEK

February 18th, actor John Travolta; 19th, actor Lee Marvin; 20th, singer Buffy Sainte-Marie; 21st, singer Nina Simone; 22nd, Sen. Edward Kennedy; 23rd, actor Peter Fonda; 24th, opera star Renata Scott.

How many schools must close before Quincy's citizens realize that children are bearing the brunt of Proposition 2½?

The first year of Proposition 2½ closed five neighborhood schools in Quincy. The second year is now upon us. The School Committee is now studying school reorganization plans. Plans that could close many more neighborhood schools, or junior high schools. Plans that save money, but which harm the education of Quincy's children.

Our children's schools are carrying the load of Proposition 2½. No other city department has been hit so hard. The kids, you see, don't understand what they're losing, so they don't complain. Adults who care about education must do it for them.

We urge Quincy residents to call the Mayor, the City Council, and the School Committee. Tell them you don't think it's fair for kids to bear the burden of budget reductions. We're Q-VOTE, educators and citizens who care about education, and who ask you all, please:

Don't close the door on Quincy's kids!

McCauley Sees Reval Approval By Monday

By TOM HENSHAW

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he hopes to get state approval of the city's new 100 percent property revaluations by next Monday.

If that happens, he said, it will take between 10 days and two weeks to get impact notices of new property valuations ready to mail to Quincy taxpayers.

Which means homeowners should know their new valuations, based on 100 per cent of fair market value, about March 15.

Then they will have 60 days to appeal any difference they have with the new figures and the city will be able to set a tax rate for fiscal 1982 -- that's last year's -- about May 15.

Bills for the first installment of 1981-82 taxes were sent out last fall based on payments made in fiscal 1981. The next installment will make up the difference.

McCauley said the figure of $1.5 billion is still the most likely for the total valuation of all the property in the city. The pre-100 per cent value was about $274 million.

Given a total valuation of $1.5 billion and a tax levy for fiscal 1982 of $56.9 million (limited to that figure by Proposition 2½) the tax rate for the current year would be nearly $38 per thousand.

And next year's tax rate, the one based on the budget the McCauley administration is working on now, would figure out at a little over $32 per thousand.

Of course, individual valuations would go up in some cases as much as five times the current value.

McCauley said the fiscal 1983 budgets for the smaller city departments have been finished "and we're pretty well set on the Fire Department."

The mayor was scheduled to meet with Police Chief Francis X. Finn today (Thursday) for the second time on the police budget and yesterday (Wednesday) with Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson for preliminary discussions on his budget.

The full city budget, including the schools, is due to the City Council at its April 5 meeting and McCauley said he is pushing to make the deadline.

Green Light For Hancock Court

The Federal government, which is starting to pinch pennies in such matters, has approved an elderly rent subsidy that apparently gives the green light to construction of Hancock Court.

Hancock Court is a $9 million, nine-story apartment building for the elderly that is being developed by the O'Connell brothers on School St. across from St. John's Church.

The subsidy, known as a Section 8, enables elderly residents to rent an apartment in Hancock Court by paying 26 per cent of their income with the government making up the rest.

"The Reagan administration's budget cuts mean this is likely to be the last chance to build federally supported housing for senior citizens on the South Shore," said Cong. Brian J. Donnelly.

Peter O'Connell, the spokesman for OCB Inc., the developer, was not available for comment.

Donnelly said he believes that construction of Hancock Court, with its 80 low-rent apartments for the elderly, will begin immediately and is scheduled to be finished by Christmas.

"This is extremely good news for Quincy and for the more than 1,000 senior citizens who are waiting for available federally subsidized housing," he said.

"Hancock Court will be an important addition to the revitalization of downtown Quincy."

You May Have Money Coming To You

State Treasurer Robert Q. Crane plans to release the names of more than 100,000 Massachusetts residents, including some in Quincy, who are owed money under the state's Unclaimed Money Law.

Last year, more than $10 million was returned from bank accounts, uncashed payroll checks, gift certificates and insurance proceeds that have been inactive for more than five years.

Crane said the lists of owners names will appear in newspapers around the state starting Monday, March 1. The Quincy Sun will print the names of Quincy owners when they become available.

Sun Gets Quincy Cable News Channel

Quincy subscribers can now tune in Quincy, regional and world news on The Quincy Sun's cable news channel on Quincy Cablesystems.

Announcement was made jointly Wednesday by David J. Keefe, general manager of Quincy Cablesystems, and Sun publisher Henry W. Bosworth, Jr.

The Sun has been assigned Ch. 8 and began experimenting with news telecasts over it for subscribers Feb. 11.

Ch. 8 will operate 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Ch. 8 is now officially in operation.

The latest up to date Quincy news will be furnished by Sun staffers and regional and world news by the Associated Press. There will also be display and classified advertising.

The Sun thus becomes the first newspaper in the South Shore and one of the first in the state to provide news coverage over cable television.

"It is an exciting new venture--an adventure--for us at The Sun," Bosworth said. "What we will be doing is giving Quincy Cablesystems' subscribers a daily electronic newspaper with the latest Quincy, regional and world news. Viewers can tune in any time, 24 hours a day, seven days a week and get the latest news from Quincy and the world."

"We are delighted to be associated with Quincy Cablesystems, a company with lots of talent and professionalism in the cable TV industry and with a deep interest in the Quincy community."

Keefe, in a joint statement with Barry Lemieux, executive vice president of American Cablesystems, Quincy Cablesystems' parent company said:

"We are excited. This is a unique service--revolutionary. It is the first time we have been able to offer electronic journalism to our subscribers. We have a keen interest in the Quincy community and are happy to have this association with a Quincy institution like The Quincy Sun."

Bosworth noted that Quincy Cablesystems and The Sun have much in common to make the association a natural one.

"For more than 13 years, The Sun has been Quincy's community newspaper," he said. "Now, Quincy Cablesystems is bringing to Quincy community television. Both are dedicated to the community and to informing those in the community."

The Associated Press will carry regional and world-wide news to The Sun office over special telephone lines from New York City to Boston to Quincy.

"Whenever a major story breaks in any part of the world, the Associated Press will be on top of it and bringing it to our viewers in Quincy," Bosworth said.

The Associated Press will also

Cab Driver Robbed Of $100

A Brookline cab driver reported to police Sunday that two passengers robbed him of $100 and fled in the Henry St. area of Norfolk Downs.

Abolnassar Bahrnpoure told police he picked the men up in Watertown and drove them to Quincy where they grabbed him and took $100 from his pocket and fled toward Faxon Rd.

They were described as white males, ages 20 to 22, wearing suits and trench coats.

Teachers To Seek Vacant Schools For Back Pay Hikes

The Quincy Education Association is studying two proposals aimed at ending its two-year-old $1.4 million legal action against the city over back pay raises.

One proposal under study would have the city turn over ownership of vacated schools along with some $400,000 in return for ending the legal action.

The second would have School Department personnel attach a lien against the money raised by the city through the sale of schools until the salary raises are paid.

"The city of Quincy has owed school employees $1.4 million under our contract since 1979," said QEA President JoAnn O'Malley.

Both proposals are suggestions from QEA members suggesting ways we could end our legal action and still receive something of value which the city contractually owes us."

Mrs. O'Malley said some teachers "feel the city shouldn't profit from the selling of school buildings when it hasn't paid the teachers who taught in those schools the money it promised them back in 1979."

The proposal to have school personnel assume ownership of vacant schools came from dissatisfaction with the reported selling prices for the empty schools as reported.

"Some teachers thought $500,000, the suggested value of the properties, was ridiculously low," said Mrs. O'Malley.

Thus the idea developed that, if the city were to give the properties plus several hundred thousand dollars to the teachers in return for dropping the legal action, then the teachers could develop the properties and sell them.

"The teachers see these properties as office or condominiums," said Mrs. O'Malley.

"These proposals might benefit both the city and the school employees. The city will be freed of another lengthy and costly labor-related legal action while the employees could possibly make the financial profit they should have made in 1979 when the city failed to pay the negotiated increases."

The QEA has named a study group to test the legal, financial and investment soundness of the proposals and will report to the executive board on its findings.

Negotiators Open With Labor Unions

David F. Grunebaum, the city's new labor negotiator, has already opened negotiations with some of the city's 14 labor unions and last week the City Council decided to pay him for it.

The Council appropriated by an 8-0 vote $9,792.10 from current revenues to fund his contract with the Law Department for the remainder of the fiscal year ending June 30.

City Solicitor William Golden explained that the money would have been paid to Joseph McParland, who resigned as labor negotiator last month. His Civil Service position paid $23,501 a year.

When the Council seemed ready to send the order into the Finance Committee, Golden urged them to pass it with "all due speed" in fairness to Grunebaum.

Driver Injured As Car Hits Warehouse

Kenneth C. MacDonald, 17, of South Boston was in satisfactory condition in the intensive care unit at City Hospital Tuesday after an auto accident in Wollaston Monday night.

Firefighters used the "Jaws of Life" to extricate MacDonald from his 1972 Pontiac after it ran into the wall of the Bargain Center warehouse at 25 Linden St.

Board Considers Earlier Drinking Spots Closing

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The City License Board will consider rolling back liquor establishment's 2 a.m. closings at a meeting Tuesday, March 16, and Police Chief Francis Finn predicts it will be "one of the biggest hearings we're going to have."

Also scheduled for the meeting is discussion of "happy hours" and other such promotional activities by liquor establishments.

The 2 a.m. closing matter was briefly discussed at this week's meeting before members decided to schedule a regular hearing when a full board can be present.

Building Inspector Allan MacDonald and City Clerk John Gillis were not present at this week's meeting.

Atty. Richard Barry sat in on the board's discussion of when to schedule the hearing since he will represent some liquor establishments at the meeting.

Atty. Barry said he intends to have "expert witnesses" testify and would appreciate some time for scheduling.

"It's a big decision with a big impact on the community," said Finn. "I have no objection to giving you time to do your job right."

Finn suggested a March 30, hearing. He pointed out that 15 establishments have liquor licenses in the city, and will have to make arrangements with lawyers if they wish to be represented.

Health Commissioner Dr.

Robert P. McKeogh felt "five weeks is too long" and Fire Chief Edward Barry agreed.

Also during the discussion, Barry gave his fellow members copies of a requested draft by City Solicitor William B. Golden conveying the board's intent to discourage "happy hour" type promotions.

The draft reads, "The Board of License Commissioners of the City of Quincy hereby adopts the policy that it is not in the best interests of the City of Quincy or its citizens for establishments dispensing beverages with alcoholic content in said city to offer or advertise such beverages, at prices which are less than one-half their normal retail prices. This policy is based upon the responsibility of the board to see that licensed activities are conducted in the best interests of the city and based upon the belief that the dispensing of alcoholic beverages in such a manner tends to increase drinking, drunkenness and drunken driving."

Golden pointed out in the letter that he was not ruling on the License Board's authority to regulate prices of liquor dispensed, or whether such a policy statement would be binding.

There was some informal discussion after the meeting on whether or not to schedule the March 16 meeting in the evening, but no action was taken to amend the regular 10 a.m. scheduling.

Mother Of 2 Appeals Drunk Driving Sentence

Mrs. Sandra Klein, 35, a Weymouth mother of two small children, has appealed a two-day jail sentence imposed on her in Quincy District Court for drunk driving.

Judge Albert L. Kramer stuck to his guidelines in sentencing Mrs. Klein to 30 days in the House of Correction, 28 suspended, in spite of the age of her children, 10 and 12.

He suggested that arrangements could be made for weekend care of the youngsters while Mrs. Klein was serving the two days in jail.

The appeal is scheduled to be heard Monday, March 8, before a six-member jury in Norfolk Superior Court, Dedham. Her attorney, George Tull of Quincy, said he will ask immediate disposition.

Theft Reported At Junior College

Linda Shanahan reported to police Feb. 17 that someone kicked in the door to her classroom at Quincy Junior College and stole a wallet with credit cards and about $30 in cash from her desk drawer.

Stereo Taken

Barton Freedman of Southern Artery reported to police that thieves broke into his 1981 Audi while it was parked at the Quincy MBTA station and stole a stereo set and broke two side windows. There was no estimate of value.

Auto Panels Stolen

James Viola of Avon reported to police Monday that someone broke into his 1981 Corvette while it was parked at the Wonder Bowl on Southern Artery and stole two removable roof panels valued at $600.

Boat Damaged By Hit Run Driver

A 25-foot Catalina cruiser owned by Philip B. Hunt Jr. of Sudbury was knocked from its cradle at the Boston Harbor Marina by a hit and run motor vehicle Monday and damaged to the extent of $700 to $1,000.

Marina Manager Gordon Roberts summoned police early Monday morning.

Congratulations Neighbor!

You have our sincere good wishes, BayBank-Norfolk Trust, on your move to new offices on the first floor of the ten-story Stop & Shop building in Quincy Square.

It's another step in the continued development of Quincy Square as the financial center of the South Shore. You will soon be joined on the other corner of Granite and Hancock Streets by the Old Colony Bank which is expanding in our city.

When the BayBank "front yard" is completed, it will be a welcome open space addition to Quincy Square, complementing McIntyre Mall, the First Parish Church lawn and Hancock Cemetery.

The new office is an important move for the BayBank staff and we realize it is no easy task. We at Quincy Cooperative Bank are about to go through a major move in April to our headquarters at nearby 85 Quincy Avenue. And we will still be your friendly neighbor, using our present home, next to the T, as Quincy Cooperative's downtown office.

$79,320 Proposed For Police Radios

The City Council's Finance Committee is considering an appropriation of $79,320 to purchase 40 new radios for the Police Department.

The money will be taken from three existing accounts — $3,944 from the Fire Department, new equipment; $5,385 from the Youth Commission, capital outlay; and $69,990 from a bond issue.

Councillor Leo J. Kelly inquired if the money could not be used to hire more police officers and pay their salaries.

Acting City Auditor William Grindlay said the money was from a previous bond issue and could only be used to purchase another item that could be bonded for the same period of time.

Readers Forum

Agrees With Fr. McMahon On Patriotism, Strong Defense

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I was pleased to read the article on the Homily delivered by Father McMahon of St. Mary's Church at the Morrisette Legion Post's 53rd Anniversary Memorial Mass held on Monday, Feb. 15, 1982.

As the sister of a veteran of World War II, now deceased, the strong defense of our Country's Patriotism is uppermost in my mind.

It is refreshing in these days of confusion, to hear someone speak out in praise of our great Country.

Too many Americans fail to appreciate the great gifts of Freedom and Democracy which we daily enjoy, and too often take for granted. We need a return to the spirit of Patriotism which has always been the hallmark of true Americans.

We have so much of which to be proud of, and we are still the greatest Country in the World.

This article was surely well worthy of front page coverage, especially in these times.

Jay Desmond And An Era

The death of Gerald (Jay) Desmond saddened all of us who knew him or ever saw him play baseball.

Jay, who died last week from leukemia at 69, was a familiar and popular figure in an era that passed on long before him, but like him, is fondly remembered.

He played a slick first base for Jeppie Saunders' Fore River team in the old South Shore League in the 1930's and early 1940's. His brother, Fran, was a pretty good pitcher for the same team.

If you were a kid in Quincy Point at the time, Fore River was your team. And you'd be there at Fore River Field when Frank Basile's Braintree White Sox or one of the other top teams came in. You wouldn't miss one of those games.

In those days, there wasn't much money around. If you got to Fenway Park or Braves Field once or twice while growing up, it was a rare treat. The closest you got to a Red Sox or Braves game was listening to Fred Hoey on radio.

But at Fore River Field and other local ball parks, you saw a good semi-pro game. No admission charge. They used to "pass the hat". If you could afford a nickel, dime or quarter you put it in. If you couldn't, you'd just let the hat go by.

There were a lot of good players around those days in the South Shore League, and on Park League independent teams in the area. Teams like Fore River, the White Sox, the Weymouth Pals, the Brookside, Squantum C.A., Quincy Civics, Milton Springs. And players like the Desmond brothers, Charlie Bird, Dave (Lefty) McKeag, Harry Arlanson (who later coached Weymouth and Tufts football), Cal Frazier, Tommy Azarto, Mike Farina, Dibby Baker, Tony Settino, Nick Malvesti, Clappy Wildredge, Bones Greenhalgh, Bill Caskin, Abbie Hedlund, Bob Gibson, Mando and Peachy Reggie, Hank Keene, Connie Carlozzi.

And who could forget the famed Braintree White Sox battery of Cain and Abell which made Ripley's "Believe It Or Not". They were pitcher George Cain and Charlie Abell.

DESMOND

There were a lot of other good players around, too.

Some of them, unfortunately, were born too soon. Some of them could have made the major leagues today. Back in the 30's and the 40's, there were only eight teams in each league. Only the cream of the crop made it to the big time then.

There are many more opportunities today thanks to all the expansion teams. Some of the local players of the 30's and 40's would have made it today.

Jay Desmond might have been one of them.

He was one of my favorites when I was a kid in the Point. He was a good baseball player and was also a standout in soccer.

On a Sunday afternoon at Fore River Field he was as big a hero to me as Jimmy Foxx.

He was a classy ballplayer — and a classy person.

Thanks for all the memories, Jay.

SENATOR Paul Tsongas, guest speaker at the South Shore Chamber of Commerce breakfast meeting last week, got off this one:

TSONGAS

"President of Egypt Moubarak came to the U.S. a couple of weeks ago and we had lunch with him, I being on the Foreign Relations Committee. After the lunch, we went up and were introduced to him. As he looked at me and I introduced myself, he said: 'Oh, you're from Massachusetts.' I said, 'Yes' He says, 'Tell me what's happening with Five Corners in Braintree.'"

"And, I said to him, 'How would you like a brown tie with sea gulls on it?'"

Tsongas had been complaining that the last time he was at a Chamber breakfast, he got a brown sea gull tie and brown doesn't go with any of his suits.

This time, new Chamber President Eugene Roundtree gave him a blue one.

Hancock Cemetery Makes National Register

The Hancock Cemetery has been added to the National Register of Historic Places, the official list of historic properties deemed worthy of preservation for their significance in American history.

Cong. Brian J. Donnelly said the listing "assures that this important part of Quincy's history will be preserved along with First Parish Church and the Adams National Historic Site."

The Cemetery, which is located on Hancock St. beside City Hall, dates back to the mid-17th Century and includes the grave of Henry Adams, progenitor of the line that included Presidents John and John Quincy Adams.

Some of the most important figures in Quincy's colonial history are buried there.

They include Co. John Quincy, who gave his name to the city; the Rev. John Hancock, father of the first signer of the Declaration of Independence; the Rev. William Thompson, the first minister; and Henry Flynt, the first teacher.

The record for rapid typing is 147 words a minute, set by Albert Tagora of Paterson, New Jersey in 1923.

Tsongas Sees Republicans Moving Away From Reagan Budget Proposals

By TOM HENSHAW

Sen. Paul Tsongas thinks Senate Republicans are moving away from President Reagan's budget proposals and may soon form an alliance with Democrats to propose an alternative budget.

He told the South Shore Chamber of Commerce breakfast at the Lantana in Randolph that "this rather unusual and fascinating phenomenon possibly will take place 60 to 90 days from now."

"They fear that the President is nervous over the multi-billion deficit in the Reagan budget" and, although they are loyal to the President they are far more loyal to their seats."

"Now you have members of the Republican party engaged in what is called 'distancing,'" he said.

"They fear that the President is no longer a juggernaut and may be a sinking ship and they wish not to be part of that particular party."

He said the alternative budget could be the work of a Congressional troika of Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker, House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. and Robert Michel, the House minority leader.

"The President has made it clear he will not change his policies," Tsongas said. "This will provide the change without the President having to back down."

Tsongas said the people of the United States are in no mood to send troops into El Salvador, adding that he is surprised at the intensity of that feeling.

"I don't think there is any way in which this country is prepared to send young men to El Salvador," he said.

"There is a growing awareness that you cannot prop up a regime that does not have internal support. We learned that lesson bitterly in Vietnam."

"The alternative is to negotiate now, excluding the extremists on both sides."

"The problem is the leftists will negotiate now but when they smell victory they're not going to want to."

"And by the time the right understands that negotiations are a good idea is the time the military situation disintegrates which is exactly when the leftists will decide not to negotiate."

Tsongas had a good word for what he called "the new unionism," as exemplified by the new agreement between the United Auto Workers and the Ford Co. "It marks the first time there has been an awareness of the need to survive," he said.

H2 suggested that American industry take a new approach to management by placing technical people, instead of accountants at the head of their companies.

"There is no way," he said, "that a company whose head is basically technologically ignorant can compete with a company in Japan whose head is technologically schooled," he said.

Competition from Japan, said Tsongas, may soon be critical in Massachusetts.

"If the Japanese target the high tech industry with the same success they targeted automobiles and color TV sets, I'm not sure what the future of my state is if high tech goes the way of those industries," he said.

In October, 1980, the historic Hingham Journal which dates back to 1827, was purchased and modernized.

In addition to the two newspapers and Ch. 8 cable television news channel, The Sun also has a commercial printing division.

Quincy To Seek MMA Membership

The way appears to be cleared for Quincy to join the Massachusetts Municipal Association. It will cost $6,349 in dues for fiscal 1982.

Executive Director James W. Segel appeared before the City Council last week in response to an inquiry from the city to explain the advantages of membership in the MMA.

The MMA, he said, is in the forefront in lobbying the State Legislature for increased state aid to help the cities and towns meet the strictures of Proposition 2½.

It was through a concerted effort by the MMA, he said, that additional state aid for fiscal 1982 was increased from $30 million to $265 million.

The MMA also serves its membership through publications and letters interpreting new state laws as well as becoming a clearinghouse for research on common municipal problems.

The Council voted 7-1, with Councillor Leo J. Kelly dissenting, to ask Mayor Francis X. McCauley to make a formal proposal of membership.

McCauley said he is in favor of membership in the MMA. The best feature of it, he said, "will be the chance to associate with fellow mayors that would help me to grow in the job."

Wollaston Parents End School Strike

A week-long strike of parents of 117 Wollaston School children ended when they voted at a mass protest meeting to accede to School Committee wishes and transfer their youngsters to the Montclair School.

The action came shortly after Superior Court Judge Lewis Cox denied them an injunction that charged the School Committee with "gross abuse of its discretionary powers" in making the transfers.

Nathaniel Golden, attorney for the parents, cited traffic hazards, cold lunches and the long walk in bad weather as reasons why the young children should not be sent to the Montclair School.

On the first day the new policy went into effect, 30 mothers and three fathers representing more than 100 youngsters showed up at the Wollaston School with their children seeking admittance.

They left quietly when Principal Austin refused their request.

The strike began coming apart on the third day when the parents decided that 48 of the youngsters, those in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, were old enough to make the transfer to Montclair.

POLICE UNIFORMS

City Councillor Alfred N. LaBrecque, chairman of the Finance Committee, told police officers that the city will no longer be able to go to the expense of buying their uniforms.

"With all the unemployment and difficulty our citizens are having, meeting their taxes," he said, "I, as a city councillor, do not feel I can justify a vote to spend $10,000 for uniforms."

SLAYER SOUGHT

Police Lt. John J. Avery left for New York pursuing a tip that a former Quincy man wanted in connection with a nine-year-old West Quincy slaying, might be found in that state.

The suspect was sought in the shooting death of Domenico Bersani, 63, of 429 Willard St., who was gunned down apparently by mistake July 19, 1921, the innocent victim of another's argument.

Mr., Mrs. Vincent J. DelVecchio Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Del Vecchio of Quincy recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at a surprise party and reception at the Sheraton Tara Hotel, Braintree.

The party was given by the couple's four children, Donna, Dianne, Lisa and Vincent L. DelVecchio, all of Quincy.

Nearly 130 relatives and friends were on hand for the celebration for the DelVecchios who were married Oct. 14, 1956 in St. Joseph's Church, Roxbury.

Among those attending were State Representative Robert Cerasoli of Quincy who presented the couple with citations from the House of Representatives and from Governor Edward King.

Also attending was Councillor at Large Joseph LaRaia.

Among the gifts the couple received was a bouquet of silver balloons.

Mrs. DelVecchio, the former Ethel McPhail, was born in New York city. She is a member of The

Ward 2 Association To Celebrate 15th Anniversary

The Ward 2 Civic Association will host a 15th anniversary dinner dance Friday, March 19, at the Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy.

Tickets are available by calling Tom Barrett at 773-4535 or Robert Allison at 773-9668.

The association was organized in 1966 by a group of concerned citizens to promote the civic, educational and social well-being of Ward 2.

Activities sponsored by the association yearly include:

monthly meetings on topics of current interest, community gripe nights allowing residents to voice their concerns to city leaders and local department heads, Independence Day festivities for the children of Ward 2, an annual bean supper, as well as candidates nights for those seeking local, state and federal offices.

Over the past 15 years, the association has been active in improving local beaches, parks and playgrounds, while also monitoring licenses granted to commercial establishments throughout the ward.

The association has provided a forum for local residents to voice their views and concerns on issues effecting the Ward 2 community.

Commission To Study Needs For Elderly

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy) announces a Special Commission has been established for the purpose of making an investigation and study relative to increasing security and protection for residents in elderly housing facilities.

The resolve providing for the establishment of the Special Commission and signed by Governor King, is a product of legislation filed by Brownell during the 1981 Legislative session.

"There is a great need for increased security at elderly housing facilities," Brownell said. "Legislation to investigate solutions to provide greater protection for elderly citizens received overwhelming support in the 1980-1981 Silver-Haired Legislature, and I am pleased to be a part of carrying forth the will of this concerned group of citizens."

The Special Commission is to consist of 20 members, including the Attorney General, the Commissioner of Public Safety, the Secretary of Elder Affairs, and 17 members to be appointed by the Governor, 11 of whom shall be senior citizens selected from each of the Commonwealth's planning districts and members of their respective local council on aging.

The Special Commission will investigate and study security and protection provided residents in elderly housing facilities, with a particular view to evaluating and improving security in the facilities

Harold Bill Seeks Abatement Hike

Sen. Paul D. Harold has filed legislation which would increase property tax abatements for widows, senior citizens and disabled veterans.

The legislation would change the basis used to determine abatements so they would keep pace with inflation.

Under present law, abatements are determined on a dollar basis, which declines in value with inflation and revaluation. Harold noted.

"Many seniors, widows and disabled veterans have found that their exemptions under the law are worth a lot less because of revaluation, even though the intent of the law was to give them a break," he said.

"The law says they can take $2,000 off their assessed valuation, which was fine when their homes were assessed for $6,000 or $8,000.

"But now, their homes may be assessed for $40,000 or $50,000 under revaluation, and $2,000 off the assessed value doesn't do very much for the resulting tax bill."

His bill would base the exemptions on a percentage of total valuation instead of a flat dollar amount, so that the exemptions would remain proportionally the same as valuations increase.

100% Valuation Aid Legislation Signed By King

Thomas F. Brownell and Michael W. Morrissey announce that legislation they co-sponsored to counter the effects of 100 per cent valuation and maintain property tax exemptions for the elderly, surviving spouses, and minor children, has been signed into law by Gov. Edward King.

The new law, Chapter 743, of the Acts of 1981, provides an exemption of $2,000 of assessed valuation or an abatement of $175, whichever is greater, to the qualified elderly person, surviving spouse, or minor child. To qualify, the applicant may have a whole estate, real and personal, of up to $40,000; in addition, the first $60,000 in value of real estate which is the principle domicile is excluded from the computation of the whole estate.

The law goes into effect immediately upon the acceptance of its provisions by the local governing body. Brownell and Morrissey have sent a letter to the Quincy City Council to urge prompt acceptance of the legislation as soon as 100 per cent valuation goes into effect.

Occupational Information At QJC

Quincy Junior College is now associated with the Massachusetts Occupational Information System (MOIS), a computerized information service offering career, college, and financial aid information.

"This service allows students to match their interests to specific careers and to find out information about local salaries, training requirements, and the job outlook for particular occupations," explained Dr. Linda Wilson, dean of students.

The system is designed for use by Quincy Junior College students, but potential students who need information to help them choose a career and an educational program are also welcome to use it.

"Returning adult students may find MOIS especially helpful to find out about what training they will need and the job market."

Francis J. Cosgrove, 68, Retired Shipyard Foreman

A funeral Mass for Francis J. (Scotty) Cosgrove, 68, of Quincy, a retired foreman at General Dynamics' Quincy Shipyard, was held Tuesday in St. Joseph's Church.

Mr. Cosgrove died Saturday at Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

He had lived in Quincy since 1935.

He was born in Carlin, Scotland, he attended schools there.

As a young man, Mr. Cosgrove was active in Quincy youth soccer. Employed at the shipyard for more than 35 years, he retired in 1978.

Mr. Cosgrove is survived by four nieces and two nephews, and many cousins.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers' Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave.

Burial was in St. Francis Xavier Cemetery, Weymouth.

Edith G. McGee, 74

A funeral Mass for Edith G. (Madden) McGee, 74, of North Quincy, was held yesterday (Wednesday) in Sacred Heart Church.

Mrs. McGee died Saturday at Choate Memorial Hospital, Woburn, after a long illness. She had lived in Quincy for 26 years.

Born in Boston, she had also lived in Charlestown.

Wife of the late Mr. Francis P. McGee Sr., she is survived by six sons, Francis P. McGee Jr. of Plantation, Fla., Paul McGee of Haverhill, David McGee, Richard McGee and Michael McGee, all of Quincy, and Kevin McGee of Hollywood, Fla.; four daughters, Edith Heffernan of Haverhill, Patricia McLaughlin of Billerica, Nancy Golden of Scituate, and Karen Mulard of Quincy; two sisters, Olive Durant of Marshfield and Louise Flynn of Chestnut Hill; 15 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral arrangements were by Keohane Funeral Home, 785 Hancock St. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

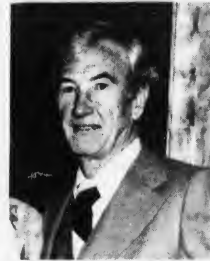

Gerald (Jay) Desmond, 69, Baseball, Soccer Star

A funeral Mass was celebrated last week at St. Ann's Church, Wollaston, for Gerald (Jay) Desmond, a star for pro and semi-pro baseball and soccer teams around Quincy in the 1930-1940's.

Mr. Desmond, a production manager at Pneumatic Scale where he worked for the past 18 years, died Feb. 14 in Brigham and Women's Hospital, Boston, at the age of 69.

He was a back on the Quincy High School soccer team that won the New England schoolboy title in 1930 by defeating Pawtucket, R.I., High School, 5-0, at Fore River Field.

He was also a first baseman on Quincy's only professional baseball team, a New York Giants' farm club that played briefly in the New England League in 1933.

GERALD (JAY) DESMOND

His pinch single with two out in the ninth drove in the winning runs in the first game ever played by the Quincy pro team, a 6-2 victory over Worcester.

He was best known as a mainstay of Manager Jeppy Saunders' Fore River teams that dominated the semi-pro City League. He also played, along with his brother, Francis, for the Quincy Market Club.

He worked for many years at the Fore River Shipyard when it was owned by the Bethlehem Steel Co.

A lifelong Quincy resident, he leaves his widow, Kathleen (Smith) Desmond; two sons, Gerald Desmond and Paul Desmond, both of Weymouth; two daughters, Carol Desmond of Quincy and Mrs. Kathleen Cashin of Pembroke; a brother, Francis Desmond of Plymouth; and three grandchildren.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Daniel H. Brigette, 5, Mass Fields Pupil

A funeral service for Daniel H. Brigette, 5, of Quincy, a kindergarten student at Mass Fields School, was held Monday in Adams Shore United Methodist Church.

He died Feb. 18, at home.

He is survived by his parents,

Joseph Brigette and Judith (Jager) Brigette; three brothers, Joseph Brigette Jr., David Brigette and Bryan Brigette; five sisters, Michelle Brigette, Robin Brigette, Deborah Brigette, Karen Brigette and Donna Brigette, all of Wollaston; his maternal grandmother, Ellen V. Jager of Weymouth; and his paternal grandmother, Catherine Brigette of Quincy.

Funeral arrangements were by Deware Brothers Funeral Home, 576 Hancock St. Burial was in Blue Hill Cemetery.

Aldo J. Monti, 62, Retired N.E. Confectionary Employee

Quincy Center.

Mr. Monti died Sunday at home.

A lifelong Quincy resident, he was a member of Quincy Sons of Italy Lodge.

He is survived by a brother,

Lewis J. Monti of Quincy; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral arrangements were by Daniel H. Clancy Funeral Home, 100 Washington St., Weymouth Landing. Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Laura Keith, 74, Pagnano Towers Resident

A funeral service for Laura (Bleakly) Keith, 74, a resident of Pagnano Towers, was held Saturday in Joseph Sweeney Funeral Home, 74 Elm St.

Mrs. Keith died Feb. 17, in Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness. She had lived in Quincy most of her life. Mrs. Keith was born in Pennsylvania.

She is survived by her husband, Douglas A. Keith; a son, John Keith of Ojai, Calif.; two daughters, Charlotte Keith of Springfield and Beatrice Bickford of Leominster; two brothers, Thomas Bleakly of Plymouth and Lawrence Bleakly of Quincy; 12 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

Rev. Daniel Allen of Adams Shore Community Church officiated at the service.

Burial was in Mt. Wollaston Cemetery.

Donations may be made to the charity of one's choice.

Special Events For Lent At Point Congregational

Quincy Point Congregational Church, United Church of Christ, announces its schedule of special events for Lent, which began yesterday, Ash Wednesday.

Each Wednesday, a special event will be held in the church social hall beginning with a bring-your-own brown bag supper at 6:30.

A hymn sing led by a church member will follow.

There will then be a program on a special subject each evening, some with guest leaders.

A closing worship in the social hall will end the evening.

The first program, "Keeping In Touch - With Words", utilized a lively approach to basic words of the faith.

The next two Wednesdays will touch on the ethics of raising funds and gambling. Rev. William McCarthy of St. John's Parish, Quincy, will lead the discussion one evening, and Pat Wittey, Talk Show Host of WITS Radio, Boston, the next.

Successive Wednesdays will include a fellowship meal with members of Bethany Church, Quincy.

Rev. J. William Arnold of Bethany and the Rev. Winston F. Clark of Quincy Point will lead discussion.

A form of the early Christian Agape meal will be followed.

On March 24, Dr. Manachen B. Kasdan, Licensed Psychologist, Braintree, will guide discussion, with the final week devoted to "Rapping Up Lent".

Sunday morning worship will take place at 10:00, except for Easter, when services will be held at 9:30 and 11:00.

The public is invited to all events; for the Wednesday one, they should bring their own brown-bag.

Spiritual Renewal At St. Agatha Parish

A Parish-Wide Renewal will take place at St. Agatha Church, Milton, Feb. 28 through March 4, announces Rev. Francis N. Turke, pastor.

There will be a service in church each evening at 7:30 p.m. and a Renewal Talk at the 9 a.m. Mass (Monday through Thursday).

In addition to the program for adults, there will be separate services for High School youth. Also there will be special services for Elementary School children, public and parochial.

Theme of the Renewal is "Need for Spiritual Growth in Our Lives". The Renewal Directors will be Rev. Paul J. Connors and Rev. Jack Farley.

Fr. Connors, a Divine Word Missionary, ordained in 1963, is director of Miramar Retreat House, Duxbury. A native of St.

John's Parish, North Cambridge, he has spent all of his priesthood years on the east coast as teacher, preacher and administrator.

Fr. Farley, a Divine Word Missionary, ordained in 1960, returned to his native Massachusetts this past summer as Retreat Director at Miramar Retreat House, Duxbury. After eleven years of mission promotion and editorial work (Missionary Youth Magazine), he was elected Rector of Divine Word Seminary, Perrysburg, Ohio, 1971-1976. He was then appointed Director of Divine Word International, Tachy, Illinois, until 1980. Last May he completed studies in spirituality retreat direction at Loretto Heights College, Denver, in preparation for his present ministry at Miramar.

Faith Lutheran, Good Shepherd Hold Ash Wednesday Service

Faith Lutheran Church and the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd were scheduled to hold a Holy Communion service Ash Wednesday (last night) at 7:30 p.m. at 201 Granite St., Quincy Center.

Rev. James Kimmell officiated. After the service, ashes were offered in a short, separate service.

Lenten Program Begins At Squantum Church

A series of six Lenten programs at the First Church of Squantum was begun last night (Wednesday) at the church, preceded by an all-church potluck supper at 6:15 p.m.

The programs will include a talk each week by Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, on the theme "The People of Jesus: the First Twelve Centuries of the Christian Church" and a brief worship service.

Each succeeding week, there will be a dinner sponsored by the "youth church" at the First Church of Squantum to benefit various youth projects.

Next week's meal, March 3 at 6:15 p.m., will be a chicken dinner. Reservations can be made by calling Muriel Burnhauser at 328-6649.

Other dinners will include March 10, American Chop Suey; March 17, Meat Loaf and Baked Potato; March 24, Spaghetti with Meat Sauce; and March 31, Turkey Dinner.

The public is invited.

Novena Of Grace At Blessed Sacrament Church

The Novena of Grace in honor of St. Francis Xavier will begin Sunday at 7 p.m. at Most Blessed Sacrament Church, Houghs Neck.

Services will be held daily at 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. in conjunction with the holy sacrifice of the Mass.

Rev. Arthur J. Colby, a Vincentian priest, will conduct the services.

The public is invited.

QHA Still Waiting State OK On Comer Appointment

By JOHN GUNNAN
Despite protests from tenants and other obstacles, the Quincy Housing Authority is standing firm behind its appointment of John J. Comer as Housing Administrator while awaiting state approval.

The QHA voted 4 to 1 Jan. 21 to appoint Comer to succeed retiring Clement A. O'Brien to the post which pays an annual salary of up to $34,000.

The QHA sent Comer's name to the state Executive Office of Communities and Development (EOCD), as required, for confirmation. The Authority also recommended Comer be given a three year contract with an annual starting salary of $32,000.

The state (EOCD) turned down the three year contract and cut the recommended starting salary to $29,900. As of press time the state had not confirmed the appointment.

Meanwhile, protests from tenants groups over Comer's qualifications for the job continue.

In an effort to quell some protests QHA Chairman Edward Graham issued a prepared statement at the Authority meeting last week. It read:

"The Quincy Housing Authority has had a number of allegations made against it by Chairman Alicia Hirl of the Harborview Residents Committee, Inc.

"It is the position of the Quincy Housing Authority in regard to these allegations:

- The Housing Authority did in fact, and it can be documented, that we followed all EOCD and HUD regulations and guidelines in the hiring of a new Administrator in an exacting manner.

- In relation to the alleged conflict of interest, the Housing Authority contacted the State Ethics Commission and by a letter dated Jan. 20, 1982, stated there is no violation to M.G.A. 268A or 268B.

When the meeting opened, Hirl tried to bring Comer's qualifications and manner of appointment up for discussion but was ruled out of order.

Hirl further argued that candidates recommended by the tenants committee were passed over by the QHA. Graham countered that three of the five finalists were candidates recommended by the tenants committee.

Mary F. Lynch, a tenant at one of the housing facilities, joined Hirl in asking for details regarding Comer's housing administration experience. She too was ruled out of order.

The Harborview Residents Committee, whose first choice for the position was John Cattaneo, the assistant administrator of the QHA with 10 years experience, has appealed to Mayor Francis X. McAulley to conduct a review of the Comer appointment.

McAulley is asking both the state (EOCD) and federal HUD officials to look into the appointment.

Meanwhile Graham said he was asking Byron Matthews, EOCD Secretary, for an early meeting this week to discuss confirmation of Comer.

WE
CHANGED

People in Quincy and surrounding towns have always known us as South Shore Counseling Associates. But times have changed and so have we. As the demand for our services has increased, we have grown into a comprehensive mental health center.

We have augmented our staff to treat such issues as couples and family dysfunction, stress management, alcoholism, and personal counseling. With this growth came a need for larger quarters and a more convenient location for our clients. So we have moved to newly renovated offices next to the Crane Public Library, in downtown Quincy. To reflect our renewed commitment to the community, we have also changed our name to Furnace Brook Counseling Center. More than ever, we are dedicated to providing our friends and neighbors with the mental health services that they have come to expect from our organization.

Quincy Sweeps To Mite A Championship

Quincy's Mite A hockey team, which has enjoyed a remarkable season, won the division championship in last week's 9th annual Quincy Kiwanis International Youth Hockey Tournament at the Quincy Youth Arena.

The Quincy Mites, coached by Bob Carroll and Paul Kelley, swept to the title with an unbeaten record to become the only Quincy champion in the tournament, which had more than 60 teams, including several from Canada.

Quincy won the title the hard way coming from behind and edging Westboro, 5-4, in four overtimes in the final game.

Brian Adams scored the winning goal unassisted. Tony Spinelli had two goals and Tim Collins and Sean McArdle one each.

Quincy played probably its best game in defeating Revere, 4-1, in the semifinals.

"I think Revere was a little overconfident, as they had run over us, 9-1, in an exhibition game," Carroll said.

In Quincy's 6-1 romp over Medford Joe Bevilacqua had two goals and Collins, Spinelli, Matt Riley and Joe Zona one each. Adams, Jason Radzevich, Steve Carroll, Spinelli, Collins, Bob Daggett, and Ron Last had assists. Quincy topped Neponset, 7-3, as Carroll had four goals, Spinelli two and Last one. Mike Lally, Radzevich and Collins had two assists apiece and Daggett, Adams and Matt Kelley one each.

Carroll had four goals again to pace a 9-1 breeze over Malden. Collins had two goals and McArdle, Bevilacqua and Spinelli one each. Spinelli and Last had two assists apiece and Bevilacqua, Kelley, Adams, Lally and Radzevich one each.

Quincy also rolled over Lexington, 9-1, with Zona having an unbelievable game with seven goals. Last and Bevilacqua had one each. McArdle had six assists, Riley three and Scott McClory, Kelley and Collins one each.

"The kids did a remarkable job," Carroll said. "Jeff Bertoni and Rich Brooks were outstanding on goal and Carrie Hughes and Lally were tremendous on defense. The players on both teams were exhausted after the final game. It was an outstanding game and it was nice that we could come from behind to win it."

Shane Abboud, John Witham and Bryan Nagle were alternates on the Quincy squad.

The Quincy Mites had previously won the Santa Claus Tournament in Hingham.

Quincy Hospitality Also Stars At Tourney

Beverly Reinhardt who, along with Ed Holt, directed the ninth annual Kiwanis International Hockey Tournament, was more impressed with the attitude of Quincy residents than with the results of the games.

"Quincy is the most hospitable city I've ever seen," said Beverly, who has accompanied Quincy teams to tournaments in several cities. "Quincy people housed every boy from out of state, including those from Canada.

Never mind who wins or loses, that was the nicest gesture I could have hoped for."

She explained that a team from Toronto, waiting to play after the four-overtime Mite Division title game, was afraid of missing its plane home.

"But we gave them a police escort and they just made their plane on time," she said.

There were three teams from Toronto, three from Troy, N.Y., three from Connecticut, one from Halifax, Nova Scotia, and one from Casco Bay, Maine.

Quincy's Pee Wee C hockey team won the first Cohasset Invitational Tournament at Cohasset Winter Gardens, by avenging its only loss and defeating South Boston, 4-2, in the title game.

Quincy started by defeating Weymouth, 8-0, defeated Dedham, 5-2, then lost to South Boston, 4-3. It qualified for the semifinals as the Div. I wild card. Quincy edged Weymouth, 3-2, to make the final game.

In the win over Dedham Brian Mosher scored all five Quincy goals and Robbie Keddy assisted on three of them.

Quincy goalies Joey Straughn and Eddie Ryan played well in all the games.

3rd Straight State Title

North Girls Track Champs — Again!

By TOM SULLIVAN

They did it — again!

The outstanding North Quincy girls' track team, last Friday night easily won its third straight state Division indoor championship at Harvard.

It is the first time that a team ever has won three straight state crowns.

Lou Tozzi's North girls, who had finished their regular season with a 9-0 record and won their last 28 dual meets, followed up their third successive Suburban League title with an easy victory in the states.

During the season, North's underclassmen had sparkled and scored many points, but it was the seniors, wanting to how out in style, who dominated as the Raiderettes breezed with 60 points. Runnerup Beverly had only 32.

"I'm very proud of these girls," said Tozzi, who has had unbelievable success since taking over the reins after having coached the boys. "This is three in a row (state titles) for us. The girls really wanted that title tonight. They are just a wonderful group of girls."

The only underclassmen who scored points in the meet were Georgia Traficante, only a freshman, who was second in the high jump, and junior Sheila Barrett, fifth in the mile.

Nancy McCarthy turned in one of the evening's most impressive performances as she set a school and meet record in winning the 1000. Her time of 2:36.5 was 1.4 seconds better than the mark set last year by Randolph's Kathy Good. A few minutes before Nancy had seen her 600 record fall to Beverly's Darla Parisi.

Nancy had to beat two nationally-ranked runners, Caroline Mitchell of Needham and Gail Saunders of Reading, both of whom had defeated her earlier in the Coaches' Invitational Meet.

"Nancy was just outstanding," said Tozzi. "Going out there and breaking the school and meet records and doing it after watching her 600 record broken in the previous event was really something."

"I knew if she could get out fast and hang in, she'd have a chance."

Kara Crehan won the high jump with a record-breaking 5-6 3/4. It was her second straight state championship and she just missed clearing 5-9.

"Georgia Traficante was a big surprise, finishing second and she is only a freshman," Tozzi said.

As usual, Michelle Millane won the shot put for the third year in a row with a fine toss of 42-7.

In the 600 Mary Kate Kennedy broke McCarthy's record, finishing in a school-record 1:24.2, but had to be satisfied with second place as Parisi won in a record 1:23.1. Kennedy's time was good enough to give her a national ranking.

Deirdre Donovan was third in the 300 with her best time, 37.2, the second best in North history. Barrett placed fifth in the two-mile at 11:30.

North's relay team of Donovan, Karen Lindenfelver, McCarthy and Mary Kate Kennedy finished third.

"My only regret was that three girls, who worked so hard, just missed winning medals," Tozzi said. "They gave medals to the top six finishers and these three girls finished seventh."

There were Lindenfelver, who did 1:29.4 in the 600; Linda

Kennedy in the two-mile and Caryn Smith in the shot put.

"We had a magnificent group of seniors who pointed to this meet all season long," Tozzi said. "They are just a remarkable group of girls."

Tozzi thanked the Quincy Track Club for its help throughout the season (many of the girls are club members), and also his assistants, Mike Burke, Bart Petracea, Paul (Doc) Doherty, Ken McPhee, Steve Nostler and Chris Morton.

"A big factor in our win was the following we had," the veteran coach said. "We had a big crowd of fans and their support really helped the girls."

The title is North's fifth since 1976. The boys won the state crown in 1976 and '77 and the girls for the past three years.

The Quincy girls had one scorer in the state meet, sophomore Kris Picarski placing fifth in the 300.

Frustration Follows Presidents To Finale

A season Coach Joe Amorosino would like to forget ended last week when the Quincy boys' basketball team lost to Newton South, 88-66, to wind up with a 4-16 record.

"This was a most frustrating season, as we were devastated by injuries and illnesses right from the start of the year," Amorosino said. "We didn't have our full team available for any game and in some games we had two and three starters missing."

"However, the boys never quit and gave me 100 per cent at all times, and I couldn't ask any more from them."

Quincy was down, 21-8, after a period in the non-league finale, but narrowed the gap to 36-30 at halftime. However, Newton South's Dual County League team, which finished 15-2, out-classed the Presidents in the second half to win going away.

Jim DePietro led Quincy with 22 points, Peter Papile scored 18 and Paul Gilbody added 16.

Earlier in the week Quincy lost to Brockton, 46-37, with Papile scoring 12 points and Kevin Riggs 10.

The North Quincy boys' basketball team, which had its hopes for another Eastern Mass. Tournament berth dashed earlier by Brockton, ended its season in disappointing fashion last week, losing to Cathedral, 77-72, in a non-league game.

North had defeated the Boston team earlier.

North Quincy finished the season at 12-8 overall and 10-6 in the Suburban League.

Wes Paul, who was outstanding all season from his guard position, led the Raiders' attack with 16 points.

Earlier in the week Ed Miller's North team had rolled over Weymouth North, 61-38, in a league game.

The Raiders outscored Weymouth 14-6, in the third quarter, breaking open a close game. North had only a 27-23 lead at the half.

Chip Bunker had 16 points for North, Bob Flynn had 12 and Eddie Carroll 10.

Raiders In Disappointing Ending

Feeney's, Lydon, Harold Win

Feeney's Devils defeated Balducci's, 6-2, and increased their Mite/Squirt House League lead to six points. Steve Carroll had two goals and an assist, Brian Adams had two goals and Jeff Hemphill and John Shea had one each. Tony Spinelli had both goals for Balducci's. Lydon Russell defeated Bo-Car Print, 2-0, on goals by Jason Radzevich and Jim Cosgrove.

The Harold Club and Michael Thomas had two goals and Tom Gleason one for Harold, while Arthur Cangemi had a goal and an assist and Matt Riley and Bill Fraser a goal each for UCT.

The standings: Feeney's, 11-4-1; Bo-Car, 7-6-3; Balducci's, 7-8-1; Lydon Russell, 6-7-3; Harold, 5-7-4; UCT, 5-9-2.

Keohane's Shaves D D's Lead

Dee Dee's lost to Keohane's, 4-3, and had its Pee Wee House League lead narrowed to five points. John McMillen had two goals and an assist for Keohane's, Brian Mosher had a goal and two assists and John Cangemi had a goal. Marc Winter had two goals and Kevin Marston one for Dee Dee's.

Bersani Brothers defeated Mug 'n' Muffin, 5-2, as Paul Hannon had a hat trick. Scott Collins and Rich Ames each had a goal. For M 'n' M, Paul Leman and Kevin Kuska had the goals.

The standings: Dee Dee's, 1-3-4; Bersani, 7-5-5; Keohane's, 5-8-4; Mug 'n' Muffin, 4-10-3.

Local Teams Expected To Enter Hurwitz Tourney

Several Quincy and South Shore teams are expected to enter the Charlestown Boys and Girls Club 59th annual Nate Hurwitz Memorial Basketball Tournament March 13 to April 3. Amateur teams throughout New England will participate.

The tournament is named after the late Boston pro basketball star (1910-1920s) and state representative from Cohasset and the father of present state representative Mary Jeanette Murray.

Raiderettes Take 'Must' Games To Win Berth

Coach Paul Gregoli has said all along that his North Quincy girls' basketball team has a lot of character.

The Raiderettes proved that beyond any doubt last week.

Faced for the second year in a row with the necessity of winning their last three games to qualify for the Eastern Mass. Tournament, the North girls did just that.

But this season they were faced with formidable task of defeating Weymouth North, the fifth-ranked team in Eastern Mass. and the Suburban League leader, in their final game. Weymouth North had handed the Raiderettes a 17-point defeat earlier.

A Weymouth win would have given it a share of the league crown, but with the Quincy girls in the stands cheering them on, the North girls turned in their finest effort of the season and, leading all the way, upset Weymouth, 60-51, and made it possible for the Quincy girls to win their first league crown and drop Weymouth North into second place. North Quincy finished 14-6 (10-6 in the league).

The Raiderettes, who lost their first game to league champion Newton North in their first tourney game ever last year, opened tournament play yesterday (Wednesday) against Attleboro (13-7) and if they won, they will face Needham (18-1) Friday night at 7 at Needham.

Semifinals are next Wednesday, March 2, and finals Saturday, March 6.

Weymouth North never led last week as Chris Choukas took the opening tap from Karen Bridges to score on a breakaway layup. It was Choukas and JoAnn Runge who paced North early as they combined for 18 of the team's 22 points as it took a 22-12 first quarter lead. Runge had 12 first quarter points as she was six for seven from the floor. Defensively, Tricia Meehan, senior tri-captain, and Simone Koch did an excellent job of limiting Weymouth's fast-breaking style, and they consistently thwarted the Maroons' transition game.

North Quincy maintained its intensity in the second quarter with Maureen McAleney and Mary Holleran coming off the bench to make key contributions and allowed the Raiderettes to lead at halftime, 31-24.

North, however, found itself in foul trouble with both Meehan and Koch saddled with four first half fouls. Weymouth standout Joanie Powers had three fouls.

The teams played evenly in the third quarter, each scoring 10 points. North Quincy, however, lost Meehan on fouls in the period but junior guard Karen Boutlier came in to give a steady performance, handling the ball and playing tough defense. Runge also brought the crowd to its feet, hitting a 25-foot running hook at the buzzer. Koch also made a key play in the quarter, taking a charge on Powers, thus who retired to the bench with her fourth foul.

The Raiderettes quickly upped their lead to 42-31 as Bridges again sent Choukas in alone on the fourth quarter tap. Choukas then came back to hit a jumper with only a minute gone.

Here Weymouth North began to take control as Powers re-entered with 7:01 left in the game. The Maroons closed the gap to 50-49 on two Powers foul shots with 2:03 to go. But here Runge took over against Weymouth's press. She dribbled the length of the floor and found Choukas open for a layup.

Boutlier was fouled and made both ends of a one-and-one and McAleney then made the biggest defensive play of the season as she stepped in to take a charge on Powers, putting the league's MVP out of the game on fouls.

North got the ball back and Runge was fouled, the senior tri-captain hitting on both ends of her one-and-one to put North up by seven with 40 seconds left. Runge then stole a pass underneath and dribbled 20 seconds off the clock before being fouled again. Again she made both ends to give the Raiderettes their big victory.

In the last quarter Runge, who had a career high 28 points, was seven for nine from the foul line. For the game she had 28 points on nine for 11 from the floor and 10 for 12 from the foul line; 14 rebounds, five assists and three steals. Choukas had 18 points and was nine for 14 from the floor and played excellent man-to-man defense against Powers.

"Runge and Choukas played exceptional games," said a happy Gregoli. "JoAnn did everything out there but sell tickets. But, as well as they played, I can't say enough about our guards and the job they did on defense."

"We stressed getting back on defense in our preparation and we did not allow one fast break layup the entire game. Koch played the whole second half with four fouls and played a superb game. And Boutlier and McAleney really came through in the clutch."

"Our girls have worked so hard this year that it would have been a crime for them not to make the tournament. They have shown tremendous character. We are going into the tournament with some momentum and, remember, everyone is now 0 and 0 again. It's a whole new season!"

Ring Larson Wins New England Title

Ring Larson, the blond Viking from Quincy, pummeled Eddie Artone, also of Quincy, and Bob Kennedy of Taunton to win the New England 160-pound amateur boxing title in Boston Arena.

Larson, using long, raking lefts and right crosses to good effect, handed Artone such a beating that the senior's seconds tossed the towel in the ring before the close of the third round.

Kennedy stung Larson once or twice with right hands but the Swede from Quincy easily prevailed over the Taunton fighter for the seventh straight time in the middleweight finale.

Larson, who recently scored a stunning upset by beating the reigning Olympic and European champion, Oddone Piazza of Italy, in Boston Garden, was emerging as a favorite for the nationals in April.

SCORING RECORD

Art Olson scored 26 points and Harry Wiley had 23 as the Pneumatic Scale basketball team set a Senior League scoring record with an 84-25 victory over the Columbia AC at Boston's Gym.

Olson and Wiley, who appeared on the court late due to a previous engagement, played mostly in the second half when Pneumatic outscored Columbia 59-10 en route to the record win.

The Pneumatic Scale lineup included: F. McIntosh, Olson, Vergobbi, E. McIntosh, forwards; R. McIntosh, Wiley, centers; Loud, Brahm, Peterson, guards.

CLASS CHAMPS CROWNED

Billy Clark scored 20 of her team's 23 points as the Quincy High School Class of June 1931 girls won the interclass basketball title with a 23-5 victory over the Class of February 1931.

The boys of June 1931, with Sam Petrie scoring 10 points and Joe Winship nine, made it a clean sweep by defeating the Class of February 1931 by a 28-11 count.

The girls' lineup included: Blowers, Clark, forwards; Reeves, Murphy, centers; McDonald, Messenger, guards.

The boys' lineup had: Winship, Schultz, McMahon, Hussey, forwards; Smith, center; Walker, Petrie, guards.

FIRST HALF VICTORS

Percy Jones and Curt Cedarstrom led the Quincy Wanderers to a 45-22 decision over the Quincy YMHA to clinch the first half title in the Quincy Senior Basketball League.

The Wanderers lineup included: Cedarstrom, Jones, forwards; Lindvall, Klay, centers; O'Brien, Pierce, guards.

The YMHA lineup: L. Brooks, Hyte, M. Lubarsky, Wallace, forwards; Levine, center; M. Brooks, L. Lubarsky, D. Lubarsky, guards.

TWO TEAMS DROPPED

The Quincy Junior Basketball League was shaken to its foundations at a meeting in Boston's gym when the Central AA was declared first half winner and Phantoms and South Quincy AA were dropped from the league.

Managers present at the meeting were Ed Dennehy of the Central, Dave Lubarsky of the Granites and Jack Scott of the Crescents. Francis Pendergast of the Wollaston Aces voted by phone.

BASEBALLERS OUT

Candidates for the 1930 Quincy High School baseball team, headed by veteran pitcher Billy Sullivan, reported to Coach Jimmy LeCaine at the school gym. Some 50 responded to the call.

They included Bob Mattson, Bob Owens, Ted Olson, Capt. Louis Pellegrini, Francis Haynes, Jay Desmond, Jimmy McGuinness, Larry Helander and Red Halloran.

BROWN WINS

Gus Brown of Canton, who trains under Walter Shuttleworth at Boston's Gym, punched his way to a 10-round decision over the Patent Leather Kid in the main bout at Bristol Arena, New Bedford.

TWI LEAGUE LINEUP

President Frank Tanner announced that teams from Quincy, Roslindale, Dorchester, Malden and South Boston will be back in the Boston Twi League in 1930. Salem was another possibility.

SPORTS BITS - '30

Judge Kenneth Nash of Quincy District Court started his 11th season as coach of the Tufts College baseball team ... Sammy Hay scored the only goal as the Quincy Red Lions, Southern Division champions of the Bay State Junior Soccer League, opened the season with a 1-0 victory over the Carson Juniors ... The Swedish Lutheran team of Quincy, with Curt Cedarstrom netting 18 points, won its 16th straight victory with a 34-26 decision over Lynn Lutheran in a Boston District Luther League game ... Axel Andreassen, Quincy heavyweight wrestler, fought to a 30-minute draw with Stan Zbyszko at Mechanics Hall in Worcester ... Frank Wade knocked down 342 pins in leading the Newspapermen to a four-point clean sweep over the Dentists in the Professional Men's Bowling League at the YMCA alleys.

HOT WATER VAPORIZER DANGER

A family bought a hot water vaporizer advertised as tip-proof, foolproof and safe. They placed it on a stool, plugged it in and waited for the steam to rise. While it was steaming, their 3-year-old daughter caught herself in its electric cord. The vaporizer tipped and spilled scalding water onto the child. She will bear the scars all her life.

For what it's worth, medical authorities say that cool-mist vaporizers which do not rely on hot water, are quite as effective and safer than hot ones.

This information has been brought to you as a public service by NABORHOOD PHARMACY, 406 Hancock St., No. Quincy.

The problem is that most hot water vaporizers bring the water temperature up to 212 degrees. Water will scald at 145 degrees and produce third-degree burns at 180. Following studies in this area, Underwriters' Laboratories, watchdog of electrical product safety, revised its standards so that effective July 1972 the water temperature was reduced to 130 degrees maximum.

In Tourney Friday Quincy Girls League Champs

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Quincy girls' basketball team not only is in the Eastern Mass. Tournament for the second straight season and the third time in history, but it goes in as the Suburban League champion for the first time and is seeded fourth.

The Quincy girls clinched their first league title, thanks to a 56-45 win over Brockton last week and North Quincy's victory over Weymouth North, which would have shared the crown with Quincy if it had defeated the Raiders.

Peter Swanson's Quincy team will open tournament play against Duxbury of Fall River (15-3) Friday night at 7 p.m. at Duxbury.

The semifinals are set for next Wednesday, March 3, and the finals Saturday, March 6.

Quincy finished 13-3 in the league and 15-5 overall following last Friday's 43-40 non-league loss to Sharon.

"The girls did a tremendous job this season and we expanded from a six-person team to a nine-person team," Swanson said. "Last year we peaked early but I don't feel we have peaked this year yet."

(Quincy provided a major upset by defeating New Bedford in the opening round of the tournament last year, then lost to league champion Newton North).

Swanson pointed out that Nancy MacDonald, one of the outstanding players in the league and a league all-star first team selection, is scoring a little less than a year ago, averaging about 15 points a game, but moved to guard, is playing strong defense and has been a steady influence on the younger players.

"Captain Mary Kamb, another league all-star, is a fantastic rebounder, averaging 15 a game, and has just been outstanding," Swanson said. "And this year we have a better balanced offense and Maryann Agres has come along well, averaging 12 points a game and has done an excellent job."

Kathy Duggan has been one of the team's best defensive players and has begun to come along offensively, hitting consistently its jumpers.

Meg Goldrick is another super defensive player who has started to score more, hitting from the wing.

Ellen Deady has been another standout and Cindy Morrell, who came into her own against North Quincy, has added to the team's balanced attack.

"Carolyn Leonard, playing in only her second varsity game, turned in a strong quarter against Brockton," Swanson said.

Quincy's other players are Michelle Miller, Sue Dacey, Mary Kussman, Dara Morris, Karen Walsh, Theresa Monroe and Katy Dunn.

Quincy's title-clinching win at Brockton didn't come easily. It wasn't able to wrap up the victory until midway through the final quarter.

"I'm really pleased, Brockton played very well tonight," Swanson said. "Everyone wants to be the spoiler and every game's a real challenge."

Brockton led, 13-8, late in the opening quarter but a three-pointer by MacDonald cut it to 13-11 at the end of the period. Quincy moved into a slim 25-24 edge at the half and took a 41-37 advantage into the final session. Quincy failed to score for the first three minutes of the period but Duggan hit on a jumper and the Quincy girls rolled from there.

Leonard Reaches 1000th Career Point Circle

Paul Leonard of Quincy, outstanding forward for the Sacred Heart of Weymouth basketball team, joined a select group of players recently when he scored his 1000th career point in leading his team to a 79-69 Catholic Suburban League win over St. Patrick's of Watertown.

Leonard needed 13 points to make the 1000 points and he reached that goal in the third quarter and finished up with 20 points.

When he scored the 1000th point the game was stopped and he was given the game ball, a plaque from the school, a proclamation from Gov. King, a 1000 point T-shirt from the cheerleaders and a sweat-suit from his teammates. Paul gave the game ball to his younger brother Kevin.

Braintree's Rob Eastman was the last Sacred Heart player to reach the coveted plateau, turning the trick five years ago.

"He is like the Larry Bird-type player, people key in on him," said Coach George Lombard.

"It feels great," said Leonard. "My goal has been to score 1000 points and go to a tournament."

Leonard, fifth leading scorer in the league, has averaged 23 points and 10 assists over the last six games.

He and Bob Carnell (15 points a game) have paced the Crusaders and have drawn a lot of attention from the opposition.

"The other teams have been using the triangle and two defense, trying to keep the ball away from them," Lombard said. "They have taken it upon themselves to lead the team. They are virtually unstoppable in a one-and-one situation."

Dental Corner by

Lee A. Welky, D.M.D.

HOW SHOULD YOU BRUSH?

Over the past 30 years, many methods of toothbrushing have been recommended. For the most part, new toothbrushing methods reflect how our understanding of tooth decay and gum disease has improved.

We now know that dental plaque, a sticky substance filled with bacteria, is responsible for decay and gum disease. The best way to prevent decay and gum disease is to remove this plaque from the grooves and crevices where it collects.

Use a soft nylon brush which can be placed at the gumline without injuring the gums. Angle the bristles at 45° to the teeth, with the tips of the bristles at the gumline. Press the bristles against the teeth, and move the brush back and forth with short, definite strokes. Continue to the count of ten before moving on to the next group of teeth. Repeat until all teeth have been covered.

WEEK OF: FEBRUARY 25

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19

Job expectations need some thinking over; they may be unrealistically high or low at present. Family favor can be granted, but your timing and your phrasing are all-important.

PISCES — February 20-March 20

Visits to ailing relatives or acquaintances accented. Ancient squabble is settled for good. Variety of tasks can be met with an all-new spirit of determination.

ARIES — March 21-April 20

Nod of approval from supervisor can lead to improved working conditions. Partner may oppose a request, but the file is by no means closed. Close relative may need encouragement.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22

Long term relationships featured through the week. End-of-month accents financial gains. Suspicious friend becomes increasingly unreasonable; it may be time for a chat.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21

Good week to work on self-improvement scheme; begin by trying to come to terms with one of your fears. Old acquaintance is interested in renewing a friendship.

CANCER — June 22-July 22

Small irritations are bothering loved one in a big way; keep a low profile. Catch up on business and personal correspondence. Think twice about making any luxury purchases.

LEO — July 23-August 22

Messages that arrive through an intermediary require clarification. Privacy is a rare commodity during this week of parties, meetings, and unexpected house guests.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22

In solving domestic or neighborhood disputes, experimentation is your keyword. You're ready to make important new friends, be outgoing but not aggressive — especially on weekend.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22

Sympathies are deep and you find yourself drawn to the underdog, and providing a crying shoulder. Complicated holiday or travel plans should be finalized as quickly as possible.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21

Three makes a crowd this week, and your unexpected guest may need more than a subtle hint. You're gaining insight into family situation and can decide on the route to take.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22

Romance keeps you in a dreamy mood, but drift down from cloud nine and long on reality; to make big decisions on love matters — not so important; getting more realistic.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20

There are difficulties in reaching a position on family matter and yours can be the deciding vote. Emotional restraint should be practiced as well as practical sense.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

Generally unbalanced kind of year for you; you are deeply empathetic and aware of others. Tensions in your life are hard to resist. Partnership gives you a high regard, but your steady financial gains are accented through latter part of year.

BORN THIS WEEK

February 25th: singer George Harrison, 2nd singer Johnny Cash, 27th actress Joanne Woodward, 28th actress Bernadette Peters, March 1st singer Harry Belafonte, 2-4 actress Jennifer Jones, 3rd actress Jean Harkin.

Braves Rebound, G-Men Oust Clovers

The Quincy Braves, stunned earlier by a five-overtime loss, edged the Dorchester Clarks, 4-3, in double overtime to stay in contention in the South Shore Floor Hockey Tournament at Marshfield Skateland.

Quincy goalie Joe Lynch was again superb, with 30 saves. Paul Tempesta scored the winning goal with time running out in the second overtime. Scott Pizzi scored with 13 seconds remaining in regulation time to send the game into overtime and the other goals were scored by Capt. Tony Balzano and Steve Morreale. Also playing key roles in the win were Artie Princiotto, who assisted on the winning goal, John Balzano and Mark O'Brien.

The Braves will play the red hot Quincy G-Men Sunday at 6 p.m.

The G-Men eliminated the Quincy Clovers, 4-1, with goalie Chuck Dooley having 28 saves. Mike Shea played a spirited game with a goal and two assists. Ron Drew had a goal and had numerous bullet shots stopped by Clover goalie Bobby Coe. George Bouchard, Pat Connolly and the other goal scorers, Frank Rielly and Peter Bryan all played well. Bob O'Neil scored for the Clovers with Don Bowes assisting.

In an earlier game the Clovers had ousted the North Quincy-Atlantic Warriors in a game won by a controversial goal which was protested by the Warriors.

The Quincy Point-Men overpowered the Quincy Flames, 7-1, to stay alive. Youth prevailed as the younger Point-Men were down the older and tired Flames. Steve Goguen had two goals and two assists, Paul Bandera had a goal and an assist and Tom Sapientza had two goals as did Rick Slibe. Goalie Larry Price had 20 saves.

The Point-Men will play again Sunday at 11 a.m.

The Neponset Florists edged South Boston, 3-2, behind the outstanding work of goalie Billy Daniels. The Florists stayed unbeaten (3-0). Mark McNichols scored the first and last goals and played a strong two-way game. Jay Nolan had the other goal and also assisted on the winner. Rick Robak played strong defense and Ed Nolan, Joe Melchione, Tim Crane and Jim Nolan also played well.

Neponset, plays South Boston's Fleet Supply Sunday at 10 a.m.

The Quincy Pucksters dropped a 6-5 decision to Southie's Fleet Supply as Paul Ballou had a hat trick for the winners.

Quincy, trailing, 4-2, after two periods, tied it up and, after Ballou scored his third goal, Quincy again tied it on a power-play goal by Gerry Martin. The Pucksters were led by Jim Pasquarelli's hat trick and a goal by his brother John.

The Pucksters will play Dorchester All-Stars Sunday at 5 p.m.

LEGAL NOTICE

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
 DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY ENGINEERING DIVISION OF WATER POLLUTION CONTROL
 ONE WINTER STREET
 BOSTON, MASS. 02108
 PUBLIC NOTICE
 FINAL DETERMINATION TO CONDITIONALLY APPROVE A PROPOSED SEWER EXTENSION PERMIT

On December 3, 1981, the Massachusetts Division of Water Pollution Control published a notice in the Quincy Sun of its tentative determination to issue a permit for a sewer connection to serve a proposed residential development at 40 Willard Street in Quincy, based on an application submitted by the Quincy Department of Public Works on behalf of Richard J. Buchner Family Trust of 40 Willard Street, Quincy. The application was filed and the notice of tentative determination published pursuant to Section 43 of Chapter 21 of the General Laws.

As a result of this Public Notice, the Division received information that the proposed project would exacerbate sewer problems in the Alrick Road area of West Quincy. On the basis of this information, the Division, on January 6, 1982, issued a final determination to deny the above-described application pursuant to Section 43, Chapter 21 of the General Laws. Notice of this determination was published in the Quincy Sun on January 14, 1982.

The applicant formally appealed this decision and requested an adjudicatory hearing under the provisions of Chapter 30A of the General Laws. In an attempt to resolve the issue without the necessity for a time-consuming hearing, a meeting was held with the applicant, his attorney, and the consultant for the City of Quincy.

The consultant pointed out that the principal cause of sewer problems in the Alrick Road area was the numerous sump pumps illegally tied into the municipal sewer system. The applicant agreed to pay the cost for removing a sufficient number of sump pumps discharging to the sewer system and tying them into the storm drainage system to effectively remove 20,800 gallons per day of inflow from the sewer system (double the amount of sewage to be added by the proposed development).

By letter dated January 29, 1982, the Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Quincy agreed to the proposal.

In my opinion, this work will reduce flows in the sewer system downgradient from the proposed development and will lessen the volume and frequency of back-ups in the Alrick Road area.

On the basis of this agreement, I hereby issue a final determination to approve the requested application on condition that the applicant agrees to cause a reduction of inflow into the sanitary sewer system of 20,800 gallons per day, equal to double the gallonage set forth in the application. The applicant shall accomplish this reduction in concert with the Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Quincy through the removal of sump pump connections and the diversion of the outflow therefrom to the storm drainage system. The consultant for the City shall attest to the Division the method and amount of inflow removed.

Within 14 days of this final determination, parties (as defined in sections 1, 10 and 10A of Chapter 30A of the General Laws) aggrieved by the determination may file a written request with the Director for an Adjudicatory Hearing under the provisions of Chapter 30A (the Massachusetts Administrative Procedure Act) and the Standard Adjudicatory Rules of Practice and Procedure (801 CMR 1.00).

More School Closings And Budget Cuts?

By JOHN NOONAN

Even as parents picketed, pleaded and signed petitions this week hoping to keep four schools from being closed, possible more bad news loomed for the future.

Declining pupil enrollments and the Proposition 2½ budget crunch may mean the eventual closing of even two more schools.

Eight were closed last year. Four - Willard, Wollaston, Pollard and Mass. Fields - are doomed this year unless the School Committee changes its mind.

That's 12 schools shuttered. Will there be two more is a question now being raised?

School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon indicated two months ago, 14 facilities in all could be closed.

Meanwhile Mayor Francis X. McCauley said he would seek still another $94,000 in budget cuts at Wednesday night's School Committee meeting.

The $94,000 represents a $20,000 cut in travel allowances for 29 school employees plus the elimination of two administrative jobs at an average annual salary of $37,000 each.

"With 2½ and teachers being laid off some perks have got to be cut back," McCauley said.

"If anyone wants to grieve them I'll listen, we've been cutting these items back in general government. We're down 12 schools so there should be less travel."

Total annual cost for school car expenses and allowances is now $30,000. McCauley hopes to get School Committee approval to reduce the monthly stipends from $100 and $75 per month to $45 per month.

McCauley said he will also ask approval to eliminate two school department administrators in the Department's Learning Management Team (LMT). The LMT is comprised of nine administrators with total salaries of $332,405 or an average salary of $37,000. McCauley said school administration must be cut since cuts are being made in the classroom teacher area.

One major problem was the closing of schools to respond to pupil population decline and financial mandates. In a two-year period Great Hill, Nathaniel Hunting, Myles Standish, Quincy, Cranch, Gridley Bryant, Adams and Beechwood Knoll schools were closed.

Last week the School Committee approved the closing of four more schools, Wollaston, Willard, Pollard and Massachusetts Fields.

The problems are further compounded by the specter of predicted additional drops in pupil enrollments within a few years. There has been a 33 per cent decline in 10 years.

According to School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon two more schools would be closed.

Last Jan. 20 Creedon told the school board, "at least four years ago I advised that for purposes of housing as well as programs of quality instruction, the School Committee could reduce the number of operating facilities by 14." No reference was made as to what two other facilities might be closed.

City Launches Drive On Tax Delinquents

By TOM HENSHAW

Some 200 property owners who owe $385,000 in real estate and personal property taxes for 1980 have been put on notice by the city to pay up by Friday, March 12 - or else.

"If full payment of all outstanding taxes and interest is not made by March 12," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley, "the property will be placed in tax title, which is the equivalent of foreclosure."

McCauley said City Solicitor William Golden has been instructed to move swiftly against a dozen taxpayers who owe the city more than $2,900,000 for years prior to 1980.

Their property has already been placed in tax title, as has the property of other delinquents who owe a grand total of $5,850,000 in back taxes.

"What we are doing with the 200 delinquents from 1980," said

McCauley, "is to speed up the tax title process."

"We have a free cash deficit of $9,934,000. We used to have surpluses. With borrowing getting more and more expensive, we have to keep after people."

McCauley said he would rather not name the tax delinquents but their names have been carried in The Quincy Sun, which publishes them as a municipal advertisement in the fall of each year.

The mayor said if any of the delinquents have a hardship in paying they should contact the City Solicitors office before the March 12 deadline.

"We are not making war on people with problems," he said.

Reval Delayed Another Month

State approval of Quincy's property revaluation figures has been delayed another 30 days, Mayor Francis X. McCauley announced Wednesday, and the delay will cost the city about $200,000 more in interest on temporary borrowing to meet current expenses.

Jane Malmé of the State Department of Revenue notified the Board of Assessors Friday that representatives of the department will not arrive in Quincy to check the accuracy of figures compiled by the reval firm of P.R.C. Jacobs until March 31.

McCauley said he expected the figures to be approved by March 1.

The mayor said that if approval is delayed one month it will cost the city $200,000 in loan interest; two months $480,000 in interest; and three months $700,000 in interest.

"Three months would be an extreme case," he said, "but you never know."

The spring's second installment of the fiscal 1982 tax bills should go out April 1 with a due date of May 1. If the bills are late going out, property owners have a month to pay them. In the meantime, the city borrows short term to meet expenses.

The city has been unable even to Long Test Drive

Two men told Michael Quinn of Brook Rd., South Quincy, that they wanted to buy his 1966 Plymouth Valiant.

They took it for a test drive Monday night, Quinn told police, and never returned. The car was recovered later in Braintree.

Hundreds From Quincy Due Unclaimed Money

State Treasurer Robert O. Crane has released the names of several hundred Quincy people and organizations that have money due them under the state's unclaimed money law.

The names will appear starting in this week's edition of The Quincy Sun.

Paul F. Walsh Jr. of the Treasurer's Office said the list includes two types of names: those who live in Quincy and those whose unclaimed deposits are in Quincy banks. By law, bank accounts, insurance proceeds, uncashed gift certificates, payroll checks, security deposits and other accounts inactive for five years must be reported to the Treasurer's Office.

Last year, Crane said, he was able to return $10 million to the rightful owners or their heirs and this year more than $31 million is available to more than 100,000 individuals in the state.

Crane said he is pushing for more stringent enforcement of the Unclaimed Money Law. "Banks and other institutions are supposed to try to find the owners," he said, "but I feel they don't try hard enough."

"How can anyone fail to locate unclaimed account owners such as the Boston Red Sox, Harvard University, and the United Cerebral Palsy Foundation?"

This week's listing is of names from A to K. Next week's Sun will carry the names from L to Z.

School Closings, Prop. 2½, Discipline On Agenda

By JOHN NOONAN

Three major controversies — override of proposition 2½, suspension and expulsion of students, and the planned closing of the Willard and Wollaston schools — were on the agenda for the regular meeting of the Quincy School Committee Wednesday night.

Robert Romeri, President of the Willard School PTO and Margery O'Donnell of the Parents Committee to Save the Wollaston School were granted permission to speak against the closing of their respective schools.

The School Committee by a 4 to 3 vote approved a middle school plan last week that will result in the closing of four schools, Wollaston, Willard, Pollard and Massachusetts Fields.

Last week parents representing the Wollaston school pupils picketed the homes of School Committee members Christopher Kennedy, Mary Collins, Joan Picard, and Mayor Francis McCauley, the four who voted for the plan.

Police were summoned twice over the weekend to disperse pickets at the homes of Mayor Francis X. McCauley in Houghs Neck and School Committee Vice Chairman Mary Collins in Squantum.

Police said they left quietly. The pickets, who oppose the closing of the Wollaston School, appeared at McCauley's home on Manet Ave., Houghs Neck, Sunday night about 8 p.m. and police were instructed to make frequent checks thereafter.

Another large group picketed the home of Mrs. Collins on Lansdowne St., Squantum, Saturday night at 8 p.m.

The Parents Committee to Save Wollaston School was active over the weekend collecting signatures for the School Committee meeting Wednesday night.

Members said they hope to influence at least one member of the committee who voted to close the school to move for reconsideration.

A group of some 16 mothers, some with small children in tow, picketed City Hall Friday with a message for Mayor Francis X. McCauley:

"Save Wollaston School."

Ironically, the mayor was in Duxbury at the time attending a State Revenue Department meeting on Proposition 2½, which is one of the major factors in the closing of Quincy schools.

Mrs. Margery O'Donnell and Mrs. Dorothy Barron delivered the message to Nancy Donofrio, the mayor's secretary, urging him to do everything he can to prevent the loss of the Wollaston school. The group Friday also picketed the Montclair home of School Committee member Christopher Kennedy.

"Mr. Kennedy is a graduate of Harvard and a vice president of Northeastern," said Mrs. O'Donnell. "He has been into education all his life. His vote to close the schools was borderline last Wednesday night."

The group of Wollaston mothers was particularly irate at Committee members Kennedy, Mary Collins and Joan Picard, who voted for the school closings.

A letter was prepared for the three committee members to be sent home for parents' signatures by way of the school children.

The letter called the closing vote "the most blatantly political, cowardly and irresponsible act that you, as a public official, could have performed."

The letter to McCauley noted that Quincy was bordered on the north by "a city that has, by all truthful accounts, the worst public school system in the United States. Learning is non-existent."

City Plans Assault On Ticket Scofflaws

The City Council Monday night armed City Clerk John M. Gillis with $40,000 to go after the scofflaws who have accumulated some 80,000 overdue parking tickets, some going back four years.

Asst. City Clerk Thomas Burke said the collection campaign will start in 10 days.

The money was appropriated to pay the U.S. Trust Co., which is handling collections, to go after and process the overdue tickets. Notices will be mailed to the scofflaws weekly.

Burke said the city has arranged with the Registry of Motor Vehicles to have drivers' licenses and registrations suspended for motorists who failed to respond to the notices.

Noting the Denver boot problems in Boston, Councillor Joseph J. LaRaia said he hopes "a lot of discretion is used" in the campaign to collect ticket fines as a new source of city revenue.

"I hope we don't chase too many people out of the city, particularly in the business area," he said. "I hate to think this is another onerous burden on the taxpayer and the businessman."

That was Monday night.

On Tuesday morning, nearly every car in the John Hancock Parking Lot was tagged despite the fact that newly fallen snow made it impossible for motorists to see the arrows connecting their cars to the meters.

Council Votes Funds For 40 Police Radios

The City Council Monday night voted to appropriate $75,375 to purchase more than 40 new radios for the Police Department in a move to equip all street officers with communications equipment.

Chief Francis X. Finn originally asked for $79,320 for the radios but councillors balked when they discovered that $3,944 of that sum would be transferred out of a Fire Department account.

The transfer was opposed by Councillor Richard J. Koch Jr. and George Lamb, head of the firefighters union, who protested that the Fire Department needed the money to replace inferior equipment.

Chief Finn said he hopes to have enough radios to equip patrolmen and sergeants as well as some supervisors and detectives who do dangerous work on the streets.

Finn said that some of his officers were called upon to deal with a man wanted for murder a few days ago.

"They had no radios," he said. "They were definitely in danger because of it. The streets are far more dangerous for police officers today than they were a few years ago."

Forty radios were purchased for the Police Department last year, Finn said, and he would like to have 90 to equip all the men who need them.

A wrecking ball put the finishing touches to the demolition of the old BayBank Norfolk Trust building in Quincy Sq. Tuesday.

Work by the John J. Duane Co. of Quincy had twice been interrupted by labor disputes. Once cleared, the site will become a mini-park for the new Quincy Center Plaza building.

Cars Stolen

Two cars were reported stolen in Quincy last Thursday night.

Howard Simpson reported his 1980 Mercury Capri stolen from in front of 559 Willard St., West Quincy.

Fagerlund Assessor Chairman

Mayor Francis X. McCauley has named Elmer K. "Mike" Fagerlund, a veteran of 11 years on the board under four mayors, as chairman of the Board of Assessors. The appointment was effective Monday.

He succeeds John P. Comer, who remains as a member of the board but possibly not for long if his appointment as director of the Quincy Housing Authority is approved by the state.

While state law specifies that the board of assessors shall choose its own chairman, McCauley said, a special legislative act in 1900 gives that right to the mayor of Quincy.

Fagerlund, 63, who lives at 27 Grogan Ave., West Quincy, was appointed a fulltime member of the board in 1967 by Mayor James R. McIntyre. He was not reappointed by Mayor Arthur H. Tobin in 1978.

A real estate broker, he served as chairman of the board for seven years under Mayors McIntyre, Walter J. Hannon and Joseph J. LaRaia. He was appointed to the board again by McCauley in December.

More School Closings, And Budget Cuts?

What will happen to the 12 buildings the School Board voted recently to close? Will they also become victims of vandalism, or worse?

Another major problem is the shifting and transporting of pupils from closed schools to other facilities. Parents have expressed many concerns about busing children from one section of the city to another.

A problem of particular importance, voiced by parents and teachers alike, is strict adherence to programs of quality education despite school closings, teacher layoffs, and cuts in services.

One mother, speaking at the public hearing Feb. 10 on school reorganization, complained that her child had to share a text book with other children because there were insufficient textbooks to go around.

In an attempt to face-up to the mounting problems the School Committee voted not only to close the four additional schools but to pare the fiscal year 1983 budget by $3 million.

The closings and the budget cutback could mean the loss of an additional 200 school jobs.

A wave of protest by parents was touched off last week when four members of the Committee, Mayor McCauley, Joan Picard, Mary Collins and Christopher Kennedy voted to close the four schools and institute a middle school plan consisting of grades K through 5, 6 through 8, and 2 high schools with grades 9 through 12.

The middle school plan decision came after two hours of discussion, sometimes heated, by school committee members at a meeting held in the Quincy High School resource center with more than 400 persons in attendance. The meeting was punctuated with parliamentary maneuvering by Frank Anselmo and John Sullivan, school board members opposed to the plan which McCauley had proposed.

When the vote was finally taken, four members, McCauley, Christopher Kennedy, Picard and vice-chairman Collins, declared in favor. Opposed were Anselmo, Sullivan and Nicholas Verenis.

Then came the vote to cut the school budget for 1983 by $3 million. The cut was a motion offered by Mayor McCauley.

Voting for the cut were McCauley, Picard, Collins, Kennedy, and Verenis. Sullivan voted present and Anselmo walked out, without voting, as a form of protest to the middle school plan vote.

Earlier Anselmo had pleaded with his colleagues to listen to the recommendation of Dr. Creedon who favored a system of status quo -- no more school closings and budget reductions.

In a prepared statement Creedon said: "I am sharing with you for the first time additional proposed cuts. They are not being recommended by me. But are submitted as you seek to respond to the Mayor's request for an additional $3 million cut in the school budget for fiscal year 1983.

"While I am submitting this data to you I do not do so with my affirmative recommendation. My position is clear, the school system has been ravaged by the combined impact of a zero growth budget in fiscal year 1980, a four per cent tax cap in fiscal year 1981, as well as by the first year impact of proposition 2½ in fiscal year 1982. I cannot recommend further cuts."

Anselmo had moved unsuccessfully to place the school board members in favor of recommending to the city council and the Mayor that the question of overriding the provisions of Proposition 2½, now made possible by a recently enacted law, be placed on the ballot in November and let the voters express themselves once and for all on Proposition 2½.

Anselmo said the school committee was a house of bedlam and that "the budget fat had been trimmed and we are now being asked to cut the muscle."

Sullivan expressed hope that the School Committee would reconsider its vote to close four more schools because of mounting protests by parents. He said that if the committee did not move to reconsider at Wednesday's meeting he would make a motion to delay implementation of the middle school plan and resulting school closings.

Faced with recurring crunches and mandates the School Committee to date has:

- Reduced the school budget in 1980 by $360,000 over the previous year.

- Cut $3.8 million from its approved budget in 1981 as a result of a four percent tax cap mandated by the legislature.

- In 1982, the first year under Proposition 2½, cut the budget by $8.3 million including Quincy Junior College, or $6.5 million with Quincy Junior College excluded.

A total of 680 school positions of all description have been eliminated.

A total 17,080 students were enrolled in Quincy public schools grades K through 12 in 1971. Ten years later, as of Oct. 1, 1981, the total enrollment stood at 10,592, a decrease of 6,488 pupils or a drop of 33 percent.

Enrollments will continue to decline, according to Creedon, for the next several years.

Another drop placing the enrollment between 8,000-10,000 students in the next few years is a possibility.

Questions now being asked: What then? Will there be more closing of schools and personnel reductions? Will there be a four day school week by then?

Roasting His Honor

Well, you might say Mayor Francis McCauley is on his way to becoming "the Jack Benny" of Quincy politics.

He was toasted and roasted the other night at a $100 per plate testimonial at the Quincy Neighborhood Club. There was more good natured roast than the usual political boring speeches. And the general theme, according to those who were there, was McCauley's frugality.

It was supposed to be a "fun night" with an approximate 100 friends and close associates.

Robert Johnston, headmaster of the Woodward School and long-time McCauley friend who served as emcee, got it off to a fun start and kept it on that course all night.

JOHNSTON

He noted that McCauley's two mayoral idols were Thomas McGrath and Amelio Della Chiesa, both of whom were tight fisted with a buck.

Johnston recalled when Della Chiesa was mayor and mice were on the loose in City Hall and someone wanted to hire an exterminator.

"We've got a cat," said Della Chiesa.

"But the cat isn't doing his job," the exterminator barker pointed out.

"Well," said Della Chiesa, "get another cat."

"Frank," Johnston noted, "is a little conservative and a little tight like that, too."

McCauley's wife, Sandra, agreed: "Frank's a great husband and a great father, but he is frugal," she said.

Sandy Rounseville announced that Jack Powers, McCauley's campaign manager, was getting an appointment from McCauley.

ROUNSEVILLE

"He's going to be head negotiator to handle Frank's baseball cards. Frank still has his collection of old greets like Pumpie Green, Don Buddin, Marvin Throneberry and Dick (Dr. Stoneglove) Stuart."

McCauley seldom gets out for lunch. He brown bags it. So Rounseville gave him a year's supply of brown bags marked "Frank's Lunch."

He also got a powder puff and make-up kit for cable TV appearances.

Some of McCauley's appointees took a little ribbing too. His administrative aide, Arthur Foley, was given "an original Frank McCauley" clock: an ordinary clock with McCauley's picture on it.

Foley, who also doubles as development coordinator - the post formerly held by Rev. Bedros Baharian - was presented a special gift by Rounseville: a clergyman's shirt with white collar for "Almost Rev. Arthur Foley". Baharian who was present laughed along with everyone else.

McCauley was presented a "Garfield The Cat" sweatshirt with this inscription on the back: "Sandra McCauley For President."

Someone said that if McCauley ever starts on a spending spree, they're going to change the inscription to read: "Sandra McCauley For Mayor."

BOBBY ORR, who made such a hit at the Quincy Sons of Italy Sports Night a year ago, will be back for an encore. He'll be the main speaker at the SOI's Sports Night, Monday, March 22 at 7 p.m. Assistant Venerable John Tamasco is entertainment chairman and Jim Mastrantonio sports night chairman. Tickets may be obtained from Mastrantonio, Rocco Marella, John Rossi, Joseph Sacco or Tony Vardaro.

MOST WOMEN (men, too) prefer to keep their age their own business.

But not City Councillor Patricia Toland who will soon reach the half-century mark. Friends are getting up a 50th birthday party for her Sunday, March 14, 4 to 7 p.m. at the Quincy Neighborhood Club. She was born March 16, one day before St. Patrick's Day. Her mother, Veronica Nagle of Dorchester muses: "I got as close as I could to Patrick by naming her Patricia." Tickets for the party are $15 per person and $25 per couple. They can be had by calling 479-2971.

Council Meeting Taped For Cable TV Showing

Monday night's City Council meeting was recorded on video tape for replay Tuesday night over Quincy Cablesystems' Channel 3.

The meeting was to be replayed in its entirety Wednesday at 6 p.m., again over Channel 3, the government channel.

The meeting was filmed rather unobtrusively by two cameras.

Contrary to public fears before the meeting, the appearance of the cameras had little apparent effect on the loquaciousness of the councillors. The meeting adjourned about 9:15 p.m., the usual time.

Council President John J. Lydon Jr. sent a memo to the councillors suggesting that they wear blue shirts for their initial TV appearance but few of them did.

Blue supposedly reflects less light than white shirts and appears white on the TV screen.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley was tastefully attired in a dark suit with blue shirt when he appeared at the meeting to introduce the city's new labor negotiator, David F. Grunebaum.

Quincy Point Most Neglected By School System

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The more I study the Quincy School System and get involved, the more I realize how unequal the system really is. The children of Quincy, regardless of scholastic ability, receive different educations depending on what neighborhood they live in.

The most blatant and neglected area of this city is Quincy Point. We are the only ones asked to operate a K-9 structure. We have received nothing from this School System in the last 30 years. With declining enrollment, they have either built new schools or added on to others, without even properly maintaining the Quincy Point Schools. The scales are so unbalanced that the people of Quincy Point would have a strong legal suit if they chose to pursue one.

In a study by the Quincy School System titled, "Declining Enrollment and Long Range Alternatives", they did a project, "Space Needs Study". I would suggest the School Committee read the publication more closely. Just reading what one school receives over the other in programs is totally unfair. I also suggest you read closely what your own principals stated about different school buildings.

I, personally, have done my own study which I would like to share with you. If you were to divide this City into four sections and do a cross study, the results are alarming. Breaking the City into North-East-South-West areas and doing a comparison study as to enrollment versus capacity of buildings, you would be amazed at the results. Let every area of the City pick 2 schools: 1 Junior High and 1 Elementary? You might ask, "Why one Jr. High and one Elementary?" The reason is: If you consider Quincy Point the South end of the City, that is the only school we have.

Some might think we have three schools: Pollard, Webster and Point Jr. But that is incorrect, because if Webster and Point Jr. are in fact two schools, you owe us one more Principal and one more assistant Principal and also another set of custodians. Let's give the North End of the City, Atlantic Jr., the East End of the city, Broad Meadows, the West End of the City, Sterling Jr., and the South End of the City, Point Jr. I have purposely left out Central Jr. High because it receives children from all ends of the City and if you read page 179 of your own publication, you will understand why.

Atlantic houses 7th and 8th grades with a total enrollment of 488 for a building that was built for 825 students. That is a 59% occupancy rate. Broad Meadows operates at 55%; Sterling operates at 55%; Point - Webster operates at 51%. (If you use the 25 to 1 ratio times 42 classrooms - total occupancy rate of 1050). I personally went to the school and made my own studies. Two rooms are very small and can only hold approximately thirty students. Without the desk and chairs screwed to the floors and the children sitting in a regimented way and with the movable furniture in the classrooms today, the school can hold approximately, 800-840 students and no more.

Using that figure, which is more realistic, today, the occupancy rate moves up to 63%. Either way, you can readily see that all the Junior High Schools are about equal in occupancy percentage. The difference is Point Webster has more (total) students than any of the others - 270 at Point Jr. and 232 at Webster for a total of 502.

Now, let's plug in our elementary school: Quincy Point has the Pollard. The North-West-East can choose any elementary they want to plug into the study. The results are: Pollard has an enrollment of 325 students and can hold 400 for an occupancy rate of 82%. Pollard is also the cheapest school in the system to operate and I might add that Point Jr. is the cheapest Junior High to operate. Taking the 82% of Pollard and either the 51% of Point Webster or the more realistic 63%, we average out to a higher occupancy rate than any other area of the City.

I ask you in all conscience, how can you possibly suggest to close any of our schools? If you do close one of our two schools, we will continue to be different than the rest of the City, regardless of what reorganization plan you might choose. We will become the only area of this City that will be asked to take our children out of our neighborhood under a middle school structure.

If you choose K-8 and 9-12 structure, you will be filling Point Webster to total capacity. If you close Pollard and sell it with no land left in our area, in a year or two you will be asking us to take our children out of our neighborhood again. The homes in Ward 2 will become virtually impossible to sell because of the lack of a school in the area. Before you decide to close a school in Ward 2, take a strong look at the Pollard School. Things to consider are: What would you actually save by closing and how could you possibly build a better school than Pollard? It is very cost effective.

The people of Quincy Point should tar and feather the School Committee for completely neglecting the Point area for so long. Quincy Point has been saving the School System money for years, at the expense of our children.

I suggest you look elsewhere to solve the problems you, yourself, created by not being more cost effective under fiscal autonomy.

Opposes Closing Of Dental Clinic

[Editor's Note: The following letter was sent to Mayor Francis McCauley and a copy submitted to The Quincy Sun for publication.]

Dear Mr. Mayor,

I am writing this letter out of deep concern for the future of this city. My reason for concern is the announcement of the proposed closing of the Dental Clinic. When the people of this city and state voted for Prop 2½ it was to eliminate the unnecessary jobs and profit. Not to take the education and health care of our children and throw it out the window. Scarce taxes are being used on the little people so we'll vote an exemption on Prop 2½ and I for one will not fall for it. California went through this after voting in Prop 13 and the people stuck it out and things are straightening out, with police, firemen and teachers now in great demand.

I implore you to do everything in your power to prevent the closing of the Dental Clinic. It is a great service to those of us who are not on welfare, who can go to private dentists, or those who are a little more fortunate. Please don't make the children suffer for adult greed and corruption.

Bond Issue Sought To Aid Parking Area

Acting Mayor Clifton H. Baker led a delegation of Quincy residents to a State House hearing before the Committee on Municipal Finance in support of a bill to improve the Ross Parking Area.

The legislation, which was filed by Rep. William W. Jenness of Quincy, would permit the city to borrow up to $300,000 to level, pave and install parking meters in the lot.

Alexander Purdon of the Chamber of Commerce told the hearing the area is hazardous; it becomes a pond in rainy weather, and it is so rough that women are afraid to drive their cars in it.

"The plan contemplates the installation of parking meters," he said. "If the national average of $6 a month per meter is maintained the income from these meters would be in excess of $50,000 a year."

CHRISTMAS LIGHTING FOILED

Meanwhile, the Legislative Committee on Cities and Towns rejected a bill, filed by Rep. Avery W. Gilkerson of Quincy, that would have permitted the city to contribute $2,500 for Christmas lighting.

The Chamber's Purdon said the total cost of lighting Quincy Sq. for the holidays had reached $5,300, an amount that was difficult to raise through contributions from merchants and the public.

"We told them to put their money in the treasury and the City Council would match it if they see fit," said City Auditor Leo E. Mullin, who spoke in opposition to the bill.

HOSPITAL DEFICIT UP

The City Hospital financial report for 1948 showed an ever increasing deficit that had reached $417,449, an increase over $350,184 in 1947 and $207,461 in 1946.

The City Council's Finance Committee gave tentative approval to a $1,325,000 hospital budget for 1949, up $42,000 from the previous year. Mayor Charles A. Ross had cut $87,000 from it.

In one of the new features of the budget, beginning nurses were to receive a flat salary of $54.51 a week. Previously they had gotten $39.51 a week plus room and board.

S.S. Twins, Triplets Club Celebrating 25th Anniversary

The South Shore Mothers of Twins and Triplets Club will celebrate its 25th anniversary Monday, March 8, at Eagles Hall, Route 53, East Weymouth.

The evening will feature skits performed by early members and founders of the club.

There will also be a social hour and desserts for all members, sister club members and invited guests.

The club is one of the more than 200 clubs which comprise the National Organization of Mothers of Twins Club, Inc.

The more than 9,000 members of the national organization have a common goal in broadening the understanding of those aspects of child development and rearing especially related to twins.

The monthly meetings of the South Shore group provide educational and social programs for mothers, grandmothers and mothers-to-be of multiple birth children.

The group also works on research programs with various institutions, provides library services and a clothing and furniture exchange for its members.

Anyone interested in the club should contact Kathie Falletti at 749-6143.

Any old members interested in participating in the anniversary celebration can call Ailsa LaCoste at 331-4674.

BONDING RESINS AND YOUR TEETH

Fillings are usually held in teeth by the shape of the cavity filled. However, with a new technique called bonding, tooth-colored resins can be made to stick to the outer surfaces of teeth as well as within cavities. This has made possible many exciting new developments in dentistry.

Children with badly cracked front teeth once needed crowns. Now these teeth can be repaired in one visit at much lower cost. For certain type of cavities, the amount of drilling needed can be greatly reduced when bonded resins are used. Oddly-shaped teeth can be eliminated — without any drilling at all. Furthermore, the filling material is held more tightly against the surface of the tooth, making it less likely that the fillings will fall out, or that the tooth will decay again.

Mayor's Commission Plans Free Health Care Series

The Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women is offering a free, two part series on first aid and emergency health care Wednesdays March 10 and 24 in answer to requests for such programs.

Both programs will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor conference room at Quincy City Hall.

The first program will cover quick first aid for minor injuries that happen around the home.

It will center on emergency first aid and treatment for burns, cuts, sprains and other unexpected injuries.

An introduction to the Heimlich maneuver and cardiopulmonary resuscitation will also be given.

The second program will focus on children's injuries and illnesses.

It will be geared to those who live or work with children - teachers, parents, babysitters, and grandparents.

Norma Rosetti, a registered nurse for over 20 years and a supervisor in Lemuel Shattuck's Outpatient and Continuing Care departments, will be the speaker for both programs.

A graduate of Quincy City Hospital and Boston College Schools of Nursing, she has taught at Quincy Vocational Technical School's nursing programs.

Miss Rosetti said, "Most folks have forgotten what they learned in their high school first aid classes. I want to refresh their memories and tell them what new developments have occurred in the treatment of different emergencies."

A question period will follow the programs.

No Door-To-Door Surveys

The city is making no door-to-door surveys, said Arthur Foley, administrative assistant to Mayor McCauley, and if it were, the surveyors would have suitable identification.

A white male, about 35, in a leather jacket, knocked on the door of Mrs. Elizabeth Parker of Martinsen St., Quincy Point, last week and told her he was from City Hall.

When he started asking personal questions, she asked for his identification and then told him she was going to check it with City Hall. He left in a small blue car, she told police.

A check of the phone number he gave to Mrs. Parker showed it to be a phone booth in Milton and his Boston address did not exist.

'The Hiding Place' At Coffee House

The Fire Escape Coffee House, now located at Glad Tidings Church, 158 Washington St., Quincy, will present the movie,

"The Hiding Place" Saturday beginning at 8 p.m. The Christian coffee house, sponsored by Glad Tidings had been located in East Braintree. "The Hiding Place" is the true war time story of Corrie Ten Boom who survived the Ravensbrück prison camp behind the Iron Curtain.

Gary Gilmore, youth director at Glad Tidings Church, supervises the coffee house.

For information on transportation, call the church office at 773-9797.

Reval Delayed Another Month

set a tax rate for fiscal 1982, the current financial year, because 100 per cent fair market valuations have not been approved by the state.

McCauley said he is through making predictions on when reval will be approved and when tax bills can go out.

"I don't want to talk about dates," he said. "They never seem to be able to make deadlines. I have asked the assessors to stay close to them. If the state people want to come early we'll welcome them."

The mayor said the state survey of valuation figures is expected to take about 1½ weeks.

If the survey shows them to be correct, the Department of Revenue will certify them and the city can send out impact notices of the new values to property owners, who have 60 days to appeal.

Given the 30-day delay, plus the 1½ weeks, plus the 60-day appeal period, it could be as late as mid-June before the 1982 tax rate is set and as late as mid-July before payment is due. That's two weeks into fiscal 1983.

Nut Island Restored After Generator Loss

The MDC's Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant was reported back to normal Tuesday after an emergency generator was rushed to the facility to replace one that broke down Sunday night.

From 10:45 p.m. Sunday until Tuesday afternoon more than 20 million gallons of partially treated sewage was dumped into Quincy Bay for want of the generator.

The facility, which normally has four generators to keep the treatment system going, was then down to one. Two others broke down last month and last Friday.

MDC spokesman Ken Wayne said the sewage that had to be released into the bay was prechlorinated, enough treatment to kill the bacteria.

He said the average age of the four generators is 35 years.

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell and City Councilor Leo J. Kelly both expressed indignation that such a breakdown should occur.

First Grade Registration At Sacred Heart School

Registration will be held Tuesday, March 9, 12:30 to 2:30

A parent must accompany the child to registration.

A baptismal record, if the child was not baptized at Sacred Heart, must be presented.

A record of health and immunizations is also needed by the school nurse who will be present at registration.

A book fee is required at registration.

Council Votes Opposition To Hospital Need Delay

The City Council, alarmed by reports that the state is about to legislate a moratorium on determination of need applications for new hospital construction, voted Monday night to oppose such a move.

City Hospital has submitted a determination of need application to the state seeking approval to build a new 366-bed hospital to replace the current buildings that range in age up to 70 years.

The new hospital figures to cost $70 million for construction of a total replacement facility.

"Any delay in granting approval for the replacement hospital," warned the Council resolution, "either through legislated or defacto moratorium in the processing of determination of need applications would cause a significant increase in the overall cost of the project."

The Council also approved some changes in the hospital's $2 million equipment bond issues, deletions and additions reflecting the changing needs for medical equipment at the hospital.

McCauley Ready Sewer User Fee Plan

Mayor Francis X. McCauley says he hopes to have a plan for a sewer user charge ready for presentation to the City Council at its next meeting, Monday, March 15.

He said Public Works Commissioner Paul Anderson and the sewer and water superintendents, with the aid of Asst. City Solicitor Dean Nicastro hope to have the plan wrapped up by Wednesday, March 10.

"If we don't make that deadline then presentation to the Council will be postponed until the April 5 meeting," said the mayor.

McCauley said the sewer user charge will probably be an ad valorem fee on the tax bill so that taxpayers can use it for a deduction on their income taxes.

Commercial and tax exempt users will be billed for sewer use based on the amount of water they use.

"I want to stress," said McCauley with a straight face, "that my sewer user charge will not involve an independent sewer and water commission."

McCauley was a central figure as a city councillor in the campaign to defeat former Mayor

Arthur H. Tobin's plan to give the water and sewer departments independent authority.

Lenten Services Tuesdays At Houghs Neck Church

Houghs Neck Congregational Church, 310 Manet Ave., is sponsoring Lenten Services Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m.

Lenten journey this year is "Living the Universality of the Cross."

Schedule of services will be:
March 9 - Worship leader, Rev. Robert L. Johnston. Program: "Dust from 3000 Years" with slides from the City of David Archaeological Dig. Speaker: Rev. David A. Venator, minister of the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Dorchester, where he is engaged in an active urban ministry. Rev. Venator was a volunteer on the dig in Jerusalem in 1981.

March 16 - Worship leader, Rev. M. Alicia Corea. Speaker: Rev. Richard C. Malmquist, newly installed minister of First Baptist Church of Wollaston.

March 23 - Worship leader, Rev. Dr. Peter V. Corea. Speaker: Rev. Llewellyn Parsons Smith, first woman senior minister of East Congregational Church, Milton.

All Tuesday Lenten services will have scripture read by Deaconesses of the church. A Coffee hour will follow in Fellowship Hall.

Refreshments will be provided by the Board of Deaconesses. Everyone is welcome.

Young People Lead Squantum Church Service

Young people of the First Church of Squantum led the congregation in worship Sunday morning.

Susan Scott gave The Call to worship; Sarah Midram led the opening prayer; Sandra Ahearn read the Scripture; Bonnie Adams led the prayer of the congregation; and Steve Williams offered the prayer of dedication.

The Youth Choir sang Paul Stookey's "The Building Block" with guitar accompaniment by Steve Williams and Mary Ruth Scott.

The Chancel Choir sang "Come Unto Me" by William Spense with Tom Williamson as soloist. "Our Youth and Our Mission" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, church pastor.

Deborah Stohlberg and Jimbo McKim played the parts of a mother and a son in a play, "Jesus Brings A Boy Back To Life." Melissa Stamos played the part of Jesus. Others in the cast included: Ruth Adams, Karin Reister, Lori Ogilvie, Amanda Young, Kim Olson, Krista Olson and Michael Stamos.

Ushers were Jimbo McKim, Tom Adams, Paul Paulson and Jim Stamos. Greeters were Paul and Mary Gifford. The Fellowship Hour was hosted by Janet Sumner and Ida vonRiegers.

The service next Sunday will begin at 10:15 a.m.

Lenten Series Sunday At St. John's

A Lenten series on prayer, sponsored by St. John's Adult Education Committee, will begin Sunday at 7 p.m. in St. John's School, Phipps St.

The three week series will be conducted by Fr. Lenny Tighe.

Schedule of topics will be: Prayer, What Is It For the Church, March 7; Jesus: the Prayer of the

Lenten Programs

At Squantum First Church

The series of Lenten programs at the First Church of Squantum is continuing Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m.

Theme for the programs is, "The Profile of Jesus: The First Thirteen Centuries, of the Church."

This week's topic was "Controversies, Councils and Creeds."

The topic next week will be "The City of God: What Does It Mean?"

At 6:15 p.m. before the program, there is a dinner each week sponsored by the young people of the church.

Proceeds from the dinner benefit youth programs around the church.

The menu March 10, will be American Chop Suey. Reservations, at $3.50 each, can be made by calling the church office at 328-6649.

200 Attend Way Up's German Dinner

In spite of threatening weather, 200 people attended The Way Up's German dinner, "Winterabendessen", Friday night at Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy.

"It was a great success," said the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, founder and executive director of The Way Up. "Everybody who came had a great time and we did earn a good deal of money to support our ministry with youth."

The Way Up is a specialized youth ministry located in Quincy which serves young people from throughout the South Shore. The program is supported by churches and church groups in Quincy, Milton, Braintree and Weymouth as well as churches and individuals from throughout the state.

It has no connection with "The Way International" from Ohio.

The evening began with a German meal in a dining room decorated with German posters and colors.

Die Speisekarte (menu) read: Apfelwein, apple cider; Rote Ruben Salat mit Sauersahne, beet salad with sourcream; Kassler Rippchen, pork chop; Bratwurst, veal sausage; Kartoffelsalat, German potato salad; Karotten, carrots; Schwarzbrot und Butter, black bread and butter; Pokels, pickles; Vanille Pudding mit Himbeere Sosse, vanilla pudding with raspberry sauce; Kaffe, Tee oder Milch, coffee, tea or milk.

The dinner was prepared by young people of The Way Up and Evelyn Ahearn, Sam Corey, Janet Forbush, May Lewis, Kevin and Linda McGarry, Helen Miller, Si Porter, Louis Townsend and Helen Triles. Teenagers from The Way Up served the meal.

Hazel Mayne was the chairperson in charge of procuring the special German foods and cooking them.

A German bake-table, die Deutschen Backerei, was managed by Rosa Bauer Moats from Austria and Jacquelin Smallcombe from France.

"WINTERABENDESSEN", an evening of German cooking, songs and puppets, was held at Bethany Congregational Church by The Way Up youth ministry. Manning a German bakery table were, from left, Jacqueline Smallcombe, Rosa Moats and Helen Miller.

Contributors to this table included Muriel Burnhauser, Barbara Frazer, Gini Galarneau, Valerie Gorrill, Grace Holmes, May Lewis, Hazel Mayne, Rosa Moats, Marjorie Nielson and Ellen Ogilvie.

After supper, Dr. Langevin gave a welcoming speech in German and Mary Ruth Scott led the crown in a series of German songs.

Many of the young people from The Way Up and the First Church of Squantum presented a puppet show including three stories by the Brothers Grimm, "The Cat And The Mouse In Partnership".

"The Coal, the Bean and the Straw" and "The Bremen Town Musicians."

Puppeteers included Tom Adams, Karen Burgess, Mark Burgess, Bill Cogswell, Gloria Gougian, Ann Lombardi, Jimbo McKim, David Stohlberg, Susan Scott, Carol Williams, Kathy Williams, Mark Williams and Steven Williams.

Faith Lutheran Lenten Services

"Who needs a Savior" was scheduled to be Rev. James L. Kimmell's sermon topic last night (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. as part of weekly Lenten services at Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, Quincy.

The services are being held by Faith Lutheran Church.

Refreshments are served. All are welcome.

During the Lenten season, "The Gospel According to Peanuts" will be illustrated differently each week by the LYFE group.

AN ENTIRE NEW GARAGE FOR $332 . . .

No. We're not in the garage building business. But the amount shown above is your total premium to protect a house with a replacement value of $60,000 with Homeowners Insurance in Quincy.

The rates we quote are almost always lower than available elsewhere.

If you lost your garage due to fire or other insured event you'd only pay a $100 deductible. The rest would be covered.

The policy protects against all risks with $100,000 liability and extended theft.

We've told you the price, now let us give you the complete listing of coverage for the money. We're Quincy people, asking to insure your Quincy home.

Ward 3 Delegate Dispute Settled

The controversy over the election of Ward 3 delegates to the Democratic State Convention has been settled with a slap on the wrist for John J. Lydon Jr. and an honored guest pass for Robert Gibbons.

Gibbons, an unsuccessful delegate candidate at the Ward 3 caucus Feb. 6, challenged Lydon's conduct of the meeting as chairman and the Democratic State Committee upheld the challenge.

Gibbons was given the option of having a runoff election or withdrawing the challenge and receiving an honored guest pass giving him full floor privileges at the May 22 convention.

Linda Hartke of the Democratic State Committee said the committee would also send Lydon a letter expressing its "serious concern" about his handling of the caucus.

"It would be unjust to the others who would have to run again in the runoff," said Gibbons. "My principals were upheld. That is all that's necessary."

"The bottom line," said Lydon, "is that Gibbons was given an opportunity to have a runoff and he did not take it."

"We can substantiate the manner in which the caucus was conducted. We will respond in a positive manner to the Democratic State Committee."

Hearing on Gibbons' challenge was held Saturday before the Compliance Review Board of the Democratic State Committee.

Gibbons wound up the original delegate election tied with Philip Matthews for the last delegate slot. Matthews was elected, Gibbons charged, after the caucus was adjourned and reopened.

Only 37 voters were present at the runoff, he said.

Gibbons also protested that Lydon did not use an up-to-date voting list for the caucus and closed the meeting before the ballots of delegates were counted.

Both Gibbons and Matthews were delegate candidates committed to Michael S. Dukakis for governor.

Board Continues Hearing On 'Lodging House'

The City License Board voted Tuesday to continue to March 30, a hearing on an alleged lodging house at 242 Fayette St., Wollaston.

The matter came to the board's attention when neighbors complained of a number of cars being illegally parked on the street by tenants of one half of the duplex.

"The cars cause a horrendous parking problem," area resident Mrs. Florence Picard told the board.

If the duplex was licensed as a

Local residents who work during the day will be able to participate in the License Board's hearing on rolling back 2 a.m. closings which has been lodging house, off street parking would have to be provided.

But, explained Building Inspector Allan MacDonald, "the area is Residence B and lodging houses are not allowed."

The board explained to owner Mee Kam Mark of Brighton that a lodging house license would not be needed if that half of the duplex was rented to blood relatives such as a family, as is the other half of the property.

Miss Mark was given until the end of the month to correct the situation.

The board will consider a 1 a.m. closing hour for all liquor establishments in the city.

COMMITTEE HEARINGS

The Legislative session is in full swing. Committees are meeting to discuss many controversial matters. The House Ways and Means Committee is currently taking testimony on the fiscal 1983 State Budget. A fight over the formula for local aid disbursement is expected to develop later in the legislative year. The formula is expected to take into consideration a community's losses as a result of Prop. 2½.

The Committee on Government Regulations will be hearing testimony on legislation I co-sponsored to prohibit Boston Edison from passing on costs incurred by the utility in planning and development of the cancelled Pilgrim II Nuclear Power Plant. It is expected that a rate increase could cost consumers $4.70 additional per month if the legislation does not pass.

The Committee on Urban Affairs has heard some legislation affecting the management and operation of the M.D.C. as well as recreation facilities.

The Committee on Post Audit and Oversight is currently conducting an investigation on inventory of State office equipment, as well as the State's sick leave policy.

Bregoli: 'The Finest Group Of Kids...'

By TOM SULLIVAN

"This is the finest group of kids I've ever been associated with. I love them all and am sorry to see the season end."

So said an emotional coach Paul Bregoli, after his North Quincy girls' basketball team lost to top-seeded Needham, 64-46, last Friday night in the Eastern Mass. Div. 1 South tournament.

The Raiderettes had defeated Attleboro, 54-41, two nights earlier for the first girls' tournament win ever for North and they actually played better against the potent Needham squad (19-1) than the final score indicates.

"They have an outstanding team and they came out flying as they hit their first eight shots, including a couple from 18 feet out," said Bregoli. "But we made them turn the ball over 10 times but we couldn't get a single basket off the turnovers. With Needham ahead, 6-2, we missed three easy layups and four foul shots which could have made a world of difference."

Needham's heralded center, 6-foot Janet Houghan, had 26 points but could score only 12 over the first three quarters as Chris Choukas did an excellent job covering her man-to-man. "She scored 14 points in the final quarter but most were 'garbage' baskets," Bregoli said.

Needham rolled to a 30-18 halftime lead as the Raiderettes show only four for 19 from the floor.

North's JoAnn Runge, who topped the team in scoring with 19 points, scored seven in the second half and played a tough defensive game. On the transition game she made some nice passes to senior guard Tricia Meehan, who scored four points.

Runge was outstanding in every department, passing, shooting and rebounding, but she couldn't be expected to perform a one-woman show.

"JoAnn tried to break it by herself," Bregoli said. "It's tough when you have three people hanging on you. You can't see who to pass to. Their press really hurt us.

ENC Hosts NCCAA

The Eastern Nazarene College basketball team, top-seeded thanks to its 8-1 conference record (16-10 overall), will host the National Christian College Athletic Association (NCCAA) District 1 championships Friday and Saturday night.

The Crusaders, under first-year coach Jerry Perera, a former ENC star and NCCAA all-star, will face

Gordon College Friday night at 8 and, if it wins, will meet the winner of District 2, Concordia, N.Y., or Nyack, N.Y., Saturday night at 8 at the ENC gym.

The winner of that game will compete in the NCCAA national tournament in Chattanooga, Tenn. ENC has not made the nationals for two years but, previous to that, had played in the tournament many times.

North Girls Set U.S. 4-Mile Relay Record

The North Quincy girls added another chapter to their brilliant track season last Saturday at Harvard when they ran the fastest four-mile relay ever run by a women's team in the United States.

In a special invitational race at Harvard, organized for high school girls' teams from Massachusetts and New York to see if anyone could break the record, the North girls easily obliterated the old record of 22:13 set by Netham, N.Y., with an amazing time of 20:41.51. Not only is this the national high school record for indoors, but it broke the outdoor record of 20:49.

Mary Kate Kennedy ran her mile lap in 5:06.5, Linda Kennedy in 5:15, Sheila Barrett in 5:13 and Nancy McCarthy in 5:07.

Six teams broke the old record with Waltham finishing second in 21:04, followed by Pearl River, N.Y., 21:50; Falmouth, 21:58; Weymouth South, 21:59, and Billerica, 22:04.

"This was a tremendous achievement by the girls," said Coach Lou Tozzi. "They all did a superb job and this is a great honor for the school. The competition was terrific."

The special race was an added attraction to the women's Ivy League championships.

Saturday the North girls, Suburban League and state champions, will compete in the Eastern States championship at Harvard starting at 11 a.m. Thirteen states will be represented in the meet.

North's Michelle Millane will be in the shot put, Kara Crehan in the high jump and Mary Kate Kennedy, Barrett, Karen Lindenfelzer and McCarthy will run on a distance medley relay team.

Quincy Girls Eliminate Durfee

The Quincy girls' basketball team, the Suburban League champion, was scheduled last night (Wednesday) to meet league rival Newton North in the Eastern Mass. Div. 1 South semifinals after a 53-40 victory over Durfee of Fall River last Friday.

If the Quincy girls get by Newton they will face either top-seeded Needham (19-1) or league rival Weymouth North in the South championship game Saturday at 1 o'clock at Foxboro High.

Quincy and Newton North split even in two close games during the regular season, Newton eking out a one-point win with a last second shot in the first game and Quincy winning by three in the second meeting.

Quincy coach Peter Swanson admitted his team played "sloppily" in last week's tournament win at Durfee.

"I think it was due to our being nervous in this big gym," he said. "But we had a big height advantage and sooner or later we knew we could use it to our advantage."

The offensive rebounding of Ellen Deady and Mary Kamb played a big part in the victory.

Kamb scored 12 points and pulled down 15 rebounds, while Deady had six points and took down 10 rebounds late in the game.

The teams were tied, 8-8, after the opening quarter but Quincy moved into a 22-19 edge at the half.

Late in the third quarter Kamb's power move inside, following an offensive rebound, forced a Durfee foul. When she made both free throws, Quincy took a 31-27 lead into the final session.

Here the Quincy girls took complete control of the offensive boards as Kamb opened the fourth quarter with another power move inside to put Quincy ahead by six.

Deady and Kamb dominated the boards and Cindy Morrell came off the bench to score eight points. She scored off another offensive rebound to give her team a 38-30 lead and Deady muscled inside and was fouled. She hit both shots to give Quincy its biggest lead, 41-31.

Maryann Agres came in to score five points and Quincy outscored Durfee, 22-13, to win going away.

"Kamb was getting slapped and fouled all over the place," Swanson said. "But she took every bit of it and responded by getting tough. We out-rebounded them in the second half because we boxed out well and because we played aggressively."

Once again senior guard Nancy MacDonald, one of the top scorers in the Suburban League, led Quincy's scorers with 17 points, playing only a little more than a half due to an ankle injury which has bothered the league all-star all season.

"Bob Dacey, our assistant coach, worked the last two days in stopping them from cutting to the ball and getting inside on us," Swanson explained. "We were successful in stopping their two top players, Nancy Stanton (held to eight points) and Dana Lina (also held to eight) because of the way we denied them access to the lane."

Also playing well and contributing to the victory were Michelle Miller, Kathy Duggan, Meg Goldrick and Dara Morris.

For QJC It Was A Season To Forget

The Quincy Junior College basketball team ended a frustrating season with two wins in a row to finish up 4-19.

QJC's Jim Conboy finished up with 500 points on the season as he hit his last two foul shots against Emerson. Four QJC players hit double figures led by Conboy, who had his greatest game of the year with 40 points and 31 rebounds. Sophomore Co-Capt. Andrew Scheele, playing his last game for the Jaguars, scored 18, Rick Anderson 12 and freshman co-captain Ken Mann 10.

Quincy led at halftime, 39-33, thanks to the shooting of Scheele, who has 14 points. But Emerson, playing a box and one double-team defense on Conboy, narrowed the gap to five points with six minutes left.

The Jaguars were being fouled and responded by hitting on 34 of 42 foul shots. Conboy, who had 30 points in the second half, was 22 for 23 from the foul line. But it was sophomore Mark Linane, who hit both ends of a one-and-one with 1:23 left and followed up a missed foul shot with a basket with 37 seconds left to give QJC the win.

"The sophomores saved the best for last," said a happy Quincy coach Brian Buckley. "Scheele shot great, Linane came through with his best game in two years and Paul Mezzetti played good defense. The players wanted to win their final game and they came through when it counted.

"Conboy is looking forward to the all-star game and to next season. I don't know if I'll ever see a player have a better season. Jim had 23 games in a row in double figures, scored over 30 points three times and 40 in the final game. We didn't realize he had scored an even 500 points until after the game. He is not a one-dimensional player, he's a super rebounder, passes well and has improved immensely on defense."

In its previous game QJC had defeated Blue Hills Technical, 80-71, as Conboy scored 28 points and was 10 for 10 from the line. Freshman Rico McTaggart had 16 points and freshman Anderson 13.

Quincy Rally Falls Short In Tech Semi

Al Pasquale touched off a spectacular last period comeback but it fell three points short as the Quincy High School basketball team bowed to Waltham, 39-36, in the semi-finals of the Tech Tournament in Boston Garden.

The Presidents, then known as the Blues, trailed 33-16 in the dying seconds of the third quarter when Pasquale took a handoff from Bobby Pettinelli and drove through the Waltham defense for an easy layup.

Then Quincy outscored the opposition 18-6 over the final period as Pasquale hit with one-handers, Ralph Beaton scored from under the basket and Pete Lura threw in set shots. But Waltham, on the ropes, was saved by the buzzer.

Pasquale had 15 points, Beaton had seven and Lura eight for the Quincy team that lost one of its stars, Walker Wheelock, on fouls early in the fourth quarter. Doug Campbell replaced him.

"It wasn't enough to win," said a disappointed Coach Munroe MacLean, "but it was something for the boys to be proud of. They weren't disgraced, not on that fourth period."

Quincy reached the semi-finals with a 45-43 victory over Attleboro in the opening round in which Pasquale had 13 points, Wheelock 11 and Beaton 10. The Blues won the game on the strength of a 22-9 first period.

The Quincy lineup that dressed for the tourney included Pete Lura, Al Pasquale, Walker Wheelock, Ralph Beaton, Bob Pettinelli, Doug Campbell, Bob Steele, Gus Lawrence, Dick Drake, Bob Keefe, Dick Salvaggi, and Leo Andronico.

The only losses on Quincy's 16-2 slate came at the hands of Lowell and Somerville.

BERLANGER PACES QUINCY

Join Berlander, scoring 16 goals and assisting on five others for a total of 21 points in seven games, led the Quincy High School hockey team to the South Shore League title with a record of five wins, one loss and a tie.

Belanger was the big gun with two goals as the South Shore League all stars battled the North Shore all stars to a 3-3 tie before more than 1,000 fans at the outdoor rink in Lynn. Frank Carroll of North Quincy was the all star goalie.

Other members of the 15-player South Shore "dream team" included Jack Costello, Quincy, goal; Bob Smith, Quincy, defense; Jack Gilbody, North Quincy, center; and Walter Hannon, North Quincy, wing.

POINT TAKES TITLE

Stan Berman scored 10 points to lead Coach Dan Leavitt's Point team to a 23-15 victory over South and clinch the Junior High School Basketball League championship.

The Point lineup included Ciprinio, Galante, Sawyer, Pizzilli, forwards; Bigelow, center; Berman, Krasnigor, guards.

The South lineup included: Collins, Preziosa, Norris, Player, Cugiri, forwards; Kelly, center; Jacobson, Ojala, guards.

NORTH IN NEAR UPSET

Dick Worthley tallied 16 points as the North Quincy High School basketball team fell three points short of the upset of the year, bowing to tourney-bound Quincy, 38-35, in the season's finale.

The North Quincy lineup included: Welch, Worthley, forwards; Kracala, Stroberg, centers; Player, Cuneo, McLaughlin, McGuiggan, guards.

KNIGHTS WIN

The North Quincy Knights of Columbus turned on the speed and Gus Ryan threw in 20 points for a 68-51 victory over the Nashua AA in Nashua, the 15th win in 18 games for Robbie Williams' Knights.

Their lineup included: White, McCarthy, Ryan, Johnson, forwards; Meade, center; Cedrone, Reilly, Mahar, Higgins, Reid, guards.

ACES CAPTURE CROWN

Bob Woodward's goal with 15 seconds remaining gave the Adams Shore Aces a 3-2 win over the Weymouth Wildcats and the South Shore Junior Hockey League championship in Boston Arena.

Harlem Wizards Defeat Former Celtics Stars

The Harlem Wizards, led by their founder, the fabulous Marques Haynes, came to Quincy last week and, before more than 1500 who packed the Vo-Tech gym, defeated a team of former Celtics stars and the Quincy High squad by a score of 100-70.

The game was one of the most entertaining ever played in Quincy as Haynes, an original Globetrotter playing his 38th season of basketball, and the other Wizards provided laughs galore and also played some pretty fair basketball to outclass the Celtics-Presidents squad. No one knows the score of the game and no one could care less.

Quincy coach Joe Amoroso, who played against Haynes (who is 60-plus years old and still handles the ball like a 20-year-old) 22 years ago in Woodsville, N.H., played again with his players against the unbelievable dribbler.

Facing the Wizards were former Celtic all-stars John Havlicek and Dave Cowens and ex-celtics Steve Kuberski, Kevin Stacom and Hank Finkel.

The game was sponsored by the Quincy Basketball Boosters Club and a goodly sum was raised to help out the Quincy boys' basketball program.

"My Quincy players were in disbelief they were on the same floor playing with the Celtics. They're all such great players, but not only that, they are great people. And I was just as thrilled as my players being on the same floor with Havlicek, Cowens and the other," Amoroso said.

"Haynes is absolutely unbelievable and no one could get the ball away from him while he was putting on his dribbling exhibition. There was a lot of good feeling and after the game, the players of both teams and the cheerleaders went to a local restaurant to eat and talk about the game."

"It was exciting playing with the FORMER Celtic captain and perennial all-star John Havlicek is guarded by the Harlem Wizards' John Adams.

Celtics. Years from now I'll be able to say I played with John Havlicek," said Quincy High player Paul Gilbody. And teammate Kevin Riggs can point with pride to the six points he scored against the Wizards.

"That guy (Haynes) is just unbelievable," said Havlicek. "He plays like a young man and I never saw anyone who can handle the ball better."

Many of those in attendance were youngsters who had a great time hob-nobbing with the Wizards.

"My purpose in life now is to entertain people, whether it's a crowd of 10 or 10,000. I like to see people enjoying themselves, especially the kids," Haynes said.

Four-year-old Damien Bauman of Braintree and five-year-old Michael Sanik, son of former Quincy assistant coach Mike Sanik were finalists in Wizard Valentino Willis' halftime catching contest.

"You can't go out there trying to play serious basketball with those guys," said Havlicek. "They are very talented in their own, particular way. The important thing is that everybody has a good time. And they certainly did tonight."

"It was just great of these guys to come out for us," Amoroso said. "They did it because they love the game and tonight they gave something back to basketball."

Track Club Shines In N.E. Age-Group Competition

The Quincy Track Club made another outstanding showing in the recent N.E. Age-Group championships at Taunton High School.

Paul McLellan was the meet's outstanding competitor as he won the 300 and 600 in the boys' 10-11 division.

Tommy Walsh and Mike Rugnetta took fourth and fifth in boys' 12-13 hurdles.

In the boys' dash Walsh took third, Karen Cashman took second in girls' 10-11, Robbie Kearney took fourth in boys' 10-11 and Laura Ciulla placed second in girls' 12-13.

In the 300 Joanna Rugnetta took fourth in girls' 8-9, Patty Feeney took third in 10-11, Ciulla won in girls' 12-13, Tony Rugnetta was fifth in boys' 10-11, Robbie Kearney took fourth in boys' 10-11 and Mike Rugnetta took fourth in boys' 12-13.

In the 600 Karen Cashman was fourth in girls' 10-11.

In the 1000 Sutee Siriken-janachee placed sixth in boys' 10-11 and Feeney and Marta Martinez took second and third in girls' 10-11.

Harry Morash won the mile in boys' 12-13.

Thirty QTC members took part in the meet sponsored by Silver City Dodge. The first six finishers in each event received Olympic-size medals.

3 Quincy Teams Still In Floor Hockey Tourney

Eight teams, including three from Quincy, remain in the South Shore Floor Hockey Tournament at Marshfield's Skateland. Competition will continue Sunday.

The Quincy Point Men won their third game in a row, handing East Bridgewater its first defeat, 4-3, in overtime.

Quincy defenseman Brian McKenna fired home a low shot deflected by the Easties' goalie into the net at 3:30 of the first overtime. Bob Ronan scored the first Quincy goal and assisted on the second, a slap shot off the stick of Jim Banda.

The third goal was a power play score by Rich Saliba. Goalie Larry Price was again outstanding with 34 saves.

The Point Men will play the Quincy G-Men Sunday at 9:50 a.m.

The red hot G-Men bumped off the Quincy Braves, 4-3, with defenseman Pat Connolly rifling a bullet through a screen with five minutes left in the game. The G-Men then stopped the Braves cold in their own end the last two pressure-filled minutes. It was the second game in a row in which Connolly scored the game-winner.

Ron Drew scored two goals on blasts from the point and also assisted on the game-winner.

Also scoring for the G-Men was Mike Shea.

The Quincy Pucksters rebounded from the defeat by South Boston to eliminate the Dorchester Stars, 4-2.

Jim Pasquarelli's ninth goal of the tournament, a wrist shot from 10 feet out was enough to keep the Pucksters alive. Brian McCusker then scored the fourth goal late in the game to ice the decision. Jerry Martin and Bob Lindenfelzer also scored, Lindenfelzer with a nifty steal of a clearing pass and a quick snap shot from 25 feet away.

The Pucksters will play the Neponset Florists Sunday morning at 10:55.

Colonial Runs Undefeated Streak To 14

There seems to be no stopping Colonial Federal, which extended its Pee Wee Division undefeated streak in St. Ann's Hockey League to 14 games (13-0-1) in rolling over Dunkin Donuts, 9-1, giving it an 11-point lead. Matt Hurley had a hat trick, Keith Tangney and Tom Gannon two goals apiece and Mike Noonan and Rob Gannon one each. Jim Bryan had Dunkin Donuts' goal.

Keohane's blanked Ideal Elevator, 3-0, on goals by Paul McLellan, Jason April and John Kelly, all unassisted. Goalie Jeff April earned the shutout.

Bike'n' Blade shut out JDA, 3-0, as Eric Visocchi scored twice and Dave Healy once. Chris LaForest and Brian Ready had assists. Neil O'Callaghan was in goal.

The standings: Colonial Federal, 13-0-1; Dunkin Donuts, 8-6-0; Keohane's, 6-7-1; Ideal Elevator, 5-7-2; Bike'n' Blade, 3-7-4; JDA, 2-10-2.

In the Bantam Division the Riley Club held on to its one-point lead by tying Art Tailors, 2-2. Brian Campbell and Paul Carty scored for Riley with an assist for Dan Robinson. Paul Cronin and Al Histen scored for Art Tailors with assists for Scott Noonan, D.J. Riley, Jay Casey, Rob Zompani and Tim Nardone.

Lydon Russell and Plaza Olds tied, 3-3, with Steve Breslin scoring two goals and Dwayne Wilcoxon one for Lydon, all unassisted. For Plaza John Hyslip, Gary Clark and Mark Dougan had the goals and Bob Climo, Brian Callow and Paul Tosoni had assists.

The standings: Riley Club, 9-3-2; Lydon Russell, 9-4-1; Art Tailors, 5-7-2; Plaza Olds, 2-11-1.

Mite A's Defeat Brockton

Quincy's Mite A hockey team defeated Brockton, 7-2, with Ronnie Last and Steve Carroll scoring two goals apiece and Tony Spinelli, Sean McArdle and Joe Zona having one each. Spinelli, Matt Riley and Joe Bevilacqua had two assists apiece and Matt Kelley, Zona, Jason Radzevich and Timmy Collins one each.

Jeff Bertoni was outstanding in goal and Bobby Daggett and Scott McClory played excellent games.

Soccer League Seeks Coaches

The Quincy Youth Soccer League is looking for coaches for the spring season. Coaches either experienced or willing to learn, are particularly needed for the first and second grade boys.

Boys are also needed to play at the third and fourth grade levels as well as the seventh, eighth, ninth and 10th grades.

Anyone interested in coaching, assisting or playing, is asked to call Frank Delaney at 471-1645.

Jan Marnell and her teammates have scored the best team three string total of 1658 while Debra Koch's group has the top team single string of 593.

Women are invited to join the Loop as spare or regular bowlers.

Darcy Team Leads St. John's

Tom Darcy's team leads the St. John's Holy Name Bowling League with a 28-8 record and total pinfall of 8673.

The rest of the standings: Harley Jordan's team, 20-16 (8639); Dick Guerriero, 19-17 (8790); Ed Linehan, 16-20 (8613); Bob Saluti 16-20 (8596); Dan Mastro, 9-27 (8608).

Guerriero rolled the weekly high individual single of 136 and Mike Panarelli had 133. Guerriero also had the high three of 341 and also rolled a 336.

Guerriero's team had the high team single of 555 and Mastro's team had 531. Guerriero's team also had the high three of 1499 and Mastro had 1449.

The Top Ten: Guerriero, 110.8; Saluti, 109.8; Linehan, 107.7; Lou Faiella, 106.1; Panarelli, 105.5; Dick DiRamio, 101.9; Jim Mastrantonio, 101.6; Darcy, 100.9; Joe Matarazzo, 98.9; Frank Guerriero, 97.2.

Bregoli In Tribute To Raiderettes

boards and we don't usually get beaten like that. We weren't boxing out and they were getting the second and third rebounds." North managed only four defensive rebounds in the first half.

Choukas, a junior, scored 10 of her 12 points in the second half. Mary Holleran had six points, Simone Koch five and Karen Bridges four.

North got off to a slow start against Attleboro but broke the game open with some outstanding defense in the second half.

Bregoli felt his team took Attleboro too lightly after having scouted it when it didn't look impressive.

"They didn't play very well that night, but I knew Attleboro was a much better team and I tried to stress that," the North coach said. "I think the girls felt they could walk all over them — that they could just walk on the court and it would be over."

However, Attleboro played the Raiderettes even in the first half on the North floor. The teams were tied, 16-16, after a quarter and 26-26 at halftime.

However, the North girls came on strong in the last two quarters, held Attleboro to two points in the third quarter and outscored the visitors, 28-15, to win going away.

In the opening quarter Runge scored six of her game-high 18 points and Karen Bridges had four of her seven. Bridges led the Raiderettes with 12 rebounds.

"We were trying all sorts of things in the first half," said Bregoli.

"We'd been playing mostly a zone and weren't doing so hot. In the second half we played man-to-man."

It worked as the Bombardiers were held to two points in period three and North took a 33-28 lead, thanks in part to four points from Choukas, who finished with 14 points. She hit the final two baskets of the quarter.

The offensive thrust that North had been known for during the season suddenly went into high gear in the final eight minutes as it scored 21 points to 13 for the visitors.

Bridges and Runge did some outstanding rebounding and Janet Petkun, Maureen McAlaney, Meehan, Karen Boutilier and Mary Ellen Timmins played strong defense.

"That kind of defensive effort never shows up in the stats, but it's so important," Bregoli said. "We played very good defense in the second half and every one was outstanding. We had seven steals in the half (three by Holleran) and played a really good fourth period."

North had qualified for the tournament when it won the final three games for the second year in a row. This year it was a more difficult task as it had to face Suburban league-leading Weymouth North in the finale and Weymouth had handed the Raiderettes a 17-point setback earlier.

North led from the start in that game and not only wanted to make tournament for the second year in a row, but gave Quincy the league championship, knocking Weymouth into second place.

"The girls proved they had a lot of character in winning those last three games," Bregoli said. "As I said before, they were just a wonderful group of kids. It would have been a shame if they hadn't made the tournament after their hard work all year."

Y Class II Wins, Bows

The South Shore YMCA Class II gym team defeated Marblehead, 83-0-81.1, last week.

Patti Novak placed first in the all-around category, scoring 28.2 points.

Later in the week the team lost to Danvers, 93.1-90.9, despite Julie Killion's third place all-around score of 30.3.

In the Marblehead meet South Shore started out with a tie for first place in vaulting between Novak and Killion, with 8.3 scores.

South Shore swept the top three places on bars to take an early lead in the meet. Killion won the 6.7, followed by Diane Rafferty with 6.1 and Novak with 5.7.

Rafferty took third on balance beam at 6.0 and South Shore clinched the victory with a sweep in floor exercises. Novak won with 8.4, Killion was second with 8.0 and Rafferty third with 7.9.

The team looked strong again in vaulting in the Danvers meet with Novak placing second with 8.3 and Killion and Rafferty tying for third with 8.2.

Killion made a strong showing on bars, placing second with 7.4. Rafferty took third with 6.1.

South Shore lost ground on the balance beam, slipping back by a point. Novak took third with 7.3.

The team made a gallant effort to regain lost ground in floor exercises with Novak winning with 8.6. Natalie Nigro took third with 8.4.

The Broad Meadows girls' basketball team won the city junior high championship last week with a 34-13 victory over Atlantic.

Laurie Fratolillo paced BM with 12 points and Denise Loud had 10. Linda Mahoney scored the first six points of the game and Kathy Thornton sank two free throws to five BM an 8-0 lead after the opening quarter.

Loud went to work in the second quarter and scored six of her 10 points and BM extended its lead to 16-4 at the half.

Atlantic outscored the winners, 7-2, in the third session to cut the gap to 18-11, but BM came back strong in the finale as Fratolillo scored 10 points, Loud four and Capt. Joan Agres two.

Earlier in the week BM had rolled over Point, 31-10, with Agres scoring 11 points and Fratolillo 10.

Broad Meadows averaged 29 points a game while allowing the opposition 20 points a game.

"The starting team of Agres, Susan McDonald, Fratolillo, Loud and Mahoney was awesome," said Coach Chris Prendiville. "They worked as well together as any group I've ever coached."

"And the tremendous backup performances by players such as Kathy Thornton, Caroline Madden and Lynn Light made Broad Meadows the best in the city. The girls worked very hard and I'm very proud to have had the privilege of coaching them."

YMCA Class III Team Wins Pair

The South Shore YMCA Class III gym team continues to roll and last week defeated Andover and defending champion Danvers.

Michele Healy placed first in the all-around category in both meets, scoring 31.2 and 34.3 points respectively.

South Shore overtook Danvers, 97.2-95.9, with Laura Rizzi and Healy tying for first place on vault with 8.3 points. Liz Hines completed the sweep by taking third with 8.0.

Balance beam gave South Shore an additional edge with Rizzi placing first with 8.1.

Healy won floor exercise with 8.8 and Darlene Burke placed second with 8.2.

The team topped Andover, 95.8-90.7, with Natalie Nigro winning both beam and floor exercise with 8.6 and 8.8 points respectively. Healy won the vault with 8.7 and also won on bars with 7.9.

Jennifer Rafferty added two second places in balance beam with 7.7 and vault with 8.6.

MEN OR WOMEN SAFER?

No doubt, everyone has his or her own opinion as to who are safer drivers - men or women. Most people queried on the subject normally vote for their own sex. But that's pure guesswork with a little ego-factor thrown in. According to statistics compiled by the National Safety Council, there is a definite relationship between accident rates, age and sex. Happy or not - here they are.

The safest drivers on the road are women between the ages of 16 and 25. However, women over 45 are either very good drivers or very bad ones.

The real killer on wheels is most likely to be a male under the age of 25. According to the records, he does most of his killing on weekends during the hours of darkness. There were more than 50,000 persons killed on U.S.

highways last year and one-third of the fatal accidents involved drivers under the age of 25. This is why insurance rates are usually higher for young male drivers.

Slide Lecture For Art Association March 9

Lu Stubbs will present a slide lecture on her bronze sculpture at a meeting of the Quincy Art Association Tuesday, March 9, at 7:30 p.m. at the Beechwood Community Life Center, 225 Fenno St.

Guests are welcome. Miss Stubbs will show the earliest stage in her studio in Sharon, the lost wax casting and other work at the foundry as well as the installation and unveiling of the finished sculpture.

A graduate of Boston Museum

School with highest honors, she attended Accademia di Bella Arti, Perugia, Italy.

She has taught at Boston University, Milton Academy and Boston Center for Adult Education.

Children's Book Author At Crane Public Library

Children's book author Shirley Glubok will speak at the Thomas Crane Public Library, Quincy Center, Tuesday, March 9, at 2 p.m.

Her illustrated talk, "King Tut's Tomb and related Egyptian art," is for children eight years old and older and suitable for adults as well.

Miss Glubok has written more than 30 books, most of them on the art of specific cultures. Her books are an outgrowth of her lectures to young children at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. The books themselves are works of art and are strikingly illustrated with photographs.

Miss Glubok is an extensive world traveler, gathering materials for her books. She is currently touring South Shore communities lecturing at local public libraries.

Loren Strout Elected Tourist Council Director

James J. Collins, chairman of the Norfolk County Commissioners, announces the election of Loren W. Strout of Quincy as a director of the Norfolk County Development and Tourist Council.

Strout is owner of the Presidents' City Motel and the Winfield House Restaurant, Hancock St., Quincy.

Long active in community affairs, Strout is a member of the Quincy Tourism Association, Quincy Heritage, Quincy Civil Defense, Quincy Chapter Red Cross and is a Boy Scout Leader.

A long-time member of the Wollaston Masonic Lodge, he is also a member of Taleb Grotto and the Wollaston Professional Businessmen's Association.

He resides in West Quincy with his wife, the former Nancy Callahan of North Quincy, and four children.

Schooner JOHN F. LEAVITT

Film On Sailing Ships At Historical Society

"The Ways at Wallace and Sons", a color documentary film showing the construction of the ill-fated schooner John F. Leavitt will be shown Tuesday, March 9, at 1 p.m. at the Quincy Historical Society.

The two-masted schooner, launched in 1979 to rekindle interest in sailing ships, sank in a storm in the Atlantic on its maiden voyage with a capacity cargo of lumber and tanning supplies for Haiti.

The film, chronicling the traditional art of wooden boat construction in a contemporary setting, is offered as part of the society's "Quincy Remembers" series. Admission is free.

S.S. Viking Association Flea Market March 14

The Ladies' Group of the South Shore Viking Association will hold its Annual Flea Market Sunday, March 14, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Viking Club, 410 Quincy Ave., East Braintree.

There will be over 30 tables and booths displaying antiques, crafts and collectables.

There will also be an all day snack bar sponsored by the Ladies' Group.

Mrs. Carl Lundin of Weymouth is chairman of the Flea Market. Mrs. Evelyn Peterson of Braintree is chairman of the Snack Bar.

Children's Book Fair Set For March 12-13

The South Shore Reading Council is sponsoring a book fair that will include exhibits of children's literature and hourly special features Friday and Saturday, March 12 and 13 at Harborlight Mall in North Weymouth.

The event, called "Think Books," will be held from 5:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Friday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday.

The special features will include a puppet show at 11 a.m. Saturday and an illustrated talk by Marc Brown, author of many children's books, at 2 p.m.

WOMEN'S HISTORY WEEK will feature an exhibit of photos including this 1929 theater publicity photo of Oliveette Hensel Holmes, then 16 and vaudeville dancer. Now a Halifax resident, she has two children and eight grandchildren living in Quincy. One of her grandchildren, Kathy Moriarty, a student at North Quincy High School, contributed this photo for the exhibit.

Women's History Week March 8-13

Quincy Public School students will celebrate Women's History Week March 8 to 13, with exhibits of photographs, a time line and a local version of "Roots".

The week will begin with Mayor Francis X. McCauley joining with Quincy School children proclaiming Women's History Week Monday at 3 p.m. at City Hall.

Tuesday, students at Atherton Hough and Furnace Brook Schools will exhibit the results of their work on projects.

Atherton students have put together a time line with copies of Patriot Ledger headlines printed on the birthdays of their grandmothers, mothers and themselves.

They have also added records of significant events surrounding the birth dates.

Furnace Brook students have researched their roots and made charts showing where their mothers and grandmothers were born.

"Remember the Ladies", an exhibit of photographs of the mothers and grandmothers of Atlantic Junior High and North Quincy High School students, will be held Wednesday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the NQHS Atrium.

A slide-tape presentation has been assembled by students for viewing that evening.

Participating teachers include Pat Garrett, Atlantic Junior High; Ann Pegg and Fran McKillop, Atherton Hough; Susan Farrell and Martha Brennan, Furnace Brook; and Dolores Tormey, Angela Solmonte, Judith Jensen, Geraldine Stein, Alberta Murray-Head, and Nan Martyak of North Quincy High School.

The Women in History Project is an activity of Project Inter-Action, a federally funded program with THE NETWORK of Andover, to achieve equity in a school system.

Alicia Coletti, Quincy Public Schools coordinator of Project Inter-Action, commented, "Quincy is a city with a rich heritage and this observance of Women's History Week gives students a chance to highlight the many contributions which women have made to the richness of life in the city of Quincy.

Students have used interviewing, researching, writing and technical skills and developed a deeper understanding and appreciation of their family heritage.

We are especially grateful to the banks and companies which have so enthusiastically supported the project."

The following businesses have contributed to the Women in History Project: Quincy Cooperative Bank, Hancock Bank and Trust Company, Quincy Savings Bank, South Shore Bank, Quincy Mutual Fire Insurance Company, National Fire Protection Association and State Street Bank and Trust Company.

The public is invited to all the events of Women's History Week.

Salvation Army To Hold Spaghetti Dinner

The Salvation Army of Quincy will hold a spaghetti dinner Saturday, March 13, 5 to 8 p.m., at the Temple Corps building, 6 Baxter St.

Dinner will include salad, beverage, and dessert.

Continuous musical entertainment will be provided during the evening. Tickets may be secured at the door or in advance by calling the office at 472-2345.

All profits from the dinner will be used to support the World Service missionary work of The

WEEK OF: MARCH 4

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

Thursday's news makes you laugh and/or blush. Saturday's visitors bring surprises along. Loved one may be inconsistent starting Monday. And fascinating new faces brighten the whole week.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Youngsters adopt you as a positive role model; while older relatives could be vying for your attentions. Ingenuity solves a romantic dilemma.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Keyword is simplify: clear up clutter, be precise with words, take the straightforward route. Also, begin that health routine you keep talking about — and enjoy a sweetened romantic life.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

You and partner at last see eye to eye on the subject of distributing joint funds. Flippant remark may offend conservative colleague but you prove your loyalty by end of this period.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

Fact is more interesting than fiction, with interesting new people entering your sphere. Money theme accent. Financial negotiations are underway and a small windfall drops by Tuesday.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

New relationship needs ironing out, be sure each partner understands the other's expectations, capabilities. Educational obstacle is lifted and academic goal appears on the horizon.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Tried and true methods are best bets in personal and professional dealings. Solution to domestic dilemma is obvious — don't look for hidden answers. Career reward caps the week.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Dealings with teachers and financial advisers favored on Monday. Tuesday. Recent accomplishment continues to win applause, but now it's time to take on brand new challenge.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

Career or academic ideas are well received, so long as you present them with clarity. Strong friend comes to you for support. Last minute changes happen on and off through the week.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

Week combines a bit of financial luck with an extension of domestic obligation. Be alert to moneymaking opportunities Friday and Monday. Reunions are accentuated over the weekend.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Romance and friendship are major trends during a lively social week. New and magnetic personality enters picture by Tuesday. Hesitant relatives want you to decide on family issue.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

A mobile week, romance takes a gentle turn in the right direction, a business associate does a complete about face, and travel — particularly to family gatherings — is positively accentuated.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

A warm and gentle friend. Adaptable to changing circumstances. Appreciative of life's beauties. Owner of a fanciful imagination. Less confident than you should be. New career venture gains momentum after May. Forging lifetime friendships accentuated through year.

Glynn's Hat Trick Sparks Adams, 7-2

Kevin Glynn had a hat trick and assisted on four other goals as Adams Sports topped Budget Rent-A-Car, 7-2, in Executive Hockey League action Monday night at the Youth Arena.

Paul O'Brien had two goals and Bill Hansen and Dennis O'Connell one each. O'Connell had five assists. O'Brien two and Hansen one. For Budget Mike Haynes and Charlie Watts had the goals and Steve Marini, Jim Horner and Colin Campbell had assists.

Luke's Lounge defeated Dayce's Place, 5-1, with Don Costa having a hat trick. Mike Owings and Ed Lenihan had the other goals and Al McKay. Kevin Sullivan and Ed Dwyer had assists. Kevin Lewis had Dayce's long goal with Jack Duffly assisting.

Mark Matanues had two goals and an assist to spark Beau's Place over Washington Tap, 7-3. Joe Lawrence, Charlie Chambers, Ken Gardiner, Steve Dymont and Bob Carroll had the other goals. Dymont, Dave Bonito, Lawrence, Jack Aldred and Gardiner had assists. Marty Tolson, Ralph Gibbs and Paul Carcy had the goals for Washington, with assists for Gibbs, Dave Casey and Bernie Toland.

In the previous set of games Tolson scored twice to spark Washington to a 4-3 victory over Dayce's. Richie Fowkes and Gibbs had the other goals. John Emmott had two assists and Dave Casey one. Goalie Harry Kamataris also had a rare assist. For Dayce's Lewis scored twice and Dave Mullen once. Doug McLean, Joe Casey and Jack Valle had assists.

Adams Sports edged Beau's Place, 7-6, with Paul O'Brien and Bob Murray scoring two goals each. Bob O'Connell, Kevin Glynn and Dennis O'Connell had one goal apiece. Glynn had four assists. Dennis O'Connell three and Bob O'Connell and Murray one each. For Beau's Jack Hurley had a hat trick, Ken Gardiner two goals and Charlie Chambers one. Jack Aldred had three assists, Chambers two and Bob Capuzzo, Newman, Steve Dymont and Ken Boise one each.

Rich Gibbs had a hat trick as Luke's Lounge rolled over Budget Rent-A-Car, 7-1. Lee Staskywiez, Ed Linehan, Al McKay and Don Costa had the other goals. McKay, Don Costa and Ed Grogan had two assists apiece and Linehan, Gibbs and Ed Dwyer one each. Mike Haynes scored for Budget with Dave Towle assisting.

2 Residents Wentworth

Weekend Students

Two Quincy residents have registered for the winter semester of the computer science program at Wentworth Institute of Technology's Weekend College.

They are Lawrence C. Aniello, 459 Willard St., West Quincy; and Imelda H. Gardner, 15

Edgeworth St., Atlantic.

The Weekend College enables a student who works fulltime to earn a degree in engineering technology by attending classes on Saturdays for eight semesters spread over three years.

Baseball Clinic At Houghs Neck Post

A pre-spring baseball clinic will be held at Houghs Neck Legion Post, 1116 Sea Street, on three consecutive Saturdays beginning March 6.

The clinics will run from 9 a.m. to noon with hitting instruction from 9 to 10, defense from 10 to 11 and pitching from 11 to noon.

The clinic will be run by the Houghs Neck Babe Ruth League baseball team coaching staff.

The fee will be $1 an hour, the proceeds to go for jackets and trophies for the Babe Ruth team. The clinic is for players 10, 11 and 12 years old.

Further information can be obtained by calling Dave MacMillan at 471-2322.

Mite B's Bow Twice To Hyannis

Quincy's Mite B hockey team recently played a home and home series with Hyannis and, although losing both games, showed marked improvement in the second game.

Hyannis won, 5-0, in the first game at the Quincy Youth Arena, and took the return game in Hyannis, 2-1.

Mark Kelleher had the only

Quincy goal and Dennis Ruggere was outstanding in goal.

Also playing for Quincy was Billy Lydon, Jim Ford, Sean Vermette, Richard Watt, Brian Nagle, Karen McCabe, Doug Johnson, Peter Nec, Kevin Mantville, Janice Blaney, James Smith, Matt O'Toole, Sean McCarthy and John Witham.

Sheryl Scanlon On All-Tourney Team

Sheryl Scanlon of Quincy-one of the top players on the Suffolk University women's basketball team, was named to the Babson Invitational Tournament all-tournament team. The Suffolk women won the tournament.

City To Seek Quick Appeal Of GD Tax Case

City Solicitor William B. Golden said Tuesday the city is pushing for a quick entry of final judgement in the General Dynamics tax case so that the city can get on with an appeal.

Superior Court Judge Hiller B. Zobel ruled last week that Quincy overassessed the General Dynamics Shipyard by some $15 million in the years 1977 through 1981 and must refund an estimated $16 million.

Golden said Judge Zobel's ruling is only "a finding of fact and a conclusion of law" under which the judge had 30 days, or until April 5, to make a final judgement.

Then the city had 30 days to appeal.

"I have directed our trial counsel, John M. Lynch, to request that the judge expedite the procedure," said Golden. "Then we will go directly to the Court of Appeals and simultaneously file with the State Supreme Court."

Golden said he is optimistic about the appeal, which, he said, will be based on the issue that Judge Zobel's ruling "raises a new question of law."

Another issue, he said, is that the decision will have a significant effect, not only on the people of Quincy, but throughout the state.

He said he expects other communities and statewide organizations may join with Quincy in the appeal as "amicus curiae," or friend of the court.

"I anticipate that we will have strong arguments on both issues," he said. "I hope the Supreme Judicial Court will grant our petition quickly. Then it's a matter

Board Rescinds Hardware Video Game License

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

After hearing a barrage of complaints by Wollaston residents, the City License Board voted Tuesday to rescind the four video game and two other licenses held by J. MacFarland and Sons, 11 Brook St.

Video, common victualer and flea market licenses had been granted to the hardware store on a three month trial basis last Nov. 10.

Apparently, that trial period did not go very well according to some of the 39 residents at Tuesday's meeting.

"I don't want a place where kids smoke pot and drink in my area", said Mrs. Cheryl Sullivan of Fayette St., "it scares me."

Mrs. Sullivan told of crowds of 25 to 50 youngsters and teenagers who congregated outside MacFarland's, and when dispersed, ran through neighbor's yards.

"It disturbs me," said Mrs. Sullivan, "I'm worried about what will happen in the spring and summer."

Mrs. Marilyn O'Malley of Pine

St. said she has seen "school age children" entering the store during the early afternoon.

"I object to video games in a residential area," said Mrs. Mary McCarthy of Highland Ave.

Arlis Sinclair of Arlington St., told the board "the last four months have been deplorable and noisy," and recounted a Feb. 24, fight involving 25 young people.

"Kids hang around and wait their turn to go in (and play the machines)" said Mrs. Sinclair.

Another neighbor, Mrs. Donna O'Connor of Fayette St. wrote a letter to the board telling of youngsters selling possessions and using the money to play the video machines.

Owners and residents of the nearby Wollaston Nursing and Retirement Home also notified the board of their opposition, as did Rep. Thomas Brownell and City Council President John J. Lydon.

Councillor Patricia Toland said it was a "thorny issue" and that the city's ordinance on video games needed amendments.

She also questioned the location of video games in a residential area.

After the board had heard the neighbor's complaints, spokes-

McCauley Names Papile Assessor, McMahon To HA

By TOM HENSHAW

James P. Papile, 56, of 12 Harkins St., Quincy Point, who previously held the post from 1976 to 1979, was named to the Board of Assessors Tuesday by Mayor Francis X. McCauley.

The Rev. John J. McMahon, 68, pastor of St. Mary's Church, West Quincy, was named to the traditional clergyman's seat on the Quincy Housing Authority.

Other appointments announced by McCauley at a news conference were:

Gerald P. Marquis, 32, of 45 Monmouth St., Squantum, who is planning director for Watertown, was appointed to fill an unexpired term on the Hospital Board of Managers.

Lawrence W. Cowley, 55, of 15 Safford St., Wollaston, was reappointed assistant city solicitor, a post he has held for the past four years under former Mayor Arthur H. Tobin.

Papile, member of a widely known Quincy Point family, will fill out the term left vacant by the resignation of John P. (Jake) Comer, who left to become executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority.

He was previously appointed by former Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia in 1976 and also served a year under Mayor Tobin before he was replaced in 1979 by John Belcastro.

His new term expires on the first Monday in February, 1984.

A lifelong resident of Quincy, Papile attended Burdett College, the University of Massachusetts and Stonehill College. For many years he was employed by the Massachusetts Electric Co.

He and his wife, the former Margery A. Perrow, have three children, Jane, Christopher and Julie.

Papile is a certified assessor.

Fr. McMahon, who has been assigned to St. Mary's Church since 1964 and pastor since 1968, succeeds another clergyman, the Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church, on the Housing Authority.

His appointment must be confirmed by the City Council and McCauley said his name will be sent to the Council in time for consideration at its next meeting, Monday, March 15.

1,500 Book Loss Per Year

Theft Detector Sought For Crane Library

The Friends of the Thomas Crane Public Library are starting a campaign to raise funds for the purchase of a theft detection system for the library, which loses an estimated 1,500 books a year.

Library Director Warren Watson said the cost of such a system would range from $14,000 to $17,000.

Most theft detector systems consists of a treated paper sticker placed inside a book which, if not deactivated at the checkout desk, trips an alarm at the library door.

"They are getting to be fairly common devices in libraries all over the country," said Watson. "We are wondering now whether it would be worthwhile to have them in the branches, too."

Replacement costs of the 1,500 books lost each year is about $22,500.

In other library matters, Ron DiBella, a Quincy businessman, has sent the library a check for $150 to replace a Standard and Poor Register of Corporations book that was stolen a short time ago.

And Library Trustees Monday night voted to dedicate the North Quincy branch library to the memory of former Mayor Amelio Della Chiesa, who left considerable money to the library system.

Trustee Chairman L. Paul Marini said that at first it was proposed to name a section of the main library for him but it was decided that such a move would be confusing.

It was left up to Watson to work out the details.

McKeogh Urges Quincy Oppose Nut I. Sewage Expansion

Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh has urged all Quincy residents to "actively oppose current MDC plans for sewerage treatment on either Nut Island or Long Island or both."

He called any plan to treat or dispose of sewage in Boston

Harbor unacceptable to the Department of Health because of the effects on health accompanying environmental deterioration.

"Treatment plants at Deer Island or Point Allerton or both, with deep ocean outfalls six to eight miles east of the plants are the only alternatives offering a reasonable hope for an improvement in the pollution of Quincy Bay," said Dr. McKeogh.

"Active opposition to other alternatives is crucial to the immediate future since the final decisions are now being made."

Possible $350,000 Surplus In School Budget

By JOHN NOONAN

All is not doom and gloom with the Quincy School Department.

School Supt. Lawrence P. Creodon told the School Committee last week that the system could very well wind up its fiscal 1982 year with a surplus of $350,000.

The little find is the end result of school closings and the resultant savings in fuel, electricity and personnel attrition due to a no-hire policy following retirements and deaths.

Mayor Francis McCauley

expressed pleasure with Dr. Creodon for the "find" and said a check would be made to determine whether the surplus funds could remain for use by the school system for other educational purposes rather than be turned over to the city general treasury for use by other departments facing deficits.

Recent requests by McCauley to cut the school budget by $3 million and other requests to trim travel allowances and two administrators were priority topics on the School Committee agenda at its March 9 meeting.

QCA, WPA Support 1 A.M. Bar Closing

The Quincy Citizens Association and the Wollaston Park Association have gone on record in support of a 1 a.m. closing time for all bars in Quincy.

Both groups urged their members to attend a License Board meeting, Tuesday, March 16, at 7:30 p.m. to voice their support for the early closing.

The QCA also voted its support of a sewer use charge for Quincy based on 80 per cent of water use.

The QCA also urged residents of Norfolk County to make more use of the golf and tennis facilities at the Norfolk County Recreational Facility in Montclair.

Morrissey, McCauley Seek

State Election Reimbursement

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey recently testified before the Legislative Committee on Election Laws in support of a bill that would require the state to reimburse cities and towns for the cost of state elections.

The bill, which was co-sponsored by Mayor Francis X. McCauley and the legislative delegation, would return to Quincy about $44,000 to cover the cost of primary elections and a similar figure for general elections in November.

"This might be another avenue that the state can pursue to free up additional monies local communities need to cope with revenue losses," said Morrissey.

7-11 Held Up

A skinny white man in a brown leather jacket and mirror sunglasses held up the Seven-Eleven store on Adams St. last week and escaped with an undetermined amount of cash.

Dennis Lane, the owner of the store, told police that the man entered, waited until other customers had left and then opened his coat to expose a handgun.

He told Lane to open the safe. "It's only money," he said. "I don't want to see anyone get hurt."

4 Schools To Close, Middle Plan To Begin In September

By JOHN NOONAN

Despite weeks of vigorous protestations and the signing of petitions by several hundred parents of Quincy public school pupils, the Wollaston, Willard, Massachusetts Fields and Pollard elementary schools will close and a middle school plan (K-6 grades, 7 through 8, and 9-12) instituted beginning in September.

Last week the School Committee, by a 5 to 2 vote, reaffirmed its previous position to close four more schools and implement the middle school plan. Some 500 concerned persons attended the meetings in the Quincy High School Media Center.

For the second consecutive meeting, a majority of the school committee members voted to close the schools and adopt a middle school reorganization plan, much to the obvious dissatisfaction of the parents and some teachers sitting in the audience. The majority composed of Mayor Francis McCauley, Vice-chairman Mary Collins, Joan Picard and Christopher Kennedy gave as the compelling and motivating reasons for their votes, proposition 2½, declining pupil enrollments, and a recent mayoral request to slash $3 million from the school department's 1983 budget tentatively set at $26.9 million.

On Feb. 24 the majority vote was 4 to 3 but last week Nicholas Verenis switched his vote in favor of the plan to close the schools and adopt a middle school system.

Committee member John Sullivan and Frank Anselmo, however, remained steadfast in their opposition and argued for delays or amendments to the shuttering of four more schools. While their pleas fell on deaf ears of their fellow committee members their attempts to delay implementation of the plan for another year did not go unnoticed by the spirited members of the audience.

Prolonged and enthusiastic applause greeted Sullivan and Anselmo in their unsuccessful attempts to block the plan known as Plan 5-A-1.

Representatives of various school groups were granted permission to present their cases, one more time, at last week's meeting.

Robert Romer, representing the Willard School PTO, said major renovations costing AMONG THOSE hoping to keep the Wollaston School open were Christine DeSessa, 10, and her mother, Anna.

$125,349 had been made at Willard school in the past two years making it one of the most attractive and economically run schools in the city.

By closing Willard school the West Quincy area will lose its neighborhood school leaving that section of the city educationally bankrupt, Romer said. His remarks struck high readings on the applause meter.

Another speaker, Mimi McCarthy, representing the Wollaston school parents who had been most active in protesting, zeroed in on the majority members of the school board with poignant pleas to each:

"Mayor McCauley, if it was your school, would you move to reconsider?"

"Mrs. Picard, please listen to the people on the motion to reconsider."

"Mrs. Collins, as a mother, would you reconsider?"

"Mr. Kennedy, please put yourself in our position and think about reconsideration."

Upon concluding her remarks McCarthy was greeted by near deafening applause and a standing ovation.

Frank Santoro of the Massachusetts Fields PTO argued for a delay in the implementation of closing schools because of the many problems he enumerated, (Quincy Sun Photo by Steve O'Garra) insufficient time, busing of students, teachers certification, union negotiations and contracts, assigning pupils and other administrative procedures.

Mayor McCauley, who presided at the meeting, read letters from Quincy City Council President John J. Lydon from Ward 3 and state Rep. Thomas F. Brownell whose district includes Ward 3. Lydon and Brownell both requested the school committee to reconsider the closing of the Wollaston School.

At one point in the meeting McCauley said the school closing decision was a most difficult one for the school board and that "we don't always have the luxury of endorsing solutions that please everybody."

School Supt. Lawrence P. Creedon said the cuts in budget and school closings will mean the laying off of 203 more school employees.

Seek To Preserve Cranch School As Open Space

The Planning Board scheduled a public hearing Tuesday night on a petition by residents to preserve the Cranch School property as open space.

The petition would change the zoning from Residence B to Open Space so that the school building could be removed and the 63,000 square foot area retained as a playground and park.

Proposals for development of five abandoned school buildings — the Cranch, the Great Hill, the Adams, the Quincy and the Gridley Bryant — are due in the Planning Department Friday, March 19.

The Cranch School is located on what is actually a traffic island bounded by Whitwell St. and Glendale and Maywood Rds. It has been a school and playground since 1900.

Mary Maki, vice president of the Presidents and Cranch Hill Association and representative of the Cranch Hill community on the School Reuse Advisory Committee noted:

"There is going to be tremendous pressure to sell the land as it is near the downtown shopping area and within 1,500 feet of the Quincy Center MBTA station.

"The land is zoned Residence B and the present zoning ordinance would allow a developer to put up a four-story apartment house containing 32 development units.

"We want this piece of land to be zoned open space and, if no associated use for the building found, the building be levelled and used to fill the foundation hole and then black topped over.

"The existing trees and planting should be left in position and for the present the land be left as it is."

The Cranch Hill Association suggested that any funding needed to rehabilitate the area could come from the Southwest Quincy Community Development Block Grant program.

The Southwest Quincy target area includes a section of Whitwell St.

"Because of topography, geography and division of ward lines," said the association, "this part of the Southwest Community Target Area has been overlooked because of its segregation.

"The Cranch playground is the only playground for all these families except for the congested streets. It is an extended use for this targeted area and is only 10 feet from the dividing line."

The Cranch Association also cited what it called the "liveability factor" of open space in the area.

"Burns Park and Freedom Park are small examples of this nebulous 'liveability factor' it said.

"As an example of their value, the developer of two twin towers that will be built where the Dimmock Building now stands used Freedom Park as a selling point in their decision to build.

"Burns Manor next to Burns Park was built because the park made it a desirable location."

Quincy Quiz

Three winners in the Quincy Quiz this week.

Judy Macauley of 12 Broadway Ave., Germantown, and Russell Guppy of 17 The Strand, Wollaston, win T-shirts and Judith Clark of 42 Morton St., West Quincy, wins a bumper sticker.

Each week two Quincy Sun T-shirts and two Quincy Sun bumper stickers are offered as prizes in the Quincy Quiz.

The first two readers, one a mail subscriber, to submit to the Sun office in writing the correct answers to the week's five questions receive T-shirts. The next two receive bumper stickers.

One person in each home is eligible to compete in any one week and no person is eligible to win more than three T-shirts.

This week's Quincy Quiz:

1. What is the name of the new executive director of the Quincy Housing Authority?
2. Park Ave. is located in what section of the city?
3. Which of these men did not serve as a Police Chief of Quincy: William Ferrazzi? John J. Avery? Thomas F. Gorman?
4. What Quincy landmark is located at 93 Holbrook Rd.?
5. True or false: Quincy has more firefighters than policemen.

Answers to last week's Quincy Quiz:

1. Frank Berlucchi is Quincy's dog officer.
2. The former name for Sterling Junior High School was South Junior High.
3. Assabet Rd. is in the Merrymount section of the city.
4. False. The Quincy High School girls basketball team is known as the First Ladies.
5. The Sons of Italy Hall is located at 120 Quarry St.

Chmielinski Undecided

Will he or won't he run — and, if he does — for what?

Superior Court Judge Henry H. Chmielinski, Jr. has close Quincy friends wondering just what he will do when he retires from the bench at the end of this month after 20 years service.

At this writing, Chmielinski isn't too sure himself. And, he won't make a decision or announcement before April 1.

"I cannot make any announcement until after I retire March 31," he says.

Even his closest friends were surprised when the state Republican convention drafted him for attorney general Saturday. It came somewhat of a surprise to Chmielinski, too.

He had been making preparations to run for district attorney in Plymouth County. A former Quincy attorney and long-time Weymouth resident, Chmielinski recently leased a house in Brockton and registered to vote there. That makes him eligible to run for attorney general, a post now held by Democrat Walter O'Malley. But now what?

"I haven't made any commitments at all," he says.

He notes that the GOP convention endorsement for attorney general is non-binding. And that he hasn't made up his mind whether or not to run for attorney general or for district attorney.

"I've also received attractive offers from several law firms to join them," he discloses. "Right now, I am not certain what I will do. I am going to give it all a lot of thought between now and April 1. I'm keeping my options open."

A testimonial dinner for him will be held Wednesday, May 19 at the Chateau de Ville, Randolph. It may — or may not — turn out to also be a campaign fund-raiser.

One of the state's most respected jurists, Chmielinski has built a reputation as being tough on criminals. If there was room, he could probably fill a prison all by himself.

He's been the "people's judge". His concern is for the victim and the victim's family. If you're guilty, he's not the judge to go up before. He is outspoken on crime and will voice some of his candid opinions on an upcoming "20-20" TV show. He participated in a panel discussion that was video-taped last Sunday at Harvard University for showing in two or three weeks.

Chmielinski would make a strong candidate if he decides to run for attorney general or for Plymouth County district attorney. Incumbent Atty. Gen. Frank Bellotti and Dist. Atty. O'Malley would have to be concerned if he makes a bid for either of those posts.

BELLOTTI

CHMIELINSKI

Dist. Atty. William Delahunt should be a bit thankful Chmielinski is thinking of Plymouth County instead of Norfolk. He would be even a stronger candidate in Norfolk County. Chmielinski thinks Delahunt is doing a good job but apparently not O'Malley.

DELAHUNT

Quincy friends think that if he decides to make a political run, it will be in Plymouth County. But they wouldn't be surprised if he entered private law practice with a well known firm instead.

Meanwhile, tickets are available for the testimonial dinner at $35 per person and may be obtained from Quincy Attys. George Tull, Ronald Saad, Stephen Keefe and Paul Hunt and Deputy Sheriff Luigi Bolea.

A STRONG ARGUMENT for a validated parking system in Quincy: all the cars with parking tags on them in the Hancock parking area Tuesday, March 2.

It had snowed through the night and the parking lot was a blanket of white at 8 a.m., 9 a.m., 9:30 a.m. when most people parking there arrived.

The snow covered the pavement painted arrows that tell motorists which meter goes with which car. So few people tried to guess. Most didn't put money in the meter not knowing which meter they were supposed to put the money in. But by 10 a.m., the Lone Ranger arrived with book of tickets and pencil and got all those criminals, yes, sir-ree.

If the city is so hard up for a few nickels, dimes or quarters, maybe they should borrow a Salvation Army kettle and assign someone to stand in front of City Hall and pick up a few bucks from passersby.

Tagging cars like they were tagged with snow covering the ground is another way to drive shoppers from Quincy into the arms of the South Shore Plaza.

BAHARIAN

REV. BEDROS BAHARIAN has shed 42 pounds in the past few months. But he muses it's not from lack of nourishment after losing his $1 a year job as citywide development coordinator.

"I don't miss it, (the job)" he says. "They used to give me a W2 form and I had to pay income taxes on the $1." His last $1 check from the city has been promised to the Quincy Historical Society to be preserved as a part of Quincy's history.

When's the last time anyone worked for $1 a year?

More Tributes For Jay Desmond

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I enjoyed your column, "Jay Desmond And An Era", for two very important reasons, first of all, Jay was a good friend of mine and secondly, those names of the ball players in the old South Shore and Park League teams brought me back 50 years to when my father and I used to watch the games at Fore River Field, Cunningham Park, Kincaide Park (I recall we called it "Smith's Field", then) French's Common, etc.

They played a great brand of baseball. I'd like to add a couple of my favorites to your list; Joe Shapiro, a great catcher, Paddy Cronin, an outfielder who was a great favorite around the league, Blondie Ragan, good shortstop, formerly with the N.Y. Giants, who once when he was with the Giants was hospitalized before the Giants went into the World Series and sent a telegram which read "THEY CAN'T BEAT US!" Orne Carella was a big favorite of mine since he lived only a few houses away here in South Quincy and I always looked up to him as a local hero. I've always thought of him as the standout all-around athlete of Quincy High. He was also a great football and hockey player.

Jay Desmond was a real favorite of mine, as he really was a classy fielding first baseman. My first contact with Jay was down at the machine shop at Fore River where I ran a machine. Jay's job was to put bonus rates on our jobs and he was very fair to us. I didn't meet him then because he worked days and I worked nights.

After I got out of the Navy in 1946, I started working at Pneumatic Scale and I have been there ever since. Years later when Jay joined Pneumatic I went up to meet him. I told him what a hero he was to me when I was younger and that he was as good a first baseman as Babe Dohlgren (who usually is mentioned as the best fielding first baseman the Red Sox ever had).

We became good friends, and he would always drop down to shoot the breeze with me, (mostly about baseball) whenever he could. The last time I was with Jay socially, we were at a Pneumatic Scale retirement party. I was sitting at the same table with Jay and the conversation turned to baseball and quite a few of the names you mentioned were brought up.

I'll miss Jay very much, he was a real nice guy.

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

Just a note to express my appreciation to you for your wonderful tribute to the late "Jay" Desmond.

I, too, was a great fan of the "old" Fore River Club and used to be there for nearly all their games at home and on the road.

I have been a neighbor for many years of "Jay" and his brother "Franny" so I am especially pleased at the very nice story you wrote.

With all best wishes,

Citizens Of Quincy Watching

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

The citizens of Quincy are watching with keen interest the recent actions of their elected city officials. The children of the city are keeping their eyes open as well.

It seems that at a recent meeting the School Committee decided to close the Pollard School, the Willard as well and also both the Wollaston and the Massachusetts Fields schools. The action they took might not be so noteworthy but last year they closed the Cranch, the Quincy, the Gridley Bryant, the Beechwood Knoll and the Adams elementary. Those, of course, were a year after the School Committee shut down the Hunting, the Myles Standish and the Great Hill schools.

The interest among the citizens and the children of Quincy is not in witnessing these closing of schools but rather in watching city officials pressing to shut down the education in the schools that remain.

The Lenten Season

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

I would hope that all 91,487 people here in Quincy really get into the holy season of Lent. I hope we here in Quincy sincerely repent for our past failings and present weaknesses.

Then on Easter Sunday, and for long afterwards, we can shine like the noonday sun. Let the Holy Spirit of the living God shine on all us Quincyites.

$200 Million Carrier Pact Urged For Yard

The Quincy Shipbuilding Committee, headed by George A. Daley Jr., was preparing to launch a concerted drive to bring a contract for a $200 million aircraft carrier to the Fore River Shipyard.

Daley said the contract would mean jobs for 5,500 workers for a period of three years at the yard, which had a current employment list of 8,100. Said Mayor David S. McIntosh:

"Lack of work causes layoffs and layoffs mean that shipyard workers have greater difficulty in meeting their obligations to the city and that, in turn, means that non-shipyard workers must carry more than their share."

Newly elected Sen. John F. Kennedy had already started the ball rolling for the contract by carrying Fore River's request all the way to Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson.

LAND SALE PROTESTED

Despite objections by the Planning Board and the School Committee, the City Council voted to sell 35 acres of land in West Quincy for development without reserving any of it for a potential school.

The land west of Forest Ave. near the top of Break Neck Hill was sold to Henry Buckley of Bates Ave., for $1,500 with the proviso that development be restricted to single family homes.

School Supt. Dr. Paul Gossard pleaded in vain that at least five acres be retained as a possible site for a future school.

FENCING DEMANDED

The Cranch Hill Improvement Association demanded that six-foot chain link fences topped by barbed wire be constructed around 17 city-owned quarries to relieve a dangerous condition.

The protest was led by Robert Y. Matson, whose small son Danny recently died in a fall into water-filled Field and Wilde Quarry.

MORE SCHOOLS NEEDED

A. Wendell Clark, vice chairman of the School Committee, urged a speedup in plans to construct two small schools in the vicinity of Furnace Brook Parkway covering an area between the Cranch and Wollaston schools.

"We have to have more room and we have to have it soon," said Clark.

A. Woven wood blinds can be a lovely window treatment for your kitchen but they can darken a room. Why not have just a woven wood valance and choose a light airy curtain to use under the valance. This way you can have the woven wood look and your light also. Drop by or call for a free consultation.

Ward 2 Civic Association To Celebrate 15th Anniversary

The Ward 2 Civic Association will celebrate its 15th anniversary at a dinner-dance Friday, March 19, at the Morrisette Legion Post, West Quincy.

Tickets can be obtained in limited numbers by contacting Tom Barrett at 773-4535 or Robert Allison at 773-9668.

The association was organized in 1966 by a group of concerned citizens to promote the civic, educational and social well-being of the Ward 2 community.

The many activities sponsored by the association yearly include: monthly meetings on topics of current interest; community "gripe nights" allowing residents to voice their concerns to city leaders and local department heads; Independence Day festivities for the children of Ward 2; an annual Bean Supper; as well as candidates' night for those seeking local, state and federal office.

Over the past 15 years, the association has played an active role in improving local beaches, parks and playgrounds, while also monitoring the licenses granted to commercial establishments throughout the ward.

The association has also provided a forum for local residents to voice their views on issues directly affecting the Ward 2 community.

Those wishing to be recorded in the anniversary booklet as boosters of the Ward 2 Civic Association may do so by contacting Barrett.

The School Committee, reeling under the impact of Proposition 2½, voted last week not to request the mayor and city council to have a city wide referendum next fall on the controversial statute.

Under a new state law cities and towns may petition to have Prop 2½ placed on the ballot in the coming state election to obtain a voters consensus in the controversy.

Just last week several communities by overwhelming majorities turned down requests to override Prop 2½.

Quincy school board members, following the votes taken in other communities such as neighboring Braintree and Randolph, voiced the opinion that the people have spoken and now is not the time to seek a Proposition 2½ override.

Collins Appointed To MASC Committee

Mary Collins, vice chairman of the Quincy School Committee, has been appointed a member of the Massachusetts Association of School Committees' Legislative Committee for the coming year.

The committee will study bills filed in the Massachusetts legislature and recommend positions on such legislation to the MASC Board of Directors.

It will also recommend or review bills to be filed by MASC.

Dental Corner

by
Lee A. Welky, D.M.D.

GOING TO A DENTAL SPECIALIST

Your family dentist is equipped to handle almost all of your dental needs. Once in a while, however, he may find it necessary to refer you to a dental specialist. Why?

A dentist is taught to treat all kinds of dental conditions, but some may require special expertise. A specialist has completed two to four extra years of training on one area of dentistry, and limits his practice to this one area. For this reason, he sees all kinds of special and complicated cases, and is best equipped to handle them.

Your dentist will discuss your treatment with the specialist, so that you don't arrive at his office as a stranger. When your dentist sends you to a specialist, it is because he wants you to get the finest treatment available.

Questions May be sent to . . .

The Way Up Presenting Passion Play With Puppets

Young people from The Way Up, a specialized youth ministry based in Quincy, performed a Passion Play with puppets Sunday afternoon at the Medway High School auditorium.

The program was sponsored by the Community Church of Medway, a federated church of Congregationalists and American Baptists, for its members and for other local churches.

The puppets or "The Way-Uppets", used in the play are larger than life, some nearly seven feet tall.

All of them were made by hand by young people of The Way Up, under the supervision of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin.

The performance was the first of five being staged by The Way Up. The other four are: Sunday, March 14 at 5 p.m. in Milton at Parkway United Methodist Church; Sunday, March 21 at 4 p.m. in Brookline at the United Parish near Coolidge Corner;

Palm Sunday, April 4 at 6 p.m. in South Weymouth at Old South Union Congregational Church in Columbian Square; and on Good Friday, April 9 at 7:30 p.m. in Westfield at Second Congregational Church, next to the campus of Westfield State College.

There is no admission charge. The public is invited.

"It is a very different experience to see the Passion story done in this medium," said Dr. Langevin, "that is, with such monumental puppets. That will be a fresh approach to some but it can also present us with some problems. For example, if people hear the word 'puppets' and respond by brining '... they may be disappointed. This is a puppet show for adults. It has a serious and troubling theme. That's why we do not recommend it for persons younger than the seventh grade in school."

The play involves nearly 30 Way-Uppets and more people behind the scenes.

"This is very likely the last year that we can do the play for free," said Dr. Langevin. "We have been doing it as our gift to God but the costs of putting the play on—no, just transporting the equipment—are now getting so high that I suspect that we will have to begin charging admissions next year."

Those who saw the play were unanimous in their praise. One woman said, "I just can't believe that teen-agers could have created such beautiful puppets. It was just wonderful!" A man said, "It was a most unique experience. The play has a powerful message."

This year the play has been rewritten, music added throughout, and puppets added to the cast.

"We think it's a good play for young people and adults," Dr. Langevin added. "And best of all -- it's free!"

Lenten Programs Continue At Squantum Church

He stressed the Council of Nicaea in 325 A.D. which led to the formulation of the Nicene Creed. A sound filmstrip on the subject was shown.

Next week, the pastor's topic will be "The City of God: What Is It?" The talk will elaborate the history of the Christian church in the fourth and fifth centuries, focusing on St. Augustine and his writings.

Before the program at 6:30 p.m., there will be another all-church supper sponsored by the young people of the church. The menu will be meat loaf and baked potatoes.

Reservations for the meal can be made by calling the church office at 328-6649.

St. Joseph's Students In St. Patrick's Program

The students of St. Joseph's School will entertain with Irish songs, dances and poems Tuesday, March 16 at 10:30 a.m. in honor of St. Patrick.

Coffee and Irish bread will be served to their guests following the performance. All are welcome.

On Friday evening, March 26

students of St. Joseph School will present a mission Way of the Cross. The program will consist of readings, hymns, slides, as well as student portrayal of the passion and death of Jesus. The program will be presented in St. Joseph's Church at 7:45 and all are welcome.

Parish Mission Begins Sunday At Good Counsel Church

Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merrymount, is conducting a Parish Mission Sunday, March 14 through Thursday, March 18.

Rev. Peter T. Martocchio, Pastor, said the purpose of the Lenten event is to bring all members of the church closer to Christ.

Rev. Ernest T. Serino, Pastor of Sacred Heart Church in Watertown, will set the tone for the Mission by opening the Sunday session at 7:30 p.m. with a discussion on faith.

Fr. Serino, who was formerly a chaplain for the Boston Juvenile Court and who has been a participant in Cursillos, Teen Encounter, Retreats, Marriage Encounter, Cana and Pre-Cana, will also conduct the Tuesday night talk on reconciliation.

FR. ERNEST T. SERINO

Prayer will be the topic Monday with Rev. Arthur M. Calter.

Pastor of St. Augustine, South Boston.

On Wednesday, Rev. John Dunne of the Columban Fathers, Quincy, will speak on the Family of God.

The Mass on the concluding evening will be celebrated by Most Rev. John M. D'Arcy, Vicar of Spiritual Development for the Archdiocese of Boston.

The planning committee for the event, which is chaired by Paul Lewis, includes Rev. Peter T. Martocchio, liturgy; Ann Abbruzzese and Margaret Fay, program; Ethel Ritchie, hospitality; and Gloria Garity, publicity.

The committee and Fr. Martocchio urge all active and inactive, past and present parishioners to join them at the Mission.

Women's Liberation Theme At Squantum Church

Women's liberation was the theme of the morning service Sunday at the First Church of Squantum.

The congregation sang hymns and used worship materials in which unnecessary emphases on the masculine gender had been removed.

For example, a line in one of the hymns read "Join hands, then, brothers of the faith." It was changed to "Join hands, then, followers of The Way."

Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin, pastor, preached a sermon entitled "Neither Male Nor Female in Christ", taking his text from Galatians 3:28: "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female; for you are all one in Christ Jesus."

Scripture for the morning was taken from the 16th chapter of the Book of Acts. It told the story of two "liberated" women in the early Christian church: one, a business woman named Lydia, and the other, a slave girl in Phillippi.

Dr. Langevin said that it was a Christian's obligation to seek and work for justice for all persons, including women. He cited instances in which there is discrimination against women because of their gender.

He also mentioned discrimination that was hidden such as the neglectful way in which our society treats the poor. A disproportionate number of the poor in America are female, he said.

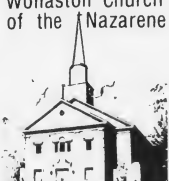

The Junior Choir sang "The Lord's Prayer" set to a West Indian folk tune and accompanied by Andrew Ogilvie on guitar, Kristen Reister on xylophone and Kim Olson on glockenspiel. They were directed by Mary Ruth Scott.

Sacred Heart Seniors St. Patrick's Party

Police, Fire $1.2 Million Budget Cuts Not Final

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said Tuesday that his proposal to cut $1.2 million from the police and fire budgets in fiscal 1983 is not cast in stone.

"It is possible that we can be looking at it again," he told a news conference. "We are not finished with the budget yet."

McCauley said he disclosed the proposal to cut the police and fire budgets at a meeting of the City-wide Parents Council Monday night to show that the schools are not bearing the entire brunt of Prop 2½.

He indicated that, if the state legislature extends the deadline for presentation of the budget another month and the extent of state aid is announced in April, the budget will be examined further.

"If we know what the state aid figure is before we finalize the budget, we will have a better picture of where we stand," he said.

Meanwhile, he said, he plans to present the budget to the City Council personally at the Council's April 5 meeting. Except for Public Works, he said, the budget is just about finished.

"It would not be proper for me to go into detail at this time," he said. "I want to reveal the figures to the public at the same time the City Council gets them."

One thing that is delaying the Public Works section of the budget is the preparation of a sewer use charge which is required by the federal government and the MDC.

"The main thing with the sewer use charge is to qualify for federal funding," he said.

Public Education In Quincy: Everybody's Business

These are dark days for public education in this city. Schools are being closed. Budgets are being cut. Students, parents, and teacher, have been disrupted, discouraged and demoralized.

If you, like many citizens of Quincy, no longer have school age children, you may think that as regrettable as this situation may be, it doesn't affect you. This notion could not be further from the truth! A strong public school system is important to every citizen.

As dropout rates soar, and the quality of the education offered to students who remain in school is being diminished, we should not forget the painful lessons learned during the last century. At that time, increased mechanization and child labor laws released huge numbers of unskilled children from the factories and mills of this state. It soon became obvious that it was cheaper and more beneficial for society to educate these children rather than to attempt to cope with large numbers of idle youths. Thus the public high school was born.

We are living in a society which is much more complex and technologically advanced than that of the nineteenth century. Therefore, it takes a greater effort to prepare children to become productive members of that society. However, it is still more than cost efficient to provide the kind of education which will permit each student to become a contributor rather than a burden. Everyone pays when an increasingly large number of unemployable and disaffected individuals must be cared for by our welfare or criminal justice system.

Most importantly, the children in Quincy's schools are the future leaders of this city. Today, we make decisions which affect their lives. In just a few years, they will be the decision makers. How can we ensure that they will be equipped to deal with twenty first century problems which can not even be imagined today?

We must make it clear to our elected officials, city and state, that adequate financial resources must be provided for the schools. We can also make it clear that whatever monies are provided should be allocated as much as possible into areas which are of direct benefit to children.

It is sad when neighborhood schools close. But it is sadder still that the dollars "saved" by closing schools and decreasing school personnel leave us with students in the remaining classrooms who can not be provided with an education of the quality they need. We all then suffer.

Public education is indeed everyone's business.

As teachers we have a responsibility to speak out on this issue. Call or write to us at school or at our office, Quincy Education Association, 590 Hancock Street, Quincy, Ma. 02170. Telephone number: 479-2283. Call or write to us for our brochure on "52 Ways to Help Your Child Learn."

Tradition and romance — the perfect wedded pair!

I do — the beginning of a lifetime commitment

"I do" — two words which, as frequently as they are repeated, signify at the same time, a beginning and an end. In front of the couple being married, a wedded life looms not unnaturally large.

For, implicit in the two simple words both have repeated, is a world of commitments, decisions and promises — two lives have joined, a truly momentous occasion.

And, behind the newlyweds, lie not only the path of their courtship and their own formative years and experiences, but aggregated centuries of traditions and customs, years fraught with hope and thought for the future that have led to the moment of joining — for every couple the world over who meet, fall in love, and marry.

Falling in love seems such a simple thing — we have developed a picture of it, thanks to an endless sequence of books, movies and songs, in which all of the complications have been romanticized out.

The actuality, as young people meeting with it for the first time discover over and over again as one generation succeeds the next, is far richer and far more complicated, liberally endowed with all the ambiguities in which life delights.

Interestingly enough, all the people who have painted love in such vivid and simple colors, do not attempt to "fool" their public on the subject of weddings.

With all the planning that goes into them, all the celebration they occasion and all the people they involve, it is to be expected that they should be as convoluted and complicated as life itself.

Customs observed

Right off the bat, centuries of tradition present themselves for reckoning. Customs — from carrying the bride over the threshold of her new home to the throwing of rice at the newly married pair — must be observed, as age-old superstition rears its head.

And, indeed, these customs give a tone to the wedding, a sense of continuity that young and old alike find satisfying.

Many of the complications arise during the planning stage, which often lasts several months.

The trick, and it is a trick, is to arrive at a game plan for The Wedding which takes into account the likes, dislikes, whims and prejudices of everyone involved, not only bride and groom but their immediate families, as well.

Questions and answers

First, decisions must be made as to where and when the wedding will be held; how large the guest list will be and who will be invited; whether it is to be an afternoon or an evening event, and how formal it will be; what colors the bridal party will wear.

As the big day approaches, other questions arise: from who will sit with whom to what tunes the organ will play during the processional.

It is a tribute to the strong bonds of love which unite the various individuals involved, that ultimately all is accomplished in a spirit of good will and harmony.

The wedding itself is as joyous as it is solemn, an event truly befitting the months of planning and concern. As well it should be, since it contains within itself the twin virtues of reverence for the past and hope for the future. It is, truly, a celebration of life.

ECHOING THE RECENT RETURN to romance and tradition, this exquisite gown designed by Michele Piccione for Alfred Angelo boasts billowing bishop sleeves, gracefully swirling skirt. A confection of Venise lace, embroidered medallions, embroidery, chiffon and knit chiffon, it has an elegant semi-cathedral train, and is available in either white over ivory or all white.

Your wedding pictures: cherished memories

A wedding is an important occasion which you'll want to remember and cherish for years to come. To do this, you'll need a good photographer.

Herbie, one who has expertise in wedding photography and who will handle himself or herself with decorum and intelligence during the event. Often an amateur just doesn't have this experience.

Choose carefully

There are two common types of wedding photographs — candid shots taken during the wedding and formal portraits taken beforehand at a photographer's studio.

Ask your friends and relatives for recommendations and then call around to get the best price, but do make sure you visit a few to see their samples.

Plan ahead

When you go for the sitting, be sure to bring your dress and all accessories including makeup and underwear.

Having these photographs taken in advance will give you a chance to see everything together and make any changes if needed. The average sitting takes about an hour and includes approximately 20 different poses.

Lustrous cultured pearls fit for a princess bride — you!

It seems that 1981 will long be remembered as the Year of the Wedding.

The entrance into matrimony of Prince Charles and Lady Diana was grand, glorious, without rival in modern memory—and certain to make every prospective bride and groom all the more determined that their special day be equally perfect in every detail.

Brides are being married in romantic gowns with billowy skirts, melon sleeves and glorious, flowing trains. This Victorian grandeur is enhanced by simple, elegant accessories, such as that perennial favorite, cultured pearl jewelry.

A lustrous, radiant cultured pearl necklace (very possibly a gift from the groom) is an exquisite complement to the bride's own radiance, and the deeper necklines on many of today's bridal gowns lend themselves to a wide variety of styles and lengths—from double and triple strand "dog collars" to single strand necklaces in princess length and longer.

A point to keep in mind when choosing a cultured pearl necklace that will harmonize with the neckline of your bridal gown, is that cultured pearls are at their most beautiful when worn against bare skin.

Neckline important

If your gown has a high, round neckline, your best choices in cultured pearl necklaces would be either the demure single strand choker or one of the multiple strand "dog collars."

If your gown has a high-standing collar, most appropriate would be a matinee or opera length strand of cultured pearls.

And if your gown is heavily beaded, a cultured pearl necklace will still look lovely. Just make sure the necklace is short enough, so that it does not fall onto the beading of the gown, as that would detract from the beauty of both gown and necklace.

Beautiful bracelets

If the sleeves of your gown permit, complement your necklace with a simple single or double strand cultured pearl bracelet.

And, of course, a pair of cultured pearl earrings, a long-time bridal favorite, makes a lovely finishing touch. You'll feel the way you look—like a princess!

A TWO-STRAND DOG COLLAR of 6mm cultured pearls gracefully matches the elegance of this Priscilla of Boston gown. Necklace and earrings from the Cultured Pearl Association of America and Japan.

Skillful homemaking keeps house beautiful

After the honeymoon, every new bride is anxious to turn her new abode into a home she and her husband can be proud of.

The multiple tasks involved in keeping house may seem overwhelming, even for the most ambitious bride, but there are ways to simplify the job. These hints can help:

- Develop a schedule and stick to it. The secret to getting chores done quickly and efficiently is organization. If you can't fit everything into a weekly schedule, rotate the jobs, so that everything gets cared for in due time.

- Pay particular attention to the kitchen and bathroom. These rooms reflect the cleanliness of your entire household so, when they look good, people aren't as likely to notice if other rooms are not in perfect order.

Routinely load the dishwasher.

- Remember, cleaning alone does not a homemaker make. Cook some simple but delicious meal such as lasagne from scratch.

- Make it in quantities large enough to freeze for additional meals. Then, when company drops in unexpectedly, you can offer invitations to dinner on the spur of the moment.

- Show-off your ingenuity. Little touches count and leave big impressions. Moisten a cotton swab with spray cleaner to clean out difficult-to-remove soil that builds under telephone dials.

- Fill a glass jar with dry rose petals to use as a constant air-freshener in bathrooms; stir occasionally to revive scent.

Skillful make-up techniques create lovelier-looking bride

This is the day you've been dreaming of since you were a little girl. It's your wedding and, as the bride, you will be the center of attention. All eyes will focus on you, as the most important person of the wedding party.

Generally, a bride will start experimenting with new make-up techniques and products months before her wedding to determine which are the most flattering for her. For no matter how casual she may have been about her personal grooming till now, this is the time every bride wants to look her best.

A good place to start is with the complexion, according to beauty experts at LERIN Cosmetics, since it is the foundation for glowing, lasting beauty. No makeup or hairstyle will look its best unless your skin is smooth, fresh-looking and free from blemishes.

Establish good habits

Before the wedding, get into the habit of cleansing your face twice a day with a good cleansing cream or lotion. Moisturize your face faithfully with FRESH CARE® Moisturizing Lotion.

Moisturizing is one of the USE ONE OF THE NEW LIP PENCILS by L'erin cosmetics for soft, sensuous looking lips on your wedding day.

most critical elements in keeping the skin looking young and vital. It should be applied every day, with or without foundation.

Liquid Makeup should be in a soft, warm, rosy shade that complements skin tone. Highlight bone structure with lots of gentle cream blush in a deep shade such as Plumerose Glow, that is sure to impart a lively look even under harsh, artificial lights.

Fashionable eyes are accented this season so outline both upper and lower lids with a FASHION TIP® Pencil in a dark or medium shade.

Apply COLOR TRUE® light shadow to upper lid to contour with deeper-related shadow across the natural creaseline. Smudge with finger-tip to avoid definite line.

Eyes become brighter and more pronounced with a lush fringe of Mascara—use LONG & LOVELY waterproof Mascara—it's tearproof too!

Special smiles

A smiling bride is a beautiful bride, but a smile draws attention to the mouth, which means that your lips should be their prettiest.

For soft, sensuous lips, here are some helpful tips from the L'ERIN experts:

- If lips are too oval, draw center of upper lips into slight cupid bow.

- For droopy corners, build upper lip slightly.

- Too thick? Counteract middle thickness by extending corners slightly. Use muted shades in the middle.

- Too thin? Get greater fullness by drawing lip line slightly beyond outline at top and bottom. Use a little darker pencil than your lipstick shade.

- To make lips look fuller, use brighter, lighter colors. To make them appear narrower, use darker muted shades. Using lip pencil, outline just slightly outside, or inside the lip line.

- Choose shades to harmonize with your coloring and taste. Usually, lip color should be compatible with your skin tone—the lighter your skin, the lighter the lip color—more intense shades for warm tones, and light, pastel shades for cool tones.

- For extra lustre or shine, apply gloss directly over regular lip color. Remember to outline with a lip pencil to give the mouth more definition while enhancing lip color.

Versatility in function and use equally important in housewares

Traditional weddings with candlelight, lace and church rituals are "in" again. That's what those who track such things are reporting.

This is not to say, however, that today's young newlyweds and couples are reverting to "traditional" life-styles. Few couples starting out today fit the patterns exhibited by their parents. Nor do they fit the non-conformist mode of the "Age of Aquarius."

If any characteristic seems to identify today's new couples, it's their willingness to try new things.

Their kitchens, for example, are much more likely to contain modern convenience-oriented appliances and equipment which allow them to do kitchen jobs faster. They're not anxious to spend more time working in the kitchen than is needed.

On the other hand, neither are they reluctant to display their culinary talents. At-home entertaining is becoming increasingly more popular.

To keep pace with diverse lifestyles which include more free time and more at-home entertaining, modern couples place some pretty broad expectations on the products they choose and use.

They want functionality, versatility and good value. That's especially true in cookware where their definition of versatility is not limited to cooking use, but extends to appearance as well.

At Corning, when planners reviewed these trends, they developed a new product line called French White cookware. The company reports it is one of the most popular lines ever introduced, thanks to its glass-ceramic versatility, its attractive classical lines and its plain white color. All three characteristics blend to provide just what many people want in their cookware.

TODAY'S LIVING DEMANDS VERSATILITY not only in the way a product performs, but in how it may be used. Here, French White cookware—multifunctional because it is made of a glass-ceramic material—is quite elegant in a formal setting.

Today's newlyweds have grown up in an era of rapid change. They exhibit little, if any, of their parents' cautious conservatism toward new things.

They're much more likely to have a microwave oven... and to use it extensively. They are also an important market for convenience foods—frozen meals and the like—not because they can't cook, but because they don't want to take the time for day-to-day cooking.

When they do cook, they're likely to cook enough for several meals and freeze the extras for later use. This indicates lots of freezer-to-cooker-to-table use for cookware, and that's where glass-ceramic cookware shines.

Receiving line etiquette

The receiving line is an excellent way for both families to meet and it is a warm, friendly way to start the reception off.

Usually it is formed as the wedding guests arrive at the reception, though some people prefer it to take place in the church vestibule right after the ceremony.

It's a good idea to go over the guest list beforehand, but even if you forget some names, don't panic—just smile and ask. Each person should then introduce the next person in line.

Take off your rings to avoid painful handshakes, and rub a little anti-perspirant on your palms to avoid wetness.

The traditional line-up is as follows: mother of the bride, groom's mother, bride and groom, the maid of honor and then the bridesmaids.

The bride's father and the ushers should circulate among the guests, and bring drinks if desired to the people on the receiving line.

It is helpful to set up a small refreshment table near the end of the line to encourage mingling.

Current formalwear styles offer wide choices

Formalwear fashions for the spring-summer seasons of 1982 offer wide selections of gala attire to wear for weddings, proms and those special evenings on the town or at country clubs according to the American Formalwear Association.

The new styles include both traditional and contemporary versions of those festive clothes appealing to men who insist on holding to a classic line and to those who are more venturesome in their dress. Presently there are two distinct schools of thought pertaining to the styling of formalwear.

Formalwear options

Some believe that the trend is to conservatism featuring white, silver and black as the colors that will be most worn for weddings and proms.

Others hold that, in addition to those colors, greens and prom celebrants will also opt for champagne, ivory, yellow, rust and toast as the colors in which they do their thing.

For a truly formal wedding the groom (and in the case of a traditional wedding, the ushers) will wear a taitcoat for an evening affair. At contemporary weddings the groom may also wear a taitcoat for a daytime ceremony.

Afternoon attire

There is also a strong current trend to wearing of daytime formalwear for ceremonies that take place before 6 P.M. For those weddings, the very formal gray cutaway and striped trousers worn with either a matching or light gray vest, a wing-collar shirt and an ascot tie is the ne plus ultra.

A semi-formal version of that daytime outfit is worn with a stroller, a dark gray coat cut similar to a business suit.

The accessories can be the same worn with the cutaway, or the shirt can have a regular fold collar, and the tie may be a four-in-hand in a gray striped or a gray finely checked fabric.

Some traditionalists will wear a white linen vest with the cutaway outfit.

While the traditional cutaway and stroller is usually in a deep gray, the contemporary version is sometimes in a lighter shade of gray.

In addition to all of these styles there are also formalwear styles bearing the logos of famous "name" designers. Those garments follow very closely the suits offered under those names.

As a rule, they are quite sophisticated in styling, some having a European flavor to their silhouettes, others using the softer shoulder treatment that is essentially American.

As far as formalwear furnishings are concerned, the pleated shirts are more popular than those with ruffled bosoms although the latter are still widely worn.

It is also true that the fold collar formal shirt is still number one, even though the wing-collar is extremely popular. For occasions other than weddings, the bright red bow tie and matching cummerbund are very much in with white and black dinner jackets (tuxedos).

Rainbow of choices

White is once again the leading shirt color, but there is no lack of such shades as champagne, blue, pink, apricot, mint, ecru and yellow.

Men who want to buy rather than rent their tuxedos will find some very tasty variations awaiting their pleasure, too.

For instance, they can buy authentic Black Watch and Royal Stewart plaid dinner jackets to wear with either black or midnight blue formal trousers, or they may even opt for an off-white or pink pure silk dinner jacket.

As a closing note, some authorities on formalwear foresee a return of the cummerbund, and the cummerbund cutting into the popularity of the formal vest.

AND THE GROOM LOOKED DAPPER—Indeed he will, if he chooses evening clothes such as these to wear on his wedding day. Black wool spencer jacket (left) by Dimitri, has peak lapels, single button. It's worn over double pleated black trousers and white shirt. Wrapping it up, a gray silk cummerbund. The ultimate in elegance, black polyester and wool formal jacket (right) by Bill Blass is worn over white vest, white shirt and black trousers.

Those lovely rings are traditional symbols of love

With a young couple, when it comes to love, it usually comes to rings—that all-important engagement ring—and, more and more, young-marrieds are requesting double-ring ceremonies, the Jewelry Industry Council reports.

Choosing the rings is traditionally a shared experience, with the bride-to-be and her intended visiting their favorite jeweler for the selection.

Evaluating a diamond puts many a young couple in a quandary, particularly when it comes to what is known in the trade as the diamond's four "C's"—Cut, Color, Clarity and Carat weight.

The value of the stone

These four elements determine the diamond's worth, and it is quite possible for a smaller diamond to be worth more than one that is larger.

Cut is the way a diamond is shaped, with traditional styles being the brilliant or round, the emerald, the pear, the oval and the boat-shaped marquise cut.

Color refers to the crystal clear purity that is most coveted for engagement diamonds.

Clarity involves the fact that diamonds form naturally with "inclusions"—carbon spots, bubbles and small internal cracks. Such inclusions do not mar the stone's visible beauty if they cannot be seen by the naked eye.

Ask your jeweler

Your jeweler will be glad to show you any such inclusions under magnification, and determine if they affect the diamond's price.

A carat is the standard measure of diamond weight, and each carat is equal to 100 points. For example, a half carat diamond is 50 points.

Style can be a deciding factor in choosing a ring, based upon the bride-to-be's hand shape. Square hands look best with slim, tapering designs such as the marquise.

Small hands are complemented by delicate styles, and lean hands can take a large, more elaborate ring.

Whatever her preference

In addition to choosing a specific cut, the bride-to-be has her choice of contemporary, modern or antique stylings.

Often, couples have the en-agement ring engraved. When the engagement ring is chosen, the wedding band is often selected at the same time so that the two designs complement each other.

Choose groom's ring

Since the double ring ceremony is so popular, this is when the man's ring is selected and engraved.

PRESERVE THAT WEDDING FINERY

After the wedding, you'll want to preserve those memories for ever and maybe even share that wedding dress with another member of the family. To do this, it's important to give thought to storing your dress after the big day.

At the time you purchase your wedding dress, find out from the salesperson the best method for cleaning it. Often, the manufacturer gives instructions for dry cleaning or the use of a commercial spot lifter.

Be sure to pass on these instructions to whomever offers to take care of your dress after the reception. It's important not to let stains sit for too long as they will be more difficult to get out.

For a special price, many dry cleaners will both clean and seal your dress in an airtight wrapper. If you decide to take care of this yourself, remember that, after cleaning, the dress should be covered with acid-free tissue paper and then wrapped in washed unbleached muslin. Store the dress as flat as possible, and be sure that the place of storage is cool and dry.

Don't forget about the dress—it is a good idea to take it out once a year to give it an airing.

Most veils should be hand washed with a mild soap and then dried flat on clean towels. They also should be wrapped in acid free paper and stored flat.

With a few precautions your dress should stay beautiful for years to come.

Experts give newlyweds elegant entertaining tips

For newlyweds, giving that first party can cause almost as many jitters as taking those first steps down the aisle. But elegant entertaining doesn't have to be traumatic—or expensive. Here are some pointers from experts:

Dina Merrill says, "In planning a party, always invite some guests who haven't met all the others. It helps assure an interesting conversation mix."

Columnist Harriet Van Horne warns, "No dinner served under the hot-white glare of a 1,000 watt chandelier can possibly be elegant. Get out those candles!"

Her favorite dinner is a serve-yourself Beef Stroganoff, into which she stirs an elegant finishing touch, three tablespoons of cultured sour cream and a splash of vodka.

Celeste Holm recommends, "Create an elegant luncheon party around a dish that's unpredictable—like an Indian egg curry."

House Beautiful decorating editor Mary Emmerling advises, "Placecards are elegant. Think of new and fun ways to let your guests know where you want them to sit, like a tagged gift or flower at each place setting."

These are just a few of the lively entertaining ideas in a new 16-page booklet called "Bringing New Elegance to the '80s." It's a free publication, published as a consumer service by the U.S. offices of Finlandia Vodka, and it's a perfect hostess-helper for newlyweds.

An eye-catching idea for an elegant occasion is serving drinks from a block of ice.

Make an ice mold by putting a bottle of the imported Finlandia Vodka in a half-gallon milk carton.

Fill with water and freeze until solid—the deluxe vodka won't freeze. Remove the carton by running lukewarm water around the outside.

Then, line a tray with napkins, place the vodka ice block on top and serve—as they do in reindeer country!

Other elegant party ideas and recipes by modern experts are in the pointer-packed booklet.

For a complimentary copy, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Finlandia Elegance, P.O. Box 1058, FDR Station, New York, NY 10150-1058.

Personalizing the ceremony

The marriage vows which are exchanged by countless couples today, "... for richer, for poorer, for better, for worse, in sickness and in health ..." derive from the vows exchanged by our Anglo-Saxon forefathers.

In earlier times, a bride was taken "... for fairer, for fouler, for better, for worse," and promised to be "buxom and bonny" to her future husband (from With This Ring by Elizabeth Laverack, Elm Tree Books, London).

It was customary for the bride's father to present his new son-in-law with one of his daughter's shoes as a token of authority. Ms. Laverack points out. The bride was then made to feel the transfer by a blow on the head with the shoe.

It was also the custom for the new husband to keep the shoe above his side of the marriage bed, as a constant reminder to the wife of her husband's authority.

Women have come a long way since those times. No longer must a wife make a vow to "love, honor and obey" during the marriage ceremony.

In fact, more and more couples are personalizing their wedding ceremony by writing their own vows or by borrowing from tradition and creating an individualized ceremony along traditional lines.

Once the date has been set and the arrangements for the church or temple have been made, it is time to start thinking about the type of ceremony you and your fiancé wish to have. Will you keep to the time-honored ceremony and vows? Or will you add your own touches? Bride's magazine gives the following pointers to assist the undecided couple:

- Talk to your clergy-member. He or she will tell you which parts of the ceremony are required by your religion, and which parts of the ceremony you are free to change.
- Study the traditional cere- mony. You can rewrite it in your own words, choose to disregard certain elements of it (for example, Bride's points out that individually-minded couples might flinch at the idea of "two becoming one"), or decide which of the quaint customs you wish to include.

• Look for natural points in the ceremony where you can add your own touches. Appropriate points would be in the procession, the giving-away of the bride, the vows, the ring ceremony, the prayers, the kiss and the recessional.

• Look for ways to involve your family and friends. You might choose to walk down the aisle with both of your parents. Maybe a sister or brother could read an opening prayer. Or, the four parents could light a marriage candle from two tapers to symbolize your union.

Whether you opt to abide by tradition, or choose to personalize your wedding, it's your day—and there will never be another day just like it!

Honeymooning abroad? Be sure to arrange for passports early sing.

Because the bride is not legally a "Mrs." until the wedding (assuming, of course, that she is not a "Ms." who has decided not to take her husband's name), you will more than likely be traveling with separate passports, hers under her maiden name, and you will need to carry with you your certified marriage license.

When you return from your trip your passports may be required to show your marital status.

To apply for a passport, you need either a birth certificate, naturalization certificate or a former passport.

You will also need another proof of identification carrying your photograph or description and signature (a driver's license, for example).

The passport office requires two additional photos of you taken within the last 6 months, 2" by 3", on a plain light background (snapshots or photos taken in coin-operated photo booths will not do — best to have professional passport pictures made).

Your passport will take two to three weeks to process, and is good for five years. Bon voyage!

Wooring, wedding, and repenting, is as a Scotch jig, a measure, and cinque-pace.

Gustaf E. Westhrin, 86, Kiwanis Member, Treasurer

Funeral services for Gustaf E. Westhrin, 86, of New Smyrna Beach, Fla., a 50 year member of the Quincy Kiwanis Club with perfect attendance, were held March 5 in Florida.

Mr. Westhrin died March 3, in Oceanview Nursing Home.

A memorial service will be held by the family during the last week in April at Quincy Center United Methodist Church.

A former South Weymouth resident, Mr. Westhrin was Kiwanis treasurer for 48 years.

Born in Karlstad, Sweden, he was instrumental in founding a Kiwanis Club in Karlstad.

A retired retail furniture salesman, he moved to Florida in 1980.

A member of Quincy Center Methodist Church, he served as chairman of the board of trustees for many years.

Mr. Westhrin was also a member of the Theodore Roosevelt-Manet Lodge, A.F. and A.M., Quincy, as a 32 degree Mason; the Scottish Rite Valley of Boston; the Swedish Square and Compass Club, Boston; Scandia Lodge 82, Vasa Order of America, Braintree; Stenkil Lodge 92,

GUSTAF E. WESTHRIN

Independent Order of Vikings, Braintree; Swedish Charitable Society, Newton; Swedish American Council, Boston; and Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks 943, Quincy.

He is survived by his wife, Elsie (Carlson) Westhrin, a son, Robert G. Westhrin of New Smyrna Beach, Fla.; two sisters, Ruth Nelson of Quincy and Inga-Britt Karlsson of Karlstad, Sweden; and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements were by Settle-Wilder Funeral Home, New Smyrna Beach, Fla.

John A. MacKay, 92, Retired Lumberjack

Funeral services for John A. MacKay, 92, of Quincy, a retired lumberjack, were held Tuesday in Deware Brothers Funeral Home, 675 Hancock St.

Mr. MacKay died Saturday in Quincy City Hospital after a brief illness.

He had lived in Quincy for 50 years.

Born in Nova Scotia, he was a World War I Army veteran who served in France.

Mr. MacKay was a lumberjack in New Hampshire and Maine for many years.

He later worked at Grossman's Quincy.

He is survived by three sisters, Katherine MacKenzie, Cassi Brigitte and Christine MacDougall, all of Quincy; and several nieces and nephews.

Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Remove Christmas Cemetery Decorations

The Board of Managers of public burial places requests the removal of all Christmas decorations and baskets from the city cemeteries by Sunday, March 14.

A funeral Mass for Dr. Peter DiNatale, 69, of Milton, father of Quincy Police Det. Barbara DiNatale, was held yesterday (Wednesday) at St. Augustine's Church, South Boston.

Dr. DiNatale died March 5, in Boston City Hospital after a brief illness.

Born in Boston, he had been a general medical practitioner for 40 years in South Boston, where he had also lived for many years.

Dr. DiNatale was a World War II Army Medical Corps veteran who served in Europe.

He was graduated from Harvard University in 1935 and Tufts Medical School in 1939.

Dr. DiNatale was a past president of staff at the former Harley Hospital and at Longwood Hospital.

He was also a past chairman of the board of trustees of Boston State Hospital; company physician for Litton Industries, Hingham; on the board of directors of South Boston Savings Bank; a staff member at Huntington General Hospital, Boston; a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society and Braintree Sons of Italy Lodge.

In addition to Det. DiNatale, he is survived by his wife, Barbara C. (Sick) DiNatale; another daughter, Ann Lombardi of West Roxbury; two sons, MBTA spokesman Paul DiNatale of Scituate, and Perry DiNatale of Milton; a sister, Rose Demedio of Dorchester; and two grandchildren. He was also the father of the late Mr. Peter DiNatale, Jr.

Funeral arrangements were by O'Brien Funeral Home, South Boston. Burial was in Milton Cemetery.

Josephine A. Cummings, 59, Retired School Baker

A funeral Mass for Josephine A. (Cantelli) Cummings, 59, of Quincy, a retired baker for the Quincy School Department, was held Monday in St. Agatha's Church, Milton.

Mrs. Cummings died March 4, in Quincy City Hospital after a long illness.

She was a lifelong Quincy resident.

Mrs. Cummings was employed by the school department for nine years before retiring a year ago.

She is survived by her husband, Richard I. Cummings; a daughter, Cynthia A. Cummings of Quincy; two brothers, Lawrence Cantelli of Florida and Eugene Cantelli of Quincy; four sisters, Victoria Olivio, Catherine Vitti, and Delia McDonald, all of Quincy; and Angelina Scarpaci of Winchester; and many nieces and nephew.

Funeral arrangements were by Sweeney Brothers Home for Funerals, 1 Independence Ave. Burial was in Pine Hill Cemetery.

Over 900 Sign Up For 'Walk-For-PSSB'

More than 900 walkers from some 45 churches on the South Shore are expected to take part in the eighth annual 10-mile "Walk-for-PSSB." Sunday, March 28, starting at 1 p.m.

The walk is sponsored by the Protestant Social Service Bureau, which is celebrating its 35th anniversary of providing marriage and family counseling and adoption services.

It will start and end at the Covenant Congregational Church, Whitwell St.

Mrs. Carol Block of Quincy, who, with H. Wallace Sylvester, also of Quincy, is heading the walk committee, said a goal of $30,000 has been set for the event, which raised more than $27,000 last year.

Raymond Williams of Quincy is chairman of the prizes committee. Mrs. Barbara MacFarlane of Quincy is coordinator of operations, and Gail Montgomery, Emily Stephens and Edward DeLong are the Quincy captains.

City To Seek Quick Appeal Of GD Tax Case

of where it is on the docket."
Mayor Francis X. McCauley called Judge Zobel's ruling a devastating blow to the city's already shaky financial picture.
"When the city's largest taxpayer who pays 7.5 per cent of the city's tax levy has its bill reduced by 75 per cent it is obviously a severe financial problem for the city," said McCauley.

"But the figures are not a critical thing right now because we are not going to pay until we have gone through the full appeal process."

City assessors under Mayor Joseph J. LaRaia raised the assessment on the General Dynamics shipyard from $12,670,000 in fiscal 1976 to $20,724,600 in 1977 after the company completed multi-million renovations to the yard.

General Dynamics appealed, claiming the fair cash value of the taxable portion of the shipyard located in Quincy was actually $15,735,000.

A significant part of the increased assessment involved the assessors' decision to treat the Goliath and other cranes as taxable real estate, not personal property, which would be exempt from taxes.

Judge Zobel ruled that the assessment of all taxable property at the yard for fiscal 1977 through 1980 should have been $5,231,748, a figure arrived at through a formula involving the "value of business" at the shipyard.

Solicitor Golden called it "not normally an accepted method of assessing property. In fact, it is one that he (the judge) created."

Under the judge's ruling, the city overtaxed General Dynamics by $18 million for the five years. State law enabled the company to withhold $2 million, leaving the city's total bill $16 million.

The judge ruled that the city assessors improperly treated the Goliath and other cranes as real property.

Golden said the decision is appealable to the appeal court but that the city probably will bypass that court and go directly to the State Supreme Court "given the importance and novelty of the issues."

Open House March 15 At QHS Method Center

An open house will be held Monday, March 15, 7 to 9 p.m. in Quincy High School's method center to explain program planning for the 1982-1983 school year.

The event is for Quincy High School students and their parents, and eighth and ninth grade students who will enroll in Quincy High School or Quincy Vocational Technical School next September, and their parents.

According to principal Lloyd

Hill, guidance counselors, department heads, and selected teachers will be available to explain courses, scheduling procedures, graduation requirements and college entrance requirements.

The evening is to help parents and students obtain information so that courses selected for next year's studies will meet individual needs and goals.

Refreshments will be served by the Parents' Advisory Council.

Board Rescinds Hardware Store Video License woman Mrs. Nancy Jolly of 262 Safford St., said to Police Chief Francis Finn, "You said that if the three month trial did not work out, no further licenses would get your vote. I know you are a man of your word."

Mrs. Jolly, a social worker, who organized the neighbor's presentations, also presented the board with a petition signed by 580 people opposed to the video machines.

Atty. Carl Johnson, who represented Robert S. MacFarland, had earlier presented the board with a petition signed by 18 neighbors not opposed to the video games.

Johnson told the board that the MacFarland family has been in Wollaston for over 100 years and has "tried to be good neighbors".

He explained that the video games were added because of the difficult economy, and were not used until after 2:45 p.m. when youngsters are out of school.

"It's an emotional issue," said Johnson who asked that the board allow the licenses to continue.

In his defense, MacFarland told the board that only one neighbor had come to him with such complaints.

Fire Chief Edward Barry, Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh, Building Inspector Allan MacDonald and Police Chief Francis Finn all said that either they, or personnel from their departments, had inspected MacFarland's and found no problems.

However, after hearing the neighbor's complaints, Dr. McKeogh said, "I've heard enough. I don't believe it (the video games) belongs where it is."

Finn agreed that "those who live there don't want it."

The board unanimously voted to rescind the licenses, effective immediately.

No Gold Dealers At Squantum Flea Market

If you're interested in purchasing gold, you won't have much luck at the Boston Harbor Marina, Antique Craft and Flea Market.

Hassan Haydar, flea market manager, said at Tuesday's License Board meeting that he will have "no dealers with gold at all."

Haydar was at the meeting in connection with two requests for licenses to sell gold at the flea market.

The requests, from Mrs. Evelyn M. Dore of Kelly's Pot O Gold II and from Robert F. Della Barba of Del Gold Jewelry, were each eventually withdrawn.

Haydar told the board that he did not allow second hand gold to be bought or sold at the flea market.

"I don't like new gold, either," said Haydar.

Board members told Haydar that they had received a complaint of a ring being sold at the flea market for $500, that was not real gold.

Police Chief Francis Finn said that most dealers at flea markets are "good people", but "there are always a few sharpies that get in."

Fire Chief Edward Barry told Haydar that "you have the right to refuse space (at the flea market) to anybody."

Haydar told the board that he would rather not rent space to gold dealers.

The applicants can reapply for licenses.

Armed Robbers Hit Merit Gas Station

Two white men, one of them armed with a black handgun, held up the Merit gas station on Hancock St. near North Quincy High School and escaped on foot with an undetermined sum of cash.

The two men entered the front door of the station shortly after midnight Tuesday, asked for cigarettes, then pulled the gun and demanded that the attendant give them the money.

They took small bills and change from the cash register and fled.

The robber who had the handgun was described as about 26 years old, 5-foot-10, unshaven with a black mustache and wearing a leather jacket.

His companion had sandy hair, stood a skinny 6 feet and wore a blue jacket.

Red Cross Water Safety Instructors Course Starts March 22

The Recreation Department will sponsor an American Red Cross Water Safety Instructor's Training Course starting March 22.

The course is designed to provide individuals with the skills necessary to teach American Red Cross Swimming Programs to the public.

The course is open to individuals who are at least 17 years old and hold a current Advanced Life Saving Certificate. Although phone reservations will be taken, all persons must pass a qualifying swim test before formal acceptance in the course.

The program, approximately eight weeks, Mondays and Wednesdays from 6 to 10 p.m. at the Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool.

Registration can be made by telephone or in person at the Recreation Department, 100 Southern Artery starting March 8. Quincy residents will have first preference followed by persons who live in the communities of Milton, Holbrook, Randolph, and Braintree. These communities make up the South Shore Red Cross Chapter. There is a fee for the program. Additional information can be obtained by calling Recreation Director Barry Welch at 773-1380, Ext. 204.

Run For Your Life Checks For QJC, LI Hospital

City Councillor Joanne Condon presented checks for $500 each to Quincy Junior College and the Long Island Chronic Disease Hospital Monday night, their share of the Run for Your Life proceeds.

Joan Fitzpatrick accepted two checks, each for $250, to be used for scholarships to the Junior College nursing program.

Mrs. Meribha Stanton, director of the Long Island Hospital, accepted a $500 check for the hospital's patient fund.

In the past three years, said Mrs. Condon, the Run for Your Life road race has raised more than $15,000 to purchase medical equipment for City Hospital.

The Junior College and Long Island Hospital were added as beneficiaries last year.

Mrs. Condon announced that the 1982 Run for Your Life race will be run from the Long Island Hospital to Atlantic Junior High School on Sunday, April 25, starting at high noon.

McCauley Names Papile, Fr. McMahon

Quincy, he spent 14 years at St. William's Church, Dorchester.

McCauley said there were no political implications in the replacement of Fr. McCarthy, who is pastor of the church attended by McCauley's predecessor and rival, ex-Mayor Tobin.

"Fr. McCarthy indicated to me that he did not want to be reappointed," said the mayor. "He told me that he might be interested in serving on other city boards and I told him I'd consider it."

McCauley said Fr. McMahon did not go through the customary screening process set up by the Harborview Tenants Committee the citywide organization of public housing tenants.

"There is no requirement to submit names to the committee," said McCauley. "I would have been glad to discuss it with the committee but I have never heard from them."

He said four people were considered for the housing post.

Marquis, who grew up on the North Shore in West Newbury, was a principal planner in the Quincy Planning Department from 1976 to 1979. Prior to that he was a student intern in the department.

He is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts with a degree in political science and urban affairs, and has a masters degree in urban affairs from Boston University.

He is married with two children.

McCauley said that, as an urban planner, Marquis would be a big help on the hospital board as the hospital moves toward total replacement of its facility over the next few years.

Cowley, a graduate of Boston College and Boston College Law School, came to Quincy as a legal consultant in 1970 after several years of practice in immigration law in New York City.

He was appointed assistant city solicitor in 1978 by then Mayor Tobin.

McCauley noted that the four appointments "pretty well takes care of the vacancies in city government" with the exception of harbor masters and a member of the Quincy Historic District.

Two Plead Innocent In Police Car Theft Try

John J. Hogan, 22, of South Boston and Robert C. Ceurevels, 21, of Barham Ave., Montclair, pleaded innocent in Quincy District Court Tuesday to charges growing out of an attempt to steal a police car and run down a police officer.

Hogan was released in $400 personal recognizance and Ceurevels in $100 personal recognizance both for hearing on March 26. Both were charged with using a motor vehicle without authority.

In addition, Hogan was charged with leaving the scene after causing property damage, assault and battery on a police officer, and assault with a dangerous weapon, to wit, a motor vehicle.

The altercation began early Monday morning after police were summoned to break up a fight in the Joy King Restaurant in Norfolk Downs.

Officer Joseph Phillips went outside to get the keys from his cruiser, Bravo-1, when he saw two men inside trying to start the vehicle. He shouted at them to get out of the car.

As he ran toward them, he said, they drove the cruiser directly at him, narrowly missing him as he pressed up against a parked car. He fired a shot at the tires of the cruiser and the car went out of control and struck a parked car.

Phillips said one of the men punched him as he made the arrest while the other was subdued by off duty officer Richard Flynn.

License Board Briefs

The City License Board took the following action at Tuesday's meeting at City Hall:

- Granted a request from St. Mary's Rectory, West Quincy, for carnival days, June 10, 11 and 12; and Tag Days, May 28, 2 to 8 p.m. and May 29, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Health Commissioner Dr. Robert P. McKeogh, who has been concerned about the safety of solicitors during tag days, was opposed. The board told Rev. John McMahon, pastor, to maintain fire lanes and have required insurance for the carnival.

- Continued for two weeks, a request from Charles Spitzer of Chevron Service Station, 588 Adams St., for a used car license for three cars.

The board requested confirmation from the Veterans Administration that Spitzer's injuries from Viet Nam warranted his shifting from repair work to the less physical selling of used cars.

- Denied a request from Napoli Pizzeria, 1570 Hancock St., for one video machine. Police Chief Francis Finn said he has not had sufficient time to monitor the effects of the restaurant's two other video machines approved recently.

- Granted a one day all alcoholic license to Paul La Monica for a benefit party for Louis La Monica March 28, 6 to 10 p.m. at the National Guard Armory, Quincy, sponsored by the Musicians Union.

- Granted Richard S. Ruggeri a gas station and repair shop license now held by Wafai Bachman-Mobil Oil, 500 Southern Artery. Dr. Robert P. McKeogh did not vote.

- Granted a request from Quincy Bay Inn, 24-29 Hancock St., to hold a benefit for Southeast Mass. Division of the American Heart Association Monday, March 29, 7:30 to 11 p.m. in the Aquarius Lounge. The evening will feature a jazz concert and 17 piece orchestra, as part of the Jimmy Debra Memorial Concert. Dr. McKeogh did not vote.

Lose To Weymouth N. In Finals But: 'This Was A Tremendous Group Of Girls'

The best season in Quincy High girls' basketball history came to a disappointing end Saturday when Peter Swanson's team, the Suburban League champion, dropped a 57-37 decision to league runnerup Weymouth North at Foxboro in the Eastern Mass. Division I South finals.

The Quincy girls had one of the coldest days offensively but stayed within striking distance until the final period when Weymouth North pulled away.

"We just weren't hitting our shots," Swanson said. "Weymouth was hot and shot 69 percent from the floor on offensive rebounds and layups off the press. I thought if we could take control of the boards with our greater height, we could beat them with a better-balanced attack. But they did an outstanding job on the boards."

Swanson was willing to let Weymouth star Joanie Powers (42 points in the semifinals against Needham) have her points and felt Quincy had a better-balanced offense. But he said before the game that Weymouth was more than a one-man team and these words were borne out in the title game.

Powers was held to five points in the first three periods but came up with 11 as well as grabbing seven rebounds in the final quarter as the Maroons pulled safely away after leading, 36-27, after three. Powers had 17 rebounds for the game. While Powers was being held, Casey Balzano was taking up the slack. She scored 21 points and kept her team in the lead.

"We felt we could keep Powers away from the basket and give her only outside shots," Swanson said. "But Balzano killed us. She was hitting her shots and playing great defense."

Nancy MacDonald paced Quincy with 16 points and Mary Kamb had 11. They were the only players in double figures. Mary Ann Agres scored nine points.

During the season Quincy and QUINCY' Ellen Deady (35) and Mary Kamb (31) and Weymouth North's Joanie Powers (32) and Sheila Macaleese (33) battle for ball under the hoop.

Weymouth North had broken even, Quincy winning by eight points early in the season and Weymouth winning by two later on Powers' basket at the buzzer.

Quincy had qualified for the division finals by defeating league rival Newton North, 52-42, with an excellent defensive effort. The Quincy girls had defeated Durfee, 53-41, in their first tournament game.

Kamb had 20 points against Newton and dominated the boards for Quincy, while Agres and MacDonald scored 13 points each.

Swanson wasn't upset when Newton, led by Debbie Quinn (18 points) ran off the final nine points of the second quarter to tie the game at 24-24 at halftime.

"One thing we talked about was that they mostly play just five or six players. We like to use as many kids as possible to give our players a rest," he said.

Quincy finished with an overall 17-6 record after finishing the regular season at 15-5.

The girls can be proud of their accomplishments this season. Eight players graduated from last year's tournament team and this looked like a rebuilding season for Swanson.

But the team did an outstanding job, winning its first league championship, becoming the first Quincy team to win two tournament games and twice defeating North Quincy to win the city crown.

"Everyone of the girls did their job and it was a pleasure to coach them," Swanson said. "This was a tremendous group of girls who gave me 110 percent at all times."

ENC Wins District Title

The Eastern Nazarene College basketball team won the District 1 championship last Saturday night and this Saturday will play in the National Christian College A.A. (NCCAA) regional playoffs at Houghton College, N.Y.

If the Crusaders win there they will compete in the national tournament in Chattanooga, Tenn., for the first time in three years.

ENC, under first-year coach Jerry Perera, appeared to be in for a rebuilding year, with most of last year's club having graduated.

However, the Crusaders, led by Mark Carr, won the District 1 title last week with a 74-73 squeaker over Concordia, N.Y. ENC has rolled over Gordon College, 90-69, the previous night in the semifinals.

Carr, an All-American who passed the 2000-point career mark this season, had 19 points and 11 rebounds.

Clay Halliday, junior guard, had 25 points, five rebounds and five assists and scored the final two points of the game from the foul line with under a minute remaining. Carr, with 20 seconds left, he blocked a shot that turned the ball over to the Crusaders.

Carr scored 33 points in the romp over Gordon, but Gordon's Doug Lindland was high for the game with 35. Most of Carr's points came from inside, while Lindland hit consistently from outside.

Also scoring in double figures for the Crusaders were Bryan Schwanke with 14 points, Charlie Magee with 14, Gary Young with 12 and Halliday with 12.

Central Girls Rebound To 2nd Place

Led by the stingiest defense in the league, the Central Junior High girls basketball team rebounded from last season's 3-9 record to post a 10-2 mark this year and finish second to Broad Meadows in the city-wide league.

In rebuilding the team, coaches Ray Whitehouse and Tom Henderson emphasized defense first, then offense. Central, using two different zone traps and a pressing man-to-man defense, allowed only 16.3 points a game.

Central had three strong, quick guards, Laura Miceli, the point guard, had 21 steals and was the team's finest outside shooter.

Terry McLoughlin had a 53 percent shooting average and scored 24 field goals. Colleen Dunn was a defensive specialist and guarded the other team's high scorer in each game. In four games, two against Sterling and two against Atlantic, she held the top scorer scoreless.

Central was big and aggressive up front with Kathy McGregor the most dominant forward in the league, scoring 28 baskets, grabbing 101 rebounds and adding 22 steals and six blocks. At 5-foot-9 she also was the fastest girl on the squad.

Anne Druggan (5-6) was a tough player with 27 rebounds, two blocks and 15 steals. Sandy Dunn was a great jumper and was aggressive, having 29 rebounds and 15 steals.

Coming off the bench were 5-foot-11 Eileen Warren, an eighth grader with a 45 percent shooting average and 21 rebounds in limited action; Nancy Marsters, who had a 40 percent shooting average, and Robin Caldwell, who had 17 rebounds, three blocks and two steals.

Central handed Broad Meadows its only defeat, lost a one-pointer to BM and then lost the third meeting between the rivals for the league crown.

Central's junior varsity won the co-championship with a 10-2 record. Sterling also finished 10-2, losing twice to Central. Central lost to Sterling and Atlantic.

Coach Henderson praised his team's tough defense, led by guards Jean Welby and Kris Locke and forwards Marie and Stephanie Levangie and Carolyn Keddy.

The offense was run by eighth grade guard Karen Runge, who had 12 baskets, 11 rebounds, two blocks and eight steals.

Center Geraldine Murphy had 25 rebounds.

Other guards who saw action were Ann Hughes, Valerie Papapetros and seventh grade speedsters Marilyn and Carolyn Fredy. Forwards doing a good job were Diane Callow, Sian Graham, Lisa Livingstone and seventh grader Maureen Donovan.

Braves Move Seen As Spur To Shore Loop

The Boston Braves received approval from the National League club owners to transfer their franchise to Milwaukee and the move spurred new interest in the revival of the South Shore League.

Joe Whiteman, businessman-sponsor of a number of athletic teams in Quincy, joined George Wright, Hobie Robinson, Pryor Hall and Frank Basile in proposing new life for the defunct circuit.

With Braves Field vacant during the baseball season and the Red Sox at home in Fenway Park only half the year, it was believed that South Shore baseball fans would welcome local semi-pro games.

"I have been closely connected with baseball around the South Shore for the past few years," said Whiteman. "The big handicap is finding fellows willing to put up $500 to sponsor a team."

Whiteman proposed two South Shore Leagues, one the American and the other the National, with one team in each town and 100 merchants contributing $5 apiece for its support.

"If each town and city would take the pride to sponsor such a team, it would create a wonderful rivalry and offer fans a great deal of entertainment," said Whiteman.

"We could have a series between the winners of the two leagues just like the World Series. I can't see how we could be wrong."

NORTH TAKES TITLE

Bob Church threw in 14 points to lead North to a 50-28 rout of Central and clinch the Junior High School basketball championship. Al Adams added 10 points for the Jack Donahue-coached five.

Meanwhile, Central wrapped up a second place finish with a 34-28 victory over South as Tom Morrell had 10 points and Coach Jack King used 14 players in the season's final game.

Ronnie Leone of South won the league scoring title with an average of 12.1 points per game followed by Jack Brown of Central, 11.9; Al Adams and Jack Crowley, both of North, 11.2.

The lineup for the champion North team included: White, Church, Huber, Cobban, Crowley, forwards; Dunn, Adams, centers; Carney, Rockwell, Wanless, Walsh, guards.

NORFOLK BOWS

With both Quincy high school teams out of the Tech Tourney, local fan attention centered on the Norfolk Aggies, who featured Capt. Lee Grutchfield, Bill Fenby, Bill Anderson and Bill Bonnyman, all of Quincy.

The Quincy quartet scored 14 points, Fenby getting eight and Grutchfield six, as the Aggies went down before powerful Marshfield, 51-36, in the final for the Class C title.

Having no one else to cheer for, five North Quincy senior girls Ann Hanaway, Sheila Archambeault, Jayne Jackson, Mary Armstrong, and Sandra Castle -- showed up at Boston Garden to lead cheers for Norfolk.

INDEPENDENTS ADVANCE

Dick Armstrong tallied 24 points to lead the North Quincy Independents intermediate team to an easy 64-49 victory over the Kelly Club of Milton and move into the semi-finals of the Charlestown Boys Club tournament.

CIRIELLO MOST IMPROVED

Basil (Buzzy) Ciriello, 18-year-old sophomore guard from Quincy, was chosen the most improved player of the year for the George Washington University basketball team. He averaged 6.7 points in 22 games.

North Girls Set Another National Track Record

The North Quincy High girls' track team, which two weeks ago set a national record in the 4-mile relay, broke the national mark in the distance medley relay last Saturday in the Eastern States meet at Harvard.

However, this time the Raiderettes had to be satisfied with second place as State College High of Pennsylvania won in 12:02.87, just five-tenths of a second ahead of North Quincy, which finished in 12:02.92. The old mark was 12:05.84 set by Summit High of New Jersey.

North's team consisted of Mary Kate Kennedy (880 yards), Karen Lindenfelzer (440), Sheila Barrett (1320 yards) and Nancy McCarthy, who ran a mile leg in 5:01.3.

North's Michelle Millane broke the school record in the shotput with a toss of 43 feet, 7 1/4 inches, but finished second to June Reid of Nephew High in New York, who did 46-5.

Nine states were represented in the meet.

Conboy MVP In Small College Conference

The fact that Jim Conboy, 6-4 freshman center on the Quincy Junior College basketball team made the Greater Boston Small College Conference all-star team is no surprise.

After all, he averaged 22 point games and was one of the leading rebounders.

But when he was named the Most Valuable Player in the conference, it was quite an accomplishment. Conboy played for a team which won only four games and traditionally the MVP plays on the championship club.

"It was a great honor," said JQC Coach Brian Buckley. "The coaches in our league realized Jim's value to his team and felt he deserved the MVP award. The amazing thing about the award is that Jim played with a weak team and is only a freshman. We play teams in our league that are four-year schools and for a freshman to be selected as MVP... I think it's positively superb."

Conboy will play in the league all-star game against an all-star team from New Hampshire at Hellenic College in Brookline Friday night at 7:30.

"I know Jim will be a little nervous," said Buckley. "I told him to relax, enjoy himself on the court and try to remember the basics. If he doesn't try to do too much all at once, he'll have a good game."

Conboy's statistics are impressive. He scored 500 points on the season by scoring 40 in the final game. He shot 91 percent from the foul line in his last 10 games and, according to Buckley, he is an excellent rebounder.

"Jim is the best defensive rebounder in our league," said the Jaguar coach. "He had 5-11 forwards for help so he basically was our lone force underneath. Our guys knew that if they blocked out, Jim would get the rebound. He's strong and has excellent timing."

"Jim has made a season to forget one to remember."

Conboy is a former North Quincy High player.

BOB GRANT of Quincy finished sixth in diving with 267.95 points in recent South Sectional swimming championships at the Lincoln Hancock School pool. North Quincy's Scott Andrews suffered a punctured ear drum after eight dives and was forced to drop out. At the time he was leading Blue Hill's John Magliossi by 20 points. Magliossi went on to win with 330.05 points.

North Players Shine At North Adams

The North Quincy High hockey teams have had disappointing records the past few years but the success of the North Adams State College teams show that the Raiders produced some pretty fair players.

North Adams State this year was the first Massachusetts team over to play in the Div. II West finals and, although the Mohawks were bombed by Plattsburgh State, 14-2, Saturday night, they enjoyed their finest season. Among the reasons were five former North Quincy players and one Quincy player who played at B.C. High.

North Adams State, under eighth-year coach Jim Ellingwood, qualified for the Div. II West Finals with wins over Williams and Rochester Tech.

Former North Quincy star Jim Moore, a junior, is the all-time scoring leader with 69 goals and 69 assists for 138 points, and he is joined by former Raiders Leo Doyle, Tom Gerry, Pat Ennis and Paul Cooney and Quincy's Fred Palmer, who played at B.C. High.

Moore this year scored 20 goals and 15 assists and Cooney had 10 goals and 19 assists. Doyle, a junior and converted defenseman, played well all year and Gerry scored 23 points after just six a year ago. Palmer, a sophomore, has been outstanding on defense.

BATH TUB RISKIER THAN SPACE

John Glenn, our first astronaut to orbit in space, was almost killed in a bathtub fall. Yes, a lot more people have been killed each year from falling in the bathtub than have been lost in the unknown dangers of the space program. It's an inglorious way to go - so let's see what we can do to prevent it.

All bathtubs should have nonskid bottom. An inexpensive mat with a slightly abrasive top and an adhesive backing takes a minute to install. Or strips of non-skid material can be stuck in a pattern on the bottom of the tub. Rubber mats with suction cups on the underside will work too.

Sturdy grab-bars along tub and shower walls are a good investment for anyone, but a must for the elderly. You may find out eventually, that towel racks are not strong enough to support your weight - so don't depend on them. Persons have been known to grab them and come tumbling down, towel rack and all.

$300 Door Prizes At Heart Fund Party

Twenty door prizes totaling more than $300 will be awarded during intermission at the 13th annual Quincy Heart Fund Theater Party Thursday, March 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the Wollaston Theater.

Tickets for the full length moving picture "Tess" will be available at the door and all proceeds from the event will go to aid research and education programs of the American Heart Association.

The annual theater party has raised a total of $18,500 in the past 12 years and Special Events Chairman Richard J. Koch said the committee is seeking to net $1,500 this year.

The event is called the John J. Daniels Memorial Night in memory of the co-founder. Mrs.

Rita Daniels is guest of honor at the party and Mayor Francis X. McCauley is honorary chairman.

Those unable to attend the party who wish to make donations to the Heart Fund may leave contributions with John McGue, treasurer, at the Hancock Bank, North Quincy branch, 415 Hancock St.

Checks should be made payable to the Quincy Heart Fund.

WEEK OF: MARCH 11

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19
Independent streak worries new admirer, but your willingness to help people in need wins you a heart or two. Pet job idea backfires, otherwise, professional pursuits are prospering.

PISCES - February 20-March 20
Long-term relationship can't be taken for granted; look for new ways to strengthen the bond. Creative accomplishment leads to profit-making opportunity. Distressed friend gains confidence.

ARIES - March 21-April 20
Self-confidence dips, then soars. Tension among relatives should be nipped in the bud. Resist any tendency to shift responsibilities. Twin financial gains enjoyed after weekend.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22
Good week for making arrangements for future celebration. Your calm approach helps touchy friends over a troublesome time. Family news bulletins tend to be exaggerated now.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21
Vacation and moving plans are positively accented through the weekend. Optimism helps you leap over career hurdle. Important family celebration may be announced on Tuesday or Wednesday.

CANCER - June 22-July 22
Key person pulls strings and you advance closer to a job or academic goal. You and loved one have difficulty coordinating schedules, especially weekend schedules. People from faraway enter your inner circle.

LEO - July 23-August 22
Rumors you hear are less than reliable. Facts you issue are subject to intense scrutiny. Long-distance communication poses important question that takes time and imagination to solve.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22
Review service agreements and guarantees - and have repair work done before expiry dates come. Matchmaking is your strong point. Volunteer assignment offers chance for boosting confidence.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22
Longstanding family debate can be concluded, thanks to your persuasive summary. Search for common ground in new relationship. Collect debts before parties in question leave town.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21
Property ventures favored, specifically building, rebuilding and renovations. Spring cleaning can be done with a vengeance. Group activity can be favorably launched by Tuesday.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22
Green is your color this St. Patrick's week - with some unexpected cash coming your way by Wednesday. Expansion is keyword; additions to household are accented, and personal goals are enlarged.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20
Stale problems respond well to new and offbeat tactics. Verbal skills are put to the test as you find yourself involved in a lively debate or a public speaking engagement.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Emotions are strong. You can be loving, you can be possessive, and you're a total romantic. Intuition is amazing. Friends tell you that you worry too much. Opportunities for advanced status spotlighted early autumn. November-January accent long-term linking up.

BORN THIS WEEK
March 11th, bandleader Lawrence Welk; 12th, singer Liza Minnelli; 13th, composer Sammy Kaye; 14th, actor Michael Caine; 15th, actor Harry James; 16th, actor Erik Estrada; 17th, singer Nat "King" Cole.

Pointmen, Pucksters Advance In Floor Hockey Tourney

Four teams, including the Quincy Pointmen and Quincy Pucksters, are left in the South Shore Floor Hockey Tournament at Marshfield's Skateland. Competition will continue Sunday.

The Pointmen rolled over the Quincy G-Men, 8-1, with goalie Larry Price making 27 saves in his fourth straight tournament win. The three Banders brothers sparked the offense with Paul and Jim having a goal each and John having two assists and playing a strong two-way game.

Brian O'Keefe scored what proved to be the game winner as the Pointmen ran a 6-0 lead midway through the third period before Ron Drew scored the lone G-Man goal. Other scorers for the Pointmen were Guy Bognanno, Steve Goga, Tom Sapiezna, Bob Roman and Rich Salibe.

The Pucksters defeated Neponset, 7-5, sparked by Jim Pasquarelli's third hat trick of the tournament. He also had two assists.
